"Miss Cherryblossom" Draws Large Crowd

The music department of the Clarkston School certainly should be complimented for the very fine presentation of "Miss Cherryblossom" last Friday evening.

It took a great deal of courage for these young people to appear in public as singers. Special mention should be given those who sang solos and duets. Julia Edgar, the leading lady, was a sweet little Geisha girl who played her part marvelously and sang with very little effort although she was suffering with a cold. At the close of the operetta she was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. And Carmen Clark also sang sweetly and was a credit to her director. The boys, Milton Fiske, Leslie Vliet, Richard Craven, Kenneth Grate, Eugene Hubbard and Richard Tee were admired by everyone. Milton Fiske caused plenty of laughter with his comical sayings. All of the boys were good actors and sang their parts with just as much ease as they talked. The Geisha girls added color and their voices were pretty indeed.

Besides those who took part in the comedy, mention should be made of the accompanist, Betty Ash. The music department is proud of her. The audience kept an eye on Betty throughout the whole operetta and she really seemed to keep the whole program moving smoothly.

Between the first and second acts everyone enjoyed the guitar solo.

Mr. Willoughby, the director, and Mrs. Durand who assisted are to be congratulated. Mrs. Warren Strait was responsible for the costumes and the makeup. Then too the stage manager should not be forgotten. Jack Ekstrom knows how to manage according to the audience.

At the close of the evening gifts were presented to Mr. Willoughby, Mrs. Durand and Mrs. Strait. Alice Williams made the presentations.

Last Lecture Held Tuesday

The last of the series of health lectures was held at the school on Tuesday. There was a fairly good attendance. Dr. Block talked on "Cancer" and "Life after Forty". She emphasized the fact that cancer could be cured if treated at an early stage. A prompt visit to your doctor at the first suspicion of cancer will not only insure the early treatment that gives the best chance of cure, but it will also mean the end of worried uncertainty. Delay is always dangerous. The only effective methods for the removal of cancer are surgery, radium and x-rays.

Another week has gone by and the "Vanishing Dinner" keeps on the move. Those who entertain are having a fine time and are getting a great deal of enjoyment out of the fact that they are helping the Progressive Class of the Clarkston Methodist Sunday School. THE GOOD EARTH...
a Heritage

ONCE upon a time, not so many years ago, it cost $3,000 to build a mile of farm line to carry electricity. In many places the farmer was required to pay a large part of this line cost before he could have it extended. This meant that electric service was a luxury available to relatively few farm families. Now, all that is changed.

In the area served by The Detroit Edison Company, farm electrification has been a large reality for ten years. This has been accomplished by continued efforts to reduce the cost of bringing service to farmers. Costs have been reduced in two ways: (1) Cost of building farm lines has been lowered by engineering developments. (2) The Michigan Plan for financing farm line extensions on a sound economic basis has brought rural electric lines to the farmer at little cost to him.

A new type of line was developed by Detroit Edison engineers, and new ways of erecting the line. Lines were placed in fields some distance back from the road, to eliminate the expense of tree trimming and the danger of interruption to service by trees falling against the line during storms. To allow longer spans, we made use of aluminum wire with a steel core, which is stronger for its weight, and makes a farm line possible at lower cost. The result: Instead of $3,000 per mile, farm lines are now built for less than 50 per cent of the former cost.

The plan known as the Michigan Plan, and the one which this Company offers, makes it easy for a group of farmers to finance an electric line. A base price of $500 per mile of new line is charged, from which is deducted a credit of $100 for each customer taking service on that mile. Where there are five customers per mile of line, the total of their credits equals the base price of $500, and the line is built without cost to the farmers. When there are less than five customers per mile of line, the Company assumes anyhow the lion's share of the capital expenditure of building the farm line, and the customer only contributes a small part towards paying for poles and wire, insulators and transformers, labor and supervision.

Experience has proved this plan to be an equitable one. The results it has produced speak for themselves. It continues to stimulate economically sound electrification of rural areas. For the bounty of the earth, there is no substitute. The land is our heritage. Michigan is fortunate in its acres of rich farm lands. And in Southeastern Michigan, farm electrification has been a reality for ten years.
