First Aid Teachers Selected for Course

As part of a general program to build Red Cross services in Oakland County to a wartime peak, an intensive course in first aid teaching techniques will be given carefully-selected persons May 5-7-12-14-15 by Theodore G. Albee of St. Louis, first aid field representative of the National Red Cross, it was announced today by Dr. E. B. Cudney, chairman of the Oakland County Chapter of the organization.

Those successfully completing the 15-hour course will be recognized by the Red Cross as lay instructors and will be authorized to organize and conduct classes in Standard and Advanced First Aid, under the supervision of the local Red Cross chapter, Dr. Cudney said.

A sufficient number of well-trained first aiders has been made imperative with the outbreak of war, Dr. Cudney declared, pointing out that the Red Cross has the responsibility of teaching first aid to all civilian defense workers. "While bombs may not fall in this area or sabotage occur," he said, "we must be prepared. With more than 30 years experience in first aid teaching, the Red Cross has increased the tempo of its training program to help make America ready for any wartime emergency. First aid is an integral part of our nation's war program, not only from the standpoint of civilian defense but also in preparing Americans to be able to render efficient, rapid emergency treatment in industrial and home accidents."

Jeanne Murton, 9075 Big Lake Rd., Clarkston, is elected to attend the course.

Mr. Albee will also conduct a Water Safety Course in the Local Chapter, which began May 4 in the Royal Oak High School Pool continuing May 6-8 and 13 in the Pontiac High School Pool and May 11 in the Royal Oak Pool. Instructors wishing to be reauthorized are attending this class as well as individuals wishing to secure authorization as Water Safety Instructors according to Miss Irma Sounding, chairman of the Water Safety Committee.

WPB estimates that between 40 and 50 million pounds of wool will be saved by cutting the cuffs from the trousers of men's and boys' suits and other changes in war tailoring.

Travel in Comfort

If you are one of the fortunates planning a vacation this year try to pick a time other than July and August, commonly accepted as vacation months, suggests the Office of Defense Transportation, Washington.

Stores, factories and other companies with a large number of employees are asked to schedule leaves and vacations throughout the year instead of during the two summer months. War needs, which is making a tremendous demand upon bus and rail facilities, is the reason for the request.

"And in addition to the government's request let me urge that people going on vacations leave and return on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays," said P. L. Radcliffe, General Traffic Manager for Great Lakes Greyhound Lines, operating in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

"This leaves the weekends open for those who must travel and will assure greater comfort for those taking vacations. The adoption of staggered vacations throughout the year, and mid-week starting and ending of these vacations, will enable common carrier facilities to be utilized most efficiently," declared Mr. Radcliffe.

Humbleness

Fortunate's the man who's blessed By God with simple humbleness, Who recognizes every hour— The greatness of a super power.

Fortunate is her indeed, Who words of wisdom plant a seed On fertile soil, so they might start A thing of beauty in his heart. Yes, humble thoughts and humble ways

Will help a man in dreary days To clothe himself with super might, To make his journey gay and bright. Boastful notes are always sour, And strip the boaster of his power, Leaves him weak, and all unloaded, Like a shell that's been exploded.

Pity the man whose nature's such, That he is apt to talk too much, Who thinks that he's a perfect whiz, And tells the world how smart he is. Humbleness is packed with power That's added to most every hour, And honesty and humble grace Was never known to lose its case.

U. of M. Awards 100 Scholarships

One hundred high school seniors from every part of Michigan were notified yesterday that they had won Alumni Undergraduate Scholarships for the next school year at the University of Michigan.

Barbara Roehm, 6551 Maple Drive, Clarkston, was one of the winners of a scholarship.

Announcement of the scholarship awards was made by Dean C. S. Yoakum, Vice-president of the University in charge of educational investigations and dean of the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies.

Winners are selected each year on the basis of scholarship, character and financial need. The majority of the 100 winners were chosen from hundreds of nominations made by local University of Michigan Clubs and alumnae groups throughout the State. A small number were selected from nominations made by groups of alumni and alumnae in smaller communities where there are no organized University of Michigan clubs.

Students who maintain a satisfactorily high standard of scholastic attainment under the grant are eligible for similar awards in their successive years at the University.

This year there are approximately 240 scholarships winners of previous years enrolled in the undergraduate colleges of the University. During the 12 years since the Alumni Undergraduate Scholarships were first established, more than 800 students have been sponsored by the University of Michigan Clubs.

Rural Schools May Reopen Late

Delayed opening of rural schools next fall until harvesting has been completed was suggested by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner as State and Federal agencies moved to meet the serious threat of a farm labor shortage on Michigan farms and in farm homes this summer.

The Governor said that school boards in rural areas would be requested to defer reopening of schools until all crops are harvested and that every high school boy and girl would be asked to enlist in the Victory Farm program in order to give maximum aid to farmers hard pressed for help.

Defense Equipment Local Problem

Suggestions on How to Meet the Emergency

Calling upon Michigan's citizens "to lick their own defense equipment problems," Lt. Col. Harold A. Furlong, administrator of the Michigan Council of Defense, urged that communities improvise needed equipment from materials already available.

Pointing out that coastal areas have first call on the small amount of equipment now being manufactured, Lt. Col. Furlong declared:

"The people must look through their municipal attics and see what they've got to work with. Much of the job is a task of inventory and assembling and new equipment is not needed in many cases."

"Blankets, sheets and coats can be obtained from people in the community, and any woman's organization can make bandages, under supervision of a doctor or a nurse," he continued. "Most county road commissions have plenty of shovels, pick axes and similar tools."

"Michigan is a state of mechanics—and if some of them can't contrive pumps and fire wagons out of materials they have on hand, I will be greatly mistaken."

Several instances were cited where local ingenuity had solved equipment problems. Saginaw officials have converted an old fire truck to defense purposes. Lansing has fitted street sprinkler trucks for use also as fire pumping units. Flint has made Thomas splints out of scrap metal. Jackson prison inmates have made their own stretchers.

Agreeing that gas masks and steel helmets can not be made locally, the State administrator suggested that World War veterans be requested to loan helmets they brought back from France. Many bugle corps have tin helmets which might be suitable for air raid wardens and other defense workers.

HOLLY THEATRE

Canada's heroes of the air, flying headlong to Victory, are the heroes, too, of "Captains of the Clouds", the Warner Bros. picture which will be the new screen fare at the Holly Theatre, starting today. James Cagney stars at the head of a cast which includes Brenda Marshall, Dennis Morgan, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Reginald Gardiner and Reginald Denny as well as many actual members of the RCAF.

Filmed in glorious Technicolor, "Captains of the Clouds" tells an heroic story of some bush pilots from the woods of Northern Canada who enlist in the Royal Canadian Air Force after they hear Churchill's "We Shall Never Surrender" speech. A three-cornered romance involving a vixenish but lovely French-Canadian girl and two of the pilots, is the human interest background against which the story of the heroic flyers is played.

Central figure in the drama is the character portrayed by Cagney. A hard-flying, hard-fighting guy, he enlists in the service expecting to be sent out immediately to fight the Axis planes in the sky. Instead he is assigned to a teaching job on the ground. His attempts to prove that he is an able sky fighter only serve to get him dismissed from the service. He gets his chance, however, when he volunteers to ferry a bomber over to England, and through his heroism is able to save the rest of the squadron when they are attacked by a Messerschmitt.
"Captains of the Clouds" was directed by Michael Curtiz.

Plow sweet clover or alfalfa sod under by May 15 to get a normal crop of navy beans in a normal year, advises H. R. Pettigrove of the Michigan State College farm crops staff. In years when a dry spring occurs and plowing is delayed until June 1, only half a crop is obtained. Wet spring weather, college tests show, brings a normal crop even when plowing is delayed, but Pettigrove advises farmers not to gamble on the weather.

Milkweed as a farm treasure. Once considered a pest, but now found to yield filling for life preservers, produce rubber, fine paper and warm fabrics, check soil erosion—and can be worth from $10 to $50 an acre. MAP AREAS FOR SPORTSMAN USE

Anticipating a need for close-to-home game areas for workers in war industries, conservation department game specialists are pushing the mapping and classification of wastelands in three counties near Detroit where strategic areas might be developed for sportsman use. Difficulties with travel and in getting time off both are expected to reduce trips to familiar northern hunting grounds when the need for outdoor relaxation and sport is greatest.

According to R. D. Burroughs, in charge of Pittman-Robertson area administration for the game division, approval of each project by both the state conservation commission and the federal fish and wildlife service precedes release of any Pittman-Robertson funds for land acquisition. The funds are derived from a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and are apportioned among states on the basis of land area and numbers of hunting licenses sold.

All of Michigan's 83 counties participated in gathering up 4483 tons of metal scrap from farms, according to a summary report which covered a period up to late March. A survey indicated 27,187 tons of scrap iron still was available on farms.

ON YOUR MARK...
GET SET... GO!

YIPPEE! HEY, MOM—
SIS BROKE THE RECORD!
28 SECONDS TO DATE
HER BOY FRIEND!

It's a patriotic duty to help keep telephone lines clear so that important war messages will not be delayed. Even though your line may not be needed for war calls, a "traffic jam" of calls might tie up a central office, stopping emergency messages from getting through. And scarcity of war material makes it impossible for us to add to central office capacity as fully as we should like to do.

Keeping telephone conversations short will help. We suggest that you know beforehand what you want to say; speak distinctly so you won't have to repeat, and do not hold the line merely to talk of trivial things.

In so far as material shortages permit, we shall continue to provide the best service possible, and we look forward to the day when we can meet all requests as in the past. But now, and for the duration, war needs come first.

KEEP THESE POINTS IN MIND

You can help vital war messages go through if you—

- Make telephone conversations short
- Avoid the busy hours—10 A. M. to 12; 2 to 4 P. M.
- Be certain you have the right number
- Answer promptly when your telephone rings

For Homemakers

Mush and milk, fried salt pork or buckwheat pancakes may have slipped in popularity and regularity, but a typical Michigan farm breakfast is still a real meal.

From a roundup of observations gathered at Michigan State College it is apparent that some of the typical foods of a quarter century ago are not found now on the farm breakfast table, but variety and better nutrition have been added by many families.

Fried eggs, fried potatoes and bacon frequently are on the fare. Homemade bread is staging a return now that bakery trucks are reducing their country routes. The old-fashioned dish of oatmeal still makes its occasional appearance but many families have turned, with their city cousins, to the use of prepared cereals.

Citrus fruit or juice has become popular. That is not disloyal to the Michigan fruit industry, since southern berries have been loud in praise of Michigan apple juice and other Michigan canned fruits. Products made from milk yielded by the state's million dairy cows appear on the Michigan farm table in the form of milk butter, cream and cheese.

"Oldsters" who remember when a prune was a winter luxury, are surprised at the variety that now graces a breakfast. More fresh fruit and more fresh eggs are common and part of the modern version of better nutrition.

One information source reported when he was a boy it was unusual to have spare eggs for Easter, unless he and his brother found and hid some of the early spring-laid eggs and saved them out by hiding them. Modern poultry housing, better feeding and the use of lights have made a science out of getting winter eggs, thus assuring the family of some to eat and some to sell.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches thru out the world on Sunday, May 10.

The Golden Text (Hosea 14:1) is: "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity."

Among the Bible citations is his passage (Genesis 1:27,31): "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p.470): "The standard of perfection was originally God and man. Has God taken down His own standard, and has man fallen? God is the creator of man, and the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect."

A 10-inch phonograph record contains about two ounces of shellac, which is the amount that goes into the manufacture of one military signal flare.
