ELECTRIC FENCES GETTING POPULAR

Many Farmers Are Finding Them of Great Value

Electric fence is covering ground at a shocking rate in Michigan, if a preliminary survey by members of the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State College is an indication. A number of farms in this vicinity have erected them.

One manufacturer alone sold nearly 5,000 electric fence installations in 1937 in the state.

With this new type enclosure that facilitates use of pasture that otherwise might go to waste or be used inefficiently, D. G. Ebinger, rural electrification specialist at the college, sees several precautions which farmers can utilize.

Weeds, brush or other green growth touching the electrified wire can cause short circuits. Mowing or removing this growth once or twice a season is recommended.

Many have used old pieces of inner tube or rubber hose for insulating the wire. Weather conditions cause this rubber to check and crack. When water enters, more short circuits result. Porcelain insulators should be used, says Ebinger.

In confining stock for the first time within an electric fence the adjacent green growth should not be too enticing. Gentle training to give the livestock respect for the wire is best. A few gentle nips on the nose are needed for animals to learn the lesson of the charged wire. Extremely dry weather may mean that an increased voltage is necessary, or a two wire circuit. Rain means reducing the charge to reduce danger.

Electric fence on some farms is completely paying for itself in a season, Ebinger finds. Installation at times cut out 90 per cent of the cost of conventional fencing. Additional information is contained in "Electric Fencing", Michigan State College Agricultural Engineering Department Bulletin No. 28-776.

HOLLY THEATRE

A new light comedy team makes its debut in "The First Hundred Years", opening Sunday at the Holly Theatre, in the persons of Robert Montgomery and Virginia Bruce. Montgomery, who achieved his screen reputation in this type of domestic comedy-drama, comes to the new picture following his work in the highly successful "Live, Love and Learn." Miss Bruce is teamed with him for the first time and receives one of her best acting opportunities as the wife who refuses to give up a remunerative career to make a home for her husband.

As Miss Bruce's partner in a New York theatrical agency, Warren Williams returns to the debonair note he struck in such films as "The Dark Horse" and the Perry Mason stories. Also featured in a hand-picked supporting cast are Binnie Barnes, in the role of a predatory actress with designs on Montgomery; Alan Dinehart, as the lawyer retained by Williams for Miss Bruce; Harry Davenport, Nydia Westman, E. E. Clive, Torben Meyer, Bodil Rosing and Irving Bacon.

Richard Thorpe, who achieved fame for his direction of "Night Must Fall," in which Montgomery also starred, and who followed with three comedies, "Double Wedding," "Man-Proof" and "Love Is a Headache," directed "The First Hundred Years." Norman Krasna, who produced "Big City" from his own original story, did likewise on this picture.

"The First Hundred Years" is a modern domestic comedy-drama with a New York locale, based on the problems that arise when a wife who has a successful and established career as a New York theatrical agent, cannot bear the thought of relinquishing her independence and her financial and professional background in order to make a home for a husband who earns considerably less money than she.

The entire action takes place in modernistic settings including the wife's impressive office, her apartment, two up-to-the-minute night clubs, the Newark airport, a Superior Court judge's chambers and a New Bedford shipyard.

The Perrys Return From Western Trip

Finds Birthplace a Secluded Beauty Spot

Mr. and Mrs. George Perry and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Perry of Grand Blanc, returned Tuesday evening from an eleven day tour through the middle west. They passed through Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado in their travels.

They brought back from their trip stories of ranches varying from 10,000 to 60,000 acres in size, thousands of cattle and sheep, corn that already stands shoulder high and various grains which are already being harvested.

They visited Fort Laramie on the old Oregon Trail in Wyoming and among the many towns in which they stopped was one by the name of North Platte in Nebraska. Soon after arriving there they found that this town was the birthplace of the famed Buffalo Bill. They got engaged in conversation with an old townsman only to find that he knew Buffalo Bill personally, thus they were told many stories of his life and doings.

Their farthest point west was Ouray, Colo., where they visited the early home of Mrs. W. J. Perry. After about 65 years, they found the log-cabin home in much the same condition as when built. A mountain stream which Mrs. Perry remembered in her childhood days helped her to locate the cabin and the school house.

They had a fine time during the whole trip, but as a vacation it is doubtful, for they traveled over 4,000 miles in that time.

The president, Mrs. L. F. Walter was in charge. Future activities were discussed but nothing definite was decided upon. A supper will be served some time this month. The cold plate supper last Saturday night drew a fairly large crowd although the ladies thought that the enthusiasm would not warrant another cold plate supper. They cleared about sixteen dollars.

The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Marshall and will be in the form of a picnic. Everyone will remember to reserve the first Wednesday of the month for this meeting and a good time.

At the close of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. George King and Mrs. Josephine Smith assisted Mrs. Teggerdine.

Catfish Nibble Swimmers' Tasty Heels at Mt. Clemens

Mt. Clemens—There are times when it's not desirable to have the fish biting good. And one of those times is when you are in swimming.

So, it was natural that bathers complained to conservation officers when catfish invaded the waters of a local beach and began taking none too playful nips at legs and feet.

A similar experience occurred a year ago and conservation officers were called in to seine out some of the nibbling fish. The same treatment was prescribed this time.

Telephone Company Pays Big Taxes

The Michigan Bell Telephone company tax bill for 1937 amounted to $5,066,000, an increase of 14 1/2%, or $637,000, over the previous year. On Thursday Frank L. Hall, the company's tax attorney, handed a check for $1,413,954.90 to Auditor General George T. Gundry which is one half of $2,827,909.80 the Michigan Bell will pay into the state primary school fund, the other half to be paid before November 1.

Under the Michigan law, telephone companies and telegraph, railway express and car-loaning companies pay taxes to the state in lieu of local taxes on property and plant used and useful in conducting their businesses, such taxes being placed in the primary school fund.

Canada No Place For Reckless Drivers

The summer season always finds many local motorists touring various parts of Canada. It may be of advantage to them to know that the Dominion House of Commons has just approved an act that imposes more stringent penalties for violation of traffic laws. For instance, it is an offense to drive recklessly, even if no damage results. Driving in a manner dangerous to the public is punishable with the maximum fine of $1,000 and two years imprisonment, and the penalty for a car driver who, after an accident, fails to stop his car, tender to any one who reports it $500 or six months imprisonment, and give his name and month in jail.

U. S. Ship Yards More Than Double Building in Year

Construction in American shipyards today is more than double that of last year, according to a report by the American Bureau of Shipping made public recently, which announces a 62 per cent increase.

A total of 119 vessels, aggregating 464,095 tons, was under construction on June 1 of this year, comparing with 104 vessels of 286,800 tons a year ago, the report states. A gain of 8 vessels and 67,655 tons was recorded in May.

FEEDING SUCCESS IS BUSINESS JOB

Correct Methods Make Difference Between Profit and Loss

Studies of the cost records of 13 typical Michigan livestock feeders indicate that it takes a good businessman as well as crop grower and feeder to make the most profit out of the livestock feeding industry.

Records scanned by H. B. Taylor of the farm management department of Michigan State College are applicable in Oakland county. These reports show that some feeders averaged a profit of $63.46 on a steer while the worst record showed a loss of $18.26 for each steer. Average of all the 486 head whose records were studied indicated an ultimate profit of $23.15 on each steer.

It takes a good business head, Taylor reports. Prices paid for feeding steers and the sale price had a greater influence upon profits than any of the other factors of feeds, gains in weights or labor charges.

Successful feeders in Michigan apparently are those who study carefully the type of cattle which is going to be in greatest demand at the season the feeder expects to sell. Thus they must anticipate at the time of purchase the business conditions that likely will prevail when the finished cattle are to go to market.

Five steer feeders with the lowest cost of gain had records which the college staff interpreted. These low costs showed an average return of $1.97 for each dollar of feed. In contrast, the five high cost feeders averaged $1.25 return for each dollar of feed.

GRANT EXEMPTIONS TO VACATIONISTS

Michigan Law Recognizes Value of Motor Tourists

Apparently the law makers when drafting the present Michigan Motor Vehicle Law were cognizant of the fact that the tourist trade in the state was Michigan's second largest industry, when they granted exemption to out-of-state car-owners to travel in Michigan with the plates of their own state. People coming to Michigan for vacations are not required to buy Michigan license plates to drive in the state; they may use their own plates for as long a period as ninety days before being required to purchase Michigan plates. However, this exemption does not apply to out of state people who come to Michigan for the purpose of earning a living or to establish a permanent residence. These people must provide themselves with a Michigan title and a set of Michigan's license plates within a reasonable time.

Michigan house trailers are required to have license plates, but those house trailers coming from states which do not require licenses are exempted in Michigan, if the trailer is attached to a car bearing the license plates of states that do not require trailer registrations.

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, warns out-of-state drivers to abide by Michigan Motor Vehicle Laws so that they may enjoy the privileges granted them by the state, and not be unnecessarily delayed on their vacations.

Some birds have a special nesting plumage. This is true of the bobolink, scarlet tanager and goldfinch. Their colors change with the seasons and usually harmonize with the plants or trees from which they obtain their food and where they nest.

American Goldfinch
 (Astragalinus Thustis)
 The goldfinch, yellowbird, thistle bird or wild canary wears a summer coat of black and gold and in the winter he changes his attire to drab and brown thereby making it difficult to distinguish him from other birds.

It is nearly July before the nesting time occurs and by the time the young birds are hatched the seeds of the small weeds are developed for their food. They are amiable birds and they are birds that show a spirit of contentment. Their song is a quick note sounding like "Hear me, hear me". They nest in bushes and trees and lay from three to six bluish white eggs. They feed on weed seeds, birch buds, dandelion seeds and sunflowers. If you wish to attract the goldfinch and study them at close range try planting a corner of your garden to sunflowers.

New York's Fair and Skyline, All in One Picture

NEW YORK—Proximity of the New York World's Fair 1939 to Manhattan is shown in this "location" photograph taken from the Bermuda Clipper "Cavalier" flying above the Government Zone of the exposition. The familiar skyscraper skyline of Manhattan is shown here nine miles away but within fifteen minutes ride by rail. Note the patterns of buildings, foundations, gardens and thoroughfares emerging in the Central Exhibit Area and the fine finish of landscaping about the steelwork of the 700 foot Trylon and 200 foot Perisphere and along the broad Constitutional Mall. Shown, right, are the elevated tracks of the IRT-BMT subway systems and, nearer, the Long Island Railroad tracks crossing the lowered Grand Central Parkway Extension. The pontoon of the plane obscures view of the Triborough Bridge, one of the main approaches to the Fair. The buildings shown are among forty already under construction.

Now you can buy a Firestone Sun-Dipped Tire 760 for as little as $7.60

FIRESTONE cuts the cost of Tire Safety just at the time when you need a new set of tires. At this time of the year you should replace tires that are worn and smooth for greatest safety during the summer driving season. Tires may look alike on the outside—but inside they are different. The name FIRESTONE on a tire is your assurance of extra safety and long mileage because only Firestone tires are built with these patented and exclusive construction features:

Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process by which every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber, counteracts tire-destroying internal friction and heat which ordinarily cause blowouts. Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord.

Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread, another patented Firestone construction feature, protect against punctures.

Scientifically - Designed Non-Skid Tread made of tough slow-wearing rubber, assures safer stops and longer non-skid mileage.

Now that Firestone gives you all of these safety and economy features at these low prices, you cannot afford to take chances with unsafe tires this summer. Come in today and join the Firestone Save-A-Life Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Convoy Tires—the safest tires that money can buy at these low prices.

CLARKSTON NEWS ADS BRING RESULTS

Wilson in Race

Charles L. Wilson, former chief assistant prosecutor of Oakland County, today announced his candidacy for prosecutor on the Republican ticket. Mr. Wilson, who has lived in Michigan all his life, has practiced law 12 years. He is a graduate of Allegan High School and studied at Albion College and University of Detroit before completing his law course at University of Detroit law school.

In his 12 years of practice he has served as justice of the peace at Farmington, where he lived 18 years, and served four years in the prosecutor's office, two years as an assistant prosecutor and two years as chief assistant.

During those four years he actively participated in most of the criminal trials in Circuit Courts of this County. He has wide experience, both as a prosecutor and defending counsel. His work, since leaving the prosecutor's office, has given him valuable experience to anticipate defenses and procedure in all types of criminal cases. His ability in defense equips him to prosecute criminals of all kinds and his experience has taken him into Federal courts, the State supreme court and circuit and justice courts throughout Michigan.

Mr. Wilson issued the following statement on his candidacy:

"For many years I have been preparing myself, both in the prosecutor's Department and as counsel for the defense, to enter the race for Prosecutor of Oakland County on the Republican ticket. I believe I am adequately qualified to administer the duties of the Prosecutor's office.

"Justice will be administered at every turn if I go into the prosecutor's office. I am bound to no clique or faction religiously or politically. I make this pledge—that if I am elected, I will devote my whole time and all my efforts to an energetic, constant and impartial administration of the duties of prosecuting the wrong and defending the right.

"I ask the electors, by their votes in the Fall elections, to elect me to the job that they want and should have done in the prosecutor's office." Mr. Wilson is married and lives with his wife and three children at 58 Oneida Road, Pontiac.

Bureau Says Pound Doesn't Carry Weight

Don't Judge Contents by Size of Package

Lansing—The old fashioned pound, as a unit of measure, is rapidly becoming extinct in this modern packaged age, being replaced in some instances by one-half and one-quarter ounces, the survey being conducted by the Bureau of Foods and Standards of the Department of Agriculture, with thought in mind of asking revision of weights and measures and fraud and deception act, according to John B. Strange, Commissioner. Study of packages garnered by departmental inspectors would indicate that it is a poor policy to judge quantity in package by its size and is poor judgment to assume that you are buying a certain quantity.

"The old fashioned pound of crackers," said Commissioner Strange, "has gradually diminished until today 12 ounces constitutes many of the packages. Many other articles originally sold in pound units have dwindled until today it is good practice, in seeking bargains, to check the weights printed upon the packages, sometimes in small type but always there.

"Crackers are cited as an example only. The department has two packages of soap so alike in appearance they remind one of the puzzle used in advertisements, offering prizes for those people able to select the one in seven that is different. In this instance, regarding soap, one package sold 10 ounces for 10 cents while the other package sold nine ounces at 8 1-3 cents. A number of samples of different products taken use fractional ounces, one package being marked one and twenty-two thirty-second ounces.

"Samples disclose tissue varies greatly," according to the department head, "one brand selling for 6 1/2 cents containing over one-third more value than a package larger in appearance, selling for four cents. We feel that thousands of people in Michigan are purchasing 12 ounce packages, believing that they are receiving a pound or seven ounces for half pound and that many are under the impression when buying one-eighth pound that they are receiving one and twenty-two thirty-second ounces."

"The packages," according to Strange, "meet with all present legal requirements but there is a possibility that the department will sponsor the strengthening of Michigan's laws to make it necessary to mark more plainly those articles advertised for sale, especially those known as leaders. A thorough study will be made of the situation during the next six months with the thought in mind of making changes in the weights and measures and fraud and deception acts."

For Homemakers

Unless your memory is bad you'll still relish some of the most enjoyable excursions of your childhood, suggests Catherine G. Miller, director of the nursery school of Michigan State College.

So she points out some of the summer "extra occasions" which parents can devise for children.

For the city child of three years, Miss Miller suggests trips to a farm, to see a train or such things as a cement mixer. Sounds simple? Remember when you were a child and then you'll realize it's a good idea.

For the country three-year-old it's fun to see a train closeup or to go marketing. For the four-year-old of city or country Miss Miller suggests visiting a garage, a fire station, an airport or a shoemaker's shop.
