Dancers Presented At June Festival

Several Hundred Guests Appreciate Local Talent

Last Friday night Inez Miller and her dance pupils appeared in a June Festival in the Clarkston School auditorium. About four hundred guests enjoyed the very fine program.

Miss Miller is to be congratulated on the thoroughness with which she had every little detail taken care of. The program opened with a ballet in one act in which all of the student dancers participated. This first number as well as the other group numbers and several of the student solos were Miss Miller's own arrangements. The costumes were dainty and attractive. In two of the group numbers Mr. Robert Campbell of the Campbell Dramatic Arts Studio of Detroit assisted. Miss Betty Ash of Clarkston was the accompanist.

Many of these young dancers took part in the recital a year ago and the progress they had made in that time was amazing. The parents were not only proud of their children but were proud of Miss Miller, the teacher.

Miss Miller (Inez to the Clarkston folks) began her dancing lessons when she was five years old. Her love for the work has made her an apt pupil and now, while just a junior in High School, she is becoming not only a splendid teacher but a successful teacher. When you consider that the great Russian dancer, Anna Pavlova, entered ballet school at the age of ten and in a very few years was the prima ballerina of the Marinsky Theatre in St. Petersburg and later appeared as a dancing wonder in many countries, you begin to vision a great future for Clarkston's Inez Miller. Her solo dances last Friday night were beautiful. Her movements were lithe and graceful and her poise was marvelous. Her sweet smile told her audience that she was enjoying her dance and showed that she had confidence in her work. All these dancing characteristics are being reflected in her pupils.

The students who presented solo numbers were Ruth Davies, Mary Lee Volberding, Mazy Wompole, Marion Skinner, Jean Perrin and Adrienne Volberding. Others who danced in the group numbers were Ann Barrows, Kay Robinson, Judy O'Dell, Carol and Sandra Gagnon.

It would be very difficult to select any one dance as the outstanding presentation of the evening as every number was excellent and space would not permit the publishing of all the favorable comments that were heard in the audience after the program.

Just before the final curtain when Miss Miller made her last bow little curly headed Ann Barrows ran on to the stage and presented her with a pretty corsage.

At the front of the auditorium were large baskets of white, pink and red peonies.

William Parker will be among the graduates at the Normal College at Ypsilanti on Saturday, June 13th. He has enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard and expects to be called into service in July.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stlayton have enjoyed entertaining several guests during the last week. Mrs. Allena Jickells of Davisburg spent the last week at the Stlayton home. She returned to her home on Monday. Guests last Friday were Mrs. Stlayton's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Harris of Yale, Mich., and Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hooker and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bliss of Milan, Mich.

Baccalaureate Service Held Sunday Night

Rev. Walter Ballagh Preached the Sermon

The Clarkston High School graduating class for 1942 and the parents and friends attended the baccalaureate service in the Methodist Church last Sunday. The Rev. W. Harold Pailthorp was in charge of the service. Adele Thomas presided at the organ and Orlo Willoughby directed the combined choirs composed of groups from the Methodist Choir, the Baptist Choir and the School Glee Club.

The sermon, which was inspirational was preached by the Rev. Walter Ballagh, Pastor of the Clarkston Baptist Church. "Know Christ—let Him dominate your life, your thoughts, actions, decisions—that is the key to success." Thus Rev. Ballagh climaxed his baccalaureate address.

Prefacing his remarks on the subject, "How to be Successful", Rev. Ballagh pointed out four Don'ts which he thought helpful in the planning of a successful life. "Don't expect the world with a fence around it", he said, stressing the fact that life itself is more than the mere accumulation of wealth or control of acreage. "Don't demand the 'easy way' in life. Don't be swayed by the thoughtless criticisms and meaningless opinions of others. Don't sacrifice the future on the altar of the immediate. But know Christ, for in Him is eternal life and daily triumph."

The graduates marched from the church auditorium to the strains of Verdi's "Grand March" from "Aida". The words of the speaker will remain with them for some time as each one will start, if they have not already, to plan a future which they hope will be successful.

Senior Literary Club Has Annual Picnic

Mrs. Forrest Jones Was the Hostess

On Tuesday the Clarkston Literary Club closed the season with a picnic on the spacious grounds at the rear of the home of Mrs. Pearl Urch on Holcomb Street in Clarkston. Mrs. Forrest Jones was hostess.

Thirty-seven members and guests enjoyed the delicious one o'clock luncheon served at tables on the lawn. During the afternoon the group visited and discussed current events.

Among the guests were two honorary members, Mrs. Josephine Smith of Chelsea and Mrs. H. A. Huey of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Beach, also of Ann Arbor.

Clarkston Locals

Mrs. Milan Vliet has been named the Clarkston chairman for the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital auxiliary tag day on Saturday, June 27th.

John Ronk, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk, returned home from Goodrich Hospital on Thursday after undergoing an operation for appendicitis two weeks ago Wednesday.

The Clarkston High School students who received the grand awards last Friday for having the best consistent driving records for the year were Stuart and Frank Falk, who tied for first, and received a silver cup; Stewart Baynes, second, and Bert Falkner, third, each received defense stamps.

A Bride in June

A bride in June, in peaceful days, Can brighten life in many ways, Can cook, can bake, can keep a house, Can heap enjoyment on her spouse, Can wash, can iron, can darn his socks, Can steer life's ship from ugly rocks, A bride in June, in normal times Inspires thoughts for poet's rhymes, Must all her ways of living change, Must all her habits rearrange, Must learn to give, must learn to take, Must do things only for love's sake.

A bride in June, when we're at war Has all these things and many more, She's faced with joy that marriage brings, She's faced with clothes and diamond rings, She's faced with God's unequalled plan

Of union with her chosen man. A groom in June, in uniform Will gladly face the fiercest storm, Will work like man ne'er worked before, Will shortly end a ghastly war, How great the task he will not care So long as she is waiting there.

Have You Shared In Helping the USO?

These Clubs for Service Men Gain in Popularity

The second annual campaign of the U. S. O. is now in full swing to raise $32,000,000 nationally. Michigan's share of this being $1,560,000. Michigan has a fine record in that practically all of her eighty-three counties have set up local campaign organizations.

In Clarkston and vicinity the campaign has been going on for the last week and men and women are canvassing the districts in an effort to meet the quota of $700. Be generous when you are called upon because this is one way that you can really do something to help cheer the boys who are in uniform to protect you.

Many do not realize what the USO clubs do. One of the most popular USO clubs in the greater Detroit area is located in the Hammond Building across from the Detroit City Hall. This club serves an average of 1,500 men in uniform per day, and a normal weekend sees from 3,000 to 5,000 service men pass through its doors. The uniforms vary from the plain khaki of a buck private in the United States Army to the colorful plaid kilts of the Essex Scottish Regiment which is stationed in Windsor.

What are some of the attractions which make this USO Club so well attended?

Well, it is said an Army travels on its stomach and these service men certainly do justice to the sandwiches, coffee, ginger ale, and cookies which are served free of charge. For instance, over a weekend something like 4,000 sandwiches, hundreds of pounds of cookies, and fifty gallons of ginger ale are consumed. Most of the sandwiches and cookies are donated by enthusiastic civilians.

Then there are girls—tall ones, short ones; blondes, brunettes, red-heads. Statistically speaking, there are nine hundred registered hostesses who work in relays of fifty, although the girls don't call it "work". They are friendly, gracious, well-poised young women who dance with the men, play ping-pong, checkers, and other games, or simply sit and chat.

We don't mean to insinuate that this man's army is savage, but whether or not "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast", the juke box gives out with the latest dance records from morning until night, with practically no let-up. There is a piano available, too, and often groups of men and girls gather around to sing old favorites.

Groups giving parties to which they would like to invite service men register at this USO Club so that often the men in uniform have an interesting assortment of parties, picnics, or dances which they may sign up to attend.

What this club does for the boys in the Detroit area is being done by other clubs all over the nation. Your contribution will help to keep these clubs in existence.

If you care to make a donation, large or small, and you have not been contacted yet just stop in at the Beattie Motor Sales and leave it with Mr. Robert Beattie, treasurer of the drive in this district or mail it to him.

Public Asked to Air Liquor Views

An opportunity for the public to air its views on liquor control is to be provided by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission which is holding a public meeting in the Moose Hall, 47 1/2 N. Perry Street, Pontiac, at 8 P. M. Monday evening, June 15. Commissioner James D. Dotsch and other Commission officials will speak briefly but the major part of the meeting will be open to public discussion.

"The Commission is determined," says Mr. Dotsch, "that every precaution shall be taken to see that liquor sales are not permitted to interfere with war production."

In this connection, special invitations to the meeting are extended personnel managers of war plants in this area to contribute any ideas they may have to the meeting.

Strawberries Are Now Local Crop

Strawberry days are coming into Michigan areas to offer the first real test for housewives bent on conserving the household sugar supplies.

Ideas offered by home economics extension authorities at Michigan State College indicate the ways in which the use of fresh fruits can aid health, provide variety for the table and still not tax the sugar bowl.

When the berries are eaten fresh they can be served with just enough sugar and not too much. The ideal combination for flavor and sugar saving involves the selection of ripe berries. Consumption of fresh produce relieves some of the nation's transportation problems and still provides plenty of food for the average family.

Then there are the problems of conserving the surplus fruit by canning.

In some kitchens the oldtime standard is to use a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit. Wartime strawberry canning can be satisfactory, the college specialists point out, if berries get far less sugar, even reducing to half a pound of sugar to a pound of berries. In cupfuls, that means one cup of sugar to three cups of berries.

If the product is to be strawberry preserves, then the cook had best use up to one-half of the necessary increased sweetening from supplies of honey or corn syrup.

Strawberry juice, brought to a boil and put up in green bottles to retain the vitamin C in the product, is another sugar saver. A cupful of sugar to a gallon of juice is considered sufficient. The juice goes well for drinks or ices.

Save Scrap and Help Save Democracy

Since Pearl Harbor, the flow of scrap rubber to reclaiming plants has greatly diminished. It must be started again. Every American must see to it that every ounce of old rubber he owns gets into war channels. Scrap rubber can be sold to junk dealers or can be given to charitable organizations. This is a tangible contribution that the American people can make to the war effort. Refusal to do so is hoarding at the expense of our armed forces.

There has been a great deal of confusion about the rubber situation, much of it caused by optimistic stories about the availability of synthetic rubber at an early date, or the large amount of scrap rubber which can be re-processed. But there is little real basis for such optimism. Our rubber shortage is one of the worst materials shortages we face. We can spare no rubber of any kind for non-essential uses. Statements to the contrary are misleading, and do the country a great disservice, for the facts as we see them are grim, and we need one hundred per cent cooperation in conservation measures by the general public and by industry.

War Production Board figures show three facts:

1. We cannot spare any rubber to make new tires for ordinary passenger cars; the tires we do have must be strictly rationed to essential uses.
2. All the synthetic rubber we get must go to the war effort.
3. The most optimistic estimates for this year and next indicate no rubber for anything but the most essential uses.

Actually the rubber shortage is far worse than most people seem to realize; the enemy controls 90 per cent of the world's rubber producing areas, and every ounce of our stockpile is needed desperately for the armed forces.

Worst of all, the optimistic stories may keep us from recognizing what we are up against until too late. Our biggest stockpile of rubber is on our cars; these tires must be preserved. Autos shelve for the duration for lack of tires put more burden on already overcrowded buses and trolleys.

The 1942 allotments do not include any rubber for new passenger car tires, and are restricted to articles essential to the civilian industrial economy, such as bus and truck tires, and certain industrial, medical and health items.

Every citizen can and must adopt a five-point conservation program:

1. Stop driving your car except when necessary.
2. Drive under 40 miles an hour.
3. Shift tires from wheels and inflate them properly.
4. If you drive to work, drive your friends and neighbors; car pooling is essential.
5. Remember that rubber is precious; save it; every car is now a vital part of the nation's transportation system.

Needless driving today is unpatriotic. Deliberate waste of rubber helps the enemy. We call Americans to ration themselves strictly.

All of the above statements were issued by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board; Arthur Newhall, Rubber Coordinator; Joseph Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, and Leon Henderson, Administrator of the Office of Price Administration and Director of the WPB Division of Civilian Supply.

Is Bible Prophecy Being Fulfilled?

It is a firmly established fact that down through the ages mankind has turned to the Bible in times of trouble. The present great crisis has filled empty churches and the printing and sale of Bibles has reached a new high. Many predictions have been foreseen in the interpretation of some passage of the scripture and we trust some comfort has been found.

Recently a valued subscriber asked us to read a certain passage and pass it on to the readers. History has and ever will repeat itself continuously, and as man has never changed since the creation, we will always have the same follies and follies.

If you are a Bible reader perhaps you have missed the significance of the word or it never applied as now; and if you are not a Bible reader, this may help you in acquiring the habit.

The passage will be found in Isaiah, chapter 8, beginning at verse 18.

HOLLY THEATRE

One of the most charming comedies of the season, Warner Bros. "The Male Animal", which opens at the Holly Theatre next Sunday is a sparkling film that brings together three grand performers—Henry Fonda, Olivia de Havilland and Joan Leslie.

The setting for "The Male Animal" is Midwestern University, a college as typical as its name, with its usual enthusiastic scholars and equally enthusiastic alumni, who use every anniversary as an excuse to reminisce about "the days when they attended the university". Among the more genial of professors is one Tommy Turner, played by Henry Fonda, whose sense of right and wrong gets him into trouble with the college authorities. His wife, portrayed by lively Olivia de Havilland, is sympathetic with him, and realizes the importance of his work, but she likes to have her fun.

The fun is provided when an old classmate (and ex-football hero) portrayed by Jack Carson, comes back for the big game. He and Olivia become a bit more friendly than old acquaintanceship warrants (at least from Fonda's point of view) and another trouble is piled upon the professor's back. But that isn't the end of his worries. His sister-in-law, played by Joan Leslie, has a quarrel with her boy-friend and they involve the unfortunate instructor in the midst of it.

The situations become more breezy and humorously involved as the picture progresses, building up to a climax that is sure to have you howling with laughter. Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein together with Stephen Morehouse Avery are responsible for the swift-paced, witty dialogue of the screen play.

Producing Michigan's One-Third

This typical Michigan oil well is one of 8,200 now producing a total of more than 60,000 barrels of oil a day. Consumption by Michigan motorists and industry, however, amounts to about 150,000 barrels a day—without rationing. Operators are now searching for oil on more than 380,000 acres of state-owned land, the most the conservation department ever has had under lease, and exploration on private land is being pushed intensively also.

MAKING ONE ITEM DO FOR TWO—

The Detroit Edison Company's Standards Catalog lists approximately 30,000 items

how standardization saves money for Detroit Edison customers

Why have 41 different styles of outlet boxes when half-a-dozen will suffice? Why buy 16 different cleaning powders when four will do the job? All departments of the Company are cooperating in raising many questions similar to these. As a result, the big catalog shown above looms large in helping us to make savings. It lists some 30,000 items, all indexed and classified, that are purchased for use in our business. And every one of these items is standardized to achieve important economies in their use.

These economies are twofold: (1) the direct dollar saving in the initial cost of the item, and (2) the saving effected through cutting down the number of items, with a consequent lessening of storage, handling, and ordering expense. A few examples will illustrate the point: In our purchases of printed forms, we planned for fewer sizes, weights, and grades of paper, as well as fewer forms. This reduced the number of forms 43%, and saved $40,000 annually.

The apparently simple problem of washing floors, windows, walls and woodwork would not seem to present much opportunity for saving through the standardization of the materials involved. Yet by having cleaning powders made to our specification, we cut the cost more than half and saved over $5,000 a year. The substitution of wool felt for cork in pipe insulation saved 84 per cent of the cost . . . a total of $1,799 on one job. These examples can be multiplied—pipes and fittings, tools, wiring, lumber, metal polish, fly exterminators, rope and cord, drain solvent, etc. The list is almost endless.

Today we hear much about standardization in industry to help the war effort. Our standards program has been achieving economies for the past 20 years. These economies are reflected in our service and rates. The average price per kilowatt-hour paid by our residence customers for electricity has dropped 46 per cent in the last 20 years. Give Father a Break!

By BETTY BARCLAY

Surprise Dad on Father's Day by serving a real man's meal—smothered chops, a rich chocolate pie and iced tea that will make him forget heat or humidity. Decorate your pie so he will SEE the meal is for HIM.

It's easy! Here are the three recipes you need. The rest is up to you:

Lemon Smothered Chops

2 pounds pork or lamb chops, cut thick

Put in a large covered skillet or chicken fryer. Cover top of meat closely with:

2 unpeeled lemons, sliced
1 large sweet onion, cut in rings
1 green pepper, cut in rings
1 teaspoon salt

Pour over all:
2 cups tomato juice

Dot with flakes of fat cut from meat or butter. Cover and cook on top of stove 1 1/2 hours or until done. Lift onto a hot platter, being careful to keep lemon, onion and pepper slices in place. The meat cooked this way acquires a chicken texture and color, while the lemon, onion, pepper and tomato make a delicious sauce accompaniment. Serves 6-8.

Magie Chocolate Pie

3/4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 1/2 cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Baked pie shell (8-inch) cookie pie crust

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add water and salt. Stir until thoroughly blended. When cool, add vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell, or cookie crumb crust. Garnish with the words "Best Wishes Father" in whipped cream, if desired. Chill. This novel chocolate pie for Father is sure to make a tasty tribute because, made with sweetened condensed milk, it is failure-proof. It's a sugar saver, too.

Hawaiian Iced Tea

This summer, drink beverages sweetened by nature's own hand, and save your sugar ration for the extra fillip in nutritious custards, puddings, and other made dishes.

Serve in glasses of tea, for example, frosted with several frozen squares of canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice. The pineapple juice, extracted from fruit which has been permitted to bask under a Hawaiian sun until just the correct degree of ripeness before picking, contains the maximum amount of natural fruit sugar and vitamin content. So the addition of pineapple juice ice cubes to tea adds a delicious flavor as well as vitamins B₁ and C.

For those who have an especially sweet tooth try this idea. Prepare with hot tea. Steep, strain, stir in half teaspoon honey for each cup of tea. Chill. To brew tea over three pineapple ice cubes. Serve at once.

Let's keep him on the run!

This is a war of resources. And the housewife who saves tin and paper, uses up leftovers and remodels old clothes is helping make America's resources go as far as possible. So is her husband when he gets extra shaves out of a razor blade, saves old nails and hardware, and walks to work.

Like other folks, Michigan Bell employees are pulling together to win the war. By getting along with what they have they are helping conserve vital war materials. The girls in our offices keep extra vigilant watch over all supplies and equipment, to make them last.

Telephone men are finding new ways to keep old equipment in service. They take extra care of the tools with which they work. They are careful with cars and tires. And they even pick up small scraps of wire after a job is finished—not because it's economical in money, but because the material itself is the thing that's important now.

In the last war only battleships and fighting men got this coveted emblem for excellence but today, when victory is even more a battle of production, the men on the assembly lines can win the honor, too. Saw Fallen Timber; Don't Burn It Damage from the recent storm that swept across Michigan includes a war emergency, explains P. A. Herbert, head of the Michigan State College forestry department.

Estimates of trees broken off or blown down indicate that nearly two million board feet of merchantable timber and five million ricks of stove wood are included.

Farmers are urged by Professor Herbert not to cut sawlogs into firewood, in view of the shortage of lumber that already has led to government restrictions on lumber use.

Trees uprooted can be worked up as late as next winter, but those broken will dry rapidly, sapwood will show decay and insects will attack the wood before the end of summer.

Use of portable sawmills is urged where considerable timber is involved. This process will reduce log and timber transportation and effect savings in cost of handling, in use of rubber and burning of fuel.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 14.

The Golden Text (Psalms 89:18) is: "The Lord is our defence; and the Holy One of Israel is our king."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Deuteronomy 6:4-5): "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p.261): "Good demands of man every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligations to God, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them."

For Homemakers

There's no fun in growing a Victory garden just to provide food for a meandering cottontail rabbit.

So the friends of the rabbit have come forth with protective measures for the gardener, all but one method preserving the life of the rabbit.

"If a gardener's peas or cabbages are furnishing food for the cottontails to the extent that garden production seems futile, then the gardener should report to the county conservation officer," says R. G. Hill, extension specialist in game management at Michigan State College.

"The officer will either live trap the rabbits or he can issue a permit for the gardener to shoot the nuisance animals."

Hill reports that some repellents have been used by garden owners with varying success. Persons who want to keep both rabbits and vegetables can set up one-inch mesh poultry wire approximately two feet high around the garden area.

Farmers have reported an occasional spraying of vegetable plants with a solution of nicotine sulphate, also called Black Leaf 40, has seemed to be satisfactory in keeping rabbits away from gardens. The spray should be about the same concentration as that used on shrubbery to repel dogs.
