Are You Repainting Your House?

By VAUGHN S. GARRISON
Manager Pontiac Varnish Company's Paint Store, Pontiac, Michigan

In repainting your house, use a good paint and employ the services of a reliable painter.

Poor paint may cost less than good paint per gallon, but it costs just as much to apply and will not last as long. So choose more in the long run. On the other hand, good paint improperly applied will not last well either.

Preparation of the surface to be painted is of the utmost importance. All dust, dirt, and soot should be cleaned off. Old loose paint should be removed with a wire brush or a putty knife. Holes and cracks should be filled with putty. Rust on metal work should be thoroughly removed with a wire brush or sandpaper before painting. Knots and sappy spots on new wood should be covered with aluminum paint or shellac.

For painting over old paint that is in fair condition, two coats are sufficient, but for new wood, or wood cleaned of old paint, three coats are needed.

Always stir paint thoroughly before using. The clear liquid should be poured off into a separate container and the remaining contents stirred to an even consistency. Small amount of the liquid portion are then added and the mixture stirred after each addition. After all the liquid has been added the paint is poured from one container to another several times. This is known as "boxing".

On new work, after applying aluminum paint or shellac on all knots or sappy places and puttying all nail holes, it is advisable to apply a prime coat by thinning the paint with one part of linseed oil and three parts of turpentine. For the second coat one part of linseed oil and two parts turpentine are used. For the third and succeeding coats the paint is thinned with equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine.

For old work the paint is usually thinned for the first coat with one part of linseed oil and two parts of turpentine. The next, or succeeding coats are applied after the paint has been thinned with equal parts linseed oil and turpentine.

Never paint a surface that is not absolutely dry, and generally it is not advisable to paint when the thermometer is below 50 degrees.

Allow at least three days for the first coat to dry before applying the next one.

Shutters and screens should be removed before painting the house and be painted separately.

HOLLY THEATRE

Out of the stirring past of this great nation emerges a drama of accomplishment that symbolizes the tradition of America—the story of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. His is the dramatic romance of one who dreamed and struggled, loved and achieved. Simple, human and inspiring, the magnificent motion picture coming Sunday to the Holly Theatre pays homage to his genius and to a woman's devotion. Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell", a Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-Fox, with Don Ameche (in the title role), Loretta Young and Henry Fonda sharing stellar honors, tells with power, with humor and with profound humanity the drama of a great man and the love that inspired him.

Bell's is a story that belongs to America—the obscure young scientist, his discouraging struggles, his desperate battle against public ridicule and powerful opponents, his ultimate triumph, the flame of his genius kept alive by the love and faith of the woman he adored.

So intense was the struggle against poverty, disappointment and powerful opponents—a struggle which prevented his marriage to the girl he loved, that Bell halted on the threshold of his invention ready to sacrifice it so he could find happiness with Mabel Hubbard. To her, in his darkest hour, he wrote:

"Ever since I held you in my arms, I've known! My invention must be given up. This is little enough to do if it means that I may call you sweetheart and wife! The telephone will be born some day—and I do not care one bit who gets the glory so long as the world gets the benefit . . ."

But the courageous Mabel spurred on the dreamer who believed men could talk through a wire. It was their romance that gave the world the power to span oceans and continents with the human voice.

"When next you talk vast distances to those dear to you," says Associate Producer Kenneth Macgowan, "remember it was a great romance that wrought the miracle!"

Included in the cast are Charles Coburn, Gene Lockhart, Spring Byington and the three sisters of Loretta Young: Sally Blane, Polly Ann Young and Georgiana Young. Irving Cummings directed the screen play by Lamar Trotti, based on an original story by Ray Harris.

The film was previewed at the San Francisco World's Fair, the first time such an honor has been accorded a motion picture.

FITTING COLLARS HELP TO HORSES

Advice to Farmers on How to Prevent Sore Shoulders

If horses in Oakland county know how to swear, it's likely their language on too many farms reflects lack of attention to the fit of collars, warns Karl D. Bailey, county agricultural agent.

Condition of shoulders often determines whether a horse can work. Use of a few pointers obtained from R. S. Hudson of the farm and horse department at Michigan State College can save veterinary bills or loss of use of animals.

Collars must be fitted properly, tight on sides to admit finger tips only, long enough to admit the hand at the bottom. A deer hair sweat pad should be used if the collar is a little too large.

The collar must be kept clean, rubbing by hand or washing with a damp sponge when it is taken off the horse. Oiling the collar twice a year and always holding it together at the top when carrying it preserves the life of the collar.

In warm weather the collar should be lifted and shoulders of the horse wiped off frequently when the horse is at hard work. Washing the shoulders of the horse when the collar is removed will help prevent shoulder galls.

Once a gall develops, the sore area should be washed with a white lotion made of one ounce of sugar of lead, one ounce of zinc sulphate dissolved in a quart of soft water.

Grooming the animal after a day's work or sponging off with warm water in hot weather are other horse savers. Cold water should not be thrown on the animal. Use of pasture as work decreases will contribute to the animal's health.

Needy Youth Being Given Assistance

The Michigan National Youth Administration is employing 226 needy youth on its school aid program in Oakland County, according to Orin W. Kaye, State Director.

Youth who are accepted as eligible for NYA school-aid by the school authorities, are employed on part time projects for which they are paid a maximum of six dollars a month and which are supervised by school officials themselves. This amount often means the difference between attending school and being forced out. Young people in financial need are provided with a sufficient amount of money to pay necessary expenses such as books, lunches, transportation and, in many instances, clothes.

The type of project on which the youth are employed is designed to provide work experience in his chosen vocation wherever possible. They are given the opportunity to obtain experience in typing, filing, dictation, bookkeeping, carpentry, sign and poster painting, varnishing, woodworking, landscaping, window cleaning, book repairing and book-binding and many other occupations which may prove valuable in seeking employment after they have completed their schooling, stated Kaye. A total of 13,555 needy students are now working part time for the NYA, 9357 of which are in high school and 4198 in college.

Many drivers feel that, because the weather is clear and the road surface dry, they can take chances going around curves, passing vehicles on hills, and so on.

Do you really know on what kind of road surface most accidents on our highways happen?

Wet surface?
Dry surface?
Icy surface?

You will be surprised to know the fact that because you are driving on a dry surface does not mean you can become careless. Only a comparatively small percentage of accidents happen on a wet or icy surface.

Even though the surface of the road is very dry—the weather clear—and all other conditions favorable—"It's Still Smart to Drive Carefully".

Marking the centenary of the postage stamp, Great Britain will issue four commemoratives next year. Thirty picked artists are submitting designs.

The philatelic writer of the New York Times evidently did considerable research work to produce the following figures but we wish he had also told us how much U. S. currency it would take to keep up with current issues. Of the 186 governments that issued a total of 2595 stamps, Russia led with 88; Venezuela came next with 68, Switzerland with 59 and Hungary 44. Close to the last figure was Italian East Africa with 43 and Belgium 42. France and the United States tied at 39; Turkey followed with 38 and Germany had low at 37.
