Clarkston Boys Officers Man Trapped in Car M. E. Ladies' Aid of Phi Sigma Chi COMMENT Met Wednesday A Harvest Festival Will Be Held AND CRITICISM

Parked on the Beattie Bros. lot is a car, very much the worse for wear. In fact a man was cremated in this car last Saturday night. We were not there. We are not sure so we leave out our slogan "Sudden Death". For all we know perhaps he was burned alive. At least it was a traffic accident and presumably the driver was asleep. On first thought, after watching the crowd inspecting the car we thought the Village should buy the wreck and leave it in a prominent place as a bad example of traffic. Our second thought leaves this conclusion. There s is no such thing as a perfect crime, but the police daily pick up those who believed they could perform one. And the only thought this car will bring to mind is "Someone was careless" . . . but I am a good driver . . . it cannot happen to me."

To those who like to laugh at the "nine old men" we suggest the change to "Eight old men and an ex-Klansman.'

CLARKSTON LOSES CLOSE GAME TO MILFORD

By Charles Perry

A place kick for the extra point following the touchdown proved to be the margin of victory in our first league football game of the year. Clarkston lost a hard fought game on the local field to Milford by a score of 7-6.

Milford kicked off to Clarkston to start the game, and C. Russell ran the ball back to about his own forty yard line. Clarkston failed to go very far, though, and after a few plays, Milford secured the ball. Both teams tried to advance at different times, very little ground being given by the defending team. At last Milford pulled a series of successful plays, which brought her very near the C. H. S. goal line. The whistle denoting the end of the first quarter blew at this moment. Starting the second quarter, Mil-

One of the most important things you can do is or this reflector!

You may think it doesn't matter what kind of a lamp you buy, so long as it is attractive and matches the decorative scheme of the room. But if you are buying a lamp to give LIGHT-.for reading, sewing, studying, playing cards, or any other close-seeing task-then you want only one kind of lamp: the reflector lamp. These famous lamps were developed to help guard against eyestrain. They are made in hundreds of attractive styles by many different manufacturers.

For example, a reflector lamp corrects the evile of glaring, spotty or insufficient light. A translucent bowl under the shade diffuses the light, giving it good distribution both upward and downward. The bowl controls the quality of light by diffusing and preventing glare. Part of the light is reflected to the ceiling to provide general illumination. A reflector lamp furnishes soft, even, restful light that enriches the color and beauty of a room and its furnishings, and helps to prevent eyestrain.

There is a reflector model exactly suited to your needs-styled for your home and to fit your pocketbook. See the wide assortment of these smart new lamps today.
