HOLLY THEATRE

One of the most memorable ronances ever written for the stage, Robert E. Sherwood's "Waterloo Bridge" has been made into a timely and tender love story, starring Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor, and coming Sunday to the Holly Theatre for an engagement of two days.

With its vital and exciting backtertained at a birthday dinner for her ground of London of the war years, son Billie and Joseph Kelly last Fri- 1917 and 1940, the story is woven day night. The table decorations were around a ballet dancer and an arispink and white with a lovely birthday tocratic young British officer, who cake in the center of the table. With meet on historic Waterloo Bridge more beauty spots that would be a the boys' birthdays only two days during an air raid and seek shelter apart a lovely evening was spent to- in the Waterloo underground. They gether. Mrs. Edward Kelly and Mrs. realize that they are in love almost at first sight and their whirlwind Has anyone seen the beautiful courtship is telescoped into twentydahlia that is in full bloom at the four happy hours. But before they Charles C. Drake home on Sashabaw can be married he is called back to Road? It is called the Detroiter and the front. Later she reads his name is a bright scarlet. This flower is among the dead and life fails to hold anything for her. Their almost miraculous reunion at Waterloo Station, when he returns after being held in members of the Pontiac Archery Club a prison camp, brings their romance dramatically to a climax. Miss Leigh is the most talked of actress on the screen today as the rethe proper way of shooting. Each sult of her Academy Award performmember received individual instruc- ance of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone with the Wind." People have naturally asked, "After Scarlett, what?" The answer is, "Waterloo Bridge." No roles could be further apart than Scarlett and the little ballet dancer, Myra, whom Miss Leigh plays in her new film. They have only one thing in common-magnificent acting opportunities which reveal further Miss Leigh's amazing versatility.

In Roy Cronin, the young officer, Taylor has been given the most mature and dynamically virile characterization of his career. He undergoes an age transition from a man of twenty-five to forty-eight, giving him greater scope than in any role he has ever portrayed on the screen.

As the outstanding romantic team of 1940, Miss Leigh and Taylor are ably supported by such well-known featured players as Lucile Watson, Virginia Field, Maria Ouspenskaya and C. Aubrey Smith.

Mervyn LeRoy, who gave the screen "The Wizard of Oz," directed the picture, brought to the screen by Sidney Franklin, who won renown the Clarkston Rotary will meet at with his direction of such hits as "The
