COMMENT AND CRITICISM

Another pleasant week, a good laugh here, just another pleasant week.

Small boys scrambling for empty shells from the salute over Comrade Campbell's grave.

Joe Seeterlin riding around in a car that had been traded in.

John Shaughnessy driving me home because I didn't look so good in Henri-Buck's army uniform.

Dropping into Shaughnessy's for a hot fried-cake.

Being mean enough to joke Doc Lee about a couple of nicks out of his chin while shaving.

That sun-burn of George King's.

Guy Walter's pleasant smile.

Trying to sell tickets to the Legion dance.

That ought to be good.

As the show men say "the only big performance playing this town this season".

Inspecting the CWA program at the school.

That was worth while inspecting.

Saw the cutest terrier at Dr. Emery's small animal hospital.

I think the pride and joy will attend "cover" if you please, one caucus while yours truly reports the other—providing they have two and don't act up like they did in the Village election and have only one ticket.

OAKLAND PIONEER HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Edmund Foster Died Sunday at Home of Her Daughter

Following a long period of ill health due to her advanced years, Mrs. Edmund Foster, 87 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Seeley, just south of Holly, Sunday, March 4. Notwithstanding her condition, she came unexpectedly.

Mrs. Foster was born at Andersonville, Feb. 22, 1847, the daughter of John W. Anderson, a pioneer of the locality. She taught school for a number of years prior to her marriage to Mr. Foster, which occurred Dec. 20, 1871. For many years they lived on a farm that was Mr. Foster's birthplace, near Clarkston, one half mile west of Deer Lake. He died in May, 1929, since which time Mrs. Foster has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Seeley. Another daughter, Mrs. D. B. Lyons, of Holly, also survives, and a son, Fred H. Foster, of Detroit. She also leaves two grandchildren, Hugh and Alice Lyons; one brother, Howard Anderson, of Pontiac, and one sister, Mrs. George Curtis, of Birch Run.

The funeral was held on Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. from the Andersonville Presbyterian church, of which she was a member, the pastor, Rev. G. W. Hill, officiating, assisted by Rev. W. N. Fulcomer, of Holly. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery, Clarkston.

Father-Daughter Banquet at Waterford Was Very Successful

The Father-Daughter banquet which was sponsored by the Waterford Ladies' Auxiliary on Friday night at 6:30 in the church parlors, was a success. There were 160 people who were served the dinner which was a two-course one and very delicious. The menu was carried out in the color scheme of green and white. The whole banquet carried out the St. Patrick's color scheme.

The menu committee was: Mrs. Galbraith, chairman; Mrs. L. Doran, Mrs. L. Girst, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. C. Wiles, Mrs. J. Saylor. Menu: mashed potatoes, green beans, roast beef and gravy with parsley topping the potatoes, celery, buns, pickles, individual salad, coffee, apple pie topped with ice cream in St. Patrick colors.

The tables were decorated with plants, green and white vine, and green, lighted candles, green shades, covering the lights, creating a pleasant glow about the room. Candies were on the tables. The Boy Scouts were under the direction of the Scoutmaster, Russell Galbraith, served the people and did it very efficiently.

The decorating of the room fell into the hands of Mrs. O. D. Anderson, Mrs. J. R. Blakeslee, Mrs. L. Owen, Mrs. H. B. Mehlig and Mrs. L. C. Helfer.

The following program was enjoyed after the dinner:

Invocation by Rev. H. A. Huey.

Toast to Granddad, Miss June Harris.

Two selections by the Plains Folks quartette.

The address was given by Rev. John Stearns of Pontiac, pastor of the Congregational Church. He gave a very interesting and beneficial talk to those attending.

Mr. Kimball made a very able toastmaster, humorous, giving tribute and praise along with the humor. After the address Mr. Kimball turned the meeting back to Mr. Mehlig, who presented flowers in behalf of the Auxiliary to the speaker, Rev. Stearns, the toastmaster, Mr. Kimball, also to the oldest father with daughter present, Guy Disbrow, who had his daughter, Mrs. Blanche Buck, there. The youngest dad with daughter present fell to Angus McCaffrey, whose daughter Joan was with him.

At the speaker's tables places were marked in an attractive way with candles arranged in a cup made of marshmallow with life saver-handle centered on a shamrock.

The program committee who had charge of so fine a program was Mrs. Lyle McLaughlin, Mrs. Carl Terry, Mrs. A. Emery, Mrs. G. Rosenquist, Mrs. Percy King. The program was very much enjoyed and those taking part worked their own particular part out in excellent shape.

Community Chorus Progresses Rapidly

The village was well represented at the High School on Monday afternoon in spite of the stormy weather. Twenty-five enjoyed the singing under the direction of Charles Hutton of Walled Lake. The classes are made very interesting and some new music is now being undertaken, with the idea that it will be used on a program later. It is surprising how much the singing has improved in the last two months and to realize this you must attend the next class on Monday afternoon, March 12, at 4:15 p. m. at the High School. Volume is necessary now and your voice is needed.

Winchell's Flash Column

Peoples of Clarkston, Waterford, Drayton Plains and surrounding vicinity let's go to press.

Flash—Don Scraee (Flash) has a unique way of solving a joke. He reads the joke as it is typed, so he can catch on to it, when it comes out in the press.

It seems quiet around the town on Saturday night. Most of Clarkston's lads and lassies dance through the peaceful night at the Bloody Bucket. (Note: This is not an advertisement.)

Mystery of the Week—How many book reports are read by the persons who hand them in.

Some boys thought they'd "get a kick" out of breaking up a chair. Well they did.

To B. T. of the Student Council: I hear you are taking professional dancing lessons. Maybe you will be a second Fred Astaire famous around the world. (I was threatened if this was printed.)

According to Bill Parker, our violin player, during the time the orchestra plays he just strags along.

Flash—The amount of paper used for note writing during the year of 1933 was twice the amount used on studies, according to Phyllis Whitaker, noted authority on the prevention of note writing.

To Walt Winchell the columnist: Please leave out that line about "Give all your criticisms to Blah Blah", because the people who read this paper do not know what you mean, and another thing don't criticize yours truly the editor because they really will be on my neck if it is around that I'm the composer of the gossip column in this paper.

Waterford Township Republican Banquet at Drayton Plains

About four hundred attended the Waterford Republican banquet and rally held in the church parlors on Friday evening, March 2. This was the first banquet of its kind ever held in Drayton Plains and the dining room was filled to standing room.

The principal speakers for the evening were A. L. Moore of Pontiac and Wilbur M. Brucker, former governor, Howard Warner, president of the Lincoln Club of the county, Howard Bond from the Young Republicans' Club and Mrs. Marguerite Doherty, member of the state central committee. She spoke on "Women's Place in Politics."

Ralph Keeling, toastmaster for the evening, was introduced by Gordon McDougall, chairman of the program committee. Earl Phillips, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, was also introduced.

Mr. Brucker discussed the work of the Republican legislators at Washington and pointed out that they have supported the president's program for recovery and have played an important part in the Congressional program of the past year.

Mr. Brucker asserted that the trend of support of Michigan electors is back toward the Republican party and indicated the party to full strength next fall. He severely criticized the administration for the manner of cancelling the national air mail contracts as this action was taken without giving interested parties an opportunity to be heard. Republicans have always stood for trial before condemnation.

Senator Moore presented a series of legislation of the past sessions which was introduced and sponsored by Republicans as compared with that guided by the Democrats. Mr. Moore asserted that the majority of the constructive legislation was introduced and backed by the Republican members.

Mr. Moore criticized Governor Comstock for veto of the measure which would have reduced maximum interest on small loans, saying that the governor had promised to bring this interest down, and had failed to do so when he had an opportunity. He also repeated his criticism of the governor's $30,000,000 public works program stating the council of both Republicans and Democrats had agreed that half that amount was sufficient even with a liberal allowance in all its divisions.

Charles Campbell Succumbed Last Wednesday in Detroit

Last Wednesday Charles Campbell, a pioneer, passed away at the home of his niece, Mrs. Winifred Campbell, in Detroit. Mr. Campbell was well known by the older residents of Clarkston. The funeral was held at the Ogden Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon with Rev. H. A. Huey officiating. Mr. Campbell had requested a military funeral and so Mr. Ogden made every effort to carry out his wishes. The color guard and the pall-bearers were members of the Campbell-Richmond Post No. 63 of the American Legion. The firing squad was from the National Guard at Pontiac. Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery with the Knights of Pythias from Detroit conducting the service at the grave.

Mr. Campbell's life was one of service. His father moved to Clarkston in 1856 and purchased the Tavern, the place now known as the Terrace, and which tavern he operated for some time. Charles was brought up here and his mother and father were buried in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery. He was the last of his immediate family.

In 1862 he joined the 8th Michigan Cavalry in company with Dr. Robinson of Waterford and went off to war. During the first Morgantown raid he became ill and was sent home, arriving back in Clarkston in August of the same year. The following January he enlisted with the 9th Michigan Cavalry and joined the regiment at Nashville. After a second Morgan raid he joined General Sherman's ranks at Savannah, where he was a member of the Griffin Scouts. These scouts were Sherman's escort and he remained with them until the close of the war, returning here in July.

Mr. Campbell used to drive with the mail between here and Grand Blanc and Goodrich. Sometimes it was tough going and when it was too muddy, snowy or the weather was too bad to drive a team and buggy, he would have to go on horseback. In the year 1864 he drove the bus with a team of horses from the village to the depot and back, daily. He knew every farmer within a twenty-mile radius of Clarkston. He was married and settled in the village but his son died at the age of two and his wife's death followed soon after.

He left here in 1879 and went to Newark, New Jersey, where he began to railroad on the old line of the Hoboken and Eastern Pennsylvania road.

Later Mr. Campbell joined the staff on the Pennsylvania lines and while he was with that company he made a visit here at his old home and it was at this time his father sold the Tavern.

Mr. Campbell's next connection was with the Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad and he ran a local freight between Saginaw and Reed City until he went to work as a clerk at the old Hotel Standish in Detroit. He later left them and went traveling for a wholesale whiskey house out of Detroit. He had many interesting experiences when on this work. Next, he was employed as a deputy collector of customs at Detroit.

But railroading called to him and he went back to it again for a while. He felt then that he was getting too old for the strenuous jobs of railroading and so secured work as special officer in the old Russell House of Detroit. Finally he accepted a position with the Engineering Department at Dayton, Ohio, where he worked and made his home for ten years. He left there in May of 1932, moving to Detroit. He then felt that his working days were over so he used his Civil War pension to live on.

Mr. Campbell came to Clarkston every Memorial Day and got considerable enjoyment out of visiting his old friends, Amzi Dennis and Frank Yaeger. He considered Durand Ogden as his special friend.

For Comrade Campbell

Three volleys fired!
O'er one so tired,
His soul had gone to ramble.
Those weary feet
Along the street,
No more will make their ramble.
A tear that falls!
A Bugle calls!
It's Taps for Comrade Campbell.

Waterford
 The present quarters of the United States Supreme Court are to be kept intact and open to the public, if several national legislators have their way. So the United States Supreme Court will have its quarters in its own new building. Preservation of the present chambers should meet with universal public favor. The highest court of the nation has rendered its decisions there since 1860 and the Senate deliberated there for 40 years prior to that. It is within these chambers that the famous speeches of Hayne, Webster, Calhoun, Clay, Douglas and Seward were delivered to make history.
 Congressman George A. Dondero, 17th Michigan District, in a recent statement before the Committee on Education, House of Representatives, revealed that in 39 school districts within the 17th Congressional District teachers' salaries range from $270 to $1,080 a year, or an average of $430.
 Even with the unjust so-called economy bill denying helpless veterans and cutting thousands of government employes below a living wage, the deficit for the current year reaches the staggering total of $7,000,000,000, more than seven times that of 1931.
 The United States Fleet will cruise to the East Coast next spring for a visit to East Coast ports, and expects to return to Pacific bases in the fall.

 to melting tenderness in an electric oven

Prepare this delicious treat in your own kitchen on one of these—

TRIAL ELECTRIC RANGES!

EPICURES say that steak grilled in an electric oven has the distinctive flavor of steak broiled over charcoal. And once you have tasted it, you will certainly agree! Crispy, brown outside, meltingly tender within, with melted butter poured over the whole and mingling with the juices of the meat, an electrically broiled steak is a treat to make any man's mouth water. Electric broiling conserves most of the healthful juices, and the weight of the finished steak is much nearer its original weight. For delicious flavor and minimum shrinkage, electric broiling is unsurpassed!

cover for yourself—in your own kitchen—the eight extra features that make women prefer electric cooking to cooking with a fuel stove, we have arranged a special trial offer. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During the trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. WHEAT REDUCTION IS YET POSSIBLE

Farmers Are Offered Another Chance to Sign Contracts

Michigan wheat growers who have regretted that they did not sign reduction contracts when they were offered last year can now qualify to reduce their acreage and will receive all benefit payments except the one made last fall, according to R. J. Baldwin, administrator for the plan in Michigan. Opening the field for additional contracts was made necessary by agreements between the United States and other nations to reduce wheat in this country and in the others by a certain percentage of the average acreage planted. Some Michigan farmers who were not certain that their contracts would be approved and who, therefore, planted their usual amount of wheat can meet contract agreements by disposing of the excess above the contracted acreage. The excess wheat can be removed by pasturing or by cutting it for hay. All farms under wheat contracts will be inspected by local men to determine if the contract agreements have been met. These inspectors will be instructed in their duties at meetings to be held within the counties. The inspectors must certify that a proper reduction has been made in the wheat acreage before final payments will be made under the contract. The inspection work will start as soon as crops have made growth enough to make the work practicable. The second payments on the first year's crop will be made, starting in July, provided that the inspection service has been completed. Wheat growers can get all details about the new rulings on wheat contracts from the county committees or the county agricultural agents. Thirty-two recruits will be enlisted at the Navy Recruiting Station Detroit, Michigan, during March, 1934.

Liberty Theatre

HOLLY

Katharine Hepburn and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. comprise the sensational star team presented in RKO Radio Pictures' "Morning Glory", which comes to the Liberty Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Since she swept to stardom in her first picture, "A Bill of Divorcement," the dynamic Miss Hepburn has been the talk of the cinema world and has remained the screen's most interesting personality. Fairbanks, Jr., long has been one of the screen's most popular young stars.

A supporting cast commensurate with the brilliance of the co-stars, is to be found in "Morning Glory," with Adolphe Menjou, Mary Duncan, Fredric Santley, C. Aubrey Smith, Richard Carle, Tyler Brooke and Don Alvarado playing important roles. Miss Hepburn is seen as a girl who fights and wins a gallant struggle for stage recognition, and Young Fairbanks portrays a New York playwright in a characterization which ranks in importance with those of the co-stars, portrays a Broadway producer. Lowell Sherman, who scored such a hit with the recent Mae West success, "She Done Him Wrong," directed. The screen story is based upon a play by Zoe Akins.

James Dunn, Lillian Roth, Cliff Edwards, June Knight, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Lillian Bond, Dorothy Lee and Lona Andre constitute the extraordinarily brilliant cast of "Take a Chance," the Paramount musical extravaganza produced by Laurence Schwab, which comes on Sunday and Monday to the Liberty Theatre.

The new picture must not be characterized as a back-stage romance. It runs the gamut from a carnival side show, through a swanky New York gambling club, out to the homes of Long Island's millionaire society folk and back to Broadway. Dunn and Edwards are cast as side-show spellers who are not averse to making away with their patrons' pocketbooks and watches, when the occasion offers. Miss Roth and Miss Knight are entertainers at the show. The former finally abandons her friends because of their petty grafting and goes to New York where she wins fame on Broadway. The two spellers finally are induced by June, and the long arm of the law, to go straight. The three set out for New York to make their fortunes in a legitimate manner. At first they are caught in the toils of Robert Gleckler, who plays the part of the owner of a crooked gambling club but through the good offices of Miss Roth and her producer, played by Charles "Buddy" Rogers, they escape.

There are a number of hilarious sequences made against the background of a society charity bazaar at a swanky Long Island estate and also something entirely new, a goofy travelogue, a la Graham McNamee, which forms a background for one of Cliff Edwards' clever ukelele numbers. All ends happily after Dunn, Edwards and Miss Knight with great acclaim as members of Rogers' new show.

THIS WILL INTEREST ALL OWNERS OF CARS

Applicants for automobile license plates may be compelled to show their drivers' licenses if a plan now under consideration by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald is adopted. There are thousands of motorists in Michigan who have not obtained drivers' licenses, it was pointed out, and under the suggested plan, they would be unable to obtain plates for their cars, until a proper driver's license had been secured. The legislature now in session at Lansing is expected to pass a law this week reducing the cost of plates, and the Secretary of State has announced that in that event he will extend the time during which 1933 plates may be used for 10 days beyond the date of the passage of such an act.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard North and Mr. and Mrs. Ervid North, of Holt, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cramer Judd and family.

Seymour Lake

Mrs. Millard Perry entertained recently at a quilting bee and shower for Miss Norma Beardslee, who will be a spring bride.

Marlin Beardslee and daughters, Viola and Dorothy, were callers at Fred Van Wagoner's in Oxford Saturday.

Several of the young people of the community enjoyed the basketball games at the tournaments held at Romeo and Lake Orion.

Jim Eaton of Flint, former resident of this vicinity, was buried in Seymour Lake cemetery Saturday, March 3. Mr. Eaton was 80 years old.

Friends and neighbors pleasantly surprised George Willabee Wednesday evening.

From an old English cookbook written in 1390 containing recipes from the kitchen of Richard II we quote the following menu for a feast: "28 oxen, 300 sheep, 140 pigs, 210 geese, 12 boars, 720 hens, 8 dozen ordinary capons and 50 capons of high grease, 100 dozen pigeons, 50 swans, heaps of rabbits and curlews and 11,000 eggs, beside 12 gallons of cream and 120 gallons of milk." This was served in three courses with ten dishes apiece ending with a sweet of some kind but scarcely ever a vegetable.
