Soldier in Camp Has Happy Memories

Bob Beattie Receives Letter From Friend at Fort Worden

Dear Bob:
It's been quite a while since I've written to you and thought I'd respond to that card at the same time. Sure glad to get it. Was a pleasant reminder of two very fine fishing trips that I took with you boys and enjoyed to the limit. Hope we'll be able to go after some more pike next year at this time. Had a very good picture of Bobbie and myself and that string of fish we caught the last time. Wanted to send him one but mother destroyed the negative so couldn't do it.

I haven't been after any salmon as yet but hope to soon. They are just beginning to run good now and some ones are being taken. Was to Port Angeles last week and out to the Fishing Club there. Saw some nice ones weighing from 40 to 60 lbs. which will be entered in the Salmon Derby. First prize a Packard automobile. Have some friends, who were formerly from Lmly City, out on Discovery Bay, a good fishing spot and hope to go there before long, to try for a thrill.

Don't believe I've ever told you how much I appreciated your sending me The Clarkston News. I get it every week on the following Monday. Surprisingly there is usually news in it of someone I know or know of, but my main interest is your contribution each week. Those poems. Always clip them out and have every one so far. Can in so many cases make a connection as to your thoughts in writing it and thus appreciate it a great deal.

Suppose things are just as busy as ever there. Have wondered whether you were successful in selling my Plymouth. Are prices on cars going to advance to a great extent as is expected at the present time? I'm still expecting to be able to use a new one, if I can still afford it.

General opinion right now seems to be that we may be kept in longer than the year if Hitler goes thru Russia. Probably will have to go to Alaska then. Seems to me that he is going to be stopped before long and it may take our help. However with the U. S. fighting so much communism in our own country I'm wondering if they will help the cause of the "Reds" in Russia.

Five months of my years was up yesterday. The time does fly by very rapidly for me.

I'm getting along just fine in the work at the signal station. Wrote the highest mark in a qualification exam so now am getting a specialist rating to add to my Private First Class. My pay then will be $51.00 per month. Sure am happy about it and never expected this would be the outcome when I began learning the routine and necessary procedure in working ships via signal lamp. It proved to me that there are plenty of opportunities even in the army if you want to take advantage of them.

Today began another War Condition period for one week and come at six week intervals. Each period becomes a little more advanced and stronger problems are presented. This time we are going to have genuine gas bombs dropped from a plane so it will be very important that we carry our gas masks at all times as we never know when it may happen.

Have had somewhat of a rainy season here the past two weeks with rain every day. Believe it is over now and we are back to our usually fine cool weather.

Suppose Ed is learning how to get a Ford back together after he has taken it apart now. Know he must feel pretty independent with a car of his own. Tell him hello and to keep everything under control.

A very hearty "hello" also to everyone else at your house, your wife, the girls and Bobbie. Think of all of you often.

Must close now and write again sometime if you should happen to have a breathing spell.

Hope this finds everyone fine and happy.

Your friend,
Raymond.

Steam Shovel Slips Into Mill Pond

On Tuesday afternoon one of the steam shovels excavating at the site of the new Ford plant slid from the large planks on which it was parked and sunk in the muck in the bottom of the mill pond. It took a second steam shovel, several trucks and a number of men about 6 hours to get the huge machine pulled on to a new road bed. It was an interesting sight to see the mud covered men and machines at work and before the task was finished a large crowd gathered to watch operations.

However she was not seriously hurt but did suffer a little from shock.

Ladies' Night Is Held at Davisburg Park

On Monday night the Clarkston Rotary Club enjoyed a ladies' night at Davisburg Park. There was a good attendance in spite of the severe storms that had drenched the community all afternoon.

A picnic supper was served at a long table in the closed pavilion and no one left the place hungry. After the meal everyone participated in group singing and visiting and a few enjoyed dancing.

Hamburgs were fried by such experts as Earl Terry, Robert Jones and Joseph Seeterlin. The affair was enjoyed to the extent that the Club plans another picnic in September.

Shortage of Nurses Exists in Hospitals

Shortage Offers Opportunity for Capable Young People

Confirming reports that a shortage of registered nurses exists in hospitals and public health nursing services of the state, Miss M. Annie Leitch, President of the Michigan State Nurses Association, speaking from the association headquarters office in Lansing last night, urged qualified, patriotic young people, with high school or college background, to meet the country's need for nurses by applying for admission to state accredited schools of nursing, and there preparing themselves for satisfying, useful service in the fields of nursing and health.

Hospitals throughout the state, Miss Leitch pointed out, have been operating at full capacity all year with hardly a bed vacant on any of the major wards. This situation has placed a heavy burden on hospital nursing staffs already depleted by calls to service in Army and Naval hospitals, industrial units and expanding public health services.

The present urgent need for nurses apparently is not a temporary one. Because of the wider use, people are making of hospitals and public health facilities, it is expected to continue long after the existing national emergency is past.

To meet the need for nurses, nursing schools able to increase their enrollments without sacrifice of standards of education are urged to admit more qualified students to their Fall classes.

A list of Michigan schools of nursing may be secured from the state nurses association, 212 Capitol Sayings & Loan Bldg., Lansing. The association will also send to young people, interested in nursing as a career, vocational information which will help them to select a good school of nursing and will tell them of the far flung opportunities for constructive service which exist for competent professional nurses.

Anticipation vs Reality

The time dates back to way last spring
When it was hard to plan a thing,
Lest it would hinder in some way
The coming of that blessed day
When I would go on my vacation,
A sacred custom of our nation.
But all along I knew right well
That we would hit a sultry spell;
That flies and ants and pesky skeeters
Pride themselves as tourist eaters,
And hunting camps and comfort stations
Have helped to ruin men's vacations.
Yet I've allowed myself to dream
Of wooded hills and pastures green,
Promised myself I'd get my wish,
And find a perfect place to fish,
And boy! it's been a grand sensation,
Just dreaming of this year's vacation.
But now as I can recollect,
Each year's the same in this respect,
In planning trips, we pushed aside
The things we know would spoil our ride.
I know this year's anticipation
Will be more fun than our vacation.

HOLLY THEATRE

The eagerly awaited showing of Frank Capra's newest production, "Meet John Doe", will begin on Sunday at the Holly Theatre. Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck are co-starred.

Columbus discovered America for Queen Isabella in 1492. And Frank Capra and Robert Riskin discovered it for Americans in 1941.

Capra and Riskin, director and writer of "Meet John Doe", have put on the screen as thrilling entertainment an incontrovertible fact that most of us have overlooked or completely forgotten; that a people or a nation are as strong as the small people of that nation want it to be.

This famed writer-director combination who took apart the Genus Americanus in such human documents as "You Can't Take It With You", "Lost Horizon" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" search deeply into the soul of our American way through the eyes of John Doe in their newest film.

Riskin's "John Doe" as played by Gary Cooper is everyman.

John Doe is the man who reaches into the return slot of a pay telephone hoping to grab a nickel someone forgot. He is also the guy who will give his last dime to a beggar on the street. He is the guy who will do anything within the law to beat a fellowman on a business deal and when he has succeeded will take the guy out and spend twice as much as he made getting the fellow drunk. He is the same fellow who will sneer "Flag Waving" as a display of patriotism but will knock another chap's block off for saying anything against the flag or against the nation.

Capra and Riskin bring all these back to the minds of Americans through the film "Meet John Doe" in the form of good solid entertainment.

It is their hope that in some small measure they may be able to get the whole nation singing:

"Hello John Doe

Whattaya know?"

Post-Nuptial Shower At Davisburg

Friday afternoon was the time of a prettily appointed shower at the home of Mrs. Mae Pennel, of Davisburg. Mrs. Pennel, assisted by Mrs. John Austin, entertained 23 ladies in honor of Mrs. Lucile McClaughry Morgan.

The house was decorated with summer flowers, and tables were carried out to the shady lawn, where bingo was played, dainty prizes being awarded.

At 4 o'clock the tables were quickly transformed and a delightful lunch served, after which each lady lunched to fill a little book with recipes, witty sayings, etc., as a reminder of the happy occasion for Mrs. Morgan. When this was finished she was presented with a beautiful maple coffee table and many other gifts.

For Homemakers

Summer thunderstorms do not sour milk, as many persons once believed, but summer is the season for sour milk or sour cream. At the right stage of sourness, all of it can be put to good use.

For example, the tragedy of soured cream may be turned into a culinary triumph if the homemaker uses it for a baked fish dish, or for baked veal chops or cutlets. Fish and veal are often seasoned with lemon and butter or other extra fat. The acid of slightly soured cream corresponds to the lemon and the cream supplies the fat, explain members of the Michigan State College home economics extension service.

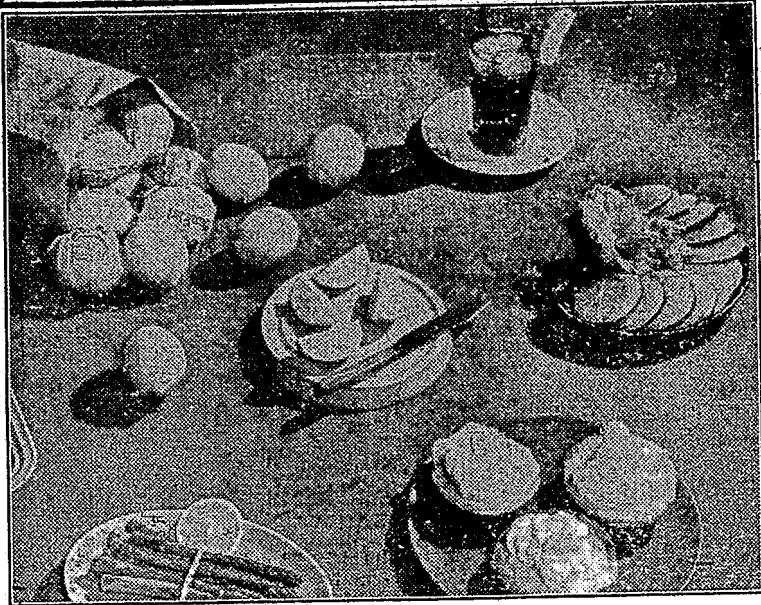

This bit of magic makes ordinary kinds like fillets of haddock or halibut steaks are preferable. The method is to season the pieces of fish with salt, and put them in a very hot oven for about five minutes. Then sour cream is added to cover. Dry bread crumbs are sprinkled over the top, and the whole is baked at moderate temperature until the fish is tender and the crumbs are brown. Veal chops or pieces of cutlet are first pan-broiled and then baked in the sour cream.

Gravy made with part or all sour cream is extra good with fried chicken or with chipped beef or fried tomatoes. Sour cream sauce goes well with snap beans and spinach. It is made by thickening and seasoning some of the cooking liquid from the vegetable and then adding the cream.

Draw Your Culinary Tricks From a Magic Bag of Lemons

By BETTY BARCLAY

Into his bag of tricks goes the magician's hand. Out come thrilling surprises that bring delighted "ahs" and "ohs" from the audience. A bag of lemons gives the cook a host of culinary tricks to delight family and guests.

The versatile lemon provides flavor magic that presto! changes uninteresting foods into menu top-liners. These tricks are so many and pleasing, it becomes a wise rule "to buy by the bag,"—a dozen or more at a time. Never leave the kitchen without its magic lemon.

A Trick for Tea

This bit of magic makes ordinary tea (any kind) reminiscent of rare and expensive blends. Add 1 teaspoon of grated lemon peel to 4 to 6 teaspoons of tea leaves. Steep as usual. Serve with juicy, decorative lemon quarters.

Salad Wizardry

A salad is only as good as its dressing. Here again, the fresh tang and flavor of lemon gives a cue to the culinary magician. Try it in your favorite dressing.

Especially good with a fruit salad is Lemon French Dressing. Blend well: 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1 teaspoon each salt and paprika, 2 tablespoons sugar or honey.

For other salad tricks, crisp greens by adding lemon juice to water in which they are freshened. Sprinkle bananas, apples, pears and peaches with lemon juice to keep color bright.

Lemon Tarts Capture Hearts

Serve them Lemon Tarts. Ever used this magic on Adam. Mix 3/4 cup sugar, 5 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups water or milk, 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel. Cook in double boiler, stirring frequently until mixture thickens (10-15 minutes). Add 2 well-beaten egg yolks and 6 tablespoons lemon juice. Beat well. Cool and turn into tart shells. Top with meringue. Beat 2 egg whites until frothy. Add gradually 1/4 cup sugar. When stiff, pile on tarts. Brown in oven.

A Magic Touch for Vegetables

Supreme trick! Lemon transforms neglected but necessary vegetables into foods that even the children like. As important in serving vegetables as the salt and pepper shakers, is a dish of lemon quarters.

Good with asparagus, artichokes, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprouts, is Lemon Butter—two parts melted butter and one part lemon juice.

Other Lemon Tricks

A few drops of lemon juice on melon discovers hidden flavor. Try this, too, with avocados and with prune, pineapple, tomato and other fruit juices.

Sprinkle buttered waffles or hot cakes with sugar and a liberal squeeze of lemon juice.

Experiment with lemon and be your own culinary magician.

GLIMPSES OF HOLLYWOOD

By HELEN RAETHER

Quotations from an Interesting Lady, 70-odd Years Young:

May Robson: How Shirley Temple does it with absolutely no concentration, I don't know. We oldsters study our next scenes closely, figuring how we're going to do them and say the lines, concentrating intently. Shirley's mother, a very sensible woman, by the way, reads her next scene to Shirley while Shirley pleats paper hats and paper skirts for her dolls, apparently paying no attention to the reading. Mother finishes. Shirley goes on pleading. "Shall I read it again, dear?" Oh no, mother, I know it," says Shirley. And she does. What's more, besides knowing her own part, she always knows all the others, too. Lionel Barrymore, fine actor that he is, says she acutely embarrasses him.

When Shirley entered the Westlake School for Girls, she was very happy but also very tactful. At first the other girls shied away from her; her fame stood between her and close friendships. Then came the school play and the girls hesitatingly approached her about doing a part. Shirley beamed, "Oh, I'll be very glad to have a part, but please, not the leading one." That won the girls and Shirley is getting along famously with them.

Nobody in Hollywood is more picturesque than the unpredictable Mr. John (Profile) Barrymore. He has the air of having seen everything and done everything and now he sits back and smiles tolerantly at the foibles of mortals. Give him credit, too, for being able to "take it" for he is ribbed constantly, on and off the air and the screen. His rehearsal broadcast with Rudy Vallee and Billie Burke was not subject to the censor's ban since it was not actually on the air, and the ad-libs flying thro' the air had the audience rolling in the aisles. Mr. Barrymore embarrassed Miss Burke thro' some of his witticisms and actions, but she carried on and hugged him forgivingly when the session was over. Rudy Vallee is himself no mean light comedian; I think he has at last found his proper sphere and there is a lady named Lurline Tuttle on the show (as Rudy's secretary and lady-love in the script) who is a fine actress. This program is delightfully ridiculous fun and you can hear it on Thursdays.

Last month the Western Union Telegraph Co. sent out blurb advertisements for the picture "Western Union" with their monthly bills, and "Dots and Dashes", the W. U. paper, carried a story about the making of the picture. If this goes on, the American public is not going to be in the dark about anything in history, what with "Dr. Ehrlich", "Hudson's Bay", "Alexander Graham Bell" and all of the other films based on actual incidents.

Lumberjacks Tackle Big Birch

Shoats of "Timber-r-r" still echo in the woods of upper Michigan as ax and crosscut saw bring down the big hardwoods. Loggers pictured are in Luce county, but logging operations are now most extensive in the western part of the peninsula. Michigan has larger stands and greater production of northern hardwoods than any other state in the nation.

Red Arrow Division's Annual Reunion

The 32nd Division is forming an important part in our national defense program today, but the veterans of that division, known as the Red Arrow, who served with it during the war in 1917-18, are turning their thoughts today to their annual reunion to be held in Jackson, Aug. 30 and Sept. 1. More than 5,000 veterans of the division are expected to attend.

Col. William Haze of Grand Rapids, president of the Red Arrow National Association, believes this will be the largest gathering of Red Arrow veterans since the war. This in spite of the fact that the national convention of the American Legion is to be held in Milwaukee in September, and several thousand Red Arrow men reside in that state. Major William H. Burke of Owosso, is corporation president and is in charge of the three-day convention.

A test-blackout with war department officials cooperating is being arranged as part of the program. Regimental reunions will be held on the opening day. The convention parade is to be held Sunday Aug. 31, followed by memorial services and a drum and bugle corps contest. The annual business session will be held the closing day.

The problem of housing the visitors is being solved by Charles Alexander secretary of the convention corporation, who has conducted a city-wide canvas and has hundred of rooms available for the veterans.

CARD OF THANKS

Exercising fishermen's time-honored privilege of adding "a little" to reports of the day's catch can have complications when the result exceeds legal limitations.

When conservation officers investigated rumors that two local anglers had caught 106 trout in one day, they found evidence that the actual catch was 26 fish. The embarrassed anglers admitted that trying to impress some Ohio tourists with fishing possibilities in the neighborhood, they had stretched the trout "a little."

What's the favorite dish of the average American? Ice cream tops the list, followed in order by fried chicken, corn on the cob, steak, spaghetti, apple pie, strawberry shortcake, hot dogs, French fried potatoes and tomatoes.

Health Twins — Bread and Milk

By BETTY BARCLAY

That good old-fashioned supper dish, a bowl of bread-and-milk, is coming into favor again!

It's simple to prepare—a grand team for flavor—and practically a complete food for buoyant good health. Today leading nutritionists have taken up its praise where our grandparents left off. For they've discovered that a bowl of bread-and-milk supplies nearly everything the human body needs.

Vitamin-rich

Pure milk, they explain, is a "protective" food. It's rich in vitamins and minerals that "protect" by helping you to build up resistance. Milk might be called a "beauty food," too, because its food factors are necessary for lustrous hair and a healthy complexion. Grown-ups, as well as youngsters, need the vitamins and minerals in a bowl of bread-and-milk.

Bread for Energy

The modern white bread you get from the grocer or the baker, is made with milk, too. It contains some vitamins and minerals, as well as valuable proteins for muscle and tissue repair. But bread is chiefly important as our best and cheapest energy-food.

Since 85% of all the food we eat is used by the body for creating energy, it's easy to see why bread's been our "staff of life" for centuries.

Not Fattening

A supper-time bowl of bread-and-milk makes a satisfying and nourishing meal—but it's not "fattening" food.

One pint of pasteurized or sterilized milk provides 330 calories. Three slices of bread (the ready-sliced type) each add imately 70 calories more. A generous bowl of bread-and-milk, therefore, supplies approximately 550 calories.

You could actually live on five such bowls of bread-and-milk a day without getting one bit fatter, for the average adult needs from 2,500 to 3,000 calories daily.

Ways to Serve Bread-and-Milk

According to Dr. James A. Tobey, prominent health authority, bread and milk combines to make an ideal "little meal" for children. So—when you're in a hurry—make it bread-and-milk... for breakfast, lunch, a fourth meal at four, or for supper. And there are dozens of ways you can "dress it up."

Some like it hot: for a warming dish, simply heat up the milk (but don't boil it). For a cereal dish, stir bread in hot milk till it's soft, then add salt and butter. Or parch the bread in your oven, and pour browned butter and hot milk over the crisp gold slices.

Some like it cold: try rich slices of bread cut into squares and covered with ice cold milk, served in a deep dish and sprinkled with sugar.

Some use milk anyway you like it—plain and vanilla, raspberry, nutmeg and sugar, chocolate and sugar, chocolate and sugar, chocolate and sugar, chocolate and sugar.

It is not what he has, nor even what he does, which directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.—Amiel.
