COMMENT AND CRITICISM

We cannot bring home in too strong a manner that Clarkston has a police department and it is right on the job. Last Friday morning we desired the services of our officer. It was three in the morning and it was cold, but we called our cop and in less than ten minutes the officer drove in the yard. That is SERVICE.

Next week is the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. Anything that I might say about him could not add to his greatness. Nothing his enemies can say will ever detract from his record.

Don't forget to send that Valentine,

BIG INCREASE IN AUTO PRODUCTION

Chevrolet Manager Gives Figures for January

With a payroll almost equal to its all-time high, Chevrolet entered February well on the way toward capacity operation, M. E. Coyle, general manager, announced this week. Production increased from 2,141 cars Jan. 24 to 3,304 on Jan. 31.

Dealers throughout the country, Mr. Coyle said, will soon be making immediate delivery of any model desired.

Payrolls on Jan. 31 totaled 53,203 persons, as compared with 33,727 at the corresponding period last year. The payroll increase for the week was nearly 2,400 persons. These figures include only the workers on Chevrolet's own payroll. Inclusion of Fisher Body workers producing bodies for the new Chevrolet would practically double that total.

Mr. Coyle also emphasized the fact that the company is taking back its old employees, and will have no need for new personnel at any of its plants.

The increased activity in Chevrolet production is reflected in Holly, where there are two plants which produce parts for the car—the American Spring & Mfg. Corp. and the Wolverine Machine Products Co., both of which are now working three shifts daily.

BASKET BALL

Keego Harbor basketball teams opened up the season with Clarkston Friday night, winning the varsity games from the boys and from the girls and losing only to Clarkston Reserves.

The Clarkston Reserves opened the evening by winning an extremely close game by the score of 9 to 6. The Clarkston team showed much improvement over the game against Milford Reserves which was the only game they lost this season.

The girls' team fought stubbornly for four quarters, Keego winning 15 to 13. The Clarkston girls' lineup was shifted and the team "clicked" at times with the new lineup.

Keego opened an early lead which threatened to be wiped out by Clarkston's stirring rally in the last quarter.

In the nightcap the Clarkston boys opened an early lead, scoring 6 points before the opponents got started and then hit a slump while Keego went on a scoring spree. The half ended 12 to 7 in favor of Keego.

With the opening of the second half Clarkston again scored this time on long shots by Miller and Souly. As the third quarter ended the teams were only separated by one point. The lead changed several times with foul shots playing an important part in the scoring. At the gun Keego led 18-16.

This week Walled Lake plays at Clarkston again. Walled Lake was beaten by Milford Friday night while Keego "took" Clarkston. The Walled Lake game should be a close one.

Reduction of the automobile weight tax and amendment of the state sales tax were called for in resolutions adopted by the State Association of Supervisors at the final session of the meeting in Lansing last week.

Officers of the association for the coming year include Charles P. Ismon of Jackson, president; Hon. John D. Karel of Grand Rapids, first vice president; Melville B. McPherson of Lowell, member of the state tax commission, second vice president; Jacob E. Schepers of East Lansing, secretary; and Miss Lucy Little of Kalamazoo, treasurer.

Seven important resolutions were adopted. The first asked the legislature to provide property tax relief while the second asked for an amendment of the sales tax law to provide exemption of farm implements and stock feeds from the provisions of the law. The third resolution asked the legislature to return weight tax receipts to county treasurers directly from the Department of State branch offices while the sixth called for reduction of license plate costs without in any manner hindering the retirement of Covert road law bonds. The other resolutions asked laws permitting local governmental agencies to raise funds to match federal money for relief purposes; an amendment to liberalize the present constitutional provision limiting property taxes for all purposes to 15-mills; and asked that all local assessing officers be furnished with sets of the 1929 Compiled Laws.

The decision of Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald to publish the Public Acts of the Special Session of 1933 at the same time the Public Acts of the coming 1934 Special Session are printed and in the same volume will effect a saving of $10,000.

This saving will be accomplished almost entirely in costs of binding. In order that officials may have access to the new laws passed at the 1933 special session, these acts are to be published in pamphlet form with a paper cover under the title of "Immediate effect acts of 1933 (special session)". The state law prescribes definitely the manner in which official public acts shall be bound.

If the coming special session of the legislature does not reduce substantially license plate costs, the two-payment plan will be put into effect March 1, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald has announced.

Under the two-payment plan, motorists pay one-half of the annual weight tax and receive a windshield sticker permit for use in conjunction with the 1933 plates. The permits are legal until August 1. Upon payment of the second installment of the weight tax on August 1, 1934 license plates will be issued for the remainder of the year.

Automobiles owned by those convicted of drunk driving are practically barred from Michigan highways for three years, records of the Department of State show. There never has been a time in Michigan's history when the penalty for this offense has been so great.

Since the financial responsibility law became effective Oct. 17, 1933, a total of 471 persons have either pleaded guilty or been found guilty of drunk driving. In each instance the driver and the vehicle he was using and others he may own come under the provisions of the new law. Of this number, only 32 have been able to provide proof of ability to meet future accident claims.

Under the operators' license law, the drunk drivers lose the right to drive for one year, unless the license is ordered restored by order of circuit court. But unless the drunk driver is able to show financial responsibility, the license plates and the certificate of title of the automobile used are held by the Department of State for three years. The records show that drunk drivers are finding it almost impossible to furnish this proof.

The colors of the 1935 license plates were announced last week by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald. They will have yellow block numerals on a dark blue background.

FISHERMEN WILL BENEFIT BY THIS

And So Will the Fish Until They Grab at the Hook

The largest lake improvement project ever carried on in Michigan is now in progress in Genesee county where a G. W. A. crew of 65 men are engaged in making better fishing waters in 26 lakes.

The lake improvement project is being carried on under the supervision of Earl Doyle, former executive secretary of the Michigan Inland Water League, and under the technical advice furnished by the Institute for Fisheries Research of the Department of Conservation.

Under the project 65 men were assigned to the work with an estimated expenditure of $16,000. About 8,000 acres of water will be improved before the project is completed in February.

In Genesee county only lakes where riparian owners have petitioned for improvements are receiving attention. Lake improvements are confined to those waters where the public has access for fishing.

The improvements include the building of spawning beds, creation of hiding places and shade for fish and other artificial devices designed to aid in providing a better habitat and as a result provide better fishing. The fact that the lakes are covered with ice has facilitated the work since the brush and shelters can be carried across the ice to the designated places.

The improvements are being made in an area that abounds with lakes and excellent fishing waters. Within 30 minutes automobile ride from Flint are 150 localities where fishing is provided.

In pointing out the value of the work that is being done in Genesee it was cited that as working hours become more limited in the large industrial areas, more time is given for recreational purposes and the drain on fish resources is becoming greater every year. The proper improvement of lakes to the point where they can bear a larger fish population is one of the methods being employed to maintain the fish supply.

The Conservation Department, in commenting on the demand for lake improvements has offered its services in providing technical advice.

Upon payment of the second installment of the weight tax on August 1, 1934 license plates will be issued for the remainder of the year.

Automobiles owned by those convicted of drunk driving are practically barred from Michigan highways for three years, records of the Department of State show. There never has been a time in Michigan's history when the penalty for this offense has been so great.

Since the financial responsibility law became effective Oct. 17, 1933, a total of 471 persons have either pleaded guilty or been found guilty of drunk driving. In each instance the driver and the vehicle he was using and others he may own come under the provisions of the new law. Of this number, only 32 have been able to provide proof of ability to meet future accident claims.

Under the operators' license law, the drunk drivers lose the right to drive for one year, unless the license is ordered restored by order of circuit court. But unless the drunk driver is able to show financial responsibility, the license plates and the certificate of title of the automobile used are held by the Department of State for three years. The records show that drunk drivers are finding it almost impossible to furnish this proof.

The colors of the 1935 license plates were announced last week by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald. They will have yellow block numerals on a dark blue background.

FISHERMEN WILL BENEFIT BY THIS

And So Will the Fish Until They Grab at the Hook

The largest lake improvement project ever carried on in Michigan is now in progress in Genesee county where a G. W. A. crew of 65 men are engaged in making better fishing waters in 26 lakes.

The lake improvement project is being carried on under the supervision of Earl Doyle, former executive secretary of the Michigan Inland Water League, and under the technical advice furnished by the Institute for Fisheries Research of the Department of Conservation.

Under the project 65 men were assigned to the work with an estimated expenditure of $16,000. About 8,000 acres of water will be improved before the project is completed in February.

In Genesee county only lakes where riparian owners have petitioned for improvements are receiving attention. Lake improvements are confined to those waters where the public has access for fishing.

The improvements include the building of spawning beds, creation of hiding places and shade for fish and other artificial devices designed to aid in providing a better habitat and as a result provide better fishing. The fact that the lakes are covered with ice has facilitated the work since the brush and shelters can be carried across the ice to the designated places.

The improvements are being made in an area that abounds with lakes and excellent fishing waters. Within 30 minutes automobile ride from Flint are 150 localities where fishing is provided.

In pointing out the value of the work that is being done in Genesee it was cited that as working hours become more limited in the large industrial areas, more time is given for recreational purposes and the drain on fish resources is becoming greater every year. The proper improvement of lakes to the point where they can bear a larger fish population is one of the methods being employed to maintain the fish supply.

The Conservation Department, in commenting on the demand for lake improvements has offered its services in providing technical advice.

Liberty Theatre HOLLY

It's getting to be a habit with Ruth Chatterton to select her husband, George Brent, as her leading man in her pictures. In the past two years she played in five productions and Brent was her leading man in all but one.

Now in her latest picture, "Female", which comes to the Liberty Theatre on Sunday and Monday, he has the leading masculine role, and incidentally is the only lover in the picture Miss Chatterton is unable to bend to her iron will. Her role is that of a big business executive who flirts outrageously after office hours with the handsome young men in her employ.

She is as ruthless in love as she is in business until she finds the one who will not bend to her will, whereupon she discovers that he is the only man whom she can't do without, which revolutionizes her entire mode of life.

The story of what goes on behind the thousands of persons who daily vanish mysteriously, seemingly from the face of the earth, will be revealed in "Bureau of Missing Persons", which will be at the Liberty Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture gives a kaleidoscopic view of the actual workings of that branch of the police departments of every large city, whose duty it is to locate missing persons. The "Bureau of Missing Persons" is based on a book by Captain John H. Ayres and Carol Bird. It relates the cases that have come under the captain's observations in his fifteen years as chief of the New York City Bureau.

The many cases of strange disappearances and kidnappings depicted in the picture are based on those in real life as recorded by the police. The various cases presented touch every form of human emotion. Many are tragic, some extremely pathetic and other decidedly humorous.

There is an underlying plot in the picture that carries one of the strangest romances pictured on the screen, the love of a detective for a girl who is missing from another city and wanted on a charge of murder. It is set in an unusual picturesque background, which includes, besides the police bureau, the docks along the water front of the East River, New York's aristocratic section, and the tenement districts.

The cast, an exceptionally capable one, includes, besides Bette Davis in the stellar role, Lewis S. Stone, Pat O'Brien, Glenda Farrell, Allen Jenkins, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert and Alan Dinehart. Roy Del Ruth directed the picture from the screen play by Robert Presnell.

NEW TAXING LAWS MUST BE ADOPTED

Also Economies Effected, Says State Legislator

Vernon J. Brown, member of the Legislature, and editor of a leading Michigan weekly, told a Farmers' Week crowd at Michigan State College that the theory of taxing real estate for the support of government is out of date and that this method of taxation should be abolished.

Taxes should be levied according to the ability of the person to pay, according to Representative Brown, and the game of trying to shift the tax from one self to the other fellow has been going on too long. Everyone must pay his share, according to his means, toward the support of government.

A graduated income tax is impossible under Michigan law, at present, and a gross income tax appears to be the only alternative, the speaker continued. The sales tax is a sort of meter on everyone's pocket book. It was provided as an emergency measure.

Many economies in State and local government can be readily made, the speaker said. School finances are in bad shape, and other governmental subdivisions are embarrassed by the problem of delinquent taxes. Expenditures have been based upon the tax levied and not upon the tax collected. Spending agencies will have to be stopped and adjustments made.

We will have to go back to the policy of getting the money before we spend it. The people of the state are entitled to get a dollar in value for the dollar they spend for taxes. New sources of taxes must replace old sources and not be simply an additional means of tapping the public purse.

HARDWARE MEN WILL HOLD BIG CONVENTION

The Fortieth Annual Convention of the Michigan Retail Hardware Association will be held in Detroit, Hotel Statler, February 13 to 16.

The convention topic is "Codes and Competition". An outstanding list of speakers has been selected to present phases of that general subject. A big program of entertainment features has been provided for the ladies during business sessions.

The Zeiss projector in the Adler Planetarium in Chicago was manufactured in Jena, Germany, at a cost of $90,000. The strange looking apparatus flashes the stars and planets on the blue vaulted dome, giving a vivid impression of the real heavens by night.

For Homemakers

Interesting uses of soybeans in the menu was demonstrated by home economics specialists during the homemakers program of Farmers' Week at Michigan State College.

It has been found that the beans are high in Vitamin C content, and with the addition of considerable seasoning, are tasty as well as nutritious. Cooking with soda destroys the vitamin. The beans need to be soaked for a day and then cooked at low temperature for several hours.

Soybean gingerbread is one of the recipes recommended by the home economics experts. Cream one-third cup shortening and one cup brown sugar. Add two beaten eggs, then three tablespoons molasses and a pinch of soda mixed. Mix and sift one cup soybean flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 1/2 cups wheat flour, one tablespoon ginger, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, and add alternately with 1 1/2 cups milk. Beat well and turn into oiled shallow baking pan and bake in moderate oven.

Soybean muffins may be prepared as follows: Combine in order given, the following ingredients: two eggs, well beaten, 1 cup cold boiled soybean pulp, 1/2 cup milk, one-third cup melted fat, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda. Bake in greased muffin pan for 20-25 minutes.

Another use for the beans is in salad. For this, 3 tablespoons soybean pulp, 1 teaspoon chopped green pepper, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, and 1 tablespoon onion juice are used.

THREE-YEAR-OLD GRAMMAR

M. N.

The queerest thing—most every day.
My mama says to me,
"You must say this, and not say that."
Dear me! I'm only three,
So how am I to know just what to say. She says, "Say I instead of me." I think it queer.
So just asked her, "why?"

She said 'twas something about the laws.
O' grammar, now I don't know who "grammar" is, nor what he has to do with me, and so—
I'd just as soon say "comed" as "came";
I think it sounds as good.
Why she says 'tumbled' not 'hame',
And tells me that I should.

'Twas just today that I said, "doed".
"Dear me! She said 'twas 'did';
I've heard her say "The bossie 'mooded'."
She didn't say it 'mid'.
To say 'I done it' would be wrong,
I 'spose he thinks it fun,—
That grammar man, to bother us
With words like did and done.

And when I talk about the 'mouses' Folks say that I mean 'mice'.
To me it sounds as good as 'houses'.
They'd laugh if I'd say 'hice'.
When I get big I'm going to write
The longest 'bestest' letter
And tell the grammar man that I
Right now could do it better.
