We made a big white house trimmed with red.

We put moss around the house for grass.

On our farm there are horses, cows, pigs, sheep, a dog, a cat, a pony, and hens and chickens.

We have a pig pen and chicken coop too.

We made fences to put around the barn and house.

We planted wheat, corn and oats on our farm.

They are growing very fast. Corn is planted in rows.

Wheat and oats are planted all over the field.

The farmer has a tractor to help him work. Horses help him too.

Cows give us milk and chickens give us eggs. Sheep give us wool.

We have learned a song about "The Farmer". We wrote words about the farm.

We had fun making our farm. We have all learned to be good farmers.

HOME EC. CLUB TAKES A TRIP!

Last Saturday, the Home Ec. Club of Clarkston High School went to Rouge Park and to Greenfield Village and we found it very educational as well as exciting. The girls who went were: Doris Jencks, Iva Sommers, Betty Clark, Melvina Smith, Virginia Tondou, Julia Edgar, Bernice Smith, Laura Vliet, Mary Stadler, Rena Sparling, Bessie, Mary and Arlene Williamson, Alita Boice, Leda Miller, Gene Mary Cubley, Phyllis Beardsley, Bernice Budrow, Lucile Sommers, Betty Drake and Irene Walz. The Parents and Teachers who went were: Mr. and Mrs. Strait, Mrs. Boice and Mrs. Williamson.

The girls met at the school at 8:45 and left at 9:00 for Rouge Park. We were riding happily along when what should happen but we had a flat tire. Well, we just got that nicely fixed when something went wrong with one of the cars and that held up some of the girls while the rest of us went on. We reached Rouge Park without any more mishaps and all rented bicycles and went riding around the park. Everyone was having a grand time and then the rest of the girls arrived to make the party complete. We rode bicycles a while and then came the hit of the day, the meal!!! We ate and ate until we could eat no more. While we were eating, what should come along but a pretty blue roadster and the prettiest dog was standing on the top of it. We all yelled and they stopped and let Iva May take a picture of the dog and car. Of course we weren't interested in the driver. When we finished eating, we cleaned up and started for Greenfield Village. When we arrived there we all got together and remained that way for the rest of the day.

The first interesting thing that we saw was the Lorenger Mill, we then went into a few more buildings and then into the building where all the watches and jewelry were kept. We saw many interesting things in there among which was the clock that Sir Malcolm Campbell gave to the Village. We also saw the clock that strikes every quarter hour and it was very interesting to watch the iron men strike the chimes. We also saw the clock that tells the time, day, year, and month; it has to be wound every eight days and set every century. It changes itself for the leap years. Another amusing watch was the watch for blind people. This watch has a little button that the blind person presses and it chimes the hour and the minutes after the hour.

We saw the Martha Mary Chapel but were unable to hear the organ play as the organist was not present at the time. We saw the school house where Henry Ford had carved his initials in the desk and where children, who are selected, attend there every school day. The Court House where Lincoln delivered his first messages was very educational. It showed some of the furniture that Lincoln had to sell to get the money to go to the Capital after he was elected President. It also had rails that Lincoln had split and the chair that Lincoln was sitting in when he was assassinated. There are blood stains on the chair and they are very evitable. The most interesting thing was the fire lighted by Herbert Hoover, a former President, that has been kept going for over 10 years in honor of Abraham Lincoln. The fire will never be allowed to go out.

Another educational incident was seeing the workshop of Thomas Edison. In 1929 Edison came back to the work shop and in the same way that he had done in the past, made an electric light bulb and then got up and left the shop. The chair that he sat in is nailed to the floor, and everything is just as he left it.

The next interesting thing that we saw was the "Rose Cottage" which was made entirely of stone. It was a very beautiful place and each one of us wished that we owned such a place. It had room for two families or that is what the man told us; I'm sure none of us believed it as there was only two rooms and a wine cellar. The barn was also built entirely of stone and there was a stone fence around the whole yard. Flowers were placed all around the house and barn, they were most all in bloom and were surrounded by rocks in different forms. It was a very picturesque sight. We also saw a small house, barn, and tool shed which the Kindergarten pupils of Greenfield Village take care of. Each day a few of the pupils fix their lunch in the little house all by themselves and do the dishes and sweep the floor afterwards. They have planted a garden, and they take care of it also.

After we had seen everything we went back to the cars and started home. We were very happy and everyone of us had a grand time!! We want to thank Mrs. Strait for making it possible for us to go. Also to thank Mr. Strait, Lucile Sommers, Mrs. Boice and Bessie Williamson for driving. It was the end of a perfect day!

Now—while the weather is right—is the time to paint up and clean up, outdoors. And the paints you use should be durable. They must resist the hot sunshine of summer and the freezing winds and snow of winter. It takes good paint to stand up under the punishment of the weather, year after year. Pontiac Varnish Company paints are durable. Their colors resist fading. They will protect your property longer than ordinary house paint.

Economy in painting is based not on the cost of the paint, but on its durability. Cheap paint soon becomes chalky, or scales and chips under exposure to the weather. Exterior paints made by the Pontiac Varnish Company are made to give your property protection for a long period of time.

Pontiac Varnish Company paints are easier to apply and give better coverage per gallon.

We will be glad to furnish you with any information you need so you may do the work, or have it done, with the least expense and effort. We also sell a complete line of painting supplies; oils, thinners, brushes, etc.
