COMMENT AND CRITICISM

And now the raft at the swimming hole of which we complained last week is entirely submerged. Considering the number of bouquets handed us on last week's remarks, a new dock is the wish of many. As long as the council places orders on swimming, there is some reason to believe the village would have to bear the liability if someone was drowned as the safety mark has always been "Don't go beyond the raft." At this point there is a bad "drop off." We suggest a new raft or an order for forbidding swimming.

After stopping the practice as an economy measure about two years ago, the City Commission is planning to resume publication of the minutes of its meetings in the columns of The Birmingham Eccentric.

Provision for the additional expense has been made in the 1935-36 budget, and members of the Commission agreed last Monday night that publication of the minutes, beginning with the first meeting in July, would be started as soon as possible, probably within the next two weeks.

The minutes will not be published in their entirety, but the proceedings of each meeting will be summarized by Miss Irene E. Hanley, city clerk.—Birmingham Eccentric.

Jerome Demond Home To Be Remodeled

The small dwelling at the south end of Main Street, owned and occupied for many years by Jerome Demond, was sold during the past week to John W. Tremper, who plans to occupy it after making extensive improvements.

Mr. Tremper is a driver for the Foley & Beardslee Company and we are sure he will be a valuable addition to the population of this thriving village.

Alrey Steel Products Now in Clarkston

Will Begin Manufacture of Steel Products at Once

The Alrey Steel Products Company has taken over the former Vulcan plant at the corner of Sash-a-Baw Road and Main Street, under a lease-purchase agreement and will immediately begin the manufacture of steel products such as fan belt pulleys, oil seals, hub-caps and experimental steel spinning in cooperation with the engineering staffs of the neighboring motor car companies.

It is understood a small force of skilled operators will be built up at first, with the hope that more men can be used as the work expands.

Operations will be under the direct charge of Mr. Ray Nelson, who some of our readers will know as a brother of Victor Nelson, Pontiac City Commissioner. Mr. Nelson comes here from Canton, Ohio, where he was formerly connected with the Spun Steel Corporation and brings a world of experience in this line.

We feel that Mr. Nelson and his organization are going to prove to be a valuable asset to this community.

Best wishes.

HOSE IRRIGATION PROVES A SUCCESS

Farmers and Gardeners Are Pleased With Results

Leaky hose irrigation is one way market gardeners are obtaining a steady cash income during the summer. Frank Williams, of Highland, is one of a score in the county who irrigate parts of their farms. Other farmers are using irrigation on all sorts of vegetable crops, including potatoes. Mr. Williams has specialized in ever-bearing strawberries and has nearly 20 acres under irrigation.

It was in 1932 that the first canvas hose installation was made in the county. George Henry, of New Hudson, installed a small outfit, pumping water from a near-by stream to irrigate five acres. Mr. Henry has used this type of irrigation every year since.

This type of irrigation has been used in orchards and was especially valuable last year because of the drought. L. R. Love, living at the corner of Northwestern and Orchard Lake Roads, irrigated ten acres and states that irrigation practically doubled his crop. It also resulted in an increase of the quality of the fruit. W. D. Flint, who lives one mile north of Novi, irrigated eight acres from a deep well with similar results.

Experiments at the Michigan State College have shown that a minimum of 19 inches of water is needed by crops during June, July, August and September for best growth. It is the usual practice to apply an acre inch of water per week. As the foliage of the plant is not wet, irrigation can be carried on any time during the day or night.

The porous hose system, because of the small investment it entails (estimated at $15.00 per acre by the State College) is as practical for a farmer who raises fruits and vegetables on a small scale as the one who specializes in this kind of fruit.

One of the projects sponsored by the Extension Service of Oakland County is canvas hose irrigation. A demonstration of the equipment will be made Friday, July 19, at 1:00 p. m., at the Barbison Farm, located 1 1/2 miles north of Birmingham on the Adams Road. Market gardeners are invited to inspect the demonstration.

New Vault Door for the Clarkston State Bank

After pushing and tugging for upwards of 18 hours representatives of the Diebold Safe and Lock Company of Canton, Ohio, placed a 7000 pound safe door in position to guard the vault at the Clarkston State Bank, last Sunday.

This door is known as the Triumph door and is designed for vaults built for protection from burglarious attack.

The door is 8 1/4 inches thick on the edges and is built up of one-half inch open hearth steel, 1 inch torch-resisting five-ply chrome and 1/2 inch open hearth plates.

There are eighteen 1 1/2 inch bolts all operated by gears. This door is installed in a 20 inch wall of concrete and reinforced with steel.

The installation of this door, while affording much greater protection to safety-deposit box renters and to the funds entrusted to the bank, also results in a saving of more than two-thirds in the rate of insurance on the contents of the vault and should pay for itself in a very few years.

To Be Held at Square Lake Country Club

Local People Injured In Accident Sunday

Collision Occurs at Orchard Lake and Ten Mile Roads

About noon last Sunday as Mrs. Earl Walter was driving her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, to attend a family gathering at Farmington, her car was struck by a car driven by Mr. Bordreau from Ferndale. The collision occurred at the intersection of Orchard Lake and the Ten Mile roads. The Walter car turned over and the occupants escaped with a few cuts and bruises and shattered nerves. In the car were Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Phyllis Walter, Reta Wills of Pinconning and Mrs. Walter. Mr. Jones was able to scramble from the overturned car and although 82 years old was quite ready to assist those who had difficulty getting out.

Quite a crowd gathered and a great many on-lookers were willing and ready to render assistance. Two young men in another car drove through the Walter's car to Dr. Fitzpatrick's office in Pontiac and waited for them there until all their wounds were taken care of and then they were kind enough to bring them to their home in Clarkston.

The accident was fatal to some in the other car. The driver's wife was killed and her father died after being taken to the hospital. The other three passengers escaped with cuts and bruises.

On going to press we find that Mr. Jones is feeling fine and Mrs. Jones is able to sit up. Mrs. Walter is nursing a few wounds and the children seem to be alright.

Mrs. Henry L. Garter Dies Suddenly

Burial Was Monday in Lake View Cemetery

The whole community was shocked last Friday when word was received that Mrs. Henry L. Garter who had been taken to Goodrich hospital on Thursday had passed away early Friday morning. Mrs. Garter had been ailing for some time but at no time did anyone consider her condition serious. A heart attack caused her death.

Mrs. Garter, before her marriage, was Eleanor J. Goodenough, born May 22, 1879. She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Goodenough. Her father was a prominent physician, and conducted a practice in Clarkston. It is interesting to know that Mrs. Garter lived her entire life in the same house on North Main St.

Mrs. Garter graduated from the Clarkston High School forty years ago in the class of 1895 under Superintendent A. L. Craft. The nine members of this class were Louis F. Walter, Herbert Lewis, Ed. Hubbard, Zoa Smith, Esther Walter, Edith Urch, Grace Ballard and Libby Smith. This is the first break in this class.

Mr. and Mrs. Garter were married thirty years ago and they have worked together in and around their home and in the furniture business ever since. They had a small furniture business and the telephone office where the Buick garage now is, later building their own store. Mrs. Garter was an active worker in the O. E. S. being a member of the Joseph C. Bird Chapter No. 294.

Besides her husband Henry L. Garter, she leaves a few cousins and many friends to mourn her loss.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the residence on North Main St. with burial in Lake-View cemetery.
