NUMBER 1

Parade Participants From Clarkston Win First Prize

A great many of the older folks will remember the song about putting on the old gray bonnet and hitching old dobbin, well Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beattie felt in that very mood last week and although they did go modern and get out the old 1909 Ford instead of the horse and buggy Mrs. Beattie did get out the bonnets, the dresses with the tight bodices, the shawls, and the silk parasol and Mr. Beattie managed to get a rather large moustache, a chin whisker, a knee length coat and a small derby and they attended the Homecoming Day at Lapeer.

When the hour came for the parade the Beatties were in line as at comic entry and when the parade was over they found they had won the blue ribbon. Mr. and Mrs. Beattie and Margaret Ann and Mary enjoyed every minute of the parade and really got a thrill out of giving everybody a good laugh.

Too Much Convenience

A man will work for days no end And save for his vacation, A week or two that he might spend In simple relaxation.

A man will have two weeks of fun Out in the open spaces, Expose himself to wind and sun As did primeval races.

A man will chop himself some wood And kindle up a fire, And things he thought he never could Without a man to hire.

He pumps his water from a well And washes in a basin, And he lets on he thinks it's swell That tingling cold sensation.

And man will sleep on beds so hard His spinal column's aching. And he must grease it up with lard To keep his back from breaking.

A man vacates a life of ease Where everything is handy, And matches with with bumble bees . And thinks that it's just dandy.

epresenting the county Junior Farm Bureau at the camp which was held August 24th through the 30th at Walden Woods, Hartland, Michigan. At this camp the youth are taught to think and plan for themselves.

County Represented

Training Classes Are Held For Youth Leaders

Oakland County had eight people

at Waldenwoods

They are put to work and shown how it is done by doing it themselves. They are given problems that rise up all over the United States. They get together, discuss and give solutions to these problems at this camp. The campers also were making programs for the coming year for their county Junior Farm Bureau.

There are four classes offered for the campers. These classes are Publicity, Recreation, President's duties and secretarial duties. Every camper attends one of these classes. After these classes are over educational talks are given by men from different co-operatives. Ideas gathered from these talks and classes are brought back and used in building the Farm Bureau stronger for the future.

Vespers is an hour each evening that every camper looks forward to. These evening services are under the direction of some camper. During the period of silence every person is drawn to one another and each is thinking of problems that have been brought up earlier in the day. Here solutions to these problems are turned over in each camper's mind.

The following represented Oakland county at Walden Woods: Eleanor Scott, Harriett Beckman, George Miller, Leonard Haak, Donald Swayze Marjorie Frick, Delwin Richerson and Eugene Hubbard. These representatives wish to express their graitude to the following for sponsoring them at Walden Woods: Oxford Co-op, Highland Co-op, Farm Bureau Service, Wixom Co-op, College Junior Farm Bureau, Michigan Milk Producers and Detroit Livestock.

FOOD ITEMS FOR SCHOOL LUNCHES

Are Available Through Surplus Marketing Administration

Peanut butter, pork and beans and concentrated soup are headliners on Sunday night. The meeting will be the varied list of foods which will be the group in a Sunday Church School available for free distribution to school lunch projects in Michigan during the 1941-42 school year, E. M. Rowlands, acting regional director of the Surplus Marketing Administration, announced in Milwaukee this week.

Thousands of teachers, parent teacher associations are now laying plans for resumption of school lunch programs. Allocations of these foods already have been made to state welfare agencies for distribution in Michigan and the 11 other states in the midwestern region.

Other items on the list of available foods include grapefruit segments, grapefruit juice, prunes, honey, corn meal, and wheat products consisting of cereals and both white and graham flours.

The regional director said it is likely a variety of fresh fruits also will be available again this year, particularly citrus fruits and apples.

The school lunch program, which Day. last year helped see that five million the United States were better fed, one of the chief outlets for surplus family of Lansing to the State Fair foods purchased by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in its efforts to broaden domestic markets and bolster farm prices.

Last year during the peak month of March, the school lunch program was operating in 2,492 schools of Michigan. A total of 124,816 undernourished children received benefits of the program in these schools. It is predominately a rural program. Se venty-seven per cent of the participating schools and 63 per cent of the children served live in rural areas. In comparison with the 5,000,000 children who participated during the peak month last year, the present national objective of the program, Mr. Rowlands explained, is to reach all of the 9,000,000 children shown to be undernourished in a recent national survey, nine million youngsters who are living below the danger line of nealth. Local sponsorship is the keystone requirement for any school lunch project. The federal government provides certain basic foods, and the community carries on from there, furnishing the leadership to organize and direct the program. The sponsoring group sees to it that food is clean, well cooked and that sanitary equipment and premises are provided. It supplies such supplemental foods as are necessary to turn out an appetizing, well-rounded meal each noon. The whole community helps. Work Projects Administration and National Youth Administration help may be secured in many cases. Home demonstration agents of the Michigan State College extension service advise and help get school lunch programs started. The Surplus Marketing Administration has a special school lunch representative in each state to assist schools and sponsoring groups.

Sponsorship usually comes from school officials, teachers, parent-teacher associations, patriotic organizations, lodges, women's clubs and any other groups interested in improving health and general welfare conditions among children of their communities.

Director of Commodity Distribution Administration, 1050 Empire customs bond, and the plane into this countries and Hugh O'Connell Joseph Santley directed. Albert J. Cohen was the associate producer. at the State Welfare office, or to the Regional Director, Surplus Market-Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

U. of M. Renews 180 Scholarships

One hundred and eighty University of Michigan students from eighty Michigan cities have been awarded renewals of their University Alumni Undergraduate Scholarships for the 1941-42 school year, according to Dean Clarence S. Yoakum, vice-president in charge of educational in-

"Letting out the seams" for a growing Detroit

WITH defense plants springing up, more people at work and business booming, Detroit rapidly is outgrowing its telephone facilities in certain central offices.

The number of telephones served by five central offices in north Detroit, for example, is increasing three times as fast as the average of recent years.

To relieve that pressure, Michigan Bell is rushing completion of a new central office building-Twinbrook - and installation of equipment at a cost of more than $1,450,000.
