Merchants, Attention!

Lawrence W. Peake, a former employee of the State Highway Department, is passing bad checks in the smaller towns of the state. Mostly, his victims are merchants, hotel keepers and proprietors of nurseries.

He sometimes uses a rubber stamp bearing the name of the State Highway Department to authenticate his claims, and because of this and his knowledge of state affairs, is meeting with unusual success.

This information is being furnished you with the thought that you might care to warn your readers of this forger and his tactics.

Peake is 43 years of age, weighs 175 to 190 lbs., is 5 ft. 11, has brown hair and eyes.

Yours very truly,
Captain I. H. Marmon,
Chief of Detectives,
Michigan State Police.

NATIONAL DEFENSE GETS PRIORITY AT OLDSMOBILE. DEFENSE PRODUCTION HAS FIRST CALL ON PLANTS, MATERIALS AND MAN POWER. OLDSMOBILE'S REMAINING FACILITIES GO TO PRODUCING A CAR THAT'S DESIGNED AND BUILT FOR THE TEMPO OF THE TIMES

OLDSMOBILE
Offering HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

SPECIFICATIONS SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE

THE GENERAL MOTORS CONTRIBUTION TO SAFER, MORE EFFICIENT DRIVING!

ALTHOUGH the number of cars Oldsmobile will build this year is limited, the quality is better than ever. Many materials have been eliminated because of their vital value to defense. In their place, Oldsmobile engineers have devised other materials, equally good or better. All Oldsmobiles will continue to offer Hydra-Matic Drive, the most efficient method of car operation ever developed. Hydra-Matic saves 10 to 15 per cent on gasoline. It saves time in traffic because it is always in the right gear. It saves effort because it eliminates all clutch pushing and all manual gear shifting. It makes driving safer because it gives better traction, and provides a special pick-up gear for passing. We are now offering special demonstrations of Hydra-Matic Drive in the Olds B-44. Come, try it!

SHELL AND CANNON FOR THE U.S.A.!

Full speed ahead for national defense, regardless of anything else! That's the slogan at Oldsmobile. Right now, high-caliber shell for the field artillery are coming off the line by thousands daily—and automatic cannon for fighting planes are going into mass production.

NO CLUTCH TO PRESS!

NO GEARS TO SHIFT!

YOU CAN ALWAYS COUNT ON OLDSMOBILE - IT'S Quality Built TO LAST

The Hilltopper

Correction: Are we embarrassed? Indeed we are! We stated last week that the final game of the year would be played today, October 24. Instead, it is to be played on October 31, one week from today.

We promised to tell you the how and why of our victory over Auburn Heights. Coach Thayer offers the following: "O'Roark contributed one touchdown, Edward Ross three, and Edwin Ross two. Points after touchdowns were scored by Miller and Winman. Although Winman's name does not appear on the list of touchdown scorers, his presence was very much in evidence all afternoon. "I consider that our strong point was our blocking, with nice interference provided for the ball-carrier. A mental lapse on the part of our boys gave Auburn an easy touchdown. Auburn kicked off, and the ball traveled into Clarkston's end zone. Our neglect in not touching the ball gave Auburn a chance to fall upon it. This constituted a legal touchdown, since the ball was still in the field of play.

"Our inability to catch forward passes cost us many touchdowns. Our team looks much improved however. The big lead which we built up early in the game enabled me to use the reserves. Every man on the squad saw action."

RALLY DAY OCTOBER 31

Royal McGill, Biys' Commissioner of Activities, is planning a rally for our last game. Unfortunately, the game is to be played at South Lyon, but, as we understand it from McGill, we are to be waiting for the team when they return, about seven o'clock, with appropriate ceremonies, including a bonfire and a snake dance. The festivities will include a dance in the school gymnasium. This is to be a costume affair since the occasion will fall on Hallowe'en. All the details have not been worked out as yet. Be sure to keep the date open for the dance on October 31.

For Homemakers

Baking bread or canning food for winter are not lost arts in Michigan, at least among the thousands of women enrolled in the home economics extension work of Michigan State College.

More than 2,600 groups with nearly 30,000 rural women enrolled and an ultimate contact annually of more than 75,000 rural women indicate the extent to which the home economics information is being used in communities throughout the state. Dickinson county groups last year numbered 24 and held 291 meetings, reports Miss Edna V. Smith, state home demonstration leader. These thrifty Upper Peninsula women made 94 slip covers, refinished 147 pieces of furniture, made 98 rag rugs, knitted 265 articles, caned 15 chairs, reconditioned 23 spring cushions, put new upholstery on 64 pieces, as well as contributing to Red Cross and community welfare projects.

The women estimated savings of $636 in their projects. "Radios may play lively tunes and the children work at their school home studies, but the typical rural Michigan homemaker remains on the job," comments Miss Smith. "Even the men lend a hand in home carpentry to fix steps or build cupboards." "Someone once pictured home as places where the families sat around idle after the work was done and just listened to the silences. So-called city comforts are evident on many Michigan farms, family life is a happy one and hard work and ambition remain a rural characteristic on the majority of farms."

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Just what is inflation and how can it be minimized?

A. Inflation is a decrease in the buying power of the dollar caused by a rising cost of living. This, in turn, is brought about by a heavy public demand, resulting from a rapid increase in the national income, for things which cannot be produced in large enough quantities. Every citizen can help minimize inflation by buying Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Q. How can I get cash for my Defense Savings Stamps if I should need to redeem them?

A. Go to any post office. NOTE.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at most retail stores.

Proof of the effectiveness of electric fly traps appeared in a recent 72-hour test in experimental barns at Michigan State College. Two traps in the three days killed an estimated 100,000 flies. The traps are available from commercial manufacturers, sell for $12.50 to $15 each and consume 5 to 7 kilowatt hours of energy a month.

Many County Women Ready to Assist

Be prepared might well be the watchword of the American Red Cross for preliminary organization has placed all in readiness in event of any emergency which might befall Oakland County. Several hundred county women have volunteered their services to assist the canteen corps in an emergency, according to Mrs. L. J. Craig of Bloomfield Hills, who is chairman of the corps. Mrs. Karl D. Bailey is nutrition chairman.

The purpose of the corps is to provide women who in time of a local disaster such as flood, fire, explosion; or a national emergency, such as war, are capable of emergency group feeding and who in ordinary times can serve the community in sponsoring and directing related activities such as gardening, canning and school lunch projects. Volunteers are given instruction in food, nutrition and canteen courses by the Red Cross.

Recently Mrs. Craig completed a permanent county organization including a list of canteen captains and their workers. A survey resulted in location of places suitable for mass feeding, purchasing depots and availability of equipment, arrangement of transportation and housing facilities, all of which could be put to emergency use in any community.

Captains in the various Oakland county communities include: Pontiac,

Mrs. H. F. Going, Mrs. Earl Currah, Mrs. Frank Clemens, Mrs. F. MacLean, Mrs. Carl Malkin; Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. J. W. Gillette and Miss Jeanette Nicol; Rochester, Mrs. R. W. Party Games
A sure recipe for party morale is to plan easy-to-learn games that every one can take part in. The newest game craze is Bonanza, an ingenious, fast-moving blend of Michigan, rummy, etc. with a circular Bonanza cloth that happily eliminates all memory exertions. Dig is another party game favorite that's easy-to-learn; you scramble for letters in a "gold mine" with little miner's picks.

Rapid-Fire Production of Rapid-Fire Guns!

Charged with building a new type of rapid-fire cannon for the United States Navy, Pontiac is now turning out these complicated weapons with ever-increasing speed and efficiency. A new plant is being rushed to completion to increase floor space correspondingly. Our most skilled workmen and the organizations of 223 sub-contractors and suppliers are working night and day, six days a week, to fill this Navy contract—and fill it right. We're in rapid-fire production of the Navy's rapid-fire guns!

Pontiac's 1941 models were by far the most popular Pontiacs ever produced. Now, however, they are superseded by the new Pontiacs for 1942—better, in 15 different ways, than the cars they replace.

Pontiac's traditionally high quality over the years—such as electroplated pistons, Tru-Arc Steering and metered flow lubrication—have been retained without change.

Improvements in the new Pontiacs are improvements in engineering design—changes which it was possible to make without interfering with the needs of defense. But the things that have built

Come to see the new Pontiacs soon. We are sure you will agree that Pontiac deserves, more than ever, to be called the Fine Car with the Low Price—the car you can drive for many years to come, if need be!

ONE IN A MILLION

In most of Michigan's southern counties, where corn is raised in abundance, hogs produce an important share of agricultural income. There are nearly a million pigs fattening on Michigan farms, and they will bring farmers upwards of $10,000,000 this year.

In the telephone, the successful hog raiser has an efficient, modern helper. He uses it regularly to help turn surplus grain into profitable pork, hams, bacon and lard. He orders feed and keeps informed as to the trend of live-stock prices by telephone. The same swift communication system directs the movement of pork products from packing house to meat market to home refrigerator. A two-minute call to the store will bring you fresh country sausage or crisp bacon for tomorrow's breakfast!

Christian Science
Lecture Heard by Large Crowd

A large crowd attended a lecture on Christian Science given at Pontiac High School auditorium Sunday afternoon. The lecturer, Oscar Graham Peeke, C. S. B. of Kansas City, Missouri, spoke on the subject Christian Science: The Religion of Comfort and True Friendship. Mr. Peeke is a member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. He spoke in part as follows:

Christian Scientists regard the Bible as their guide to that true state of existence about which Jesus so loved to teach. The opening chapter in that sacred volume records God's spiritual and only creation; also it is there indicated that God intended that man's existence should be inestimably grand and idealistic, for the statement is made that God created man in His own image and likeness, and that He gave man dominion over all the earth. The teachings of Christ Jesus and of Christian Science amplify that statement, and unfold its infinite meanings. These teachings are humanity's beacon lights; they need to be understood. They show us how to live healthfully, happily, peacefully; how to establish true and lasting friendships, how to live in the comfort of God's abundant goodness.

In the light of Christian Science it is seen that mortal, material existence is a dream of life, substance, and intelligence in matter, and that it is therefore separate from, and unknown to God. The textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, makes this quite clear to those who study it in connection with the Bible. We learn from these books how to awaken from the mesmeric belief of material living. In this textbook Mrs. Eddy states (p. 14), "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing spiritual understanding and the consciousness of man's dominion over the whole earth. This understanding casts our error and heals the sick, and with it you can speak as one having authority."

True Prayer
Christian Science teaches that true prayer must necessarily be scientific, for in order to receive the reward of prayer our thought must be in conformity with divine Principle. From this you may see that Christian Science practice is prayer. It is useless to ask God for material benefits; for God, who is Spirit, knows nothing about such benefits. Human needs are supplied through prayer, but only in the way that Jesus taught and demonstrated, the spiritually scientific way. He said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness—that is, make it of primary importance to seek God in His heavenly kingdom, through right thinking—"and all these things"—the things needful for one's human welfare—"shall be added unto you." You see there is nothing haphazard about it. If the rule is followed understandingly, the result is demonstration.

Christian Science Healing
In Christian Science healing, the basis of thought must always be perfect God and perfect man. Having this basis of perfection, the purpose of Christian Science extends far beyond the healing of physical disorders. The principal part of its work is to lead humanity out of the darkness of sinning sense, into the light and joy of God's kingdom, here on earth. Naturally, healing sickness, restoring the so-called incurably diseased and dying, to lives of usefulness, is a great and necessary step in this direction, for much bodily discard is brought on by sinful living; and healing is accomplished by overcoming the errors in the human consciousness which cause such discord. All discordant conditions, of whatever nature, are due to wrong thinking of some sort. Even many of the medical doctors are admitting that today.

Christian Science has nothing in common with any curative system in which the human mind is a factor. The human mind cannot heal. Its use, either as will power or suggestion, can only effect a temporary cure; and the last state of the patient is worse than the first. Such so-called healing was spoken of in Jesus' day as casting out devils by Beelzebub.

The method in Christian Science is the same as that made use of by the Master. The Christian Science practitioner must always discern, in place of a sick mortal, the perfect man, spiritual and immortal. If his thought is clear enough to do this, he will readily heal the patient. The spiritualized consciousness which discerns and mentally declares the spiritual reality of man's being acts powerfully on the sick mentality, uncovers and drives out the mental error and restores harmony to the body. What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love and good deeds.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Modest expression is a beautiful setting to the diamond of talent and genius.—Chapin.

Modesty seldom resides in a breast that is not enriched with nobler virtues.—Goldsmith.

By HELEN RAETHER

"Way down South is the land of Cotten"—I mean Joe Cotten, generalissimo for Genius Orson Welles and perfectly swell actor in his own right. Joe comes from Virginia, you see, Petersburg, to be exact. By a somewhat circuitous route, he has now landed in Hollywood.

He's a big, tweedy, blonde and pipe-smoking young man, who squirms when he talks, and puts his feet up on things. So far, he has made two pictures—one the sensational "Citizen Kane" with Welles; the other "Lydia" the Merle Oberon film. This guy is good.

He always wanted to act, even when he was in High School in Petersburg, from which he graduated. Little southern town he went to Washington and enrolled in drama school. They tried to part him from his southern accent, with little success. On the side, he played professional football. His build is right for it.

New York was his next stop, but he got practically nowhere with his dramatic career. Finally he sold paint to make a living. In boom times there, Cotten went down into the land of cotton again, to Florida, where he sold more paint; also advertising on the Miami Herald. His southern accent all came back—plus.

In Florida he met Lenore Kipp, former editor of Harper's Bazaar; she later became Mrs. Cotten. He went up to New York every summer to try to get on the stage, but every winter he'd return to Florida, act in the Civic Theatre in Miami, and had almost decided to settle down and be a substantial citizen of the place when he amazed everybody, including himself, by getting a job with David Belasco on Broadway.

"I was an understudy with Belasco for Lynne Overman in "Dancing Queen", but nothing ever happened to him. I stayed for another play, "Night of Never", and then came Mr. Belasco's unfortunate demise.

"After that, I played in stock for a year at the Colony Theatre in Boston, my first appearance on that or any other legitimate stage, and I was lucky enough to get leading parts right away. It was a break for me that their first play was "Tonight or Never".

There followed a trek to New York and a series of good and bad plays. Some of the good ones were, "Tezich" with Milton Haskins; "Accept no Yacht" with Constance Cummings; "The D. Jones Above Rings Twice" with Michael Bartholomew.

Cotten did a lot of radio work in New York, was on one of the "soap-opera" radio series, with Martha Scott. He met Orson Welles then, and when the Mercury Theatre was formed, went with Welles and did eight plays with him.

He was with Katharine Hepburn in the highly successful "Philadelphia Story", creating the part done by Cary Grant in the screen version. He played the Cass Theatre in Detroit and remembers the city as being much like Hollywood. "It is big, and sprawling, like the film capitol, and most of the people are interested in one industry—automobiles—as Hollywoodians are in pictures."
When the Mercury group moved to Hollywood to make "Citizen Kane", Cotten came along. "I didn't get a true taste of movie-making with this, however, as it was all the old gang I'd known in New York and we did things under Orson's direction, just as we had, then.

"Lydia" was another story. I was scared to death of the camera. I worried so much about it that by the first day of shooting, I was exhausted. However, no one could have been more kind and understanding than Merle Oberon. She comes under the classification of those rare actresses who create a feeling of ease among their fellow-players. Before long I was used to the feel of the sound stage and now I like working in pictures very much."
Joe Cotten appears much younger off-screen than on. I'd hesitate to guess his age, but he chuckled over a letter from his bid brother. "He'd read in some magazine the studio publicity about my age, and said he was astounded to find that I was now his kid brother!"
He will be in Welles' next picture, "The Magnificent Ambersons", from the Booth Tarkington story, which is now in preparation at the Hal Roach Studios. Again he's not the romantic lead, but plays a papa. I'm waiting for the day he gets the gal. Ten to one he zooms topward in the next year.

Conservation Note

Mounted deer heads and bearskins still are much in demand for adorning the hunter's own den, basement recreation room or cabin wall, but they no longer have the commercial value they once possessed.

Taxidermists and tanners, both of whom have conservation department permits to work with game animals, report most of their work with deer and bear is not commercial, but is done for the hunter who has personal reasons for preserving examples of his prowess.

Housewives have condemned bear rugs as dirt catchers and bearskin robes went out with the horse-drawn sleigh. Buckskin jackets and gloves, once quite the style, are now affected chiefly by hunters who have had tanned and made up the hides of deer they have killed themselves.

Smart Styling Keynotes New Chevrolet

Distinguished styling, characterized by a new massiveness, marks the new 1942 Chevrolet, introduced to the motoring public today. Shown above is the Special De Luxe Sport Sedan, a roomy, luxurious, six-passenger model. A new grille treatment, with integral parking lights, and the smart new elongated front fender, which sweeps back into and opens with the front door, are design highlights. Interior appointments are in the modern mode.

HOLLY THEATRE

Inspired by the life of Mrs. Edna Gladney of Fort Worth, founder of the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society, who has devoted thirty years to child welfare and has found happy homes for more than 2000 babies, "Blossoms in the Dust", starring Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon, opens Sunday at the Holly Theatre for an engagement of two days.

Irish actress who rose to stardom overnight with her memorable performance of "Mrs. Chips" in "Good-bye, Mr. Chips." Now, as Mrs. Gladney, she has been given another tender, warmly human role of equal brilliance.

The most dramatic and heart-touching story ever brought to the screen, the picture opens in the gay, colorful Gibson Girl period of 1906, when lovely Edna Kahley meets, falls in love with and marries Sam Gladney, played by Pidgeon. Mrs. Gladney becomes interested in child welfare when she observes the difficulties women workers in her husband's flour mill have in caring for their children.

Simply and quietly Mrs. Gladney goes about her chosen work of helping babies and assuring reforms in adoption laws. When Sam Gladney suffers financial reverses and loses the mills they move to Fort Worth, where Mrs. Gladney rings every doorbell in Texas in order to secure funds to start a new home. The screen has never brought a more beautiful romantic story to the screen than this one of a woman who fell in love with 2000 babies.

Nine Hunters Killed

With this and one more weekend of heavy hunting pressure in the small game hunting season yet to be accounted for, the conservation department again is advising caution, citing the current season toll to date of nine dead and 24 injured by gunshot.

Of the nine dead, only two were more than 21 years old. Five were killed by their own guns. Heart attacks following overexertion while hunting, a drowning, attempted cleaning of loaded guns, target practice and the playing with hunting firearms by children have taken another 10 lives in Michigan since the hunting season opened.

Last year there were 21 fatalities in the small game season and 14 in deer season, or less than one for each 20,000 hunters licensed.
