Lansing — Permission has been granted the state military board for the use of 4,327 acres in the Au Sable state forest as an artillery range and for other military training purposes.

Due to dense forest growth the Hanson military reservation is no longer suitable as a range, while the tract in the Au Sable forest is only sparsely covered and is crossed by few roads.

The same arrangement by which use was made of the Hanson reservation will prevail in the Au Sable agreement, with the state retaining all mineral, oil and gas rights, and oversight of game, fish, fire and forestry interests and public hunting rights.

FIRE LOSSES CAN BE MUCH REDUCED

Prevention is the First Step in Program of Safety

"When Fire Chief Jeff Hubble gives advice to the citizens of this community on fire prevention, everyone should follow it," said a prominent citizen and business man Wednesday in a plea for reduction of local fire losses.

"We can save lives and property by preventing fires, and the man who knows best how to prevent fires is Chief Hubble. He will tell us from time to time what to do to protect our homes, our places of business, our churches, and our schools. If everyone does what he tells us to do, this town will be a still safer place to live in."

"Our Fire Department can put out fires, once they get started, but it can not prevent them from starting. But, we, as individual citizens, can. Most fires are caused by ignorance. We do not realize that we have hazardous conditions around us, ready to break into flames the moment the right kind of accident or piece of carelessness occurs. Our Fire Chief can help us to avoid these conditions."

"Last year our known property losses from fire amounted to $5,000. Some of this was covered by insurance but some of it was not. In addition, there were indirect losses that probably totalled an even greater figure. There was no compensation for these losses; they had to be born directly by members of this community."

"If we want to, we can cut these losses in half and, at the same time, save lives. It is up to us, as home owners and business men. All we have to do is to resolve to do everything in our power to prevent fires. The Fire Chief will show us the way."

IMPORT FIGURES ARE MISLEADING

Says R. F. McCrory in Defense of Conservation Plan

"There is a lot being said about imports of agricultural products supplying our markets," says Robert F. McCrory, chairman Oakland County Agricultural Conservation Program. "Sometimes it is claimed that our trade agreements are harmful to American farmers. Often these claims are supported by figures that do not tell the facts, they include products that do not compete with our production such as rubber, coffee, bananas, pineapple, hemp, etc. They also fail to show the corresponding export figures."

"The total imports for the United States increased in 1937, $661,000,000 over 1936, but during this time our exports increased $890,000,000, which shows a decided trend toward better business as well as increased markets. It is an acknowledged fact that imports always increase with farm prices and that farm prices increase with small supplies. The best guarantee against imported agricultural products is a stable supply of our own such as we can achieve by farmers participating in our Farm Program, working within their acreage allotments, maintaining their soil fertility, and storing excess products so they will be available for market in periods of scarcity, thereby helping prevent unreasonable prices."

"By balancing our production we will be able not only to keep our present markets but also to re-establish some of our lost markets so that abundant crops will be a blessing to all of us instead of a curse as has been the case too often in the past."

HOLLY THEATRE

From 600 tons of plaster, 164 workmen reconstructed Oxford for the screen. From their labors was evolved a college which Oxford has never seen before—Cardinal College—embodying famous characteristics of many of Oxford's world-known buildings, yet possessing an entity of its own.

Necessarily fictional, Cardinal College is the scene of undergraduate Robert Taylor's adventures in "A Yank at Oxford", opening Sunday at the Holly Theatre. Although fictional, it will be recognizable as essentially Oxonian.

In an art department room at Denham Studios, five young men planned this reconstruction job. Together with his four associates, Art Director Lawrence P. Williams scoured Oxford. With camera and sketch-book they gathered their material, and on their drawing-boards at Denham, Oxford rose again. With modern instruments they redrew the plans that eleventh century Norman craftsmen conceived when Oxford first rose at the rim of the Cotswolds.

Cardinal College came into being, a composite of all the finest features of Oxford's colleges, and so embodied that when seen on the screen it reflects the complete spirit of Oxford rather than that of one single institution.

Other giant settings, meticulously planned from the originals, are the famous Oxford High Street for which city authorities loaned both buses and taxicabs peculiar to Oxford. Even the city's style of lamppost was transplanted to Denham.

A forty-foot reproduction of world-famous Magdalen College tower rose near the studios, and from other scale-plans the Magdalen Bridge and Tom Tower were constructed. The venerable college barges anchored on the Isis were reconstructed for May Week scenes on the River Colne.

Famous college bookshops and ancient Oxford taverns, all had their place on the construction schedule, and from chart and diagrams aged rafters in college halls, staircases, stained-glass windows, coats-of-arms, crests and oak gate were manufactured.

Nature Chats

Nature has endowed the male of the bird with an extra amount of brain power and enthusiasm and order.

toise vitality seems never existing. Some of the most active of the diminutive birds are the nuthatches, humming birds and house wrens.

House Wren Troglodytes Aedon

The Jenny Wren, Short-tailed house wren or common wren is a welcome visitor to our homes. Cheery and friendly these sprightly little songsters will nest near a human habitation whenever given any encouragement.

The male birds arrive in advance of the female who arrives about two weeks later. Mating and nest building soon follows. The nest consists of straw, roots, hairs, threads, and grasses. The eggs are small pinkish white and speckled with reddish brown.

The song of the wren is a pleasing warble given with great rapidity and repeated during the nesting season but little intermission by the male. It is a bird too that sings late in the season.

Everyone can assist the wrens by building small houses for them with an opening for admittance that is not larger than a quarter of a dollar. Other birds cannot then get in.

LAW ON POISON AFFECTS CABBAGE

If Not Observed Product Will Be Non-Marketable

County Agricultural Agent Karl D. Bailey, Pontiac, reminds truck farmers and gardeners this week that arsenical dusts or sprays should not be applied to cabbage after the heads begin to form.

Tests by entomologists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture which show that certain organic materials that are comparatively harmless to man but fatal to insects prevent serious insect damage to cabbage after the heads begin to form.

In these tests, derris dusts containing from 1/2 to 1 per cent rotenone gave good control of the imported cabbage worm, the cabbage looper, and the immature form of the diamond-back moth.

The average monthly temperature of Nassau, in the Bahamas, is 76 degrees. The reason for this high average is the Gulf Stream, over which a "cold" wave would have to pass to reach Nassau.

Approximately $5,500,000 in cash was realized from truck crops produced in South Carolina during 1937, the growers enjoying the biggest returns in recent years.

Television Comes Nearer as Phone Cable Transmits "Talking Movies"

To demonstrate the ability of the Bell Telephone System's experimental coaxial cable, installed between New York City and Philadelphia, Pa., to transmit television images, "talking movies" were projected in the telephone laboratories in New York recently and were carried over the cable system to Philadelphia, where they were seen and heard.

Lower right: Side and end views of coaxial cable, showing the two copper tubes, each with inner wire held in place by insulators.

Television on a practical scale came one step nearer to actual accomplishment recently when "talking movies" were projected in New York City and were seen and heard in Philadelphia, 90 miles away.

This event took place in connection with a test of the Bell Telephone System's new experimental coaxial cable, installed between the two eastern cities. The test was not primarily of television, however, but of the cable's ability to handle the transmission of a television program from place to place, just as telephone wire and cable networks now carry radio programs from one broadcasting station to another or to many others.

"Movie" Substitute for Television Since there is in this country at present no commercial television program which could be transmitted by the cable system, "talking movies" represent the nearest approach to a television program. These simply interposed the medium of a film, and a time delay, between an actual scene and its transmission to a distant point.

Several days had to be spent with their necessary work of words and music, and the film was projected on a screen. The film was the story of the experiment of which it was a part, were projected in New York. They were reproduced in Philadelphia on a television set.

enough for a group of a dozen people to see easily, and the accompanying sound came from a loud speaker. The coaxial cable, developed at the telephone laboratories and installed on an experimental basis between the two cities, consists essentially of two flexible copper tubes, each some what larger in diameter than a pencil, in the center of which a copper wire is held by hard rubber insulators. Each of the tubes, with its wire in the center, serves to carry messages in one direction only. Together they form a two-way circuit for the transmission of conversation or other messages.

Handled 240 Calls at Once The two tubes are enclosed in a lead sheath, and the entire cable is fastened within the sheath are a few ordinary telephone wires, for use in making arrangements for the test. At intervals along the route, a small transmitter and receiver is installed, and electric signaling and receiving apparatus is required at the terminals in New York and Philadelphia.

The coaxial cable, so relatively small and simple, can handle up to 240 two-way telephone conversations at the same time. This is accomplished by employing what telephone engineers term carrier current with a frequency range of a million cycles. It results a million-cycle frequency range to transmit electrically a television image of fair quality. The test of the coaxial cable was therefore to find out whether it would handle a single "message"—a television image—of million-cycle range as successfully as it handles 240 telephone messages occupying the same frequency range.

CLARKSTON SCORES VICTORY IN OPENING TRACK MEET
Clarkston officially opened its 1938 Track season with a victory over Bloomfield Hills on Wednesday, April 27, by a score of 59% to 26%.
The meet attracted quite a group of C. H. S. students for they are beginning to take a greater interest in track since it was first given major attention three years ago.
Coach Waters was very satisfied with some of the records made by the local lads. In fact, several set new records for the local field. Lawson ran the mile in 5:29 and finished ahead of his opponents by a wide margin even though the wind, as in all the races, was a handicap. McIntyre's record of 2:21.5 in the 880 is also outstanding. Craven and Boys who each attained 5'3" in the high jump show great improvement. Walker's jump of 20'2" in the broad jump bettered his own previous record by 18 inches. The only event in which Bloomfield Hills took all the places was the 220 and Walker would have placed in that had he not fallen. The high point man of the meet was Shepard of Bloomfield Hills with a score of 11 1/2. Yost of Clarkston was second with 10.

THE ALL SCHOOL PARTY GREATLY ENJOYED
by Alice Mae Williams
The long waited for many-times-postponed all school party was held last Friday night from 7:30 to 10:30. We have been preparing for this party for a long time and a series of dance practices have been given at lunch hour during the past week. These practices have been greatly appreciated by the boys and girls who are learning to dance. They also served to give the orchestra a chance to practice.
The party, although slow in starting, soon got under way. Some of the pieces the "Rhythm Rascals" played were "Josephine", "Alexander's Rag Time Band", "When the Organ Played Oh Promise Me", "Once in a While" and a few others. As the evening went on the dancing couples increased and everything was just nicely started when intermission was announced. Everyone got his refreshments of hot dogs, pop corn, home made candy and soft drinks by presenting tickets of different colors. The fish pond was open all during the party. There was a constant crowd fishing for the trinkets at 2c a pole. During intermission the famous fortune teller, the mysterious secretive "Gypsy Doodle" opened her booth to the public. Some of the students guessed who the gypsy was but others left the party still puzzling over the mystery of the veiled gypsy.
After intermission our Master of Ceremonies, Dan Addis, announced a special feature of the "Ten Pretty Girls"—a saucy red head and all the blondes and brunettes.
We had some novel entertainers, clowns or what have you? A few of the boys made hula hula skirts of the decorations and did a hula clown dance. Needless to say, they were a funny sight.
We'll leave it up to the inquiring reporter to tell you how much the students enjoyed this first all school party.
The Inquiring Reporter
QUESTION: "What did you think of the All School Party?"
Eleanor Day, Junior: "It was different. The refreshments were appropriate. The conduct was good."
Mary Jane Gulick, Junior: "Let's have more of the same kind of parties."
Chet Adams, Senior: "It was a good opportunity to increase acquaintances and for some to learn to dance."
Milt Fiske, Junior: "We should have more parties with the same good music."
Charles Perry, Senior: "It should have been an All-School Dance rather than all school party as the other games were not played."
Betty Hoyt, Sophomore: "It went off well and everyone had a good time. I don't think that the decorations should have been torn down."
Kenneth Beard, 7th grade: "I thought that it was O. K."
Bob Brown, 7th grade: "I had a good time at the party."

This class has been working with eggs to learn their quality and also how to prepare them for breakfast. Last week the class prepared hard cooked eggs and then colored them for Easter. Now they will prepare different types of omelets.

The members of the first year high school group have just completed garments including blouses and pajamas. These the girls plan to have on exhibit in one of the stores downtown next week.
In preparation for work on their next garment, the girls have studied collars, belts, materials, colors, and lines, suitable to each girl.

The Economics Class is still struggling with problems. This past week they have studied index numbers and how they are constructed.
The eighth graders have chosen members of their class to conduct Scholastic discussions on two different occasions. Bill Wilson and Donald Smith are the two who have acted as chairmen. The class has responded quite well to this new arrangement.
In the World History course a contest was held in order to promote interest in some drill material. Betty Hoyt and Iva Rouse were captains of the opposing sides. As we went to press Betty's side was in the lead.

Lyle Steadman, who enrolled in the Sixth grade a few weeks ago, has moved to Pontiac.
We had several absences last week due to vaccinations and colds.
The arithmetic class made a booklet of graphs showing the mileage of an automobile during one week, a population graph, and graphs showing the production of wheat, corn, and cotton in the United States.
We are studying the discoveries and explorations of the New World in History.

For the past few weeks all of the kindergarten and first grade boys and girls have been busy farmers. Our sand table was transformed into a large and prosperous farm including a house, barn, trees, animals, farm implements, trucks, and even fields of corn and wheat. We made vegetable booklets, colored pictures, learned a song and wrote a story about our farm.
Our large chalk picture this month illustrates April showers. Mrs. Duck, with rain cape and rain shoes and holding a huge yellow umbrella to protect her new Easter hat, is enjoying a walk in the rain.
What fun we have had marching, shipping, hopping and galloping to music! We are very proud of our rhythm band too. In fact, we feel that we too could be called the "Rhythm Rascals".
SAFETYGRAMS
False perceptions are responsible for many accidents. Statistics show that a large proportion of railway crossing accidents are caused by drivers actually running into trains. Some of these accidents may be due to optical illusions.
Many persons do not have accurate distance perception. An object which seems to them to be several hundred yards away may be only a few blocks away. A person driving 50 or 60 miles an hour does not have sufficient time to correct an initial misjudgment.
Anyone who is directly implicated in any accident involving distance judgment should have his eyes examined. Until examinations are made it often is difficult to determine whether or not eyesight is bad.
Some of the large trucking concerns are now requiring that their drivers have their eyes checked. This provision will not only protect the truck drivers and their cargoes; it will protect other motorists as well.
It is important for the driver of a car to be in first class physical condition as it is for the motor of the car to be in good mechanical repair.

Clarkston Locals

The David Newlands have returned to their summer home in Clarkston. The L. F. Walters spent Sunday in Cass City.

The M. O. Clarks have returned from Coronado, Calif.

Mrs. George Nelsey has been on the sick list this week.

Mrs. Zoea Grant is now at her home in Clarkston after spending a delightful winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nash of Detroit are now at their cottage on Dollar Lake.

The magnolia tree in front of the Willis Bellows home on North Main Street is in full bloom and this is a sign that warmer weather is on the way and the work in the garden should be started. In fact, some of the nature lovers on North Main Street have already begun to delve and very soon the garden at the rear of the Ogden home will have added beauty and by the time the blossoms appear it will be a garden well worth seeing.

Mrs. William Jones returned to her home on Sunday after spending a short time with her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Wills, in Pinconning.

Guests at the Durand Ogden home for a few days last week were Mrs. Ogden's sister, Mrs. A. J. Liebner and son Albert of Rodney, Ontario.

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. B. DeLisle will be glad to know that she is able to be about again after being ill and confined to her bed for a few days last week.

Measles are still prevalent around this vicinity. Joyce Woolfenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woolfenden, has just recovered and now little sister, Caroline, has a slight attack.

Take Your Ruler!

Lansing—No true trout angler needs to be reminded that the 30th is the day of the opening of the 1938 season, but perhaps some in their excitement may forget to take along a ruler or its equivalent.

Lack of a ruler or some measuring stick has brought fines to more than one fisherman for having undersized trout in their possession. It's pretty risky to guess at the length of a fish, especially if you are keeping all close to the seven-inch minimum stipulated by law for trout. Of course, the angler who spurns anything under nine inches, preferring to return them to the water in the hope they will "grow up", does not have so much to worry about.

For Homemakers

Women equipping their kitchens with pots, pans and kettles can save money and subsequent loss of pride in cooking if they observe some of the results obtained from a survey of what's available in today's hardware stores.

Advice of Irma H. Gross, head of the department of home management at Michigan State College, is to pick and choose without too much regard for "just looks".

New types of materials include the stainless steel, algeheny metal and non-staining aluminum which require less work for the housewife but are more expensive. Glass sometimes is efficient because food may be served in the dishes in which it is prepared. Bakelite and other composition materials provide cooler handles.

Straight sided kettles to fit the burner are best. Tight fitting covers conserve heat. Baking pans should be seamless to avoid dirt. Metal should be heavy enough to prevent warping, denting or tipping.

Among the undesirables are the very heavy cast aluminum pans which are too costly. Color sometimes is attractive but subsequent chipping in poor quality enamels proves a disappointment. Colored paint on handles usually wears off.

TELEPHONE RATES HAVE BEEN REDUCED IN FIVE SUCCESSIVE YEARS

— 1934-1938 —

Those reductions, made in the face of substantially increased labor and material costs and taxes, mean an annual saving of more than $3,000,000 to Michigan telephone users.

The handset telephone charge was reduced and then eliminated. Rural line rates were reduced. Service connection and various other charges were cut sharply. And there have been 17 items of reduction in long distance rates, many of them applying to intrastate calls, in the past 11 years.

There is a type of telephone service to fit every need and every pocketbook. We will gladly give you details about how cheaply you can have telephone service if you will call, write or visit the Telephone Business Office.

DE LUXE PRAISE

"This De Luxe Ford V-8 is not only the best looking Ford I've ever owned, but by far the most economical one I've owned. By actual test on local driving, at approximately 30 miles an hour, I averaged 23 miles to a gallon. On a city-to-city trip at higher speed, I averaged 18 miles to a gallon of gasoline."
J. H. CAUGHEY

"Driving a new De Luxe Ford V-8 and accompanied by my family, I have just returned home from Mexico City, a round trip of 6000 miles. The new car performed marvelously well, although it was driven at a consistently high rate of speed. "We were very much surprised at the riding comfort of this new car. We had absolutely no trouble of any kind during the entire trip. And we believe that this is truly a wonderful car."
