Mich. Bell Cooperates In Bond Sales

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has applied for Federal authorization to act as state-wide issuing agent for the United States Defense Bonds being purchased by its employees under a voluntary payroll allotment plan, according to announcement by W. B. Fauser, manager for the Company.

In the past, when enough funds were accumulated to huy a hond, the Michigan Bell Company remitted the funds to the Post Office, which in turn sent the bond to the employee by registered mail. At present, those employees who wish to purchase bonds, either on small weekly or monthly installments or by payment in full, may so arrange with the company. That practice would be continued if the company should be authorized to act as an issuing agent, the telephone manager said.

Just started in Pontiac, selected as a typical Michigan industrial city, it is hoped the program will provide a solution for overcoming an anticipated critical condition in war production areas resulting from tire rationing and discontinuance of automobile pro-

"To accomplish this," said State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy, author of the experiment, 'we hope to obtain a discontinuance of unnecessary driving, a 'club plan' for factory workers, as well as participation by business men, schools and housewives."

Kennedy said he hoped workers could be organized to go to work four in a car instead of at the current ratio of one and a half persons to a car; that housewives would be urged to shop at off-peak transportation periods, and that school hours might be changed to conserve bus facilities.

Kennedy has designated Leonard C. Sauer, director of the office management division of the State Highway Department, to serve as general director of the program, and H. J. Conroy, engineer of the Saginaw district, as his assistant.

Prior to its adoption, the program was given unanimous approval by the State Administrative Board, State Defense Council, City Commission of Pontiac and other cooperating groups. Various local committees will be named immediately, Sauer said, with co-administrators for industry, labor, business and bus companies.

Self-Governed Cooperatives or Dictatorship?

The farmers of Michigan and of the United States must answer this question themselves or be told what they can do. Outside organizations (not farmers) are already actively engaged in taking over control of farmers and farming.

They are getting help from certain people in the fringe of rural life who seem to prefer to string along with self-seeking dictators instead of coopreatively running their own show on democratic

THE STORY OF ELECTRICITY

Number Four in a series published by The Detroit Edison Company

The year 1745 marked the first time that electricity was collected in quantities large enough to facilitate experiments. The feat has been variously credited to Bishop von Kleist, dean of the Cathedral of Comin, Pomerania; to Pieter Van Musschenbroek, professor at the University of Leyden, Holland; and to Cunaeus, a pupil of Musschen-brock and wealthy burgher of the city of Leyden. At any rate, this invention supposedly owes its name to the Abbe Nollet of France, who dubbed it the "Leyden jar."

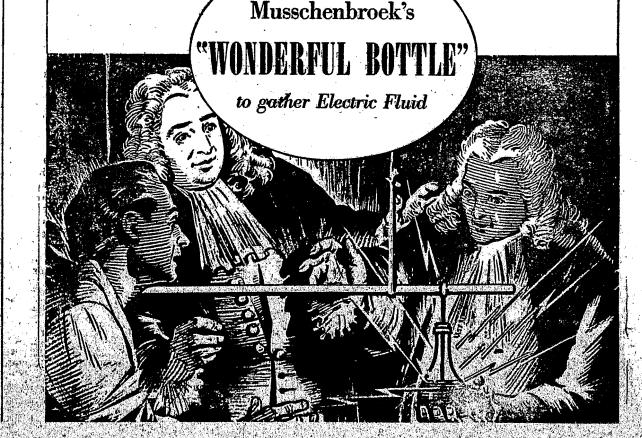

Musschenbroek set about collecting the "electric fluid" in a wide-mouthed flask half-full of water. The flask was corked, and a wire through the cork dipped into the water of the jar. The other end of the wire was connected to a gun barrel suspended by two silk cords, and attached to an electrical "spark" machine. After having charged the bottle, Cunaeus, who was assisting with the experiment, attempted to disconnect the wire, and received a violent shock. Musschenbroek, writing to his friend

Reaumur in Paris, declared he "would not take such a shock for the kingdom of France." But the Abbe Nollet repeated the experiments before King Louis XV, sending an electrical charge through 180 of the King's guardsmen. Benjamin Franklin, in a letter to Peter Collinson in 1747, said, "I cannot forbear adding a few observations on M. Musschenbroek's wonderful bottle," and described 10 different experiments that he (Franklin) had performed. Another letter told how he used five Leyden jars to kill a 10-pound turkey. Franklin added, "The birds killed in this manner cook uncommonly tender."

When Alec Templeton, famous blind pianist, visited Detroit to play in a Variety Club benefit he called as usual on his old friend Harold Kean at Station WJR. The two blind men went on the air in a 15-minute chat in which they discussed music in general and their own slant on it. Kean has been blind since childhood and has been a featured singer on WJR for 14 years. He not only solos but is a member of the Three Aces and the Don Large chorus. The two men have been fast friends since Templeton's first appearance in Detroit several years ago.

Alec Templeton, the sensational blind British pianist, will be heard for the first time in Ann Arbor when he appears in a special concert Thursday. LINES FOR WAR CALLS!

Telephone lines are always busiest in mid-morning and midafternoon. Those are the "peak" periods for business calls. Right now, with the state and nation on a schedule of all-out production for war, this peak load is far greater than ever before. It takes a lot of telephone calls to make a tank or a bomber, and it's vitally important that such messages should not be delayed.

By doing your telephoning at off-peak hours and keeping your calls as short as possible, you'll improve your own service and rive real help to America's effort in the war emergency.
