The meal was served cafeteria style and although the church dinners usually start at 6 o'clock and the majority of folks decide to wait until 6:30, this one started a few minutes early and at 6:00 o'clock there were two lines of hungry patrons extending from the serving tables at the rear of the dining-room to the main entrance at the front of the church and by 6:30 every table was crowded.

The Ladies' Aid made a profit of $40.00. Mrs. Fleming wishes to thank her committee which was comprised of willing workers, also those who so generously donated food and those who patronized the affair. AN ANNIVERSARY by Mary Lindsey

Today, Friday, September 17, we observe the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution by the con-

The ratification of our Constitution by the states which was completed the following year, 1788, was a strenuous task. Bitter convention battles were held in New York and Virginia. Outstanding men such as Patrick Henry, George Mason and R. H. Lee led meetings in opposition to the Constitution. But when the ratification was finally assured the American people forgot their differences and went wild with joy. They realized that with the making of the Conwent wild with joy. They realized that with the making of the constitution they were assured the preservation of local rights, the establishment of national authority, the reconciliation of the particular interests and the general welfare of the American people.

By the adoption of the Constitution our country passed without civil revolution or a military dictatorship, from anarchy to order, country passed without civil revolution or a military dictatorship, from anarchy to order, and the constitution of the constitution from weakness to strength, from death to life. William Pitt, the great prime minister of England, said, "It will be the pattern for all future constitutions and the admiration of all future ages."

This has indeed proved true. It is today as then the supreme law of the land. It binds the executive, the legislative and the judicial branches of the government as much as it does the humblest individual. It teaches us our rights, our exalted privileges and our duties as citizens of the Republic.

On Wednesday night about fifty met at the school for the first P. T A. meeting for the season. On ac count of the absence of the president Mrs. Shotka, and the vice president, Henry Woolfenden, Mrs. Kennedy took charge.

The meeting opened with the Invo cation by Rev. C. E. Edwards and then followed the regular business proceedure. The various committees reported what had been done in the last few months and it was decided to havé a Penny Supper in two weeks, the details to be announced later. The suggestion was made that the P. T. A, sponsor the making of tea-wagons to eliminate the carrying of so many dishes from the kitchen all the way to the auditorium. This idea was very well received and it was moved to have the tea-wagons made as soon as possible.

The Finance committee has decided to sponsor some project each month until their term expires.

No Cause For Alarm In Oakland County

Infantile Paralysis Cases Fewer Than in Other Years

Oakland County has been touched but lightly by the infantile paralysis which has been found in some parts of the country; so lightly that the total cases here for the current year are well below the number of cases in other recent years, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, County Health Commissioner.

"Judging from past experience indications are that there will not be any serious problem with the disease this year," he said.

Dr. Monroe pointed out that there had been nine cases reported in the county since July 9, 1937, exclusive of Pontiac

"This is a remarkably small number of cases," he said. "For the past few years cases have totaled as fol-

BIG ENROLLMENT AT STATE COLLEGE

Oakland County Sends Many Students to East Lansing .

With officials preparing for a rec rd enrollment totaling more than 5,000 students, Michigan State College this week begins its 81st school year on the campus at East Lansing.

More than 2,200 new students, mostly freshmen but including transfer students, will enroll. This record number leads officials to believe the total enrollment will reach the highest figure in the school's history. The previous peak was reached a year ago with 4,627 in school October 10.

Drayton Plains School News

The Drayton Plains school opened last Monday with an enrollment of approximately 435 pupils. It is estimated that late enrollments will bring this figure to about 450 by the end of this week. On Monday night a reception was held by the P. T. A. to welcome the teachers and the new superintendent, Glenn Nykerk, and his wife. Mr. E. J. Lederle, county school commissioner, gave an interesting talk. The admission is refused to those who teachers were then introduced to the group by Mrs. Morrow, president of the P. T. A. In the short business Freshman registration at Michigan meeting plans were discussed and

This year the staff is in the form of a News Writing class, one quarter credit being given for one year's work. Each person will receive varied experience and each person will serve as editor at some time during

Although the organization is slightly different we'll try to relay The news, all the news, and nothing but the news? to you.

The staff, or class, consists of eleven members and the teacher, Mrs. Walter. The members are: Marie Tremper, Evelyn Davies, Pearl Olson, Irene Walz, Alice Williams, Mary Lindsey, Betty Chamberlain, Dick Lowrie, Jewell Robitaille, Junior Byrd, and Charles Perry.

NEW STUDENTS By Pearl Olsen

Clarkston is glad to welcome many new students to the Clarkston School this year. We hope they will enjoy

In the seventh grade there are Donald Boice, who formerly attended the Oak Hill School, Gordon Pennington from Grosse Pointe, and Rolland Grevstad from Baldwin School,

The eighth grade is increased by Arlene Williamson from Sashabaw School; Honor Stickney from Bailey Lake School; and Genemary Cubley from St. Gregory, Detroit.

In the ninth grade we find James Young from Bailey Lake School; Gerald Weston from the Clarkston Station School, Reginald Nowlin from Hunter School, Billy Allen from Oak Hill School, and Leo Stevenson and Floyd Sommers, both from Anderson-

Jack Cubley from the Post Intermediate, Detroit, Lenore Grevstad from Lincoln Jr., Pontiac, and Mary Jean DeLong, who has returned after spending a year in the Denby School in Detroit, have been added to the tenth grade.

The eleventh grade has the largest number of new students. They are Oliver Johnson, who comes to us from the Holly School, George Gerchen from St. Mil, Chicago, Maynard Scofield from Cass Tech, Arlene Mc-Cann, Robert Smithson and LaVerne Webber all from Waterford School. Eleanor Day and Richard Ganther from Pontiac High School. Richard attended school here year before

Only one new member has been added to the twelfth grade. She is Ferne Grevstad, who formerly attended the Keego Harbor School.

SCHOOL SCHEDULE by Evelyn Davies

In a small school it is not always possible to offer all the subjects each subjects which alternate with others are being taught. Mrs. Walter is teaching English Literature instead of American Literature. She also conducts a class in news writing which meets twice a week. THE SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY by Alice Mae Williams

If you didn't come to the Sunday school party you missed a lot of fun The party was held at Charlotte Sue Miller's—we always have fun there. The party began at seven, we roasted wieners and marshmallows, and when we weren't freezing we were enjoying the fire. We played a game something like hide, seek and run, (mostly run) out in the alfalfa field Adjourning to the house we danced and as the floor was very slippery several spills were inevitable. Some body suggested "Spin the Bottle" so we spun it. George Beardslee walked around the barnyard in his bare feet; Julia Edgar waded the length of the horse trough; Clinton suggested a ducking in a tub of water but he had to do it himself and like a good sport, he did. Louise Gulick ate a spoonful of raw cocoa, Milton drank a cup of ginger tea (and recovered), George Beardslee ate a also had to pull a horse's tail but the horse wasn't there-lucky horse-We all had ice cream and finally ended the party with a good old fashioned Virginia reel to the tune of swing music. King was the belle of the party as usual. Fun! You haven't heard the half of it! It's too bad missed them too.

Since Michigan is a leading recreational center, this pine has great scenic value. In re-foresting thousands of acres of its idle land, white pine is considered one of the most valuable species used in planting. Good planting sites are available in every section of Michigan."

"The best estmate," the report continues, "of commercial value of white pine in Michigan is about $24;-000,000, while the aesthetic value is at least $10,000,000 more. The extent of white pine lumber production in the state as shown in the 1934 census is about 20 to 25 million board feet of white pine cut of which the mill value is $23,75 per thousand. In addition to the commercial value in the state a tentative estimated aesthetic value of $10,000,000 based on 77,400 acres of outstanding recreational pine areas must be added, bringing total value of white pine in Michigan to $33,915,005."

In submission of his program for the coming year, Mandenberg pointed out that materially reduced appropriations would necessitate a reduction of work but that progress could be made in the control of the disease. During the past three years program organizations emergency have been the largest contributors but with reduced appropriations work must be curtailed.

To protect the white pine of the state, crews sift through the remaining stands and protective area of 900 feet surrounding the pine, eradicating all host plants. Ribes are abundant throughout the state, especially on the heavier soils, and cultivated ribes are common everywhere. Altogether there are eight species of wild ribes found in the state, three kind of gooseberries, which are found on the upland and five species of currants which occur in swamps.

"Because of its high susceptibility to and power of transmitting the disease to other host plants, the cultivated black currant is probably the greatest single factor in the spread of the disease within the state. Each year the earliest infection found occurs on Ribes nigrum and over half of the known pine infections have been traced directly to this plant. It has been generally and abundantly distributed throughout Michigan and the state has pushed its eradication since the plant was outlawed in 1929. The accomplishments in this important activity to date are: 56 counties initially covered; 20 counties have been rechecked, a total of 109,333 black currant bushes have been removed from 10,828 locations."

City Offenders More Numerous Than Rural Conservation Men Say

Fishing Law Violations Lead

Who are the most inclined to violate the conservatoin laws-the city resident or the one from the small town or rural community?

Figures contained in the compila tion of arrests by conservation offi cers during July offers interesting material for speculation on that question. While the rates of offenders per total city population or total rural population, if known, might vary surprisingly from the July statistics, figures for that month, exposes the city man as being numerically the "bigger
