Pontiac Kicks Off '42 Model Season

Edw. D. Whipple, local Pontiac dealer, and the company's sales force have returned from Detroit where the Pontiac Motor Division formally launched its 1942 campaign. All Pontiac dealers from the Michigan, Ohio and Indiana territory met at the Masonic Temple. This was one of 27 key cities throughout the country this month.

These dealer meetings are being held following three two-day conferences between factory sales executives and the regional and zone field organizations of the company's 24 zones. The three meetings were at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia; Chicago, and Catalina Island.

The dealer meeting at Detroit was in charge of J. A. Grier, Regional Manager, and J. L. Johnson, zone presentation of the 1942 Pontiac cars, together with a discussion of the 1942 merchandising program.

"There were plenty of important problems up for discussion among dealers and Pontiac executives," said dealer Edw. D. Whipple.

SECOND GRADE NEWS

This year we have 26 members of the second grade. We have some new members, Charles Storen, Richard Baker and Mary Lou Althouse.

We are making a book of stories that we write; they are placed in a large Scrap Book. Two of the stories that we have written are, "The Fuzzy Caterpillar" and "The Acorn".

TEACHERS' NEWS Mrs. Wallace

The American literature class has made a brave start, especially so when one considers that only three members are seniors, and that none of the class have had English literature as a background. This year we are experimenting with an individual card file of each student's reading, rather than a formal book report.

The seventh-grade literature class has been doing oral reading. If we could have a year in which to continue reading and literature, with another period for grammar, spelling, punctuation, and composition, what profitable and pleasurable dividends such a schedule would pay! PERSONALS

From Thursday through Saturday of last week Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Winn attended the state convention for school superintendents and their wives at Traverse City. The three day session was taken up with lectures and round-table discussions on the problems of the day, as affecting the schools. National defense, its bearing on training and placement and its demands on the school, was the problem most discussed. Mr Winn mentioned enjoying particularly Charles Milton Newcomb's lecture, What Are You Afraid Of?" In special discussion groups, Mr. Winn joined the guidance section under Carl Horn. The superintendents elected Chester Miller of Saginaw their leader for next year's conference.

We were grieved to learn of the death of Mr. Duncan Gibson, who substituted here for a few days last year, and whom we all liked so much. He passed away in Ann Arbor, of a peculiar heart condition.

We spend much time predicting what will become of our students here at Clarkston High. Below we have noted some of our ex-students who are continuing their studies.

Always Remember the Disabled War Veterans

Everyone is busy today with national defense work. Some are helping with the British relief while others keep working for the U.S.O. It seems that every person, young or old, wants to do a part. Do you still remember that in this country there are hospitals that are housing many men who have been disabled doing their part for America? Let us not be so busy with the troubles of today that we forget to do a little for these fellows who are suffering.

On Saturday you will have a chance o buy a forget-me-not. This money will be used to help the disabled war veterans confined in the hospitals Perhaps a boy or girl will call at your home. Be as generous as pos-

HOLLY THEATRE

Marking their eleventh picture in eleven years of Hollywood stardom the madcap Marx Brothers invade the Holly Theatre Sunday as private detectives in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Big Store". With five musical numbers interspersed in the wild Marxian antics, critics hail this latest as on a par with previous outstanding films.

"The Big Store" presents the culmination of almost twelve months' work. Since completing their last picture, the Marxes have been working eight hours and more daily, writing and rewriting gags, routines and planning musical numbers.

Fony Martin joins the Marxes to carry the romantic lead opposite Virginia Grey, and also sings two hit songs. Harpo and Chico provide their traditional highlights at the harp and piano, while Groucho gives out with comic singing and dancing during a novelty number. Virginia O'Brien, frozen-faced torch singer, also contributes during the latter.

The story revolves around the efforts of Wolf J. Flywheel, played by Groucho, and his two assistants, Harpo and Chico, to protect Martin from an unknown killer. Most of the action takes place in a department store, owned by Martin and Margaret role as foil for Groucho's mad woo-

After almost demolishing the store the Markes finally get their man, and Groucho also gets his woman (and her wealth). The climax scene finds pursued through the store by the
