FARMERS UNITE FOR PROTECTION

Big Growth in Groups to Control Hunting Privileges

Hunting season remains several weeks away, but Michigan farmers are setting up organizations like those in operation in 122 farm communities in 1940.

Neighborhoods grouped in game management cooperation follow the pattern set originally several years ago in the unique Williamston, Mich., plan, comments R. G. Hill in charge of farm game extension work at Michigan State College.

New groups desiring information on this type of hunting management should hold community meetings in the near future, according to Hill. If additional information is required, individuals familiar with the cooperatives are available for meetings through arrangement with county agricultural agents or by contacting the Michigan State Department of Conservation.

Similarly, if assistance in obtaining posting material is desired, applications should be filed with the State Department of Conservation not later than September 20.

The game management last year ranged in size from 640 to 5,000 acres. Advantages include better control of trespass, better control over bag limits, protection of property and resultant advantages to hunters because of the control over volume of hunters on a given property at one time, and the availability of a large area over which to hunt.

Preparedness

A little mouse would get so bold As to venture from the cold, But this mouse made one big mistake, He sought the house beside the lake. Where Mary played with dolls and toys

And there laid guns and little boys, Mary became overcome by fright, Was so afraid the mouse would bite Her dolly as she rested there She climbed atop the highest chair, But Bob was armed with his pop gun And hunting mice was sure some fun For boys so armed in self defense Who'd waited long in great suspense And listened long to so much talking That he could see an army stalking, His fingers itched to shoot that gun And see a gory battle won, Although that mouse no one had harmed

What was the use of being armed If he could never test his skill Without an enemy to kill.

Timely As School Is Reopened

In an open letter to the teachers of the state, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, gives the following timely counsel:

"In the turbulent school year 1941-42, when democracy itself is backed up against the wall, all of these things are not enough. It is not enough that pupils learn to read; they must read understandingly and become devoted to the ideas and ideals of a working democracy. It is not enough that they learn their arithmetic; they must learn to use their figuring for competency in actual practice. It is not enough that they learn the facts of conservation; they must engage in useful activities in which the facts become operative. It is not enough that our students learn about our great American leaders and their accomplishments; they must be worthy descendants by practicing living together, working together, and together making sacrifices for the common good. Our teachers, principals and pupils must enlist for service alongside of men in our armies to accomplish this task."

Vaudeville Acts

Enhance Comedy

Vaudeville came in for a brisk revival in filming Universal's "Hello Sucker", Hugh Herbert starring comedy starting Sunday at the Drayton Theatre.

While the picture was being made, Universal gave employment to fire-eaters and acrobats, hoofers and dog acts, ventriloquists and girls who hang from the roof by their teeth. They were wanted for a novel idea on which the picture is based—that of hiring vaudeville performers to demonstrate commercial articles in "living shop-windows".

In some cases, the studio's casting office found that the performers had long ago gone into other livelihoods, but they were ready and willing to get furloughs and go back to their old love.

"Hello Sucker" tells the highly entertaining tale of a Broadway "sucker" who sells and re-sells a defunct talent agency to a series of small-town "suckers".

Among the "suckers" are characters played by Herbert, Tom Brown and Peggy Moran.

Edward Cline, pioneer comedy maker, directed the new film and Ken Goldsmith presided as associate producer.

Desserts For Labor Day

By BETTY BARCLAY

This year Labor Day is really a day worth celebrating. Labor has been laboring steadily and diligently.

Here are some dessert suggestions that will appeal to workers who have been eating from a lunch pail of late. Feature Labor Day at home by giving the laboring members of your family a dessert treat.

Orange Bavarian

- 1 tablespoon gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups orange juice
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup evaporated milk or whipping cream, thoroughly chilled
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup of the orange juice and liquefy over hot water. Combine remaining 1 1/4 cups orange juice with sugar. Add gelatin and set in cold place, stirring occasionally to dissolve sugar. When mixture is set to a soft jelly, whip milk or cream stiff. Fold in lemon juice, then orange-gelatin mixture. Pour into a mold to set. (Serves 8.)

Chocolate Date Rennet-Custard

- 1 package chocolate rennet powder
- 1 pint milk, ordinary or homogenized
- 20 dates

Chop dates in small pieces and divide among 6 dessert glasses. Make rennet-custards according to directions on package. Pour at once over chopped dates. Do not move until firm—about 10 minutes. Chill in refrigerator.

Spiced Iced Coffee

Good coffee and good conversation belong together. The thoughtful hostess who makes a decaffeinated brew may rest assured that her family and guests will be able to linger over second and even third cups on Labor Day without fear of sleeping problems later on. Here is a novel iced brew:

- 6 cups freshly brewed decaffeinated coffee
- 1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Pour freshly brewed decaffeinated coffee over ice cubes and top each glass with a spoonful of whipped cream into which the spices have been folded. Sugar may be served with the coffee if desired.

For iced coffee, use 2 heaping tablespoons decaffeinated coffee for each cup (1/2 pint) of water and make by any desired method. Extra-strength coffee is necessary on account of the melting ice. Remember that decaffeinated coffee needs slightly longer brewing to bring out its full, rich flavor.

Magie Orange Ice Cream
(Automatic Refrigerator Method)

- 3/4 cup (7 1/2 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, orange juice and orange rind. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency. Fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of refrigerator until half frozen. Scrape from freezing tray. Beat until smooth, but not melted. Replace in freezing unit until frozen. Serves 6. Sweetened condensed milk is a magic ice cream mix that's thrifty and always comes out free of ice crystals.

HOLLY THEATRE

In line with their policy of presenting the pick of screen entertainment, the Holly Theatre management announces that they have scheduled "The Bride Came C. O. D.", starting on Sunday. James Cagney and Bette Davis are co-starred in this new comedy.

"The Bride Came C. O. D." tells the amusing tale of a spoiled young debutante with more dollars than sense and an aviator with just the opposite combination. She is about to elope with a bandleader, who hires Cagney to fly them to Las Vegas. But Cagney decides it will be more profitable to deliver the bride back home to her doing papa. He gets her father on the phone and clinches the deal. He will be paid ten dollars a pound, C. O. D., for delivering the would-be bride, unmarried. By a simple ruse, he gets Bette in the plane first, and flies off, leaving the bewildered bridegroom gaping on the ground. Positive that she is being kidnapped by a desperate criminal she attempts a parachute jump and lands safely. Cagney makes a forced landing, and knocks his plane out of commission. Near their landing place they discover an abandoned mining town, with a population of one. He is the hotel-keeper, who gives credence to Cagney's story of their being lovers who have quarrelled, rather than Bette's story of being kidnapped. From here on, it's a battle of wits between the pair.

Matters go somewhat in this fashion: Bette sees some army planes flying over the desert, signals to them. Cagney lures her into an empty mine tunnel. Trying to get out, Bette knocks down some of the rotting wooden supports, causes a cave-in. They believe they are trapped. Cagney, however, soon locates a way out, through the hotel kitchen, helps himself to some food, then comes back to report dolefully to Bette that they are indeed lost. Believing that the end is near, she throws off all pretense, admits that she cares for him. There is a clinch, then Bette tastes mustard on his lips. His ruse having failed, he has to take her out of the mine.

A small army is waiting for them. Bette's fiancé, a sheriff, reporters and photographers, and a justice of the peace. Cagney's game seems to be up, and he pretends to give in gracefully. He even acts as best man at the ensuing wedding. But not until he has secretly ascertained that the justice of the peace is from Nevada, and the ghost town is in California. The wedding is, of course, illegal, but Cagney bides his time about letting the bride-know that.

To feel much for others, and little for ourselves; to restrain our selfish, and exercise our benevolent affections, constitutes the perfection of human nature.—Adam Smith.

SPRAYS POTATOES 8 OR 10 TIMES

A generous-hearted champion is J. D. Robinson of Pellston, who will be competing again this fall in the Northern Michigan Potato and Apple Show scheduled at Cheboygan, Nov. 5, 6 and 7. He gives his planting rate of 30 bushels of seed to the acre, use of sprinkler irrigation, application of 1,500 pounds of fertilizer to the acre and a thorough schedule of spray applications as a program that other growers can adopt for better production as well as better potato stock. Picture shows truck pulling 300-gallon sprayer, treating eight rows at a time.

When the man who grew 615 bushels of U. S. No. 1 potatoes to the acre in Michigan reveals some of his methods, other Michigan potato growers listen. J. D. Robinson, Pellston, made that record two years ago.

Robinson this year is growing 37 acres of potatoes including 15 acres of Russet Rurals, 8 of Irish Cobblers, 8 of Chippewas and 6 of Pontiacs. He recently completed his fifth application of rotary sprinkler watering of one and one-half inches of water. Ten sprinklers at a time each cover 90 feet in diameter. Water is pumped through a four-inch boiler flue main into one-inch hose connections 50 feet to the sprinklers.

Seed is planted at the rate of 30 bushels to the acre—twice as much as many growers use, according to F. S. Lincoln, county agricultural agent at Petoskey. Fifteen hundred pounds of fertilizer an acre are applied, half at time of planting and the rest with an attachment on a cultivator.

An eight-row spray boom of his own design operates from the side of the truck on which is mounted a 300-gallon sprayer. The side spraying reduces by half the amount of vines run over by the truck wheels. Spray applications number 8 to 10 a season. For a rotation, Robinson uses barley (a cash crop), alfalfa two or three years and potatoes.

Show stock potatoes are picked up behind the digger whenever Robinson finds time. The seed plot stock, however, is dug by hand and this adds to the show stock supply.

CARILLON BELLS WILL RING AGAIN

Anton Brees to Return to Cranbrook in September

The bells of the carillon at Christ Church Cranbrook on Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills, will again peal forth for the enjoyment of music on Sundays and Wednesdays during September when Anton Brees, master carillonneur, returns to Cranbrook.

Mr. Brees has played at Cranbrook every year excepting 1933, since he dedicated the bells at Christ Church on September 30, 1928. His Concerts have become a traditional event for people of the greater Detroit area as well as those of nearby towns in southeastern Michigan.

Anton Brees began his career of carillonneur at the age of sixteen under his father, Gustaaf Brees. His father was organist and carillonneur at Antwerp Cathedral and several years ago celebrated his fiftieth anniversary in his position. Anton Brees also studied at Malines, Belgium under Jes Deyny who then was the most famous carillonneur in the world. Mr. Brees finally was recognized as Laureate of the Royal Flemish Conservatory. In 1923, Anton Brees played the carillon at the War Memorial in Loughborough, England, where the famous Taylor Bell Foundry is located which executed the order for Christ Church Cranbrook.

Since coming to this country in 1924 Anton Brees has been the pioneer of approximately thirty carillons in America. He is the director of the first carillon school at Mountain Lake, Florida, where the Bok Singing Tower is located. This school is connected with the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

There are sixty-two bells in the carillon at Christ Church. The largest bell weighs 6,700 pounds and the smallest, fourteen pounds. They are tuned to the notes of the chromatic scale. The bells themselves are stationary and are played by the carillonneur from a clavier which is similar to the manuals and pedals of an organ. A system of levers connected with the clavier moves the clappers which hang from the inside of the bells.

Interest in these concerts has increased each year. It was estimated that more than 20,000 people enjoyed them last year. Winding roads and ample parking space provide the aisles for an outdoor auditorium accommodating thousands in their own cars. The music is best heard at distances of 500 to 1,000 feet. The Sunday concerts commence at 5 p. m. after the four o'clock vespers in the Church. Wednesday evening concerts begin at 8:30 p. m. The first concert will be held on Wednesday evening, September 3.

Often people enjoy coming to the recital to stroll about the grounds and especially around the Academy of Art where so many of Carl Milles' works are to be seen.

The program for the carillon recital by Anton Brees at Christ Church Cranbrook Wednesday, September 3, at 8:30 p. m., will be as follows:

- Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life..... Victor Herbert
- Deep River..... Negro Spiritual
- Loch Lomond..... Scottish Song
- Ave Maria..... Schubert
- Rock of Ages..... Theo. Hastings
- O, Sanctissima..... Sicilian Melody
- Softly now the light of day..... from Weber
- Funeral March..... Chopin
- Finale from "The Gondoliers"..... Gilbert and Sullivan
- Kingswood School Hymn.....

Conservation Note
Farmers contemplating leaving corn in the shock over the winter will be interested in the finding of Philip Baumgrass of the conservation's wild-life experiment station that mice ate 25 per cent of the corn in test shocks that were screened with wire to keep out pheasants, rabbits and squirrels.
The loss in the screened shocks might have been even larger had not a weasel located the concentrations of mice, and fed well on them. By the end of the winter the weasel had the situation well in hand, Baumgrass reports.

Highway Department
Chief among the projects upon which bids were determined this week by the State Highway Department is the proposed causeway to be constructed from the north shore of the Straits of Mackinac. Low bid of $616,160.10 on this project was submitted by Johnson & Greene, of Whitmore Lake.
This causeway, deemed necessary because of rapidly mounting traffic at the Straits, will reduce traveling distance for the ferries from nine to three miles and will increase capacity nearly 50 per cent.
Bids opened this week involved work of constructing stone dykes and fill. A second contract for dock facilities to be located on the end of the causeway will be awarded later, it was announced.

The Way To A Soldier's Heart!
By BETTY BARCLAY

J—is for Jellies and Jams
A—is for Army camps and Appetites
M—suggests a Mixture of the two
Well, we homemakers don't want to miss an opportunity to keep our boys supplied with any of the homemade spreads that make them so happy. Army food is good, but a selection of jams and jellies made with sun-ripened fruits are always welcomed by hungry soldiers.
So now that fruits are in abundance . . . let's remember both our soldier and our family at home. Modern recipes always assure us of a perfect product and they save both time and energy. Each tested recipe turns out jellies with a half-minute boil and jams in only a minute or so. Every batch of fruit means half again more glasses and the rich flavor of fully ripe fruit. Try these today!

RIPE PEACH AND PLUM JELLY
(Makes about 7 medium glasses)
3 cups juice
4 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
To prepare juice, cut in pieces (do not peel or pit) and crush about 2 pounds fully ripe peaches and 1 pound fully ripe plums. Add 1/2 cup water, bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. (If there is a slight shortage of juice, add small amount of water to pulp in jelly cloth and squeeze again.)
Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure juice into a 3- to 4-quart saucepan.

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute.
Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

RIPE PLUM MARMALADE
3 cups prepared fruit
5 cups sugar
1/2 bottle fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, peel off yellow rind of 1 medium orange and 1 medium lemon with sharp knife, leaving as much of white part on fruit as possible. Put yellow rings through food chopper; add 1/2 cup water and 1/16 teaspoon soda, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and slip pulp out of each section. Add pulp and juice to cooked rind and simmer, covered, 20 minutes longer. Pit (do not peel) about 1 1/2 pounds fully ripe plums. Cut in small pieces, grind or chop fine, and combine with orange mixture.
Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well. Bring to a boil and boil gently 5 minutes. Stir constantly before and while boiling.
Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot marmalade at once. Makes about 8 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).
