Odds and Ends

To those who wished us success on entering our tenth year, our thanks. Modesty prevents our printing the letters in full.

Tuesday is Election day. To us it is the most important of the two election days. We admit that the question of whether the country is ruled by Republicans, Democrats or Townsends is of importance and will not be decided at this election. But the candidate or representative of all parties will be decided Tuesday and that is important. Personally we believe the best fitted should represent the party. Of course all parties seeking office are probably good, but to leave all selection till November is to say that the poorest candidate of one party is better than any the rest have. This might be a good plan if the votes in November were all party votes—but the hitch is that in November you can split your vote. We believe it is important to vote Tuesday.

Wins Honor at State Fair

Seymour S. Miller Jr. again wins honor with his Registered Jersey Calf "Foremost Harriett I. Dare". He won third prize in the class of Jersey heifers under 1 yr. of age. His calf was only 5 mos. old and the youngest in the class. This same animal won the first prize and Reserve Champion in a class of 10 at the Lapeer Co. 4-H Club Fair on Aug. 24th.

Oxford Garden Club Sponsors Flower Show

The Oxford Garden Club will sponsor its Fourth Annual Flower Show on Thursday evening, September 15, and Friday afternoon and evening, September 16, at the Oxford High School Auditorium. Besides the exhibitions, there will also be fine entertainment for both evenings. On Thursday evening, a musical program will be furnished by the Oxford High School Band under the direction of K. L. Boves, and on Friday evening, a Fall Fashion Show will be staged.

HOLLY THEATRE

The ventures and adventures of sailors and officers on their shore leave forms the background of Paramount's new nautical comedy, "Give Me a Sailor", which will open next Sunday at the Holly Theatre.

Two of Hollywood's ace laugh-makers, Bob Hope and Martha Raye, head the cast, while others playing important roles are Betty Grable, judged by a group of artists as having the most perfect form on stage or screen, and Jack Whiting, favorite of Broadway and London theatre-goers.

Dual romance paces the plot, as both Martha and Betty cry "Give Me a Sailor", neither one being sure just which sailor she wants. Whiting plays a ship's officer who, according to a contract made in childhood, is slated to marry Betty, who is also the apple of Bob Hope's eye. Neither of them will pay any attention to Martha, the ugly duckling.

Martha turns the tables on her family and friends when she accidentally enters a national beautiful legs contest and comes out the winner. Sitting on top of the world, swathed in silver foxes and beautiful clothes, she writes her own ticket and makes her choice between the officer she has always worshipped and the gob who has fallen in love with her.

"Give Me a Sailor" boasts four new songs, which were written especially for it by Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, one of the screen's crack composing teams. Their titles are: "What Goes on Here?", "A Little Kiss at Twilight", "It Don't Make Sense" and "The U. S. A. and You", the theme song of the production. Elliott Nugent, who brought Harold Lloyd's "Professor, Beware!" to the screen, directed. In the supporting cast are Clarence Kolb, J. C. Nugent and Nana Bryant.

Nearly 2,000,000 residents of Michigan have now applied for social security account numbers. This statement was made today by Walter B. Redman, manager of the Social Security Board field office in Pontiac. Mr. Redman said that in July over 16,000 Michigan residents who had not previously held social security account numbers filed applications and were given these numbers.

SOON TO HARVEST LARGE BEAN CROP

Outlook Also Is for Quality Product This Year

Stimulating rains to the contrary, Michigan's huge crop of beans is about ready for pulling.

Even if recent heavy rains have coaxed vines to put on new growth and blossoms and try to add up more beans for the growers, those wise to problems of quality will begin to pull and stock the crop as soon as it is ripe, advises H. R. Pettigrove, bean specialist of Michigan State College.

Quality probably will be good this year, he says. But only if proper stacking is accomplished before rains in September prevent good curing conditions. Even if some of the vines and pods now are green he finds from past experience that they will cure out fairly well once they are in a stack.

It's the old story of "pick" that determines bean profits. When beans are graded and marketed they must be sorted over to take out culls and small stones, lumps of good Michigan clay and other inedibles. When the portion of pick runs too high the deductions piled against a grower may ruin his chance of profit or even indicate a loss.

The college continues to recommend use of the McNaughton system of stacking. Commonly many beans are cured in small bunches from double row of the bean puller or from the windrow left by aside delivery rake. With no rains the system has been curing, but wet weather often spoils the practice. The pulled bunches weather even more than un-pulled beans.

Eight series of wooden nickels will be issued by the United States Chickamauga Celebration Commission at Chattanooga, Tennessee, in commemoration of the National Chickamauga celebration to be held September 16 to 25. The nickels will be printed in different colors with different central motifs. Orders will be mailed on special franked envelopes.

The orchestra was given an invitation to return to the State Fair and did so on Monday, Labor Day. The return invitation speaks for our young people and their director Orlo Willoughby.

An Interesting Week At Waldon Woods

Harriett Beckman Attended From This District

Miss Harriett Beckman spent the week, from August 28th to Sept. 3rd, at a "Leadership Tramping Camp" held at Waldon Woods.

Situated on the shores of a privately owned lake, Waldon Woods becomes a tradition to all who are privileged to live near it. Cromaine Hall, the center of the "Woods" is a large building with game rooms, library, classrooms, kitchen and assembly-room. Cromaine Hall is the center of all conference activities. Friendship and Sunshine dormitories house the campers. Each person has an individual bed and each dormitory is completely and modernly equipped. The athletic and recreational facilities are excellent. Baseball, tennis, volley ball, quoits, swimming, boating, and other forms of recreation are at the disposal of the campers.

One hundred and twenty young people from 42 counties were represented at the 1938 school. The Michigan State Farm Bureau, the Michigan Elevator Exchange, the Michigan Milk Producers Association, the Michigan Farmers and Manufacturers Sugar Beet Association, the Mid-West Creameries Inc., and the Michigan Livestock Exchange set up these scholarship funds in each of their respective organizations. Through various means these organizations search out those young people who have demonstrated qualities of Leadership. From a study of these young people and their credentials, each organization selects and sponsors, through scholarship, a number of young people to the Waldon Woods Camp.

In addition to being informed regarding purposes of the Farm Bureau, Junior Farm Bureau, milk, livestock, potato, sugar beet, grain, bean and other marketing exchanges, the students learn how to conduct group meetings, to entertain groups, and how to organize their efforts. College instructors and men interested in young people gave lectures on developing character and personal resources.

One class a day was taught by Dad Waite of "the American Youth Foundation". Dad discussed the principal of "Four Fold Development". The next class was taught by Dr. David Trout of the Central State Teachers' College. In this class the students criticized the questionnaire of last year and added those questions which they thought should be included in a personal questionnaire. The next class was taught by Mr. Benjamin F. Hennik, director of the Camp and director of the Junior Farm Bureau. This class was based on group participation, and how to start a Junior Farm Bureau. Another class was taught by Boyd A. Rainey of the Farm Bureau Services. In this class the students learned about the different cooperatives around them and their connection with them. In another class C. L. Bolander of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, M. M. Bueschlein of the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association and Jack Yeager of the Michigan State Farm Bureau discussed the work of their organizations.

General Assemblies of the students were addressed by Robert Crouse, sponsor of the Hartland Area; Ralph Tenny, director of the Michigan State College Short Courses; George Wheeler of the Central State Teacher's College and E. E. Galleys, Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture in the Agricultural High Schools. Frank Gingrich, formerly a director of young people's groups in recreational classes, presented work of that nature and Mr. Musselman, principal of the Okemos Agricultural High School directed athletics.

Each day the campers edited and published a camp newspaper. Each tribe having charge for a day. The day's happenings, editorials on the classes, points of view, athletic prowess, squibs and queries about fellow campers went to formulate the daily scandal sheet. The newspaper had as its specific purpose the training in the art of writing acceptable articles for newspaper publication.

Of all the joyous activities of a busy day none quite equalled the beauty of Camp Vespers. After the evening meal the campers slipped quietly to a small, secluded wooded vale where as the sun set and the shadows fell to the music of the eve-

Will Not Change School Districts

At a joint meeting of Springfield, White Lake, Waterford and Independence Township Boards held to consider annexing Mountain View and Blain Subdivision to the Waterford School District, it was decided not to make such a change. It seems the whole matter was the result of a petition of residents who decided to live in their former summer homes during the winter and under present conditions had too far to go to take their children to school. However the cost of taxes, should the change have been made, made the change impractical.

RURAL ELECTRIC SERVICE BOOMS

Consumers New Plan Is Under Way in High Gear

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 7.—Rural electrification in Michigan went into high gear today as Consumers Power Company began operating under its new liberalized rural extension plan.

The company late in July asked the Public Utilities Commission for approval of a much liberalized rural construction plan. The Commission gave formal permission August 24 and the plan is now in effect.

Under the new policy, Consumers will extend service to any rural area, entirely at its own expense, regardless of the number of customers per mile, providing a guarantee of $12.50 per mile of extension is made to the company in the form of minimum bills. At the end of the third year the monthly payment guarantee to the company may be eliminated.

Consumers formerly built lines at its own expense where customers averaged five or more to the mile. When there were less than five, it was necessary that there be a payment of $100 for each equivalent of five customers. In the instance of three to a mile, a payment of $200 was required. According to engineers of the company, elimination of this barrier to an electrified Michigan agriculture was made possible by the farmers' acceptance of electricity and the resulting increase in use. Consequently, it is pointed out, the utility has been able to afford the liberalized plan.

How can farmers get lines built? Any farmer or any person representing a group of farmers can apply at any Consumers Power Company office and secure service request forms. When these forms are properly filled out to comply with the requirements and returned to the office, the extension will be built.

Customers signing up for electric service now will be able to take advantage of Consumers new, simplified and reduced schedule of domestic rates. This change was the result of many months of effort toward an equitable reduction and simplification desired by customers, the utilities commission and the company.

Consumers minimum rate of $2.50 is based on five customers per mile, and includes up to 68 kilowatt-hours, instead of 40, for this amount.

ning breeze in the tree tops, a time was given that campers might feel and know and understand. The devotionals were led by the camper with a faculty member expressing his thought and relating his experience.

After Vespers, the tribes, of which there were six, competed in the affairs of the "night's shindig". The actual program for the evening was kept secret and the campers had the pleasure of looking forward to a real surprise. Thus ended a day at "Camp Waldon Woods" and the campers retired for a peaceful night's rest.

It takes a Criminal Lawyer to prosecute Criminal cases

NOTE

All the work in the prosecutor's office (except civil counsel) is criminal law work and 90 percent of Charles L. Wilson's law practice has been criminal law experience. Naturally a man of this experience is better qualified to be Prosecutor.

Charles L. Wilson has been a practicing attorney in Pontiac for the past 12 years, he has practiced in both city and county justice courts, circuit courts throughout the state, the state supreme court and federal courts. He has been both assistant and chief assistant prosecutor in Oakland County. That's why we the friends of Mr. Wilson ask YOU to vote for a man who is "REALLY QUALIFIED".

Ask ANY OAKLAND COUNTY LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIAL—ANY JUSTICE OF THE PEACE—ANY CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE.

- About This Fact -

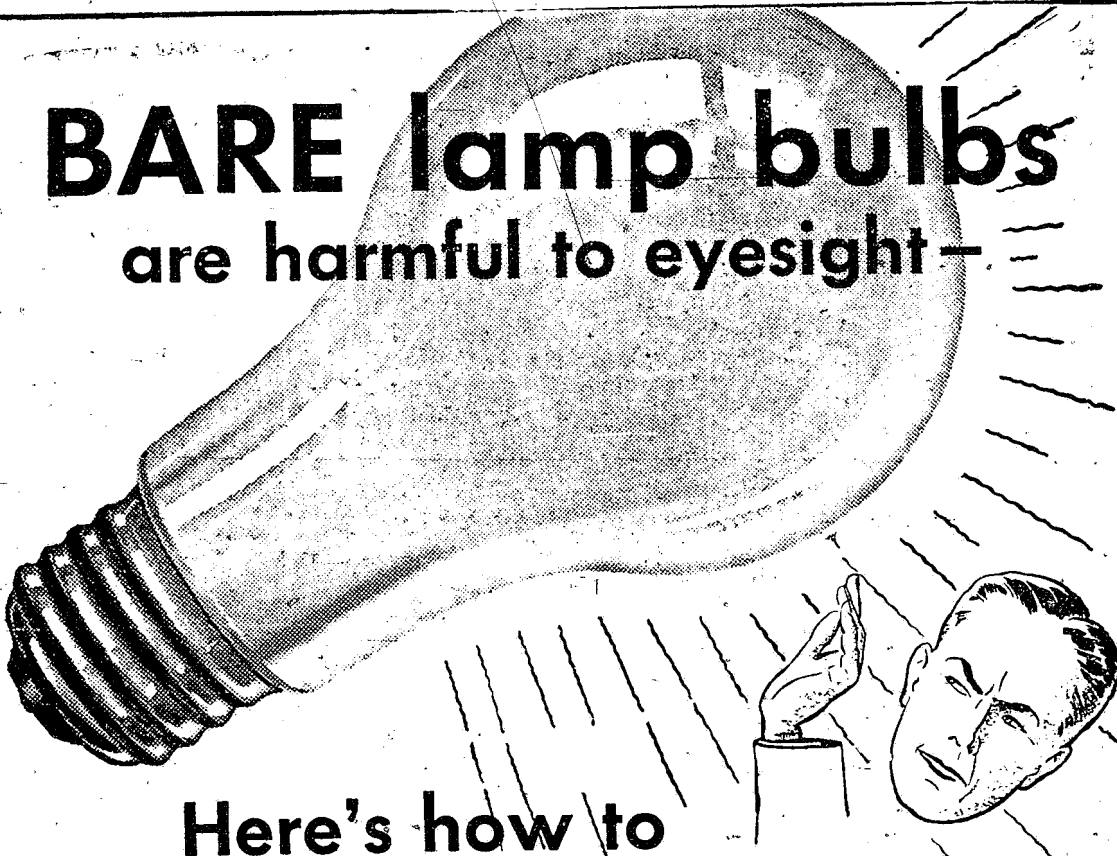

Charles L. Wilson is an OUTSTANDING and EXCEPTIONALLY well qualified candidate for Prosecutor because of his BROAD EXPERIENCE as assistant for four (4) years in the office and his demonstrated SOUND JUDGMENT in every day practice as a successful lawyer.

BARE lamp bulbs are harmful to eyesight—

Here's how to cover them up!

"RAW" light is never good for your eyes. You know what happens if you try to read a book out-of-doors on a bright summer day, with dazzling sunlight on the page. You are forced to squint because of the glare, and before long the type is dancing before your eyes. If you continue, serious eyestrain may result. But if you move out of the bright sun, under the shade of a tree, you have perfect light: You can enjoy your reading in comfort.

The same thing is true of artificial light indoors. A bare lamp bulb is irritating. It is a glaring light source that causes you to squint if you look directly at it. And even if you do not look at it, it is still a possible source of eyestrain. You may find yourself frowning slightly as you read a book or newspaper, and rubbing your eyes as they rapidly become tired.

All lamp bulbs should be shaded. No matter where bare bulbs appear—on decorative wall brackets, in ceiling fixtures, on stairways or in your basement—there are suitable shades and fixtures designed to cover them. These shades and "light adaptors" are surprisingly inexpensive. Our Home Lighting Advisors will be glad to tell you about them, and to check the lighting in your home without charge. Call your Detroit Edison office.

The Detroit Edison Company does not sell light adaptors or floor or table lamps. See them on display at department stores, lighting fixture stores or electrical dealers.

Nature Chats

By Mona L. Hungerford The blue jay is a bird of fine feathers and color. He has many faults placed on his shoulders but Emerson states "The blue-jay does more good than harm." His peculiar habit of burying nuts and seeds has helped to make many barren places produce sturdy trees and plants. He also devours many insects that destroy trees. We cannot help but state that the blue-jay is destructive, mischievous and unsociable. He is not a songster. He is apt to mimic other bird calls. His call is more of a shriek and is not at all musical.

The blue-jay nests high in a tree and lays six olive gray speckled eggs. In September when the molting season is over we can look for him among the chestnut and oak trees. He is a bird that is with us throughout the seasons and is protected by law in Michigan.

Edgar Guest says of the blue-jay: The sweeter songsters fly away, The more courageous stay, And whether they could leave or not

It isn't mine to know. I'm sure when storms descend 'Tis fine to have a winter friend Who stays to share your loneliness, When others pack and go.

All matters handled thru the Probate Court require a certain amount of legal publication in one of the county papers. Foreclosing a mortgage entails publication of the foreclosure notice in a county paper.

Either the probate court officers or your attorney will have your legal publication carried in The Clarkston News if you request it.
