CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JULY 22, 1938

Odds and Ends

During the week, death came to Samuel Insull. During his lifetime, this man did something. In fact at the time of a stock crash in 1929, which shook the world, this man had control of a "four billion utility empire". We admit that he floated a large amount of stock. Is it not fair also to admit that an eager public bought all of his stock—to gamble with. Like any other person he tried to save his empire, but the crash was so great that everything went before it—the banks, President Hoover and even the public, down to the last man, and public welfare became a national need, handled by the national or federal government. These few words are written, then, in defense of a dead person who cannot answer a certain "Yellow Journalist" who wrote in his editorial in the popular "yellow style" "The Man was ambitious but accomplished nothing". Insull built such a utility that three of his companies each gave him a six thousand a year pension, while the small editor probably had to borrow to make a payment on his "H. O. L. C. home loan."

In the last week, death visited the bathing beach where a large number of Clarkston citizens enjoy their swim. Please notice we do not say the Clarkston Bathing Beach. Further than a sign that no one can change clothes in their cars, there is nothing to indicate that the Village exercises control over the beach. In fact a few years ago, even the floor of the dock was removed because the Village decided that to maintain the dock would make it a public beach and because it could not maintain a guard there daily, did not want to be responsible for a public beach. Now a group of civic minded young men of Clarkston propose a volunteer guard for the beach at certain hours. They deserve the public's support.

Popular Mechanics and This Newspaper Offered at Bargain

A double-barreled bargain in good reading has been made available to present and future subscribers of this newspaper through an arrangement with the editors of Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Readers now can obtain a year's subscription to this nationally known magazine and a year's subscription to this newspaper at a special low price quoted elsewhere in this issue.

Popular Mechanics, virtually a month-by-month record of human progress, needs no introduction to most readers, but some of the facts about its contents may be surprising even to those who read it regularly. For instance, it prints, each year more than 6,000 interesting photographs and other illustrations, many of them in beautiful colors, and more than 3,000 articles, including about 150 big, full-length feature stories dealing with the latest achievements in science, mechanics, industry and a wide variety of other subjects.

There are hundreds of money-making and labor-saving ideas, farm aids and household hints. For the home craftsman there are tips about the care of tools and scores of stories telling how to build furniture, boats, radios, toys and models. In addition, the home mechanic will find practical suggestions for taking care of his car, his radio, his boat and his household and farm equipment.

Last, but not least, you'll find in this fascinating magazine photographs and explanations of hundreds of inventions, devices so new you have never seen them or anything like them, but so practical that you will be using many of them in the near future.

And every article, whether it describes an invention, a great scientific achievement or explains the construction of some simple piece of furniture is "written so you can understand it."

Attention

A group of citizens interested in furnishing a life guard for the bathing beach at Deer Lake will meet at the Town Hall, Friday, July 22. A number of good swimmers, and men versed in first aid have already agreed to help. If you are a good swimmer, and care to help with this good work, or if you as a citizen believe such a work is worth while and desire to offer suggestions, you are asked to attend this meeting.

Lake Claims Life Of Barbara Boughton

Body Is Sighted from Airplane

On Saturday afternoon Barbara Boughton was drowned in Deer Lake when she went beyond her depth and was unable to swim. Her companions who could not swim did not venture into the deep water but called for help. Several men from Clarkston hurried to the scene and spent some time dragging in the spot where the other children thought they saw Barbara disappear. However not until Richard Seeterlin had returned from the Pontiac Airport in an airplane and flew over the likely area was the body sighted. Dick says he was flying about three hundred feet above the water and could see the body quite distinctly about forty feet from where the men had been dragging. About fifteen minutes after Dick sighted the body Erwin Baker was able to drag the exact spot and bring it from the water.

Barbara was born in Pontiac June 1, 1927, and came to Clarkston about a year and a half ago. She attended the school here and had many friends. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Katherine Bray of Pontiac.

The funeral service was held at the Ogden Funeral Home on Monday afternoon at 2:30 with Rev. Dwight Large of the Clarkston M. E. Church officiating. Burial was in Ottawa Park cemetery. Six of Barbara's friends acted as pallbearers. They included Barbara Andrews, Mazy Wompole, Mary Craven, Rita Wilson, Phyllis Walter and Marjorie Baker.

VARIED PROGRAM OFFERED FARMERS

At Annual Event at East Lansing Next Week Friday

It's no longer Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, it's to be Snow White and the Eight Dwarfs at least for one day on the campus of Michigan State College.

For the annual Farmers' Day Program Friday, July 29, a mystery is being created by H. H. Musselman, head of agricultural engineering. He is in charge of a pageant of nearly 20 floats which will depict farm and home conveniences. The eight dwarfs will be in the pageant telling their own version of Musselman's mystery.

This pageant is one of the highlights of the day's program, annual summer offering of the college which usually attracts more than 5,000 to East Lansing. Science and research and entertainment comprise the program.

In the morning the theme will be how Michigan farmers can help save their portion of the annual national loss in livestock of $12,000,000. Parasites, bruises and injuries all contribute to this loss. Proper phases of breeding and feeding and handling on the way to the market are all to be depicted. Prevention of livestock losses as the morning feature is being worked out by G. A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department. Included in exhibits will be a neat display to show various types of injuries.

Three commercial livestock trucks will vie at 9:30 a. m. They will try to see which one can load with greatest rapidity and efficiency a mixed load of cattle, sheep and swine.

Thirty dollars in prizes are offered farmers displaying the best in farm trailer equipment designed to haul livestock to market. Dr. M. S. Rice, Detroit, is the headline speaker for the afternoon program on the campus lawns.

Youth Service Conducted at Seymour Lake

Last Sunday evening at 8:00 Rev. Dwight Large conducted a youth service at the Seymour Lake Community House. Twenty-seven young people attended the two-hour program which consisted of Negro Spirituals, a discussion-test on "What is Success", and a recreational period. Refreshments were provided and served by Ellen Beardsley and Martha Miller. Another Youth Service will be provided for next Sunday evening at 8:00. Young people in high school or older are welcome.

Fishing in Lakes of This Area Is Good

Lansing—Fishermen (if any) who have failed to get satisfying strings in Oakland County lakes may doubt it but reports received by the department of conservation indicate that the 1938 summer pan-fish season has been good to date in virtually all parts of the state.

Of course, there have been days when the fishing was poor, and there are lakes which have not yielded as good a harvest as expected. Likewise, there have been anglers who have used the wrong kind of bait, or whose luck hasn't equalled those of other anglers around them.

In general, the department's weekly reports indicate that the opening day of the lake season was better than the next few days. Then, as the weather warmed, the fishing appears to have improved steadily and has ranged from "good" to "excellent" this month.

Mrs. Rudolf Schwarze Returns From Europe

Three Months Are Spent Visiting in Germany

Last Sunday morning Rudolf Schwarze left for New York and at twelve o'clock Monday noon he greeted his wife who arrived on the liner "Bremen" after visiting for three months in Germany. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. William Hägele and her sister, Rosa Hägele of Pontiac.

They left New York at once and drove home arriving here Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Schwarze was quite tired after driving 1600 miles in such a short time.

Mrs. Schwarze enjoyed every minute of her vacation. She visited her grandfather in Southern Germany and Mr. Schwarze's mother in Essen, besides other relatives in Heidelberg, and several small places in that section.

On the return trip from Germany they experienced quite a storm.

Townsend Club Is Organized

Elects Officers at Meeting on Wednesday

Wednesday evening, the Townsend Club No. 1 of Clarkston was organized. The meeting was held in the Town Hall.

Officers elected were as follows: President Dave McClelland, Vice president Albert Lawson, Secretary Mrs. Wm. Kyle and Treasurer Mrs. Fagan.

Rev. Peters of Pontiac gave an interesting talk on matters of interest and 12 members of Pontiac were visitors.

HOLLY THEATRE

From the pen of the author of "All Quiet on the Western Front" comes another gripping screen story, this time a narrative in which a nation's woes after the World War are overshadowed by one of the most human love stories to reach the screen.

In the new picture, "Three Comrades", which opens Tuesday at the Holly Theatre for a three-day showing, Robert Taylor and Margaret Sullivan provide a poignant romance, with Franchot Tone and Robert Young, also in stellar roles, adding performances which will remain long in the memory of the moviegoer.

The story, based on Erich Maria Remarque's widely-read novel, centers about Taylor, Tone and Young, three young war veterans who face a chaotic future together in a country gripped by post-war disturbances. Taylor, the youngest, falls in love with Miss Sullivan, the love affair giving all three comrades a new interest in life.

Taylor and Miss Sullivan are married and it seems as though fate has offered them a share of happiness at last. But life decrees otherwise. Young is slain in a riot and Miss Sullivan suffers an illness on her honeymoon. When she faces an operation in a distant sanitarium, Tone sells his proudest possession, a racing car, but Miss Sullivan dies, leaving Taylor and Tone to face the future alone.

The fine direction of Frank Borzage is discernible in the picture's even flow and brilliantly knit episodes. In the supporting cast Guy Kibbee, Lionel Atwill, Henry Hull, Charley Grapewin and Monty Woolley offer effective portrayals.

Conservation Note

More eggs have been laid by Hungarian partridges at the state game farm near Mason this spring than at any previous time since the rearing of this bird was undertaken by the department of conservation.

Already approximately 8,500 eggs have been obtained compared to about 3,000 last year. About 250 pairs of breeders are now on the farm.

Notwithstanding excessive wet weather this spring, no reports have been received by the department of conservation of abnormal harm to pheasants during their nesting and hatching season.

Although heavy rains may interfere with pheasant nesting, they are persistent birds and will re-nest, even several times and it is not uncommon for them to bring forth a brood late in the season after having been thwarted previously.

Sadness Enters Beardsley Home

Services for Arthur D. Beardsley Were Held on Wednesday Afternoon

Sadness entered the Beardsley home on Sunday evening when Arthur D. Beardsley passed away in the Pontiac Hospital where he had been confined for almost a year.

Mr. Beardsley's health had been failing ever since the shock of the death of his brother, Martin, and the latter's two daughters in a railroad crossing accident three years ago.

Mr. Beardsley was born in Brandon Township, August 8, 1874, the son of Robert and Ella VanWagoner Beardsley. He was the youngest of three children. With the exception of four years spent in the West Mr. Beardsley spent his entire life in Oakland County. On April 6, 1910 he married Agnes Croop also of Brandon Township and to this union there were two children, Phyllis who survives, and a son, David who passed away in infancy.

Mr. Beardsley was a home-loving man and even in his younger years he was content to stay home by his own fireside and thoroughly enjoy being with his family. Because of this fact he won many friends who admired and respected him.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter, Phyllis, two nephews and one niece.

The funeral service was held at the farm home on Fleming Lake Road on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Edwin Stephens of Stockbridge, formerly of Clarkston, officiated and was assisted by Rev. Dwight Large, present Pastor of the Clarkston M. E. Church. Interment was in Lakeview cemetery and the Ogden Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Study, hobbies, entertainment and recreation all are on the events scheduled for the visitors. R. W. Tenney, short course director, is planner of the program in cooperation with the home economics and home economics extension staffs.

Hobbies available for each afternoon include art, poultry, swimming, tap dancing, chorus, nature study and conservation.

For more serious the week's program offers each morning an opportunity to indulge in news-writing, landscaping, literature, vegetable or flower gardening, modern history, dairying, home care of the sick, recreation or parliamentary usage.

Evenings are to be spent in entertainment and recreation. Those who come to the campus Sunday, July 24, will register in campus dormitories. Rooms have been assigned to those sending in early registrations from nearly every county in the state. Some county groups requested accommodations months ago. Latecomers will register in the home economics building.

As a finale to the week, those on the campus will participate in the annual Farmers' Day program, Friday, July 29, when the agricultural staff of the college offers what is new in scientific agriculture.

These contests are to be held every Sunday throughout the season.

Clarkston of course is proud of Duane for this splendid record. Duane is a graduate of the Clarkston High School and those who attended school with him know that although he did not obtain the diving ability at school yet his school-work here did help to instill in him the desire to be on top. Congratulations Duane.

Collectors should read the instructions carefully before sending in an order. Make sure that your address is plainly and properly written and indicate with pencil in the upper right hand corner of the envelope the stamp or stamps you desire on that envelope.

The new commemorative Temperance Stamps being issued by Ireland will be much in demand in this country not only by collectors but by those interested in the Temperance cause. The 2d brown and 3d blue both bear the profile head of Father Theobald M. Athen of the Capuchin Order who was founder of the Temperance movement in 1838. The lettering is all in Gaelic and across the bottom are the historic words he uttered as he signed the stamp: "Here goes in the name of God!"

SUDAN POISONING PUZZLES COLLEGE

Dairymen Are Warned to Be on Watch for Results

Is Michigan climate purveying a mysterious immunity for dairy cows from the poisoning that kills cows on similar pasture in other states?

An apparent lack of proof of the danger in Michigan results in an appeal by J. G. Hays, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. He urges Michigan dairy farmers to watch cows on sudan grass pasture.

In other states dairy feeding specialists warn farmers against feeding immature sudan grass, against feeding stunted sudan grass or against pasturing cows on sudan grass after it has been frosted.

Yet at the college the sudan grass has been fed to college dairy cows in all these stages. And they haven't become sick or even discouraged.

Animal nutrition experts and members of the chemistry department staff have aided in the search for poisoning. The sudan does contain the deadly hydrocyanic acid or prussic acid when analyzed. Yet in Michigan the cows fail to blink an eye.

About the only warning Hays has to offer definitely is that sudan grass doesn't seem to make satisfactory hay as its feeding value is not much better than timothy. Farmers, however, are urged to try and use seed each season that is pure sudan and not related to cane or sorghum. These plants seem to increase the probability of developing the poison.

Conservation Notes

Reports coming in to the department of conservation from along the fishing front indicate that the 1938 summer pan fishing season got away to a fairly encouraging start, although cold weather held down catches in some sections.

Trout fishing also has been holding up fairly well according to the weekly reports received by the department.

Estimates that more than two and one-quarter million cottontail rabbits were bagged in Michigan during the last hunting season are interpreted by state game investigators as a good indication that the state is not suffering from any alarming scarcity of this animal.

Manufacturers are improving cars every year. Highway commissions of all states are improving roads. But the human being does not want to be improved in his ability to drive and walk carefully.

People are still trying to compete with trains at railroad crossings. Many motorists still claim the right of way after an accident. Many still insist they can pass other cars on hills, curves, and dangerous crossings.

The improvement in cars and highways goes on, but the increased amount of horsepower in an automobile does not justify the decreased use of horse sense by people.

It's up to the individual, whenever he takes hold of that wheel, to drive safely and to drive courteously.

The barn swallow is the most beautiful bird of the swallow family. It is about seven inches long, the upper parts and sides of the breast are steel blue, the forehead and throat are chestnut and the rest of the parts paler, the tail forked and marked with white.

The swallow builds its nest of mud, grass, and straw with an inside lining of feathers and fine grass. The eggs are usually from three to five white speckled with brown with a purplish cast. The nests are found on the rafters of barns and in cliffs.

The food of the swallow is mostly captured on the wing like the martin. They are fond of berries and insects.

The song of the barn swallow is a peculiar rapid twitter similar to the marsh wren and a note resembling the canary.

A very interesting sight in the evening is the swift flight of the birds and to note how quickly the young birds acquire rapidity of flight. One morning last week I noted five young barn swallows on my clothesline and I could not help but admire the delicacy, richness and brilliancy of their tints and I was surprised at their highly musical song.

Planning to Enlarge Davisburg Golf Course

Don Sutherland, the popular manager and pro of the Davisburg golf course was in Grand Rapids this week playing in the Michigan Open tournament. Here's hoping he wins, but the competition is stiff. Don will have a good time, anyway, getting a vacation from his arduous work of putting and keeping the Davisburg course in fine condition, and now he is engaged in making plans for an 18-hole course. The land is there, donated by Manley Davis, for that purpose, but conditions have not been favorable heretofore to go on with the original arrangement, and no one has been in charge of the course who was equal to the task.

TURTLE CENSUS UNDER WAY IN OAKLAND COUNTY LAKES

Lansing—Local anglers will be interested in how much damage turtles are doing to the fish life in lakes in the southern part of the state—a question which both lay fishermen and fish researchers and culturists would like answered.

As a result, a turtle census has been underway this season on a number of lakes. During the first part of the census, examination was made of lakes in Washtenaw, Oakland, Van Buren and Allegan counties, with particular attention paid to evidence of turtle raids on fish nests. The census is being financed cooperatively by the American Wildlife Institute, the University of Michigan Museums and the department of conservation.

NEW PRIMARY LAW RADICAL CHANGE

Voters Should Study It Before Going to Polls

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, who according to law is the chief election official, calls attention to Act No. 37, P. A. of 1937, which provides for a secret ballot at partisan primaries throughout the state. Its purpose is to eliminate the necessity of an elector disclosing his or her party preference, as has been the requirement heretofore.

Under the old law, when a voter visited the polling place to vote in a partisan primary election, the clerk, after locating the voter's name and address in the poll book and determining that you were a qualified voter, asked which party ticket was preferred and gave you the ticket or ballot requested.

Under the new law, the voter, after being certified by the election clerk, will be handed a set of ballots, each bearing the same number and stapled together in the upper left hand corner. The election inspector who hands out the ballots, instructs the voter to vote one of the ballots only. The voter takes these ballots into the voting compartment and marks the party ticket preferred. After marking the ballot the voter detaches it from the other ballots and folds it with the perforated or numbered corner outside. The voter hands both ballots, folded the same and separately, to the election inspector, designating the voted ballot by saying, "I've marked this one", "I voted this one", or by some other indicating words. The inspector will then place the marked ballot in the ballot box marked "Voted Ballots" and the blank ballots in the box marked "Blank Ballots". At no time will any one be able to tell the party affiliation of the voter.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Summer resort workers are covered by the Social Security Act and should obtain social security account numbers. This class of workers, even where the work may last only a few weeks, and even where one or more persons are employed in a resort, come under the old-age insurance provisions of the Act, according to Walter B. Redman, Manager of the Pontiac field office of the Social Security Board. Employers must report the account numbers of their workers and in many cases demand these before men and women are hired for resort service, according to Mr. Redman.

School teachers who get temporary work during the summer months should obtain social security account numbers. This statement is made by Walter B. Redman, manager of the old-age insurance bureau field office in Pontiac. School teachers are not covered under the old-age insurance plan while employed in this capacity, but are subject to this act when they work in commerce and industry. Therefore, teachers planning work of other type should get account numbers before starting work, Mr. Redman said.

Everyone who reaches the age of 65 years after working in commerce or industry may file a claim for a lump-sum benefit payment under the Social Security Act. The residents of Macomb and Oakland counties should file these claims through the old-age insurance bureau field office located in the Peoples State Building, Pontiac. Workers who have reached the age of 65 and who are now employed but who had jobs at any time since January 1, 1937 are entitled to these benefits. Complete information on claims may be obtained from Walter B. Redman, Manager.

FARMERS' DAY IS SET FOR JULY 29

Will Be Held on College Grounds at East Lansing

Farmers and their families throughout the state are invited by the Michigan State College staff to attend the annual Farmers' Day program on the campus and farms Friday, July 29.

Opening at 9:30 a. m. is a program of demonstrating methods of preventing livestock losses. At 11:00 o'clock research programs and demonstrations are to be staged by the agricultural departments of soils, horticulture, entomology, crops, animal husbandry, engineering, dairy husbandry, forestry, poultry and by the home economics division.

To open the afternoon events for the 5000 who annually attend is a pageant depicting advancement in farm and home conveniences. Floats are being set up through cooperation of the home economics and agricultural engineering department for the parade of conveniences in charge of Professor H. H. Musselman.

One speaker, one of the most entertaining and interesting available, is on the afternoon program. He is Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Church, Detroit. His subject will be "The Satisfaction of Rural Living."

E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture, is general chairman for the day, assisted by R. W. Tenny, short course director. Morning events are under the direction of George A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department.

To start off Brown's section of the day's events will be a competition between three commercial truckers who will be judged on rapidity and efficiency in loading a mixed load of cattle, sheep and swine. There is to be a demonstration of truck unsafe for proper handling of livestock and a parade of livestock trailer conveyances able to haul the family to town while a trailer takes a load to market.

Sales Tax Licenses
Due on August 1

The state's 80,000 sales tax licensees will receive their 1938-39 return books and licenses by August 1, it was stated today by Draper Allen, managing director of the State Board of Tax Administration. The books are printed and addressed and stored in the Lansing postoffice.

Until August 1 the department will recognize the 1937-38 license sticker now in place on store windows and doors. After that date the 1938-39 sticker must be displayed.

In previous years the return books were mailed out daily as they were ready and some confusion occurred. This year every taxpayer will receive his book and sticker at the same time and Allen requested that licensees wait until the August 1 deadline is passed before inquiring about non-reception of licenses.

The department will not issue licenses unless the taxpayer forwards the license application fee of $1.00 together with the blue license application blank found in the 1937-38 return book, Allen stated.

For Homemakers

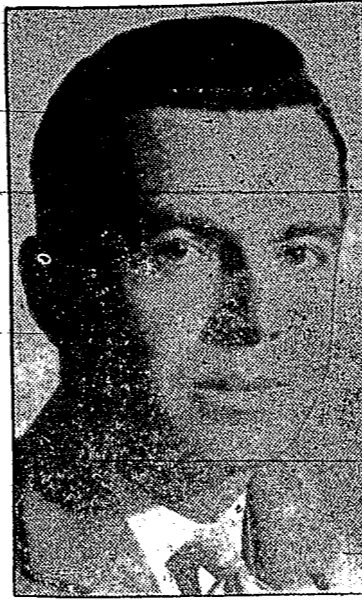

Suggestions for the laundering of table linen, given by Lois Hays, instructor in institution administration at Michigan State College, are:

1. New linens should be laundered before being used. With few exceptions, fine table linens should not be sent to a commercial laundry.
2. Stains should be removed before the linen is laundered, otherwise they may become set and not easily removed.
3. Small tears or worn places should be mended.
4. Hot water and a neutral soap will not injure linen or cotton fabrics. Lukewarm water and a mild soap should be used for rayon. Starch is never used for any table linen.
5. White linens should be dried in the sun. Avoid strong sunlight for colored linens.
6. Cotton and linen table coverings are ironed when damp, first on the wrong side and then on the right. Iron should move crosswise of the fabric. This keeps the linen in shape and produces a high luster in linen damasks. A hotter iron may be used on cotton fabrics than on linen, as cotton does not scorch so easily. Rayon table cloths should be ironed while wet and with a warm iron to prevent the rayon from disintegrating.
7. Linens should be folded with the right side out. If storage space permits, they may be rolled to prevent creasing. Napkins are folded with right side out in squares, rectangular or triangular shapes. Dinner napkins are always folded square. Table runners may be folded once or rolled. Blue tissue paper is often used to wrap fine white linens as it excludes light and prevents the linen from yellowing.
