CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1938

Odds and Ends

Save Nov. 11, for a Big evening. On Armistice evening will occur the twentieth Anniversary dance sponsored by the Campbell Richmond Post No. 63 of the American Legion. You have always had a good time at this dance and this year a better time than ever is promised.

The election notice in this paper should be read by every voter. There are four amendments to be voted upon and they should be studied. Clerk L. F. Walters has followed the law and given as much information as the legal notice calls for. There is sufficient information to put the voter upon his notice, but if more information is needed, there will be a meeting at Holly Oct. 31, at which time speakers will be on hand to explain all four. If you vote, at least learn what you are voting for.

Former Governor To Visit Clarkston

Former Governor and candidate for the same office, Frank Fitzgerald, has arranged a speaking tour of this community, on Friday, Nov. 4th, 1938.

He will be at Ortonville at 2 p. m.; Clarkston 3:40; Waterford 4 p. m.; Drayton Plains 4:15 p. m.

Drayton Plains Plans Third Annual Party To Be Held Oct. 31

For the third consecutive year Drayton Plains is planning a Halloween celebration for the young people of the community. In planning the party this year the Men's Club has asked the Parent-Teachers Association and the local U. P. Church to cooperate in making it a complete community affair. Representatives from each of the organizations are working on the committees. Assisting the various committees are several of the young people who are cooperating to make the celebration a success.

This year the crowd will be divided into two groups according to grade level. Those below junior high will have their party in the church basement and all the older ones are asked to meet at the school auditorium. Contributions by local merchants and others who are interested in keeping "rowdiness" at a minimum by having supervised merrymaking, makes it possible for the committees in charge to offer an interesting program. Rumors have it that there will be prizes for the best Halloween costumes, movies, cider and doughnuts, etc!

Probate Judge Office Needs Understanding Says Lynch

As much a part of real life as death and taxes, yet as little noticed by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public as everyday births of countless children, is the real-life drama of Jack and Jill, or any boy and girl, who sin against society and become what to many are vaguely known as juvenile delinquents.

In Oakland County the stage for that drama is the Juvenile Court. For a period of one year beginning July 1, 1937, there were 360 individual characters involved—all of them younger than 17—who made up a total of 1,256 disposed cases. At all of them presided Probate and Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lynch.

The number of delinquent boys was 205, while there were only 57 delinquent girls. In 189 cases the Jacks and Jills were merely neglected and dependent. But all of them fell under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court, and had to be dealt with accordingly.

The Juvenile problem, according to Judge Lynch, calls for little of the fine points of the law, but demands experience, a knowledge of human nature, a not too indulgent manner with the wayward, but yet a sympathetic understanding of the unfortunate boy and girls who only too often are the victims of circumstances. The primary duties of the Juvenile court are not to punish but to check the tendency toward wrongdoing.

Independence Twp. to Have Red Cross Roll Call

Drive Will Begin on November 1st

The annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross is on the way. The drive for members will start in Independence Township on November 1st with a meeting at the home of Mrs. H. W. Huttenlocher who is the representative for this district. At this meeting definite plans will be made. Mrs. Harold Bauer has been appointed chairman of the drive and with the same willing workers that cooperated with her last year she is quite confident that Independence Township will again reach its quota.

It is not only a satisfaction but a comfort to all Americans to know that in times of emergencies there is an organization equipped to act at a moment's notice. The people of this Township are among those who make it possible for this organization to keep active. Those who not only pay their dollars but actually get out and work do so gratuitously. They know what the Red Cross has meant to America in the past and they are very anxious to keep such an organization alive. The workers who will call on you during the next two weeks are doing so without remuneration. They are not asking for very much but they realize that your small contribution or membership fee will go far if help is needed. You are asked to do your best for the Red Cross in the next two weeks.

POTATO SHOW AT PONTIAC NOV. 1-3

Feature Will Be Contest Open to Spud Growers

To people who exclaim at a potato show "Why can't we buy potatoes like those?" the answer is that they can. One of the features of the Southeastern Michigan Potato Show, to be held at Pontiac November 1, 2 and 3 is a contest open to potato growers having five or more acres in 1938 and who make an extra effort to produce the quality of potatoes which the Michigan housewife demands.

This contest is based upon four things: the total yield per acre; the percentage of the yield which will grade "U. S. Fancy"; the place of the grower's 50-lb. sample at the Show; and cooking trials run on that sample. Plans are being made to run cooking trials, both boiling and baking, on every entry in this class.

Yield determinations are made by the county agricultural agent or his representative and verified by two disinterested persons. Sixty dollars of the premium list is being given to winners in this contest.

Fifty-pound samples of field-run potatoes are placed on exhibit at the show and the winners determined from the highest scoring contestant. The following example illustrates the method of scoring.

1. Total yield—200 bu. per acre.
2. Percent "U. S. Fancy" grade—80%.
3. Scoring of the 50-lb. sample.
4. Cooking quality.

Growers who have five or more continuous acres of potatoes are urged to enter this contest. Assistance will be given from the office of K. D. Bailey, County Agricultural Agent.

Admission will be charged, and all proceeds will be used to secure new robes for the two choirs of the church. Members of the choir are divided into four teams, in order to see that tickets are sold to every student and adult in the community. The team captains are George Beardslee, Eleanor Day, Carmen Clark and Dan Addis.

The lecture will consist of a dramatic review of four recent American plays, written and produced by the New York Theatre. These four plays deal with the subject of war and peace. They are "Bury the Dead", "Idiot's Delight", "Johnny Johnson", and "Paths of Glory". This lecture should interest adults who are interested in the problem of war, and as it is to be given on the eve of Armistice Day, it will commemorate the 20th anniversary of this holiday.

Editorial

By Mary Jane Gulick
To take a glance into one of our daily Session Rooms you would wonder if any of the students ever heard of the word Courtesy.

If a number of those students were asked their reasons for coming to school some would probably answer "because I have to and I am not old enough to quit." Those are to be pitied. Others may answer "To gain knowledge." While most of them make the appearance of simply staying in school to have fun. Fun? Of course, that is partly what school is for but there is a "time and place" for everything. Periods when you should be studying is no time for giggles, gum chewing, throwing paper wads, and making curious noises. If only the users of these annoyances would realize that even if they don't want to study, someone else might.

Many people have said that most of the noise of the Session Room is caused by the younger boys and girls. Maybe so but if the older ones would set an example it would do away with a lot of the noise of the younger boys and girls and make them feel ashamed. Naturally the younger ones follow suit either one way or another.

If it were that the students had no bringing up in the home, they would be excused but those that are the noise makers, gum chewers, etc., are those from good families and give a very good appearance elsewhere. It's not that they don't know better, it is just that lack of courtesy in school and their idea of fun in school. As long as they know better why can't they do something about the way they are ruining their personality and reputation in school by annoying others? That is the question that we looking on can't understand. It seems that most people like to be thought of and have a reputation (but it is not that way among some of the students by their actions in Study Hall.

Now this Editorial doesn't mean to hit any one person. It is just a reminder of courtesy which all the students should practice in school to get them further in the world and give everyone an equal chance in getting their lessons in school. There have been many cases where a person couldn't get his lesson because of lack of being able to concentrate because of paper wads whizzing past his ears or curious noises all around him.

The following line should give everyone something to think about and practice:
"Life is not so short but there is always room for courtesy."

HOLLY THEATRE

"You gotta stop off someplace, so you can have the fun o' startin' out again!"

With these words of wisdom Bob Burns, playing a wandering printer and nobleman of the road, pauses a moment in a small town to help a lady in distress, remains to take over the editorship of a country newspaper, and ends up by captivating the entire community with his homely wit and overturning a corrupt political machine.

All this happens in Burns' latest picture, "The Arkansas Traveler", which opens Sunday at the Holly Theatre. Local fans of the sage of Van Buren, Arkansas, will see their hero in his first big character role—that of a happy-go-lucky hobo and, later, courageous crusading editor, whose homespun philosophy and native wit endear him to every one he meets.

"The Arkansas Traveler" was made in response to the demands of Burns' many admirers that he quit the musical comedy roles, which marked his early screen career, and play the sort of American characters typified by the late Will Rogers. Paramount agreed with the fans, for the sage of Van Buren now appears minus the bazooka, in a role glorifying one of America's best-loved and most colorful figures—the crusading editor of the country newspaper.

"A tramp is just a travellin' loafer—but a hobo ain't afraid to work—he's just afraid of gettin' in the habit of workin'," says Burns in "The Arkansas Traveler", and this describes to a "T" the character he would rather "ride the rails" than hold on to the best job in the United States, "the Traveler" settles down to help the widow of an old friend and captivates an entire community with his boldness and wit. But once his work is done and his friend's newspaper is put back on its feet he is seized by the fear that work is becoming a habit with him.

"There's somethin' inside me that a train whistle just throws into an uproar—and I gotta get on and ride," says "the Traveler" as he bids goodbye to the community he adopted and makes for the open road again.

divided into groups for our Scavenger Hunt (we walked). Mr. Waters stayed at the school house and waited for us. The first group to get back got a pumpkin for a prize. Those in the group were Eugene Hubbard, Tom Boothby, Alice Garneau, Don Rexford, Rena Sparling, Betty Kelly.

To amuse us Mr. Waters told us a story. Then when everyone returned we "hobbed" for apples for a while until everyone decided to leave. The lights went out and we turned our back to the school house until Monday morning after our four day vacation.

High School News
by Katherine Roehm

Well, here it is! The inside news of what took place Wednesday night as told by an eye witness.

When the Freshmen arrived at 7:00 they were first taken on a ride into the country and left to walk back (but we doubt that three miles can be walked in twenty minutes). Returning from this, they were then sent out on a food hunt. Some of the most appetizing lunches were brought back. One I thought especially tempting consisted of a potato peeling sandwich.

After this came the final treat. Each Freshman in turn was blindfolded and led downstairs. They were first greeted at the door with a handshake using wet salt. Then they were given the solemn Freshman oath, which was to be sealed by kissing the Bible. Instead of kissing the Bible they kissed a pair of cool water put in its place. Following this a special facial was given them. The facial was a mixture of flour and water mixed into a thin paste. Next they were taken into the kitchen and set in a chair and given some of the delicacies of our best chefs. First spaghetti, cooked slightly, then liver disguised as marshmallow, followed by castor oil said to be Karo syrup and finally topped off by a piece of dry bread spread with lard (remember they are still blindfolded). The Freshmen sigh. Initiation is over! Refreshments in the form of pop and cup cakes followed, then an hour of dancing wound up initiation for another year.

The tenth grade has been discussing class pins the last few days. We have decided on a pin, and plan on sending our order in soon.

The eighth grade had a test on general science, Tuesday.

They are collecting pictures of our government and important, large buildings for their civics notebooks.

The seventh grade had a geography test, Tuesday.

On Wednesday, October 19, the Clarkston football team played Brighton in a tie game, at a score of 7-7. The Clarkston boys showed a little improvement from their former games by their successful back-ing and tackling.

In the first quarter, Clarkston represented us with our first and only score. The squad successfully maneuvered a touchdown, Howard Boys carrying the ball over the goal line. The extra point was obtained when Clark passed to Smithson, making the score 7-0.

It was not until the last quarter that Brighton represented itself by scoring its touchdown. Then the team kicked the ball over the goal post, making the final score 7-7.

Seniors Choose Play!
by Lela Miller
The Seniors seem to have had a rather hard time choosing their play but at last they have selected Growing Pains by Aurania Rouveral.

The reason they have been so long in choosing the play, although all the committee were in favor of it, was because of the expensive royalty, the difficulty in producing it, and the large responsibility on the director and the play cast.

There are 18 speaking parts and the whole class will be used as extras. The most important characters comprise the Mac Intyre family—a mother, a father, a sister, and a brother. The play will be casted the first of next week and the cast will be announced in next week's paper.

Clarkston Wins Scrimmage Game
With Bloomfield Hills
by Evelyn Davies

Last Tuesday Bloomfield Hills and Clarkston met on the local field for a scrimmage game. The game was 14 to nothing in Clarkston's favor. The first and second quarters showed poor offense on Clarkston's part, but the defense was very good.

In the 3rd quarter Clarkston made its first touchdown when Clark passed to Ganther over the goal line. Johnson then made the extra point on an end run.

The second touchdown was obtained when Clark kicked the ball over the goal post so all the boys that were out for football were allowed to play.

A telephone construction crew of 1938

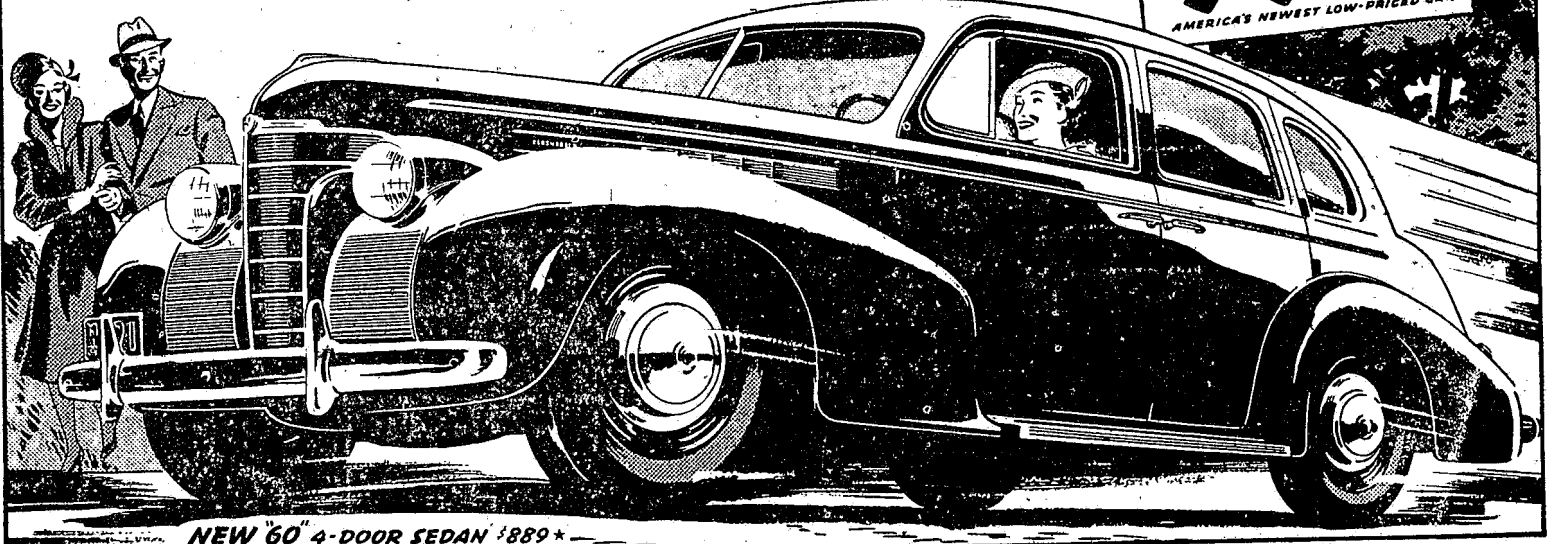

The threescore years since the Michigan Bell Telephone Company was founded have completely revolutionized telephone tools and equipment. Steadily the old was discarded, replaced by something better.

And time has but served to intensify the Michigan telephone worker's feeling of responsibility to the public. The diligence of these men and women . . . both in routine duty and during the emergencies of flood, fire, and storm . . . is a vital factor in keeping good telephone service at your command twenty-four hours a day.

He has made a GOOD Circuit Court Commissioner

VERNE C. HAMPTON

Out of over 2175 cases heard, only one appeal has been taken to the Oakland County Circuit Court. He has at all times tried to do his best.

Fall weather is approaching and with it we can expect fog, rain, and sleet. Streets will be wet and slippery and windshields will be coated with ice. Driving under such conditions makes extra precautions essential.

In these articles I have tried to stress the importance of constant attention when driving—not one second should be given to any other matters while you are driving. Long strips of straight pavement encourage higher speed, driving becomes more or less monotonous and invites inattention. Just one moment of inattention, especially when weather conditions are not very favorable, may put you out of circulation forever.

Don't let anything distract you! Pay attention to your driving!
