County Farm Bureau Get-To-Gether Dinner To Meet In Clarkston Fighting for Title For Legion and Ladies

On Tuesday evening the Legion Meeting Held at M. E. Church, With Dinner at Noon

NUMBER 21

The Oakland County Farm Bureau will hold its annual meeting in Clarkston on Friday, Jan.* 25th. In the morning the regular business meeting will be held and the election of officers and the presentation of resolutions will take place at this time. At 12:30 noon there will be a potluck dinner served with coffee furnished by the Farm Bureau. All those who attend are asked to bring their own dishes, silverware, sandviches and one other dish of food.

In the afternoon a program will be presented. R. Wayne Newton, of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, will speak. The members of the Brandon Grange will present a one-act play, and then there will be a discussion led by Austin Gwinn, of the State Farm Bureau, on formation of legislative clubs.

The whole day will be a profitable one to all who attend and the Farm Bureau is looking forward to having a good crowd.

During the recent ice storm, which extended throughout the central and director Mr. Frank Bach rendered southern part of the lower peninsula, several fine selections. After the the State Highway Department for the first time sanded the entire length of all principal trunk line highways in the hazardous area. It is estimated that approximately 9,000 tons of sand, with a mixture of chloride, were applied to some 2,000 miles of trunk line roads at a cost of nearly $18,000.

"The policy of the Department in former years during ice storms," said Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, "was to sand only hills, curves, and other dangerous places. The severity of the recent storm, however, justified the work and expense involved in placing sand continuously ute any great amount, a few pennies on the principal routes."

VARIED PROGRAMS AT FARMERS WEEK

Going on All the Time

Anyone looking for a good chance to relax and forget some of the common varieties of trouble should visit Michigan State College, Farmers Week, Jan. 28 to Feb. 1, and spend five days enjoying the entertainment features provided to lighten the week's program.

Visitors might start with the exhibit in the Physics Building where an X ray machine permits a person to watch his companion's heart beat. This is just a precaution to see if the machinery is in tip-top form to. withstand the ensuing excitement. The engineering division will put on its annual exhibit of white magic where the latest development in electrical and other phenomena seem to flout all natural laws. ## MUSIC-FOOTBALL IN FEATURE FILMS

Are Scheduled for Showing at the Holly Theatre

A picture heralded as a thrilling revelation in musical spectacles comes to the Holly Theatre Sunday. and Monday with the First National production of "Flirtation Walk." There is an all star cast headed by Dick Powell, charming Ruby Keeler playing the romantic lead opposite him, and Pat O'Brien in the role of a hard-boiled army sergeant.

There are two great specialty numbers. One is an authentic Hawalian Love Feast; the second the presentation of West Point's Hundredth Night Play by members of the cast. In this number Powell sings three catchy original songs by the famous song team of Allie Wrubel and Mort Dixon.

The West Point graduation ceremonies all come in as a part of the plot. These scenes were all taken on the Academy grounds with the full cooperation of the U.S. military . authorities.

Two stirring football games are among the high spots of Paramount's girls and music comedy, "College Rhythm," which comes Friday to the Holly Theatre. The picture also serves to introduce Joe Penner in his first feature film role.

With the abundance of color found in the furnishings for the modern house, the result will either be color "schemes" or color "screams". The amount of intelligence used in selection will determine the matter according to related arts instructors at Michigan State College.

Learning the effect colors hav upon one another is the only way to develop judgment in regard to their selection. Balance, or a feeling of repose, is the principle underlying the most important color law called the "law of areas". The substance of this law is that the larger areas should be either dark and dull (grayed) and the smaller areas light and bright (intense). As areas grow smaller they may become more intense and thus give contrast in size of areas as well as intensity. The secret of good color harmony is "balance and contrast"

Equal amounts<sup>9</sup> or equal intensities of complementary colors will prove monotonuos. For example a room furnished in tans and browns, with some dull orange areas, would be very monotonous for the tones would all be warm. If a contrast of some opposite color, blue, purple-blue, or blue-green in the form of pottery, pillows, candles, or upholstery on a

THE 1935 Ford V-8 has many advantages you'll want to investigate. But there's one that belongs at the top of the list-Comfort to match V-8 Performance.

To any one who has been behind the wheel of a Ford V-8-who knows from experience what a difference a V-8 engine makes-no other statement about this amazing car could be half so impressive.

"Taking a back seat" used to mean sacrifiging comfort-until the 1935 Ford introduced Center-Poise, placing back-seat passengers in front of the rear axle instead of over it. (See illustration below.)

Front-seat passengers in the New Ford find all roads easier, too-thanks to Center-Poise, another example of Ford pioneering, which combines and applies three related engineering principles in a manner certain to make motor car history:

Facts About the Telephone

Telephone service between Jerusalem and Great Britain was recently extended to Tel-Aviv, Jericho, and Bethlehem, in Palestine.

The Chicago News reports that there are twenty-one "Keys," one "Keyhole," but no "Doors" in the current Chicago telephone directory.

Among the stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph. Company are about 500 churches, 250 schools and colleges, 200 institutional homes, and 150 hospitals.

Walter S. Gifford, President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, observed his thirtieth anniversary in the Bell System on July 1, 1934. On that day in 1904 he began his telephone career as a payroll clerk in the Chicago office of the Western Electric Company at $10 a week.

waiting for all new comers.

Prof. Donald A. Laird, Director of the Department of Psychology at Colgate University, in a recent article in "Nation's Business" on "What the Average Customer Thinks," refers particularly to the importance of first impressions. People remember pleasant things better and are more likely to act on pleasant things, he points out. Thus, the average man buys things with pleasing colors, odors, and sounds, and avoids things which do not give him those simple sensory pleasures. Illustrative of this, Prof. Laird tells of a factory salesman of electric clocks who several times had tried to get into the office of a department store buyer, but always without success. One morning, while at the factory going over his records, the salesman had an idea. His company's new line included a model with pleasing chimes. Putting in a long distance telephone call to the department store buyer, the salesman, when he got him on the wire, held the clock to the mouthpiece and let the chimes serenade the prospect.

"What on earth is that?" asked the buyer. "The new clock I have been trying to show you for a month," replied the salesman.

And a large sale was made to the buyer who wouldn't see the salesman in person.

When construction started, the entire front portion of the building and the interior of the first floor. rear were removed, thus leaving the rear second story, housing the op-erating room and the necessary equipment, standing almost as though it were on stilts.

Special precautions had to be taken because of the possibility of tropical storms. One such storm did occur when the work was about four-fifths completed, but so efficient proved the bracing that no trouble resulted.

In the construction of the new office, extra safeguards have been taken to make the building waterproof. The walls are 13 inches of brick with 2 inches of tile, on which the plaster is placed. The fleor consists of a concrete slab, over which is a layer of double felt and asphalt, with topping of finished concrete. The ceilings are made of celotex material, to insulate the rooms against excessive heat in summer and against loss of heat in winter.

- Today the railroads are not buying. Their revenues have been so curtailed by unfair, unregulated competition that their buying power is sharply restricted.
- The railroads want to buy. They will buy when and if their purchasing power is restored.
- To increase railway purchases railway earnings must be increased.
- Legislative fair play for the railways will mean railway recovery.
- Railway recovery will mean increased railway buying and jobs, again, for millions.
- Our State Legislature and National Congress, now convened, should eliminate the unfairness in the competition between the railways and other agencies of transportation.
