SHE doesn't wear an overseas cap on the job—or the smart blue, gray or khaki of the women's war-work units. But she is right in the thick of war activity just the same. Through her switchboard flash hundreds of calls every day. Perhaps only one of those calls—she can't know which one—deals directly with the war emergency. But the swift completion of that one call may speed the delivery of a whole squadron of planes or a battalion of tanks!

Vocal Music Lovers To Form Organization

Singers of this community will be glad to know that a county-wide choral organization is underway to stimulate good singing, and give lovers of vocal music an opportunity to study serious choral works.

Mr. Cesar Chanfone, conductor of the Pontiac Philharmonic Orchestra, has accepted the leadership of this new organization. Mr. Chanfone has conducted leading choral organizations in various cities throughout the United States and in Europe. He has had very successful experience in choral work.

This new choral group is to be composed of men and women singers representing every community in Oakland County. Church singers are especially invited to join. The purpose of this organization is to present public concerts during the winter and summer season.

Group leaders have been selected in Rochester, Oxford, Lake Orion, Clarkston, Royal Oak, Birmingham. Those interested to join should write to Mr. Chanfone, 800 State Theatre Bldg., Pontiac, Michigan. In order to complete the organization within as short a time as possible, it is requested that all applications be in by February 14.

Train for War Jobs During Plant Change Over

Admitting that the emergency which will arise from unemployment caused by conversion of civilian goods plants into arsenals for military production is "of very grave seriousness," Robert C. Goodwin, regional director of the Office of Defense Health and Welfare services, said every effort will be made to minimize the effects of this gap of unemployment.

In Michigan it is estimated that between 150,000 and 250,000 workers will be idle for periods ranging from several weeks to six months or even longer when automotive plant's stop making passenger cars and light trucks. By May, however, it is expected the number of idle men and women will have dropped. By the end of 1942 labor shortages may be expected as the arsenals hit full-scale production and by early 1943 this shortage is expected to reach 100,000 in Region V which includes Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky.

Edward L. Keenan is acting chairman of the regional labor supply committee which is working with labor, management and government agencies in efforts to assure an adequate supply of trained workers for war plants.

THE STORY OF ELECTRICITY

Number Three in a series published by The Detroit Edison Company

Until the middle of the 17th century, men produced electricity by rubbing objects laboriously by hand. Then a burgo-master of Magdeburg, Otto von Geuricke, invented the first machine for generating electric sparks . . . a revolving ball of sulphur on a wooden shaft, turned with a crank. In 1675 Sir Isaac Newton, in his book Opticks, described the same experiment using a glass ball:

"A Globe of Glass . . . if swiftly turn'd around its Axis, will . . . shine where it rubs against the palm of ones Hand apply'd to it: And if a piece of white Paper, Cloth, or the end of ones Finger be held at a small distance from the Glass where it is most in motion, the electric Vapour which is excited by the friction will . . . be put into such an agitation as to emit Light, and make the white Paper, Cloth or Finger appear lucid like a Glow-worm."

In 1709 Francis Hawksbee, a talented Englishman who held the post of Curator of Experiments at the Royal Society, made a similar machine using a glass ball with the air evacuated. When he held his hand against the whirling globe, it became filled with a weird light "so great that large print . . . could be read by it, and at the same time the room, which was large and wide, became sensibly enlightened, and the wall was visible at the remotest distance, which was at least ten feet."

A trace of mercury vapor in Hawksbee's globe made the strange light even more intense. This phenomenon was the forerunner of the mercury vapor arc lamp invented by P. Cooper Hewitt in 1901 . . . that strong greenish-blue light seen so often in factories and engraving plants.
