Immediatelý after dinner Mrs.

William Jones gave a spinning exhi-bition; This was very interesting, especially to those who had never interesting articles, some many, many years old. Down the center of the room was a long table holding old dishes belonging to Mrs. W. S. Starring; the plates 125 years old, a made from a knot of bird's eye maple over a hundred years old, also a cap, a collar and cuff set which was a display of very fine needlework. One end of the table was covered with a real old fashioned red table cover

Mrs. Howard Huttenlocher's grandmother. Here, also, was a candle mold that had been used by Mrs. Huttenlocher's grandmother. On this table were many old bibles, one of them printed in Gaelic, and some old silver, and quaint pictures, and eye glasses worn a few generations ago and a scarf over a hundred years old sheet over 125 years old, the material of which was raised, spun and woven by the great grandmother of Chester G. Fiske, and another sheet belonging to Mrs. John Mann, which was woolen and was made by Mrs Mann's grandmother. In this one room one could have spent an hour or so, because besides all that has been mentioned there were many beautiful pieces on the walls, among them being a silk and velvet throw for a davenport or couch owned by Mrs. H. A. Huey; a lovely cashmere muffler 80 years old, owned by Mrs.

C. E. Edwards; a paisley shawl belonging to Mrs. Alice Urch; a quaint, old painting "Detroit in 1820" the property of Ted Sweeney; a bric-abrac belonging to Mrs. Rhoda Withey; a table scarf given to Mrs. Lavina Barrows by the late Mrs. Eliza Clark; a crochetted rug, the property of Mrs. Adella West; a hand woven spread the property of Mrs. Milen Vliet, this spread was spun and woven at "Big Spring" Farm, Sussex Co., New Jersey in 1818 by Mrs. Lydia Ann Tuttle, grandmother of the late Mrs. Lydia Ann Vliet; also a quilt made and exhibited by Mrs. Taylor; and a paisley shawl the property of Mrs. J. A. Gulick and one that, had been worn by her mother, Mrs. Mary Cambrey. Another interesting exhibit was a Chinese Imperial Lotus Pond wall piece made of gold and silver thread and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Eli-Fisher on their silver wedding anniversary in 1917. The walls of the large Sunday School room and the church auditorium were a feast for the eyes. The fine display almost made one quilt crazy. Some were new and some were so old that they must have been made by candle-light. There were a number of silk quilts, one belonging to Mrs. John Mann and made by her mother, Mrs. Lau Bartlett; another exhibited and made by Mrs. William Jones; one about fifty years old be-longing to Mrs. Zoea Grant and made by her mother, Mrs. N. There were several "Log-Cabin" quilts, one especially owned by Mrs. Clarence Smith and made by her mother Mrs. W. C. Leighton of Pontiac with pieces taken from family dresses, aprons, blouses and shirts.

A silk and velvet quilt, the property of Mrs. Margaret Rockwell was very pretty and different, and a "Sunbonnet Sue" quilt made by Mrs. Lavina Barrows won great praise.

Another exceptionally pretty display was a "Powder Puff" spread owned by Miss Isabel Maybee and made by her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Maybee.

Miss Wilma Doebler exhibited lovely knitted bedspread and pillow and Mrs. McCarron helped make the room beautiful with her quilts, one a "Wind-Mill" quilt in yellow and

A quilt that almost took your breath away with its beauty was a "Postage Stamp" quilt owned by Mrs. James Urch and made by a lady of the Salvation Army. It seemed ablaze with color on account of being made with 5000 small pieces.

Another very striking exhibit was a large black cover owned by Mrs. Ada Mills. This gorgeous piece was made by her grandmother. She spun the yarn, and colored it with homemade dye, wove the cloth, drew the design and then embroidered it.

By Proper Attention at This Season to Defective Chimneys

Property owners are urged to make careful inspection of their chimneys cefore the Fall season begins.

Attention is called to the fact that for much of the annual home fire early autumn when fires are first time to modernize chimneys is before cold weather sets in.

Every chimney should be inspected before the first fire of autumn is built, is is stated, because bird nests or other obstructions may have accumulated in it during the summer, or bricks and mortar may have become loosened. If the fireplace persisted in smoking last winter, or if there is a possibility of insufficient insulation, a chimney expert should be called in to make the inspection.

Some of the more frequent structural faults of chimneys are pointed out by FHA officials. frequent fault is lack ficient height to cause a good draft. Wind frequently blows down the chimney when the top is below the ridge of a peak roof. The top of the chimney should be two feet higher than the ridge of a peak roof and three to four feet higher than a flat roof.

Another frequent fault lies in the chimney lining. Few chimneys have special linings and the gases from the fire disintegrate the mortar. The smoother the lining of the chimney, the better is draft. Fire clay lining is among the most efficient materials providing a smooth surface and also protecting the bricks and mortar from disintegration.

Openings into the chimney shaft should be taken to prevent any air opening being the best, and care shoudl he taken to prevent any air leaks in the clean-out door at the chimney base.

GAME RESULTS IN SCORELESS TIE

Dance Held To-night at Clarkston Opera House

Last Sunday afternoon the Independents played Davison to a scoreless tie. Although the world series broadcast from the many auto radios interrupted at times the game was a good one and very interesting as the score shows. Next Sunday the team will face the Pontiac Merchants at Burdette Park in Pontiac. The game will be a good one and although the Independents have some promising players, what they need is support. Why not be a football booster and help the boys. To-night, Friday, they are sponsoring a dance in the Clarkston Opera House. The charge is menial as you will see by the handbills that have been in evidence this week. If you cannot attend the games, just show yourself at the dance and the boys will know that you are willing to help.

The first place we stopped at was the picture studio where beautiful pictures which had been reproduced from small pictures taken seventyive feet in the air were hanging on he wall. We saw how films were enlarged, etc. The next stop was where the artists were at work reproducing films.

There are 1100 employees of the News with a fully equipped hospital with trained nurses and doctor on duty at all times.

Sixty girls are employed on the classified portion of the News. These girls each are seated at desks equipped with electric buttons similar to the telephone. In this room the ceiling the side walls are covered with perforated wall board which is used to deaden all outside sounds and noises. Next to this room is the telephone with great masses of wires with 600 sub stations. After we left the telephone room we entered what was termed the morgue or reference room. This contains all valuable information papers since the first Detroit News was printed in 1873 by Mr. Scripps. This was a large room filled with sheet iron locked cases with just room enough for one person to walk between. From this room we next found ourselves entering the lovely News Library where 23,000 books are open to the employees to study.

The composing and typesetting was most interesting. 65 different machines comprise the printing of the paper. The type is set on blotting paper that in turn is bent in a half-moon to fit in a cylinder which is of lead and pressed. These cylinders are fastened to a large roller which comprises one of the paper pages. When the papers are all printed these cylinders are sent to the melting pot and melted to be used over and over again. It takes one million and one half pounds of ink to print the paper for one year. Several of the rooms which group the main offices are very pleasant as they are homey and restful. Here the advertising contracts, cash and counting papers for the small towns and cities are taken care of. This completed the trip through the News paper department. The group was then taken to the WWJ broadcasting room and shown how the programs are broadcasted. Miss friends and relatives at Edenville, Sally Woodward gave an interesting talk and introduced C. C. Bradner, Rex White and Ella Gordon Smith who is at the head of the women's department.

MAKING CLOTHES FOR WINTER WEAR

Timely Advice to Housewives Regarding Family Wardrobe

These brisk days bring thoughts of clothes for the fall, and especially what numbers of last winter's wardrobe can be made over to serve another season.

Proper equipment, placed in easy reach of the worktable, is very important in producing a good-looking garment, according to home economics extension clothing specialists of Michigan State College.

The work basket should, include a pair of sharp shears made of good steel. It is poor economy to buy cheap shears that requuire frequent sharpening. Dull shears often cause very difficult to handle. The seven inch size is the smallest that should be used for dress-making. Choose a thimble which fits the finger and is not sharp on the edge If the thimble is too tight it will be uncomfortable, and if too loose will require extra moments to recover when it slips from the finger.

BROTHERS WORK 153 YEARS FOR ONE FIRM

Four Parkers Devote Careers to Service With Bell-Telephone System in New England

An unusual telephone record has been established by the four Parker brothers, of Greenfield, Mass. With the recent retirement of George F. Parker, the Parker brothers completed more than 153 years of service in the Beli-System.

42 Years of Service

George F. Parker began his telephone career in 1891, as a night operator in Greenfield, and completed it as Division Construction Foreman for Vermont. During his 42 years of service he never suffered a lost time accident, although he was in one railroad wreck in which a number of persons lost their lives, and thirty years ago he nearly succumbed during a blizzard.

His brother, Wallace A. Parker, was the first of the Parker boys to enter the telephone service. He, too. began as a night operator at Greenfield in 1890, and during his 44 years' service was assigned to outside plant work, not only in Western Massachusetts, but also in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

First Call to Chicago Samuel A. Parker, another brother, served 34 years and four months, and one of the events he remembers particularly was the first telephone call from Greenfield to Chicago. One of the invited guests telephoned to Eugene Field. the poet, who used to live in Amherst and who had many friends in Western Massachusetts. Later, Samuel Parker, while in San Francisco. took part in the first transcontinental call made over the borders of Vermont. He began his career as Manager of the Greenfield exchange and completed it as Division Superintendent.

Other Members of the Family

TELEPHONE HALTS FLOOD IN EMPTY SUMMER HOME

A telephone in an unoccupied summer home on Fisher's Island, off the Connecticut shore, proved a reliable sentinel recently.

The owner of the house, preparing to occupy his island home for the summer, notified the water company and ordered the water connected. This was done. Soon thereafter a light appeared on the testboard at the local telephone central office, and a repairman was sent out to find out the trouble. Testing the line from the curb-box he found it clear to the central office. This indicated that something must be radically wrong in the house, which had not yet been opened for the season. Obtaining the keys, he entered, to be greeted by a shower of water.

Investigating, he found that when the water had been turned on, a defective valve in the fire protection system had permitted the fire hose to fill. When the pressure became strong enough, the hose was forced out through the glass container, knocking the telephone over as it fell to the floor. This caused a signal to appear in the telephone central office. Prompt action prevented serious damage to the house, which was being rapidly flooded.

The number of market hogs under contract is 714,000 which signers agreed to reduce by onefourth, or 178,500 head, in 1934. The gross benefits, which amount to $5 per head for the three-fourths allowed to be raised, total $2,677,600. Figures are not yet available on the amount of local expense involved to be deducted from the gross benefits, but it is expected that they will not vary greatly from an average of five per cent of the benefits paid.

Seventy-two of the eighty-three counties in the State participated in the program. Four counties, Dickinson, Houghton, Oscoda and Roscommon, contributed only one contract each. The greatest number was 1631 in Lenawee county, while Monroe, Huron, Branch, Hillsdale, and Gratiot submitted more than one thousand each. Oakland county had 136, with corn benefits amounting to $4.174.00, and hog benefits amounting to $16,050.00,

THE CLARKSTON NEWS

With the crisp fall days here again, family appetites demand bigger and more substantial meals ... and the family cook has an opportunity once more to indulge her talent for creating favorite dishes. To make these dishes even tastier and more appetizing . . . to bring delighted "oh's" and "ah's" from pleased husbands and daughters and sons . . . to give your whole family a pleasant and unexpected surprise, why not try preparing your meals on an ELECTRIC RANGE? You will marvel at the difference it makes - at the delicious natural flavor retained in foods .. at the healthfulness of this modern cooking. On an electric range, meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices, with all their nourishing elements and important minerals SEALED-IN. Electric cooking imparts a temptingly different flavor.

You do not need to BUY a range to experience the pleasure of using one. Our trial plan permits you to "sample" electric cooking in your own kitchen before naking any decision. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During this trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense.

Since this trial plan was begun a short time ago, over four thousand of our customers have taken advantage of this offer. Send in your application for a trial range today!

Remember Your Home Newspaper

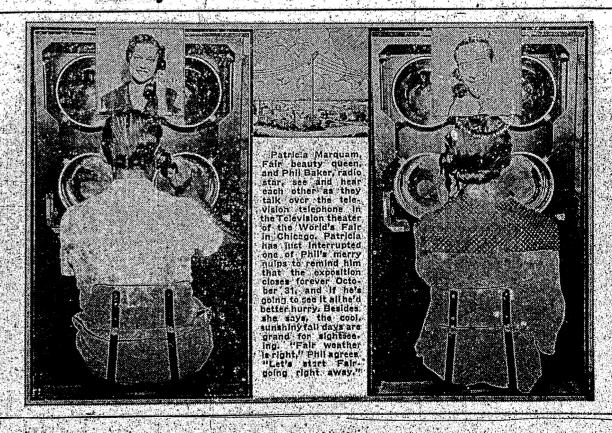

All matters handled thru the Probate Court require a certain amount of legal publication in one of the county papers. Foreclosing a mortgage entails publication of the foreclosure notice in a county paper.

Either the probate court officers or your attorney will have your legal publication carried in The Clarkston News if you request it.

We solicit the privilege of carrying such legal publications. This form of advertising is valuable to us. When you support us in this way we are able to give you a better paper week by week.
