Large Crowd Attends Last Band Concert

On Tuesday night a large crowd attended the last band concert of the season. Parking space on Main Street was at a premium and those who had to park at the north end of town walked to within hearing distance and not only enjoyed the music but had a good time visiting.

In the last two years, Mr. Willoughby, the director of the band, has worked unceasingly to make this organization one the town would be proud of and the comments heard on Main Street on Tuesday night were certainly favorable. Last September the band played in the shell at the Michigan State Fair and everyone who heard them praised them considerably. An invitation has been extended to the band again this year.

Anglers Must Pay For Fishing Privileges

Michigan fishermen appear headed for a low record in law breaking this summer, if figures for June are maintained throughout the season.

The field administration of the department of conservation has released the report of June law violations, showing that one-third fewer arrests were made that month than in May.

Officials said this decrease was characteristic of the summer season, when the months of July and August reach the low point of infractions. What appeared to make this a record year was the fact that June arrests were 25 percent lower than for June last year.

Fishing in inland waters without a license got 65 into trouble during June. Last year there were 122 arrested for neglecting to pay for fishing privileges.

Anglers who had in their possession any bluegills, sunfish or bass before the opening day on June 25 led all violations, with 80 taken on this charge. Attempting to take fish on inland waters prior to the lake season was charged against 49. There were 183 taken on these two counts last year.

For the infractions of state laws the courts assessed fines totaling $1663 and costs of $2151. Rather than pay other fines, violators spent 553 days in jail.

HOLLY THEATRE

The thrilling, romantic, eventful youth of Abe Lincoln makes Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Young Mr. Lincoln" a complete screen surprise and excellent entertainment, according to advance reports based on "sneak screenings" of the unusual film.

Ignoring the great Lincoln with whom everyone is familiar, this Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century-Fox is a photoplay stirring with its drama, action and emotion; it depicts young Abe wrestling, fighting, telling funny stories, falling in love. The highlight of the original screen play by Lamar Trotti shows the young lawyer defying a frenzied lynch mob and defending two innocent boys in the famous "moonlight murder" trial—young Lincoln's first challenge.

This is a Lincoln few people are familiar with. At the age of 28 he was a gangling, brawny-armed youth, a shy young lover and a "regular fellow". Covering approximately seven years of his youth, the film culminates in the frontier trial.

Re-enacting the best of the famous Lincoln anecdotes, the film is highlighted by such lines as:

To the lynch mob: "I'm not going to make any speeches. All I've got to say is: I can lick any man here hands down!"

To Mary Todd, on the dance floor: "I'd like to dance with you in the worst way, Miss Todd; but any dancing I'd do would be the worst way!"

And during the famous "moonlight murder" trial: "How can a mother choose which son shall live, which shall die?"

Directed by John Ford, the film features Henry Fonda in the title role, Alice Brady as the mother of the "accused" boys, Marjorie Weaver as Mary Todd, and Arleen Whelan. Included in the cast are Eddie Collins, Pauline Moore as Ann Rutledge, Richard Cromwell, Donald Meek, Dorris Bowden and Eddie Quillan. Kenneth Macgowan served as associate producer.

"Young Mr. Lincoln" comes to the Holly Theatre next Tuesday.

Telephones in Service Increase This Year

At the first of July there were 331 telephones in service in the Clarkston exchange, representing a gain of 12 during June and a gain of 89 the first six months of 1939, according to W. B. Fauser, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

The company as a whole had 710,297 telephones in service July 1, a gain of 595 during June compared with 5,112 during May. Total gain for the company the first six months of 1939 was 30,072 telephones.

New Parking Rules on State Highways

Uniform regulations for parallel parking on all city or village streets on the state highway system will go into effect for the first time on September 29.

Section 27a of Act No. 189 of the recent session of the legislature bans angle parking within city limits. The Act does provide, however, that local authorities may by ordinance permit angle parking "upon highways other than state trunkline highways." The Act has been signed by the Governor and will become effective on September 29, 1939.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner joined with other safety and traffic leaders in welcoming this action by the legislature. He said that the elimination of angle parking on state trunkline highways within cities and villages would eliminate serious congestion problems and improve safety for motorists and pedestrians alike.

MICHIGAN COOKS TO SEEK HONORS

Five Enter National Competition to Be Held at Cleveland

Five of Michigan's best cooks were selected recently at Michigan State College to represent the state's outstanding eligibles for a national title to be conferred during the World's Poultry Congress to be staged in Cleveland July 28 to August 7.

Menus which entrants submitted had various origins. One woman said her chief recipe in the egg meal menu was obtained from the wrapper on a package of dried beef. Another said she found out how to serve a poached egg in soup by observing how Japanese served the soup while she was a missionary in Korea.

Five cooks from each of 24 other states also are now under consideration. Twenty of the 125 are to be invited to Cleveland for the finals.

Michigan's eligibles include Mrs. W. E. Otis, Mason farm housewife; Mrs. Walter Mulvaney, Battle Creek farmer's wife; Lois Bristol, Lansing home economics instructor; Mrs. Carl W. Nabeack, Ann Arbor farm housewife, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hurst, Litchfield teacher and librarian.

Three others invited to appear and prepare a complete meal from the menus and recipes they submitted were given honorable mention in the state finals. They are Florence MacDonald, Genesee Gardens restaurant and school cook; Mrs. N. D. Chew, St. Johns minister's wife; and Mrs. Nelson O'Beirne, Clarksville farm housewife.

All of the entries featured egg dishes. Among the omelettes were some with ham, mushrooms, dried beef or plain, while one soufflé had spinach, and another was a veal soufflé. Judges included Mrs. Burr Lincoln, Lansing, and four members of the college staff, Miss Edna V. Smith, Miss Lois Corbett, Miss Roberta Hershey and Miss Ruth Griswold.

Fire Destroys Home Wednesday Evening

On Wednesday evening fire destroyed the Arthur Budrow home on Davisburg Road. It seems that the evening meal had been served early; Mr. Budrow had gone into the fields to work; three of the children had gone some distance to play and Mrs. Budrow had taken the baby and gone over to Mrs. Marguerite Miller's for milk. She remarked to Mrs. Miller that she had to hurry home and on looking towards home she saw the flames. Help was summoned and everyone nearby hurried to the scene. There was a slight breeze to fan the flames and every effort to extinguish the fire was in vain. The Clarkston Fire Department arrived too late to save anything. The place was totally destroyed. Insurance will cover a part of the loss. It is thought that the oil stove exploded and caused the fire.

Waterford

The new addition to the Waterford school building will soon be finished. The basement will be completed also and a modern equipped new unit will be in readiness for the fall term of school. Three more teachers have been added to the teaching staff making 12 and with more room and extra teachers the half-day sessions will be dispensed with.

The Waterford school when completed will be a striking contrast to the first school in Oakland County which was founded near Waterford in 1821. School was held in the loft of Major Williams' sheep-shed, which was located in the Williams settlement, southeast of Waterford Village on the Saginaw Trail, now known as the Dixie Highway. A one-room building, 15 feet square, furnished with rough, wooden seats and desks, with light and air entering through three small slide windows, housed seven pupils, who were taught by a Mr. Brett from Ohio. The term was only six months long and the pupils were children of the Major Williams and the Dr. William Thompson families.

The first school located in the village of Waterford was in the year 1848. Logs were furnished by the people of the village and the house was built on what is known as the Community Lot on Maple street. A fence was built around the building to keep out wandering cows and in order to enter the school yard one had to climb over a stile in the fence. There were two front doors to the building, one for the girls and one for the boys. Sixty to eighty pupils attended the school during the winter months. The school was not classified as to grades, but was taught by books. One teacher would teach for six months, and then school would be dismissed for four to six weeks, then be reopened with another teacher in charge.

Reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, grammar and geography were the regular subjects taught, while algebra was a special subject for those who wanted to take it. School hours were the same as they are today, from nine until twelve in the forenoon and from one until four in the afternoon.

In 1871, on the site of the present building, a brick two-story school house was constructed. It was the first school, teaching the higher grades that the village of Waterford had ever had. Two years later 75 maple trees were planted on the school grounds, many of which remain today. In 1900 an overheated stove destroyed this building and the oldest section of the present school was built in 1903.

In the years 1874 and 1875, there were two teachers and 78 pupils. In the 1938-1939 term there were nine teachers and 376 pupils. For 1939-1940 there will be twelve teachers and approximately 400 pupils. Compare the present set-up to the school of over a century ago that was held in a farmer's sheep-shed. It all goes to prove that there must be some truth in the proverbial old adage that was found in the old time copy-books, "Great oaks from little acorns grow".

Dinner guests at the George J. Sutherland home Sunday were Mrs. Gertrude Coffron and L. D. and Armond Coffron of Clarkston.

An attendance of 65 heard the interesting message brought to the Waterford Community church Sunday morning by the visiting minister, Rev. David Ewart, of Detroit. After the service Rev. and Mrs. Ewart were entertained for the day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lamberton left Sunday afternoon for Kokomo, Indiana, where Dick is taking a course at the Delco Co. in that city. The course extends over a period of three weeks. He has spent one week there. Mrs. Lamberton will remain for a week or ten days and while she is away little Nancy Lamberton will be cared for by Mrs. James Lamberton, an aunt, while baby Shirley Ann will remain in the home of Mrs. Glenn Terry. After the course is completed, Dick will have charge of radio installation in cars at the Cadillac plant in Detroit and the Pontiac plant in Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burrill entertained at their house guests for the last two weeks the latter's cousin Mr. Clinton Hibinger and Mrs. Hibinger of Akron, Ohio. Mr. Hibinger is a devoted disciple of Isaac Walton and thoroughly enjoyed the good fishing the local waters had to offer. These Ohio visitors, accompanied by the Burrill family enjoyed a motor trip around the Thumb section. Taking the Lake Shore drive, route 25, they arrived at Port Austin for their noon meal. Mrs. Burrill reports the parks and camps through that section are simply filled with trailers and tents and tourists from many different states. After a most enjoyable fortnight these out-of-state visitors returned home. Mr. Hibinger is connected with the Firestone Rubber Co. of Akron.

BIT OF FENCING UNLOADS TRUCK

Simple but effective is this device for unloading grass at the side of an ensilage cutter so that the truck can go back out into the field for another load while men fork the material over to the cutter. S. T. Dexter in the farm crops department at Michigan State College figured out this one. He took a strip of woven wire fencing linked to a two-by-four on one end. This is laid in the bottom of the empty truck. When a load comes up, a rope is attached to the two-by-four over the top of the load, the truck is driven slowly forward, sliding and rolling the load onto the ground. The wire is picked up and put back in the bottom of the truck body. The device is particularly useful if the silo filler is set low enough to eliminate high pitching.

It's on the record

When a payment is made by check, it's a matter of permanent, indelible record. This feature of checks is invaluable in two ways: (a) as legal protection and (b) as an aid in keeping track of payments. When you use checks you know where, when and to whom your money goes.

Safetygrams

Speed is still one of the big contributing factors to our serious accidents.

Back in 1908, Charles F. Younz was the speed demon who literally burned up the track at Mount Holly, New Jersey, with his single-cylinder, eight horsepower, four speed, double chain drive auto. It had a breath-taking speed of 35 miles an hour, and driver Younz usually came in first.

Today some people insist on going through a busy thoroughfare, past school houses, and other dangerous locations on our highways at, not 35, but 55 and more. A car traveling 60 miles an hour, hitting a dead object, has the same force of impact it would have if it were dropped from the top of a 10-story building to the pavement. Before you drive fast—think.

Science Tells Why Lemonade Is Cooling

By BETTY BARCLAY

Frosty glasses of lemonade, garnished with lemon slices and mint! What simpler or better refreshments are available for a summer afternoon or evening? A tray of crisp crackers and an assortment of vegetable snacks completes a garden-fresh menu that's both cool and cooling.

Science now explains that the popularity of lemonade on warm summer days has an excellent basis in the fact that vitamin C, of which it is a generous source, actually mitigates the effects of heat. Only recently scientists at the University of Milan discovered that exposure to high temperature caused a 50 per cent loss of vitamin C from the body tissues — and lowered vitamin C reserves go hand-in-hand with the tired feeling we get when the weather is hot.

That's why lemonade is so refreshing. In fact, if you would keep cool in warm weather, it's a pretty good rule to have one or more drinks every day of lemonade or orange juice, which is another rich source of vitamin C. These citrus fruit beverages are healthful in other ways, too.

To Make Lemonade

For each person served, squeeze the juice from 1 lemon. Strain to taste with 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey. Stir until dissolved. Add 1 cup cold water and ice to chill. Garnish with a slice of lemon on rim of each glass.

Lemon Fizz: Make lemonade with carbonated water.

Lemon Ice Bergs: Top glasses of lemonade with generous spoonfuls of Lemon Sherbet.

Vegetable Snacks

Wash and clean thoroughly the following vegetables:

Cauliflower: Break apart flower-lets in a small head of uncooked cauliflower.

Radishes: With a sharp knife cut back outer skin to make roses.

Carrots: Scrape and cut in lengthwise slices. Cut each slice into strips, retaining an uncut piece at top to hold strips together.

Celery: Stuff several stalks of celery with pimiento cream cheese, which has been thinned with a little lemon juice. Fit these together. Roll in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator.

Put cauliflower, radishes and carrots in ice water to crisp. Drain when ready to serve. Cut celery in slices. Arrange vegetables in serving dishes and garnish with mint and parsley.

Lemon Sherbet

Another delicious form in which to bring coolness to a warm summer day is Lemon Sherbet. Boil 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water together for 5 minutes. Fold this syrup slowly into 2 beaten egg whites, 1 cup lemon juice and 1 cup water. Beat well. Pour into freezer. Freeze stiff and beat or stir thoroughly. Return to freezing; freeze in crank-type freezer. Serves about 1 quart. Serves 6-8.)
