CLARKSTON, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1939

"Telephone Night" Is Well Attended

Over four hundred and fifty residents of Clarkston and vicinity attended the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's exhibit of equipment, in the school auditorium on Friday evening.

Many came early to inspect the exhibits which were lined up on both sides of the auditorium and across the front. While waiting for the program, all were entertained by the Clarkston School Band under the able direction of Orlo J. Willoughby. As usual Clarkston had a right to feel proud of its musical organization.

Superintendent of schools D. M. Winn, in introducing Walter B. Fausser, Manager of this area, mentioned that the company was a good asset to this state, in that its interest extended even beyond its own line and was used in the public interest. Mr. Winn recalled the fact that by the "Bell" company paying its taxes to the state weeks ahead of time it was possible to keep the public schools of the state open for a full term, when otherwise most of the schools would have had to close early in the spring months of last year.

Mr. Fausser in his opening remarks stated that when the fire in the old exchange in Clarkston had made new equipment necessary, a dial system was installed at once and in fact so quickly was this work performed that it was not possible to explain to the subscribers how everything worked. To better acquaint the public with what the Michigan Bell could do for them, this get-acquainted night was planned. Incidentally this was the first exhibition of its kind in this state, and its success, will probably make it a forerunner of other telephone nights in the other communities.

Mr. Fausser said that he and his co-workers appreciated the increase in installations, totalling 50, in this district in the past year. In fact most of the new ones had been installed since the dial system went into effect.

Acting as master of ceremonies, Mr. Fausser explained the dial system as it is in operation in Clarkston. An "Exchange" had been installed in the auditorium and calls were completed and explained. Many found occasion to inspect this exchange more closely after the program.

One of the operators, Mrs. Roy Crigor, who answers the "Operator" signal was interviewed. It was interesting to learn that calls for assistance in getting numbers were decreasing, and that there had been only 5 repairs necessary during the last month. Mr. Bailey, repair man stated that his time was used more for new installations.

Mr. T. M. Pegram, general information manager of Detroit was then introduced and gave a very interesting talk, most of which was sent over the public address system, with the microphone about the size of a half-dollar worn under his neck-tie. Perhaps the most interesting of his exhibits was an amplifying tube used in increasing the voice so that it could be heard across the country. In this respect, it might be well to mention that the much larger tube which is used in sending, the voice across the oceans was on display. The artificial voice, an instrument which can take the place of the human voice was perhaps something unheard of by most of the audience.

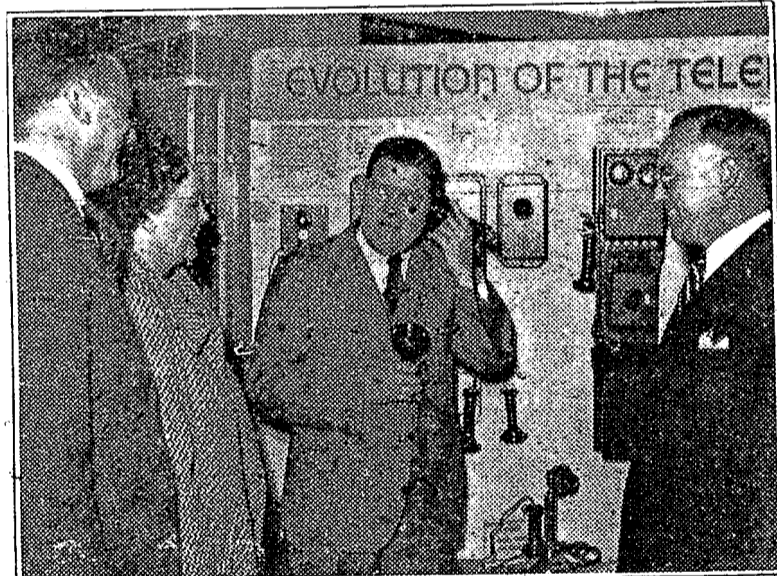

The voice mirror, similar to that used at the San Francisco and New York fairs, attracted much attention, and brought many signs of surprise and disgust from many who were heard to exclaim, "Do I sound like that?" The oscillograph which showed the vibrations of one's voice also attracted much attention.

cable used across the Straits of Mackinac brought a number of questions from the onlookers. It was interesting to this reporter to learn that should a break appear in one of these cables that regardless of the length of the cable the break can be located within two hundred feet of the break.

Motion pictures were shown in two sections. The first film gave views of the many countries where telephone service is available. The second film presented the story of the hurricane which visited the Atlantic States last year, killing many, and wrecking much property including communication lines. The manner in which repairs were made not only by the company lines of those States but with crews of visiting States including Michigan made one realize that our necessary telephone system is not only state wide but nation wide.

Following the pictures, Mr. Fausser played the O'Dell Drug Store and when Gerald O'Dell answered his voice was amplified so that it could be heard all over the auditorium. This is the instrument used when one desires to talk to a home gathering, and for sales conventions in different cities.

Besides those who have been mentioned there were several other members of the Michigan Bell staff present and some were introduced. There were several from Saginaw, Flint, Detroit and Pontiac. Among them were J. T. Shaefer of Detroit, assistant to the president of the Company; W. E. Shane, superintendent of the Saginaw division of which this area is a part; H. J. Wettlaufer,

A True Life Story Of Two Red Hens Native of Clarkston

In a nest of straw in a crate some chicks were hatched in the F. E. Davies garage during the summer of 1938. Where this crate had stood the brooding mother hen warmed her tiny flock, and when they grew strong and big a low perch was placed just above this spot for roosting.

Of the original nine chicks, three hens were spared the ax, and grew into productive pets. A stray dog dined on one hen, and then there were only two.

From their low perch in the garage it was only a step to the front bumper of the car, a step which they took occasionally. This they did on the night of November 14, 1939, and when the car was backed out and driven to school two chickens went head first for a ride, unseen except by one boy on a bicycle two blocks from destination. He hurried after the car, to apprise the driver of this irregularity and was mystified to find only one hen had arrived; she was gently lifted into the car. Diligent search by flashlight failed to divulge the whereabouts of sister chicken, and daylight revealed no clue.

So a general alarm was spread at school, and at noon on November 15 the keen perception of several young girls located frightened, unharmed Mrs. Red Hen concealed under bushes in a ditch. She was promptly rescued and gently carried to the school, then driven to the Davies home, where she was joined by her perturbed sister hen. Her joy was proclaimed by enthusiastically cackling on the owner's doorstep. And now everyone is happy, and very grateful to all who helped to restore tranquility to the Davies domicile.

J. T. Shaefer, Assistant to the President of the Company, and Mrs. Shaefer, of Detroit, on the left and Mrs. Stamp and W. H. Stamp, Publisher of the Clarkston News, inspecting a telephone directory for overseas, as Mrs. Roy Crigor, Pontiac operator for the Clarkston exchange, explains how overseas calls are completed.

Thanksgiving

We've gathered in our ruddy fruits with summer at their core
And garnered all our sunburnt corn and reaped our yellow grain;
The orchard leaves are lying light, the broken stubble's copper-bright,
The meadow lands are misty, now, where treasure hoard has lain.
For this our thanks! And more than this, for strength that broke the cold,
That drove the stubborn plowshare on and held the furrow true,
For will to labor soon and late, for patience that could watch and wait
And take new courage with the dawn—for these thanksgiving too.

The seasons come, the seasons go; spring turns and autumn wanes;
Children of change, we venture on along the shifting years
And give to earth our cherished grain, believing it shall live again.
And trust our little homing star among the scattered spheres.
For faith that sights the harvest hour beyond the barren waste,
That fears not for the hidden seed whatever tempest fall,
That lifts a steadfast hope above the dust of death and follows Love—
For this, O Lord of life, we make thanksgiving most of all!

WXYZ's Increased Power Dedicated November 23

WXYZ's new 5,000 watt transmitter will be officially placed on the air Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 23, it is announced by H. Allen Campbell, general manager of the Detroit.

The new increase in power from 1,000 watts, will greatly extend the broadcasting radius of the station and in the intensity of the signal throughout the area, with benefit to both the listeners of Southern Michigan and the station's advertisers.

Dedication of the new transmitter is to be preceded by an extensive advertising and publicity campaign, calling attention to the new service from the standpoint of the listener and the advertiser. Mediums to be used in this campaign will include movie trailers in 26 theaters, placards inside and outside of buses and street cars, 62 billboard thruout the metropolitan area of Detroit, full page advertisements in all Detroit Newspapers, advertisements in various trade magazines, direct mail to members of women's clubs, churches, schools and business clubs and organizations, advertisements in neighborhood and suburban newspapers, door-to-door broadsides numbering 300,000 and special radio announcements.

In addition, the National Broadcasting System will devote its popular "Club Matinee" program to WXYZ the afternoon of the dedication.

The station was granted an increase from 1,000 watts several months ago by the Federal Communications Commission, and since that time a new transmitter building and tower has been in the process of construction on an eighteen acre plot, located at Joy Road and Greenfield Road, six miles from the WXYZ studios, which are located in the Maccahoes Building.

The new transmitter, building, tower and plot are estimated to have cost approximately $100,000. The transmitter is made by RCA, and the tower is a Blaw-Knox vertical 360 feet in height. It will be neoned and may be seen for miles in every direction.

The transmitter building, in addition to the regular broadcasting facilities, such as transmitter and power rooms, reception room and work-rooms, also contains a large garage, and a complete four room apartment to be used by the caretaker for the premises. The building is of modern design, forming an L. at the front, facing both highways.

Chicago Stock Show To Set New Records

Forecasts that the 40th International Live Stock Exposition would be the biggest edition ever held have been realized, B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the show announced.

A final tabulation of entries for the purebred classes of this world's largest annual agricultural exposition reveals new records for number in 17 of the 30 breeds that will be exhibited. The show will be held in the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards December 2 to 9.

"Cattle breeders will contribute the largest showing of purebred animals and choice baby heaves in the history of the exposition," its veteran manager declares, asserting that Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, and Short-horns, the three breeds that supply the bulk of the world's best beef, will be displayed in peak numbers this year.

The Argentine cattle judge, J. Gordon-Davis, of Buenos Aires, who will pick the prize winners in the Hereford classes, will make his selections from the largest showing of this breed ever staged in Chicago. According to the management, the entry of white-faced cattle is 95 per cent larger than it was in 1938.

Aberdeen-Angus cattle will also set an all-time high, with an entry increase of 23 per cent over their previous peak show, held here in 1934, and Shorthorn cattle numbers have increased by 12 per cent over any past showing of this breed.

Purebred sheep breeders from the western range, as well as from the farm flock states of the midwest and east, will send over a thousand animals, representing the eleven breeds that yield most of the country's lamb and wool. Increases of entry are also reported in seven breeds of sheep; and about the same number of purebred draft horses and swine will be shown as a year ago.

A further all-time record is announced in the exposition's 24th annual Junior Live Stock Feeding Contest. The registry for this event lists 401 boys and girls from 13 states who will show 570 head of horses, lambs and pigs, a huge increase in both exhibitors and exhibits over any past year.

A Lecture on Christian Science
Entitled Christian Science: Its Healing Principle
 By Dr. Walton Hubbard, C. E. B. of Los Angeles, California
 Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts
 Christian Science, the Science of Christianity, is rightly named. Its teachings explain the divine Principle of this Science, just as the teachings of mathematics explain the principle of numbers. Further than that, rules are provided for the application of Christian Science, so that it may be practiced, just as the science of numbers has rules for its application, for its practice. Moreover, the results which follow the practice of Christian Science—the healing of sickness, the destruction of sin, the setting aside of material law—prove it to be Science, and prove its Principle to be the Supreme Being, omnipresent and omnipotent good.

 It is evident, then, that if we are to get these results, the important thing for us to do is to make every effort to widen our concept of the true nature of God—to understand the healing and saving Principle. This may best be done by studying what others who knew God have said of Him, and by contemplating the divine nature—by earnestly seeking to know Him.
 Students of Christian Science very soon discover that Mary Baker Eddy had a profound understanding of God. They also find that because of this understanding she has revealed Jesus' teachings to us in a new light—that of the Christian Science which he taught.
 Above the changing beliefs concerning health and harmony, individual living, and human government, the law of God remains unchanged. The Principle of Christian Science declared by Jesus is again made available to us. This spiritual understanding comes into human consciousness when we dwell upon the nature of God and recognize the perfection of His children. To understand Christian Science necessitates studying it. Yet the moment this study is begun it is possible to begin applying it.

ate Thanksgiving Decorations.

In Mrs. Morton's room the 5th graders have decorated the back board of their room with a drawing done in colored chalk representing the original Thanksgiving story. Around the room is an attractive border of leafmen done in harmonizing colors. In the book contest it looks as if the Pumpkins will win. The score is 42 to 39 and remember—the losing side has to furnish the Thanksgiving treat.

Mrs. Vliet's room Our books have arrived from the State Library, and after making cards for them it did not take long to put them into circulation. Arlene Farnsworth is our librarian.

A group of eight boys and girls have enjoyed painting a Thanksgiving scene on the back board.

Franklin Blain won our November spellover.

The Sixth grade presented their original Thanksgiving play, THIS DAY GIVE THANKS, to a group of children from other grades on Wednesday afternoon. Every child in the room took part in the play or in some activity connected with it, so it was one hundred percent a class affair.

SENIOR PLAY

The Seniors are hard at work on Barrie's delightful comedy "The Admirable Crichton" which they will present on December first. Needless to say they are struggling with many problems, one of the most perplexing being that of converting the stage of the auditorium into a desert isle where an English family of the upper class might quite properly be shipwrecked. Then, although this same family had two years to accomplish this same feat, the Seniors have but two weeks to build on the same stage a hut which an English family might properly build after having become convinced that this island is to be their happy home. However, all these problems are being successfully surmounted, and the cast is rehearsing in order that they may properly present this most interesting play in such a manner that all of its delightful Barrie quality may be preserved.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS

This year we are enlarging our Student Council to ten members. We are also nominating our candidates by petition for the first time. We hope in this way to have a more truly representative group nominated. Petitions may be requested on Monday; prospective candidates will be posted on Tuesday; and the signed petition filed by Wednesday night.

On the following week we shall have a real campaign with speeches by the office-seekers, button-holing by their earnest supporters, promises, and perhaps bribes. Watch for the fireworks, folks. This may be an off-election year, but politics is being practiced at Clarkston High School.

HIGH SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

On Friday, November 17, the students of Clarkston High School had an assembly for the sole purpose of explaining the new system of nominating student council members—by petitions signed by 45 high school students. The committee in charge of the nominations are Owen, Payne, Jeanette Viet and Irene Walz. Owen Payne addressed the assembly and explained the new principle to the student body.

HOLLY THEATRE

The eternal triangle is analyzed, re-furnished and re-assembled in a sparkling, stimulating guise in "In Name Only," which will be the Holly Theatre's new attraction for Wednesday and Thursday.

"In Name Only" is particularly notable for its stellar cast, which includes Carole Lombard, Cary Grant and Kay Francis, an unmatched aggregation of talent this season. Their roles in this stirring dramatic entertainment are a startling departure from their recent characterizations, but reminiscent of their early, fame-winning portrayals. Miss Francis and Grant are cast as an unhappily wedded pair, she a money-hungry socialite who married Grant only for the luxurious life his wealth could afford her. When Carole comes into Grant's life, he falls completely in love with her. A charming and lovely young widow, with a five-year-old daughter whom she supports working as a fashion artist, Carole reciprocates but tries to sacrifice her newly found love when she learns that Grant is married.

However, Grant, loveless through the years, now comes to a showdown with Kay; he wants his freedom. She agrees to go to Paris with his parents while he and Carole eagerly plan their future. Soon, though Kay returns—without a decree; and with usual cunning informs the distraught pair that she will never release Grant, whom she married solely to enslave.

The impasse comes as a shock to Carole and Grant. When she sends him away Grant goes on a spree which lands him into a hospital with a critical case of pneumonia. Here a fateful turn of events mounts the story to a pulsating climax.

Carole Lombard as the "other woman," Cary Grant as the harassed and bewildered husband, Kay Francis in an especially difficult role—all are at their best for "In Name Only." In the supporting cast are the distinguished players Charles Coburn, Helen Vinson, Katharine Alexander, Jonathan Hale and Maurice Moscovitch.

Breeding Rules Milk Fat Level

Cows may not be the "ornery" critters portrayed by the man who picks up the overturned milk pail, yet they do continue to hold the secret of how and why they put definite butterfat percentages in their individual milk outputs.

Research at Michigan State College has failed, as in other states, to find feeds that can increase systematically and efficiently the fat percentage, admits C. F. Huffman, associate professor of dairy husbandry.

The surest way to improve the fat test is by selection and breeding, he says, suggesting the use of a sire with proven ability to transmit high fat tests and also the feeding of an adequate ration so that the cow calves in good physical condition.

At Michigan State College the staff tried adding soybean oil to a ration very low in fat. This resulted in one series of tests in a marked increase in milk fat but this lasted but a short time.

"As a matter of fact," says Dr. Huffman, "it is easy to lower the per cent of fat in milk. When cows are fed a few ounces of cod liver oil the test goes into a nose dive."

Twenty-five years ago some Danish workers at the University of Copenhagen showed that a heavy feeding of a mixture of coconut meal and palm meal increased the per cent of fat in milk over a long period. American investigators failed to show consistent results when these same feeds were added to typical American dairy rations. The Danish results, says Dr. Huffman, probably were due to the basal ration used in that country.
