HOLLY THEATRE

One of the greatest combinations of talent ever gathered for one show makes Irving Berlin's "Second Fiddle" a production to which all Holly has been looking forward, according to Manager Krikorian of the Holly Theatre, who reports many inquiries for the opening date.

Just imagine, screen fans, Sonja Henie romancing with Tyrone Power to the melodies of Irving Berlin's six new songs with singing Rody Vallee cutting in and Edna May Oliver cutting up and new-star Mary Healy and Lyle Talbot and Alan Dinehart all in it too, and Sonja skating her sensational ice tango for the first time on the screen—no, never mind your imagination, for that's the "what's-what" of "Second Fiddle," 20th Century-Fox production opening Tuesday at the Holly Theatre.

Abounding with the entertainment surprises typical of Darryl F. Zanuck's musicals, "Second Fiddle" shows Sonja with her first screen skating partner and introduces a new ballroom dance craze, the "Back to Back." This step was evolved by Harry Losee, who staged Sonja's skating ensembles, from the tune hit by Irving Berlin. Other Berlin hits in the film are: "I'm Sorry for Myself," "An Old Fashioned Tune Always is New," "When Winter Comes," "Song of the Metronome" and "I Poured My Heart Into a Song."

The screen play by Harry Tugend, based on a story by George Brashaw, is a realistic tale of what happens when Hollywood at last finds the girl deemed worthy of portraying the heroine of a great best-selling novel. Sidney Lanfield directed with Gene Markey as associate producer.

PONTIAC HERD TO BE ON EXHIBITION

State Institutional Farms to Show Holsteins on Circuit

Pontiac—Dairymen at a preview here of herd of Holsteins that will represent Michigan on the show circuit throughout the nation this season are satisfied that the black and white animals from this state will offer plenty of competition, predicting another highly successful season. In 1938, the State Institutional Farms presented for the first time a show herd made up entirely of state-owned animals, sweeping show after show and returning home stall here Illini Princess Mable Lad as undefeated three-year-old grand champion.

The sire from Pontiac State Hospital here will head the herd again this season, having been returned from New York's World Fair for this purpose. The Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture, cooperating with the Michigan Holstein Friesian Association, has made it possible to boost total number of animals to twenty-two, selecting animals outside of state-owned herds. Shown at the preview were animals from Pontiac State Hospital, Ionia State Hospital, Ionia State Reformatory, Prison of Southern Michigan, Martin Butch farm, Comstock Park, Lakefield Farms, Clarkston, and Amos Farms of Adrian.

Clarence B. Smith of Pinconning, who was in charge of the state institutional herd last year, will show the 1939 herd.

A vacation that included a visit with relatives, some successful fishing and seeing the quintuplets was the privilege of Mr. and Mrs. Orville D. Anderson and family who recently returned from a three weeks visit with Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter McArthur of New Liskeard, Ontario.

This 600 mile trip was made by motor and our interview with Mrs. Anderson brought out some interesting points concerning the trip. She reports the roads exceptionally good, with no detours during the entire trip.

"While we are having it so dry, the farmers in that section of Ontario are wondering when they will get their having done," Mrs. Anderson related. "They have had weeks of almost continuous rain. The chief crop for the farmers there is grain, acres and acres of oats and wheat. In the hilly, rocky country near Barrie, Ontario, there are fields and fields of very fine wheat."

"After all I wasn't idle all the while we were gone, even though it was our vacation. I picked a number of quarts of wild strawberries which I canned as well as jammed," said this thrifty housewife.

On their way up to New Liskeard these vacationists arrived in Callander, the little town that sprang to fame over night as the birthplace of the famous Dionne quintuplets, and found that they were just in time for the 10 o'clock a. m. showing of the five sisters that look so much alike that only those who have close contact with them could ever tell them apart.

"Just what do you think of the quintuplets?" we asked Mrs. Anderson.

"I think they are grand," she answered. "They look so identically alike that I am wondering why some kind of small banner isn't pinned across their backs with their names on it so the public might know whether they were looking at Marie or Cecile or one of the others. But perhaps that might make them conscious that something was taking place, as it is of course they do not know anyone is looking at them. The morning we saw them there was a little blonde girl slightly larger than they, playing with them. We think it must have been their sister. They were all dressed in short dresses and sweaters and their little fat chubby legs below their short dresses made them look cute. A bow of ribbon held each one's hair in place. As they played in the yard, one of them sang a popular song in French. They act just like any normal children would act at their play. One had a wheelbarrow and another one wanted it and went right over and took it. The child who had it first went to the nurse to complain."

Mr. Anderson enjoyed fishing and his three days indulgence in this sport, which took place in the Montreal River, netted him 40 large fish, bass, pike and pickerel. This fisherman, who apparently is skilled in the age-old art, employed the trolling method as well as the rod and reel to land this catch that any disciple of Isaac Walton might well be proud to tell about.

A visit to the ancient old historical town of Quebec, 85 miles from New Liskeard was also enjoyed by the Andersons while on this interesting vacation.

Last Thursday around noon many of the village residents noticed great billows of smoke rising into the air over toward the Pontiac Municipal Airport. A quick trip over on their bicycles was made by some of the younger set and they brought back the news that the airport landing field was being burned off in preparation for the air show which will take place there Sunday, July 30. Sunday, July 30 at 8:30 a. m. the Michigan Dawn Patrol, consisting of 50 to 50 planes piloted by private fliers, will arrive at Pontiac Airport and have breakfast at Airport Inn. The members, from scattering points in the State, will hold their weekly meeting there prior to the start of the annual N. A. A. Air show that day.

An interesting social affair of the season was the linen shower given at the home of Mrs. Joseph Helman Thursday evening complimenting Miss Mary Riley who will be married to Harold Jacober on August 11th. Mrs. Helman and Mrs. Angus McCaffrey were hostesses. Games were played with Mrs. Henry Vought, Mrs. August Jacober and Miss Lucille Hall receiving the awards. After everyone had admired the lovely gifts received by the honoree, light refreshments were served. The guests present were Miss Mary M. Riley and mother Mrs. Ralph D. Riley, Mrs. Harold Walter, Mrs. Mary Reas and Mrs. David Reas, all of Pontiac, Mrs. Rex Buchanan of Waterford Center, Mrs. Raymond Peale of Saginaw, Mrs. Henry Vought, Mrs. Joseph McCadoo of Detroit, Mrs. August Jacober, Mrs. Arthur Walter, Mrs. Chas. Hall, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Lucille Hall and Mrs. William Jacober of Waterford.

The village was shocked late Sunday afternoon when the news went out that Mrs. Charles F. Hall, a longtime resident of Waterford, had passed away.

Born, Sophia Walter, in Detroit, May 7, 1892, the deceased was married to Charles F. Hall on March 25, 1911. Mrs. Hall had lived in Waterford for 31 years.

Mr. Hall, six children and one grandchild survive. The children are, Mrs. Irma Walter of Pontiac, Robert W. Hall of Detroit, Mrs. Rex Buchanan of Waterford Center, and Misses Charlotte, Lucille and Minnie Hall at home. The grandchild is little Gary Buchanan.

Aside from the immediate family Mrs. Hall is survived by one sister, Mrs. August Jacober of Waterford and two brothers, Herman and Arthur Walter also of Waterford.

The funeral was conducted in Pontiac at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with burial in the Drayton Plains cemetery. Rev. A. H. Myers of Pontiac officiated.

The Waterford Sunday School is striving to hold the summer attendance up to the 100 mark. Many are away on their vacations and only 92 attended Sunday, while the Sunday before there was an even 100. In the absence of Supt. and Mrs. Henry Mehler, assistant Supt. D. W. Williams was in charge.

The 11:15 church services were conducted by Rev. Howard Jewell, who spoke on Cooperation. He chose for his text Exodus 17-12. He said in part,

"Cooperation is necessary today along every avenue of life. In the home between father, mother and the children; in the church between the people in the pews and the pastor; in industry, if there was better cooperation between the worker and the supervisor many of the labor upheavals might be avoided; between merchant and customer. It is needed in education between the teacher and the pupil and in the traffic world where it is necessary to enforce certain laws. Last but not least cooperation is needed in religious enterprises. It sustains us in times of weakness. We individuals and the church as an organization should find it very essential in the period of transition, the period of indecision."

Baby Janice Carol Bomsta of Pontiac was the week-end guest of her grandmother Mrs. Lillian Wilcox.

Lois Burt is at home again after a vacation spent with relatives in Ortonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Duguid have returned from a trip to San Francisco where they attended the World's Fair. They report a great trip.

"Halt! Here Are Biscuits"

By Frances Lee Barton

TALLY-HO. Sound your horn. There's a scent in the air. In the pantry, the kitchen, in fact, everywhere.

Bring your knives and your plates. Line up the brigade. Salute and "fall to" — for hot biscuits are made!

Buttermilk Biscuits

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon soda; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1/2 cup buttermilk or sour milk.

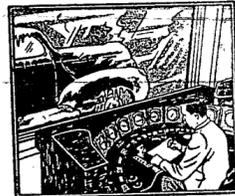

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk all at once and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough and follows spoon around bowl. Turn out on slightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll 1/2 inch thick, cut with floured 2-inch biscuit cutter, and place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 biscuits.

ICE CREAM LEADS IN HOT WEATHER

In popularity in more than a century of American tradition, it is hot weather in Michigan and other states that lends to demand.

Once the dairy product was a luxury, but now the average consumption by each person is estimated at 8 1/2 quarts annually. Because of the size of the state's dairy industry, those in this state likely surpass that annual figure, it is estimated.

Now a new trend in use of ice cream is gaining popularity. It still takes a competent drug store clerk to "jerk" a soda, and the drug store still is the greatest dispenser of ice cream, yet a "make your own" sundae process is finding favor.

Suggestions from members of the home economics extension staff of Michigan State College include that for the hostess when ice cream is being served in the home.

Several sauces are arranged on a table or tray. Chocolate is one favorite flavoring, either from a prepared or homemade supply. Other flavorings can include strawberry, peach or caramel. Some even offer the amateur sundae maker a small supply of chopped nuts or maraschino cherries. The latter comprise another Michigan product.

It hasn't been much more than a century since the date of 1812 in which some historians say Dolly Madison served ice cream at a White House reception. But it's now an American tradition that also seems to tickle the palates of Europeans.

Today I saw a mother deliberately pull her young daughter, about seven or eight years old, and start across the street in the middle of the block.

How will safety people ever get to these parents to make them realize that this is a very dangerous practice? How can we expect the coming generation to comply with safety regulations and live out a full life?

Communities throughout the country are making a special drive to educate pedestrians. Pedestrians are involved in approximately 40 per cent of all automobile fatalities. Statistics show that in more than two thirds of the fatal pedestrian accidents in 1938, the pedestrian was walking in an unsafe manner, walking across highways, between intersections, and jaywalking at intersections.

You parents who read this, please teach your children to walk and drive carefully and the best way to do this is to set the example yourselves.

Satisfaction

Pictured here is a good cook, relaxing comfortably in her chair as she prepares a delicious meal for her family. The dinner is cooking in her electric range — a healthful, appetizing oven meal, cooked all at one time — and it will be ready to serve piping hot when the family sit down to supper. The cook? She will be cool and unflustered, able to enjoy the meal and the expression of contentment on her face tells a story without words. You too can know the satisfaction of electric cooking in your home. An electric range will not raise the kitchen temperature one degree, even in the hottest weather. Stop in and see the new models on display at your electrical dealer's or any Detroit Edison office.

Half Year Licenses
Expire August 31

Comparative figures released for publication today by Harry F. Kelly, Secretary of State, reveal a total of 1,565,463 automobile registrations for the year 1939. This total shows an increase of 18,456 registrations over the entire 1938 period. Full year plates issued for 1939 number 1,001,093 sets, while half-year plates total 564,370 sets.

During the next four weeks more than a half million sets of half year license plates will expire. These plates must be replaced by full year plates not later than August 31, 1939. Mr. Kelly fears that unless prospective purchasers buy their plates early, the same hardship that was invoked upon the public in 1938 will be repeated this year.

Michigan Fur Pelt
Take Nearly Million

Would you know how many coyotes, badgers, muskrats or bobcats or other fur bearing animals were caught in season by Michigan trappers in the last 12 months?

That was one of the phases which interested R. G. Hill, extension specialist in game at Michigan State College when he surveyed 1938-39 trappers' reports submitted to the Michigan State Department of Conservation with which he collaborates. In all counties nearly a million animals were taken for fur or bounty, with fur worth about $1,250,000.

Of 11 kinds, wolves were least numerous and numbered but 59. Muskrats were most numerous, as trappers sent in reports indicating the season's catch was approximately 782,924. Skunks took second place with an apparently low annual trapping of 34,485.

Other animals caught in traps have been estimated at 32,550 weasels, 18,634 opossums, 17,546 mink, 6,501 raccoons, 3,159 foxes, 2,098 coyotes, 532 bobcats and 503 badgers. Approximately three-fourths of the entire fur take came from farm lands in the state's 44 southern counties.

More than curiosity is repeated in Hill's tabulation and estimates garnered from totals in all the counties. The figures serve as a guide in computing animal population, the trends thus aiding in establishing seasons and kill limits.

Skunks, for instance, are more valuable than the average person suspects. Although the odor may be offensive, says Hill, the skunk has value for fur and eats large numbers of grubs and other insects detrimental to farm crops. The state conservation commission recently ruled that in 1939 the skunk trapping season is to be open only Nov. 1 to Jan. 31. In previous years no closed seasons prevailed for skunks.

Mars Always a
"Stellar" Attraction

Is Mars inhabited by intelligent beings?

It's an old question, but arises anew this month as Mars approaches closer to earth today, July 28, than it has in 15 years. Astronomers throughout the world are focusing their instruments on the object, not through fear of interplanetary invaders, but for the thrill of uncovering perhaps another clue or so to the mysteries still unsolved.

Mars, celestial resource of prolific romancers and partner with actor Orson Welles in an unintentional and bizarre radio scare last year, is in such an exceedingly brilliant phase right now that an inestimable number of the curious are wondering what's going on in the sky that might not be mere routine.

Usually Mars keeps a respectful distance from us, on the average some 142,000,000 miles; but today, four days after the planet is in opposition (on the opposite side of the earth from the sun) it is only 36,000,000 miles off.

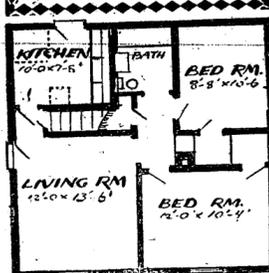

Many times when such statements are made as "Mars is known to have an atmosphere", the layman would like to know how such facts are gained since no one has yet managed to go there and obtain such information first hand.

The answer in this case depends on photographs taken by infrared and ultraviolet light. Infrared light is capable of penetrating haze and atmosphere very easily while ultraviolet light is reflected by such atmosphere. Hence a photograph of Mars made through ultraviolet light shows that planet as a large disk without detail, while infrared light shows a smaller disk with greater detail because this light penetrating the atmosphere is reflected by the surface itself.

It was at the favorable opposition in 1877 that Schiaparelli of Milan Observatory (Italy) first saw dark lines connecting the major dark areas and gave them the name "canali" translatable into English as "canals". The next favorable opposition saw Percival Lowell interested in the markings, and that was the beginning of Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Arizona. Newer methods have now come t be applied to Mars to determine the extent and chemical composition of its atmosphere and the range of temperature at the surface. Ultra-violet and infra-red photographs in 1924 by Wright at Lick Observatory show Mars has an atmosphere at least 60 miles deep. Spectroscopic analysis by Adams, St. John and Dunham of Mount Wilson show it contains only 3 per cent as much water and less than 1 per cent as much oxygen as our air. Thermoelectric measurements at Lowell and Mount Wilson indicate the midday temperature in the tropics is probably around 50 degrees Fahrenheit while freezing temperatures must be reached shortly after sunset.

PRIZE DESIGN

Pictured above is a small house plan which leading technicians have pronounced most logical from the standpoint of minimum size, maximum value and use. The basic plan, minus garage, is absolutely square, 25 ft. x 25 ft., and was designed to be built for less than $2,300.
