Wind Does Damage In Clarkston Section

Windmill Falls After Standing Dr. Robert S. Breakey Will Be For Over 75 Years

The high wind that swept Michigan on Monday night by no means missed this sectoin of Oakland County. There were a great many folks sat by their firesides in a nervous condition just waiting for something dreadful to happen. Many families north of town were without electricity and some farmers out Orion Road had to resort to their old lanterns to do their evening chores. Trees all along the highways were stripped of the dead branches and very often made driving hazardous. The old windmill on the J. Thompson Miller property just south of town that has stood there for over three quarters of a century toppled to the ground and just missed hitting the corner of the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown. As each gust of wind got stronger Mr. and Mrs. Brown saw the structure swaying and he decided to get help and maybe get it anchored or at least get it fixed so that when it did fall it would fall away from the house. However while Mr. Brown was gone the damage was done and luckily missed the building by a few inches. This same gust of wind that sounded as though it would wreck everything shattered the plate glass window in the H&H restaurant, one of the front windows in the Seeterlin brothers building on Church Street and one of the large windows in the Coffman and Graves Gulf Station at the corner of US-10 and M-15. On C. H. Soulby. account of the strong wind one of the Clarkston Rotarians will have to purchase a new hat. When he left his car to go to dinner at Les Porter's on the Dixie he had quite a problem to solve. He had to grab his car door to keep it from being smashed and at the same time dive for his hat which had a fairly good start towards the wide open spaces. He decided to save the car door and let the hat go. A light pole beside the Waterford Farm Supply office in Waterford had to be propped to stop it from falling on the office building. Work at Foley and Beardslee gravel pit had to be halted on Tuesday to take care of re-

Price-Ash Vows Spoken Saturday

Young Couple Will Reside in Clarkston

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Price in Corunna was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 when their daughter. Beatrice, became the bride of Durward Ash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ash of Clarkston. Rev. W. Harold Pailthorp, Pastor of the Clarkston Methodist Church, officiated.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar of white mums. White wedding bells were suspended over the bride and groom.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was charming in a gown of white satin with brief train, low neckline, fitted bodice and short puffed sleeves. She wore a shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of large white mums and yellow baby mums. Her only attendant was Miss Betty Ash of Clarkston, sister of the groom, who wore a floor length gown of pale yellow organza. She carried a bouquet similar to the bride's.

Mr. George Price, brother of the bride, assisted Mr. Ash.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for about twenty friends and relatives. The refreshment table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake flanked by white candles in crystal holders.

The young couple left for a weekend in the north and will return to spend a week in the north during the hurting season. They will reside in Clarkston.

The program opened with the Invocation by Rev. W. Harold Pailthorp. Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Willoughby sang two pretty numbers accompanied by Mrs. Harold Pailthorp. The installing officers, Mrs. Joy Freeman of Holly, Worthy Matron, Mrs. Harold Cole of Holly, installing marshal, Mrs. Van Riper of Holly, chaplain and Mrs. Ethel Voorheis of Pontiac, organist, were introduced. The officers being installed each wore a corsage of baby mums.

The ceremony was very impressive and during the service Mrs. Louis F. Walter sang a very pretty number. Mrs. Bert Beebe the junior past matron said a few words and thanked the officers that had worked with her during the last year. They presented Mrs. Beebe with a fireside chair. Mrs. Emily Beardslee thanked the members for bestowing the honor of the high office of worthy matron upon the members during her term of office. The chapter presented Mrs. Beardslee, Mrs. Beebe and Mrs. Marion Terry, associate matron, with baskets of mums. Shirley and Norma Terry made the presentations.

Boasting eight torrid songs, a 3,000 mile whirlwind romance, a sensational new star, as well as two of the biggest names in movies, the greatest musical extravaganza of all time opens Sunday at the Holly Theatre. Ten months in production, 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor "Diwn Argentine Way" was conceived on a lavish scale far surpassing that studio's widely acclaimed "Alexander's Ragtime Band". Don Ameche and Betty Grable are paired in this latest picture, while the sultry Carmen Miranda makes her screen debut, singing four of the distinctive songs that have made her famous on two continents.

In the planning and filming of 'Down Argentine Way" many precedents were smashed and astounding studio records were set. Geared to meet the most exacting entertainment taste, "Down Argentine Way" out-distanced all other productions both in amount of time taken to com-Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wolfe visited plete and in distance covered. In the ten months of shooting location companies covered approximately 35,000 miles by plane, train and automobile. A special crew was dispatched to Buenos Aires, where most of the film's action is set, for exterior and atmospheric shots. The crew returned to Hollywood with some 20,000 feet of Technicolor film.

But that was just the beginning. for another group of technicians flew to New York to spend five weeks photographing sultry Carmen Miranda, the "Brazilian Bombshell" who cataspent the past several days visiting pulted to fame with her torrid renditions of South American songs in the Broadway production, Streets of Paris".

Carmen Miranda, incidentally, boasts the distinction of being the Mrs. Grace Gray and son, Robert only celebrity in recent years to appear in a lavish screen production without stepping foot in Hollywood. This was necessary because of previous commitments in New York which made it impossible for her to travel to the film capitol.

Four of the eight songs in "Down Argentine Way" were composed by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren. These include "Two Dreams Met", "Down Argentine Way", "Nenita" and "Sing to Your Senorita".

They are matched in brilliance only by the songs which the incomparable Miranda renders: "South American Way", "Bambu", "Mamae Eu Quero" and "Touradas Em Madrid."

Irving Cummings directed the huge cast which includes Charlotte Greenwood, Henry Stephenson, J. Carrol Naish, Katharine Aldridge, Leonid Kinskey and Chris-Pin Martin. The picture was produced by Harry Joe Brown. Darrell Warer and Karl Tunberg wrote the screen play.

Bride's Father Marries Pair by Phone

Miss Ethel Macrea and Roy McNell, in McAllen, Tex., wished to have her father, an Elder in the Church of the Latter-day Saints, unite them in marriage. But he was in Warrensburg, Mo. Telephone wires bridged the distance easily, however, and the ceremony was performed. The circult was even arranged to include relatives in Washington, D. C., who listened to the service and congratulated the couple. After the wedding by telephone, Mr. and Mrs. McNell repeated their vows before a Justice of the Peace. They are here shown listening at the instruments by means of which her father's voice united them.

TELEPHONES FIRST USED IN PHILADELPHIA IN 1877

George W. Russell became Philadelphia's first telephone customer on November 1, 1877. This was before the commercial telephone switchboard had been developed, and telephones were leased in pairs for use between two points only.

Thomas E. Cornish, who had a burglar alarm and signal bell business in Philadelphia, had obtained permission to introduce the telephone commercially in 1877, and immediately set out to obtain customers. His first was Mr. Russell, who had a line which connected his home on North Sixth Street with his place of business at 722 Chestnut Street.

It was not until 1878 that a switchboard was installed in Philadelphia. Subscribers were few at first; but as telephone engineers made progress and transmission improved, the service was extended. In 1879 Philadelphia and Camden were linked by telephone, and in 1886 the last pole was set on a line from New York to Philadelphia. Today, there are nearly 400,000 Bell telephones in Philadelphia.

This feature was inaugurated with the Novvember issue which carried on the front cover the picture of America's outstanding driver of high school Teachers, librarians, parents and eaders of boys groups recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that, as a general rule, boys who read The American Boy regularly advance more rapidly than boys who do not read it. Through the leadership and sportsmanship of its fiction characters, boys are imbued with a desire to become leaders, to develop the hgh ideals and courage the heroes themselves display.

Jimmie Wallington, very cer and her accomplished troupe. Even to western eyes this ballet pre sented interest and color. The Balinese temple dances; pantomimic Hollywood making for the beaches at love dances, done impersonally; and every possible spare moment, to eneven a jungle dance which would the American Association of Motor have been acceptable as part of a Vehicle Administrators, Mr. Kelly motion picture, were spell-binding. Costuming was gorgeous; the dancers wore rich silks, heavy gold brocaded fabrics, metallic fringes. and. in some allegorical dances, symbolic masks. Tre movements of these oriental dances are highly stylized; the watcher has the feeling that the dancers have been trained from early provement of license plate issuing. childhood. Indeed there was one One plan being considered is for a small boy in the troupe who could not have been over ten. He ably took owner buying plates at the beginning part in the Sumatran plate rhythm of the license year would pay the full dance in which the pace was set by fee, but one, for instance, buying the clicking of long fingernails against plates balanced flat on the only nine months. Another plan that palm of the hand. He grinned and beamed and had himself a grand the license year begin June 1, instead time. Lighting was simple and very effective, as befitted the simply unsophistication of the performers. La Conga!

Rhumba and tango and conga converts flock to Club Zarape on Sunset Boulevard, upstairs over a fruit market. This Club is patronized about equally by Mexicans and Americans who like Lee Rojo and his music. At intervals during the evening, the drum-beat quickens and everyone cries, "La Conga"! Dancers are herded into a long line, called the Serpentine, for this, and it is a sort of "Follow the Leader" to insinuating music consisting mainly of wickedly defined drum-beats. The dance team appearing at the Zarape now belongs to the illustrious Cansino family of Spanish dancers. Carmenita and Gabriellen, of the third generation. Their predecessors were Carla and Fernando, who recently gave a dance concert at the Philharmonic Auditorium to wild acclaim.
