"STUDENT PRINCE" IN THE OPEN AIR
To Be Presented at Navin Field, Detroit, Beginning Saturday

On a scale of spectacular beauty never before equalled in its 12 years in which it has been the outstanding operetta success of its time, "The Student Prince" will be presented by "Opera Under the Stars" on an outdoor stage at Navin Field in Detroit for one week starting Saturday, June 8th. This will be the first of the twelve musical comedies and operettas to be presented during the summer. There will be nightly performances and a new show each week.
The singing cast will be composed of New York stars, many of them with international fame. Most outstanding among them in this production is Leonard Ceeley, who will play the role of the Prince which he played in Detroit for twenty weeks.
The romantic story of "The Student Prince" centers in the love of Prince Karl of Karlsberg for Kathie, niece of the landlord of the Inn of The Three Apples. Ceeley will play this role, and the role of Kathie will be sung by Helen Ford, who started her career in New York but made her big success in London.
"The Student Prince" is not only one of the world's greatest operettas, it is a stirring romantic drama and is based on Meyer Forester's "Alt Heidelberg," a play which within six months after its premiere in Berlin, was seen on Broadway and other world centers.
In the cast surrounding Leonard Ceeley and Helen Ford will be seen such favorites as Barnett Parker, Hope Emmerson, Gracie Worth, Sandra Wood, Deseree Tabor, Joseph Lertoro, Robert Betts, Lee Biggs, Mario Fiorella, Jack Good and Robert Long. The romantic story of "The Student Prince" is told in four acts and a prologue.
Among the glorious songs which Sigmund Romberg composed for "The Student Prince" is the rousing and stirring student song, "The Drinking Song," "Deep in My Heart," "Just We Two," "Golden Days," "Student Life" and other well known favorites. "The Student Prince" will be presented every night for a full week starting next Saturday. The performance will start at 8:30 each evening and all seats will be reserved.

operator's license has been suspended as the result of an accident, must, if he seeks reinstatement prior to the time set by the revocation order, apply to the circuit court of the county in which the accident occurred. The measure was drawn to guarantee to circuit judges the privilege of reviewing their own revocation orders.
The second measure, House Bill No. 340, Enrolled Act No. 143, strikes the offense of driving while improperly registered, or while not registered at all, from the list of violations for which conviction automatically brings the operator under the stern provisions of the financial responsibility act of 1931. Since the latter act became law, nearly 1,000 operators have been brought under its provisions, chief "tooth" in the act being that the operator must prove his ability to meet accident claims up to $11,000, which requires the posting of cash, securities or insurance policies, in this sum, with the Secretary of State.

Officials of the Department of State believe that with this future possibility eliminated, the penalty for the misdemeanor of driving while improperly registered is made somewhat more proportionate to the offense. There are, at present, approximately 100,000 persons operating automobiles in this state without operators' licenses.

Charles Laughton to Appear in New Comedy Role

The long-awaited appearance of Charles Laughton, brilliant English actor, in a full-length comedy role, finally occurs in Paramount's "Ruggles of Red Gap," which opens at the Holly Theatre next Sunday and Monday, and proves beyond any shadow of doubt the man's consummate artistry.
In sharp contrast to the many sinister and villainous characters Laughton has portrayed so perfectly in his other film roles, he is now the charming, lovable, rollicking Ruggles, just as Harry Leon Wilson, the author of the famous story, might have imagined him.
Supported by Mary Boland, Charlie Ruggles, Roland Young, ZaSu Pitts and Leila Hyams in this bright and imaginative story of America in the 1900's, Laughton makes of this character of a sophisticated English butler in provincial Western society a role full of laughter, surprise twists and delights.
The picture opens in London when Laughton passes from his titled master to Boland and Ruggles, acting American tourists, as part of the stakes of a poker game.
His first contact with the strange democracy of his new master occurs when he and Ruggles start out to view picture galleries and end up in a drunken spree.

Brought to the United States, Laughton is introduced to Ruggles' friends as a Colonel and becomes the lion of Red Gap Society.
The consequence of so much democracy finally has its effects on the butler when he begins to pay court to the town's leading widow and decides to start in business for himself as a restaurateur.
The latter part of the film is devoted to the amusing reaction of Red Gap's startled society and the surprise turn of events which finally makes Laughton's project successful. Capable performances by Miss Boland and Charlie Ruggles feature the contributions of the supporting cast. Among the most impressive are those of Maude Eburne and Leota Lorraine, a newcomer.
Leo McCarey, long recognized as one of the best of Hollywood's comedy directors, has done a commendable and thoroughly enjoyable job on "Ruggles of Red Gap."

GET RID OF MOLES IN GARDENS AND LAWNS

The damage by moles to gardens and lawns is best prevented by trapping the animals or by placing certain materials in their burrows that will drive them away, according to G. C. Oederkirk, of the U. S. Biological Survey, who is cooperating in this State with the College of Agriculture, Michigan State College.
 A few traps, properly set and tended should remove all the moles in the average garden or lawn in a few days time. Locate the traps along runways that appear to be the main avenues of travel or along burrows that have been newly made. Reset the traps frequently, particularly during the early forenoon and later afternoon when moles are most active.
 In setting a trap, step lightly on the raised surface of the runway. Then locate the trap so the trigger is in close contact with the soil. It is well to have the earth especially firm immediately under the trap trigger.
 Three types of mole traps are available, the choker, scissor, and prong types. The choker and scissor traps are considered the most efficient but the prong type will produce excellent results if, when setting, the trap is firmly anchored in the soil and has the trigger in contact with the surface of the runway.
 Teaspoonful quantities of materials such as lye, flake naphthalene or moth balls, parachlorobenzene, lysol, and similar substances may be placed at intervals along runways to drive moles from an area. This method usually has only a temporary effect. To secure permanent relief, it is advisable to remove the animals with traps.

CHANGE IN TELEPHONE RATES IS ANNOUNCED

Minimum long distance telephone rates between most points, both within and outside of Michigan, were made effective one and a half hours earlier Saturday, June 1, when the effective hour for night station-to-station calls was advanced from 8:30 p. m. to 7 p. m. The change was made for the purpose of offering more time and more convenient hours for making calls at the night rate, according to W. B. Fauser, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone company.
 Under the proposed new tariffs, station-to-station day rates for long distance calls, both intrastate and interstate, remain in effect from 4:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., as previously. Evening rates, which have been in effect from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., and which were about 25 per cent lower than day rates on calls to points more than 50 miles distant, were eliminated, and night rates, which are about 40 per cent lower than day rates on calls to points more than 50 miles distant, are now in effect from 7 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

ALL THIS FOOD
 (INCLUDING THE 15½-POUND TURKEY)
WAS COOKED IN "DUTCH OVEN SUSAN!"

It's hard to believe that all the food on the table really was cooked in that compact electric appliance, Dutch Oven Susan. But it's true!
 Dutch Oven Susan is the most complete cooking appliance of its kind on the market. You can put a complete meal for a family of six—two vegetables, a roast, potatoes and gravy—in the cooker, and go out for the afternoon. When you come home your dinner is waiting, perfectly cooked—piping hot and ready for the table. Yet Dutch Oven Susan is compact . . . it takes up so little space that it can be tucked away in a corner almost anywhere.
 Dutch Oven Susan is easy to use. You simply plug it into any convenience outlet, and it will do every cooking operation possible on a small stove. It will roast all cuts of meat to perfection; it will fry eggs, steaks, chops, etc.; it will bake cakes, pies, cookies, biscuits and muffins; and it will hold half-a-dozen pint jars when canning by the cold pack, hot water bath method. Yet it uses only about as much electricity per hour as an electric toaster.
 Dutch Oven Susan is available in several styles and sizes—one to fit your needs exactly. The medium size model will roast a 10-pound ham, a 6-pound chicken, or a large leg of lamb. The large size will easily accommodate a 15½-pound turkey. And there is "Small Sister" Susan, an electric casserole, with a two-quart capacity.  It may be of interest to youthful collectors to know that King George V, possessor of a specialized collection of many volumes including the rarest items, still does not disdain to purchase penny stamps, which he considers as necessary to a collection as the rarities.
 Starting his collection in boyhood days as any other youth might have done, he never has lost interest in what he considers a pleasant and intellectually recreative "hobby", and although he has strictly confined his collection to stamps of Great Britain and the empire it requires many volumes to house what might be called a complete history of the British Empire in stamps.
