Early History of Clarkston

Given by Miss Ada Scrace at the Literary Club Meeting on Tuesday

[Written by Miss Scrace using excerpts from articles written by Lee M. Clark and the late Mrs. John Hammond for the Clarkston School Year Book of 1924.]

The history of Clarkston village dates from 1831 when Butler Holcomb, grandfather of our present Butler Holcomb, took up government owned land including what is now Clarkston's corporate area.

The village is beautifully located at the head of many small lakes and on the Clinton River, the latter dividing the village into two unequal parts. The river afforded water-power and in 1833 Butler Holcomb built a saw-mill on the old mill site, its water being delivered through a ditch one-half mile long and running along the east side of our present mill-pond, from the lowlands above. This sawmill was the first business interest of the village.

In 1837 two brothers, Jeremiah and Nelson W. Clark came into the then sparse community and besides taking extensive land interests hereabouts, they became intensively active in the formation of the village proper. In 1838 they purchased the saw-mill from Mr. Holcomb and immediately began improvements by constructing the present mill-dam and in 1839 built the flour-mill which was torn down about twenty years ago. The still existing water-power and mill site was sold to Henry Ford whom the villagers expected would create some commercial development, but for some reason, possibly the fear of high taxes, he donated the site to the village.

The first general store in the village was established in 1838 by two who were active in business for many years. The second general store was who was previously mentioned, on pioneer no lineage remained active in the development of the village. Of the Jeremiah Clark before mentioned, resident lineage follows: son, Milton H. Clark who in 1844 established the the corner of Main and Washington Streets, and which he conducted for 40 years; grandson, E. M. Clark who conducted the bronze factory on South Main Street; great grandson, Lee M. Clark, present treasurer of the school board; a great, great grandson, Milton Hadley Clark of Detroit who has the great, great, great grandson, Milton Robert Clark.

In 1845 Doctors Abbey and Robinson opened the drug business in a store located on the site of the present Masonic Temple. Dr. Robinson was accidently shot by a fellow hunter. Dr. Abbey continued his practice for 28 years or until his death in 1873. The late Blanchard Abbey was his son. In 1871 Dr. Josephus Goodenough began practice here, followed in 1880 by Dr. C. G. Robertson, in 1890 by Dr. Lewis Hammond and in 1892 by Dr. C. J. Sutherland.

The village became incorporated in 1879.

The Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad, now the Grand Trunk R. R., two miles from the village was first constructed through the township in 1851 and served the village for mail, express and freight service. Territorinaw Turnpike, now known as US-10 or Dixie Highway was built through

On Wednesday afternoon the Ladies' Aid of the Clarkston Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Iva Miller. There were about twenty-five present.

One of the main items of business was the planning of a turkey dinner to be served at the Church on Saturday evening, November 11th, starting at 5:00 o'clock. The purchasing of an electric percolator and a steam table was discussed and it was partially decided to have the percolator installed in time for the turkey dinner. The steam table will have to be bought some time in the future. Mrs. Iva Miller was appointed to have charge of the kitchen for the dinner and Mrs. Arnold Mann the dining-

Light refreshments were served. Mrs. August Doebler, Mrs. Albert Lawson and Mrs. Agnes Beardsley assisted Mrs. Miller.

The Campbell-Richmond Post of the American Legion met on Wednesday night and completed plans for the annual Armistice Dance next Friday evening.

For Homemakers

Three "do not" bits of advice are offered Michigan housewives who are or will be washing woolen articles. Don't use a washing machine.

Don't use hot water. Don't rub or wring.

Laundering wool, says Mrs. Lois Hays, instructor in institutional management at Michigan State College, is not a difficult job, but the nature of the matrial requires special treatment. A washing temperature of 90 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit is safe, Mrs. Hays contends, but in order to reduce mechanical action on wool the washing procedure should be as brief as
