RAINS WRECK COFFERDAM AND DRAIN CLARKSTON'S CENTURY OLD MILLPOND

The above picture shows the flood of water just after the dam had burst. Note the four rows of concrete piers. The eighth pier was broken off and washed down into flooded area. Three minutes before this picture a man was out on the bank ten feet beyond the hanging electric light pole. Note also the mill pond in the background. News photo by Bud Yoh.

This picture gives some idea of what Depot road looked like as the water rushed over it. News photo by Bud Yoh.

This picture will give you an idea of how the flood of water widened the temporary cut into a gap 60 feet wide. To get an idea of the depth of the cut compare the height of the spectators standing on the banks. In the distance you can see the home of Village President Howard W. Huttenlocher and the home under construction of Garald O'Dell, proprietor of O'Dell's Drug Store. Photo by courtesy of the Pontiac Daily Press.

The mill pond, a body of water made possible by a dam built on West Washington Street in 1838, is today just a valley with a narrow stream flowing through it and a number of stumps sticking out of the ground.

In the course of preparing to build a Ford factory in Clarkston, the pond had been lowered a few feet, a temporary cut in the dam had been made and a coffer dam had been built in the pond to protect the construction work. Friday, Saturday and Sunday were very rainy and the water in the pond rose until it flowed over the coffer dam and finally, about four o'clock Sunday afternoon the pressure became so great that the coffer dam gave way and the water rushed through.

So great was the force of this water that it cut a gap in the dam nearly 60 feet wide and washed out a steel and cement pier of the construction work. The water in the pond dropped better than a foot a minute until the water had gone down about fifteen feet. Then while the speed slowed down the pond continued to drain until as we go to press there is just a small stream flowing through the old mill pond.

The coffer dam consisted of two walls about four or five feet apart, filled with sand but part of this was torn away and the rest of the wall was pushed toward the south.

As soon as the Ford watchman saw that the dam was breaking, he promptly saw that the Depot Road from Holcomb to Main St. was closed to traffic, which turned out to be a very wise precaution as the water was flowing over the road a few minutes afterwards.

As word got around that the dam had broken a crowd began to assemble and traffic on Main Street resembled a busy Saturday evening with everyone in town. Again the Ford watchman was busy keeping the curious from getting too near the edge of the banks, which were breaking and falling into the roaring waters.

About ten feet from the edge of the temporary cut was an Edison Company pole and as a News reporter approached he heard G. A. Walter calling to a man on the edge of the cut to come back before the ground gave away. Five minutes later the cut was so wide that wires the pole was supporting were the only support of the pole. . . . a strange sight . . . a regular size light pole hanging from light wires.

In the course of the construction work a road of heavy planks probably 10 feet long and a foot wide by four or six inches thick had been placed on either side of the runway from the dam to Depot Road. The flood waters floated these planks across Depot Road like so many toothpicks.

As the waters were at their height, some fear was expressed that the motor crane used for dredging which was on the bank near the edge might topple over but this damage was averted.

Damage to the construction work might rather be termed an advantage because although the Company had taken what they considered and what would have been necessary precautions to build the factory and still keep some water in the pond, the necessity of working under that handicap was removed by the break caused by unexpected intensity of the storms over the week-end.

The hollow between Washington and Depot road as well as the Clinton river looked like lakes at the time of the break but by Monday morning were back to normal.

To those sons of Isaac Walton who are interested we have yet to hear of anyone getting any fish.

Fire chief Hubbell reports that a pump has been placed to get water for fire protection on Holcomb Street and that another pump will be placed shortly but cautions everyone to be very careful as a fire at this time might be very dangerous.

It is understood that the mill pond will be cleaned before being filled again.

Passing of the Dam

The sparkling waters in the pond "A gorgeous sight to look upon", For countless souls like me who found This beauty spot in our home town.

But I find now that it appears That generations thru the years, For magic eyes had often wished As they sat on the pond and fished.

They weren't content with waves that rolled

But howed as how there must be gold, And things of value by the score Reposing on its murky floor.

Now Mother Nature, man's best friend,

Had heard these longings, "time no end,

So thunder roared and rain came down

And filled the pond in our home town.

Great bulwarks planned by human brains

Could not withstand such furious rains,

That nature hurled at works of man

And so the passing of the dam.

Now people come from far and near

And stood in line so they could peer,

Without the aid of magic eye

Upon the pond with bottom dry.

Instead of riches from a dream

Were buggy wheels from Hallowe'en,

A stove, some stumps, a broken dish,

Some mud and filth and grubby fish.

Just when and if there comes a time

The waves slosh on high water line,

I think we all will be content

To view the surface as was meant.

Junior Class Presents Play

Before a good attendance, troupers of the Junior Class of the Clarkston High School presented "It's Great to Be Crazy" last Friday night. The cast was well chosen and did its work in a very pleasing manner.

The high school orchestra furnished the music. During the intermission between the first and second act, to the music of the orchestra, Mary Edgar sang and Inez Mae Miller gave a dance interpretation. Between the second and third acts, Stanley Perrin gave a violin solo and encore. He was accompanied by Mrs. Perrin. Lewis Benfield gave a trombone solo and Norma Davison gave a saxophone solo. The last two were accompanied by Betty Ash.

Engagement to Be Announced Saturday

Mrs. Roy Spencer will attend a tea at the home of Mrs. Frederick Sutherland in Big Rapids on Saturday afternoon, which is being given to announce the engagement of Mrs. Sutherland's niece, Miss Betty Jean Winn to Mr. Stanley Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Spencer of Clarkston. The wedding will be an event of June 21.

Local Lad Plays At Music Festival

Clarkston has the right to be proud of some of its young musicians. Last Friday Mr. Orlo Willoughby, music instructor at the Clarkston School, accompanied Stanley Perrin to Lansing.

Stanley took part in the National High School Music Festival. He played a violin solo and received an "A" rating for memory and good on rhythm. The players were divided into five grades and Stanley was placed in 3rd. His standing was exceptionally good and he should feel greatly encouraged.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beattie entertained on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lambertson and Mrs. Ida Beattie. Cards were the diversion of the evening after which refreshments were served.

Citizens League Will Hold Discussion

Wolfanger, Extension Specialist in Land Use; Herbert A. Berg, Extension Leader; and E. C. Sackrider, State Co-ordinator for Soil Conservation Service, all from East Lansing.

Mr. Booth states that people of Oakland County could be better informed about the attitude of Government in its approach to these problems. This meeting will provide an opportunity to learn what these movements are all about from those who have first hand information.

Rotary Club Represented at Ann Arbor Conference

The Clarkston Rotary Club will be represented by Mr. Ray Ainsley the delegate to the Annual District Conference which meets at Ann Arbor, Michigan from April 27 to 29. The alternate, Rev. W. Harold Pailthorp, will be present at the Conference Monday to pronounce the invocation at a meeting in the Michigan Union.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. Harold Pailthorp attended the Silver Wedding anniversary of the District Superintendent of the Flint Area, The Rev. R. M. Atkins on Friday night at the Court Street Methodist Church. This affair was also in the nature of a farewell dinner since this is the last year that the present District Superintendent will be on the Flint District.

Greetings!

To older residents, who as children played on the dam on Washington Street and to many others this issue of the News will be saved as a keepsake. Of course we can't promise more issues of a dam breaking, we just ain't got any more dams. All regular subscribers will receive their copy and there will be some extra copies. When these are gone the value of the paper will increase . . . perhaps to a dollar. . . . And why pay one dollar for one paper when you can get 52 copies of a good home paper for the same amount? Of course the advertiser gets an extra audience on such an issue. But advertising always pays in a live paper.

Mr. Robert Waters Speaks at League

The Epworth League will have its Sunday night speaker, Mr. Robert Waters of the High School at 7:00 o'clock. His theme will be on the application of modern science to human life. All interested youth should be present.

Buy War Savings Stamps

The "Minute Man" typing "America on Guard", that has been appearing as advance notice in many places, will really go to work on May 1, when the new series of postal savings stamps will go on sale at all first, second, third and fourth class post offices through out the nation.

The stamps will be in denominations of 10, 25, and 50 cents, one and five dollars, and Albums will be furnished by the Treasury Department to take care of the stamps. This was the last meeting of the year, except Achievement Day which is held in Pontiac.

Odds and Ends

For some time, a number of boys or should we say young men, who appear to be of school age, but do not attend school, have been making a nuisance of themselves and a traffic hazard of our streets. The idea is to travel Church Street from Main to the school house, circle the islands in the school drive and back again at dangerous speeds, and more dangerous stops, starts and sudden turns without regard to other traffic or more especially children going to and coming from school. During the last week one youth was arrested, fined court costs and placed on probation for six months. This should serve as a warning to the others. The News has no desire to see some local youth endure a "cooling off" period in the county jail, but it might be wise to remember that for nine days someone in Oakland County has been killed each day, in traffic, and the situation has become so critical that the county prosecutor is recommending a warrant for negligent homicide in each case. If the idea of killing someone through recklessness will not cut out this practice, perhaps the selfish thought of not desiring to spend a few years at Jackson, home of one of our State Prisons, will.

Text includes: 'Fresh eggs for a million breakfast tables are rushed daily from Michigan hen-houses - collected, graded, boxed and delivered to grocery stores in every part of the state.'

CHICKENS are kept on more than 8 out of every 10 farms in Michigan. Flocks range from a few hens up to many thousands. Producing about a billion eggs a year - 20 dozen eggs for each man, woman and child in the state - and supplying broilers, fryers and roasters as well, the poultry industry contributes $26,000,000 yearly to Michigan's farm income.

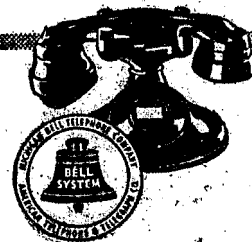

Each spring millions of baby chicks are shipped from Michigan hatcheries, by rail, truck, plane. The telephone helps guard them by directing routes and warning of bad weather.

To the farmer's wife, who very frequently cares for the flock, the telephone is a constant aid. She uses it to buy feed, to get the best prices for her eggs and chickens, or to order baby chicks from the hatchery. But even more important is the service the telephone renders in directing the flow of eggs and poultry from country to city, and helping maintain adequate supplies in every market throughout the state.

Another 'Village Industry' Opens

YPSILANTI, Mich.—A rural experiment started back in 1918 when Henry Ford established the first of his famous village industries has just passed another milestone. The Willow Run plant, shown above, was opened recently near here, becoming the 18th and newest unit in the Ford string of small "factories in a meadow."

Nation-wide attention of farm and industrial leaders has been attracted by the Ford village program. The tiny neighborhood plants are located on rural water-power sites within a 50-mile radius of the Ford parent plant at Dearborn. The industries were started by Mr. Ford to help bridge the gap between farm and factory and to demonstrate the worthwhile possibilities of industrial decentralization.

The story of the Willow Run unit is not so much its products or the part it plays in the village program, as in the young workers it employs. Producing door and ignition locks for Ford cars, the plant is manned by 35 boys. Mr. Ford established in a farm camp last summer. Most of the boys come from neighboring farms and towns.

The day's output at Willow Run, as in other village industries, represents only a small portion of the Ford Motor Company's needs for a particular item. But the advantages of such little plants to communities in which they are located, to workers, and to the company are so definite Mr. Ford has steadily increased the scope of the program. Other village industries will be added soon.
