July 4th Parade Pleases Crowd

Children and Adults In Happy Line-up

The Fourth of July parade in Clarkston, sponsored by the American Legion Post and the Rotary Club, was a grand success. A large crowd lined along both sides of Main Street and the local police controlled the traffic.

The local school band led by Bill Radoye and three snappy majorettes headed the parade of happy children and adults who marched along, most of them in costume. There were Girl Scouts, Red Cross nurses, gypsies, Uncle Sam, old-fashioned women, many children with their pets, some children on decorated bicycles, some on ponies. In the line-up was the Clarkston fire-truck manned by members of the Legion and Rotary Club. Among the adults in the line-up were Robert Beattie and his daughter Margaret Ann dressed in old-fashioned clothes in keeping with their automobile which was a 1909, Model T Ford, one of the first to come off the assembly lines. The last mileage record of this car shows it has travelled 250,000 miles and since that record it has gone many more miles. It still houses the same motor that was installed when the car was built. To complete the picture, an old Clarkston resident, Nathaniel Bush, rode in the front seat with Mr. Beattie.

A comical feature of the parade was an old car driven by Joe Seeterlin. This car was partly dismantled and proved that you really could travel, a short distance at least, without tires. On the car were many amusing signs, across the trunk in large letters was a sign "Adolph In Trunk".

The parade started at Miller Road and proceeded down Main Street to the business block and then to the space between the Bank and the Kroger Store where prizes were awarded and every participant received a frost-bite. Those who received prizes were: Mary Lee Volberding, Tommy Bullen, Bobby Jim Beattie, Pollyann Powers, Jean Porritt, Kay Robinson, Clark Rouse, Ruth Powell, George Black, Nancy Davies, Johnny Walter, Leslie Boyens, Mary Porritt, Marjory Jones, Bobby Jones and Bill Ludwig's dog "Toughie".

Among those receiving honorable mention was a group of Red Cross Nurses and had there been more prizes they would each have received one.

Everett Butters, Ray Ainsley and Gerald O'Dell, the committee in charge, are to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

Rotary Club Has Party

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alger Were Honored Guests

On Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Dell opened their home on Middle Lake Road to the Rotary Club when the members with their wives and a few friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alger.

For about an hour, as the guests arrived, Mr. and Mrs. Alger were greeted and received best wishes in the living-room on the first floor and at nine-thirty they joined the group in the recreation room downstairs. Everyone was kept busy, some played bridge and other games while many enjoyed visiting. Shortly after eleven o'clock Lloyd Megee, president of the Club, presented Mr. and Mrs. Alger with a beautiful Irish linen dinner-cloth with matching napkins.

Light refreshments were served from a table attractive with a center arrangement of regal lilies.

To complete a lovely evening moving pictures of the bridal couple leaving the Church after the ceremony and many pictures taken while on their honeymoon were shown. Mr. Alger then thanked the group for the gift and remarked that he had received much more from Rotary than he had put into it. Mr. Alger served as president of the Club for the past year.

Prince

Oh noble beast, that flattered me,
My weaknesses could never see,
But worshipped me eternally,
My dog.

Oh pal of mine so good and true,
A savage thought you never knew,
Love is all I had from you,
My dog.

Old pal, you never showed a trace
Of any feelings of disgrace
When you would lick me on my face,
My dog.

Oh noble one, you'd sit for days
And at the traffic you would gaze,
For my return you'd search always,
My dog.

Oh grateful friend, with joy you'd greet
Me, bounding all about my feet
If I brought home some little treat,
My dog.

Many lessons you have taught
About the things that can't be bought,
Old pal, you haven't lived for naught,
My dog.

The tin can collection will be restricted at first but the drive for fats and oils will extend to every household. These will yield a supply of glycerine for use in making explosives.

There are a number of rules to be observed in handling tin cans and the public will be fully informed regarding these.

The salvage committee in each community will have charge of the drives.

Letter From Pacific Will Interest Readers

The following letter was received this week from Corporal William Rexford who is somewhere in the Pacific:

In the Field
May 29

Dear Mr. Stamp:

I've been receiving a copy of the Clarkston News each time a mail shipment comes in and it's certainly swell and I want to thank you.

Due to an indefinite mail schedule we get our mail sometimes two months late so any news from home is welcome. Nearly all of my buddies read the News and enjoy it nearly as much as I do  (about eight lines cut out by censor) *****

Our duties out here in the Pacific are mostly guard and working parties although we find time for a dance now and then and a good softball game in which we find some pretty stiff competition.

It's good to see so many young fellows from home have volunteered for service and are doing well in the branch they have selected.

Thanks again for my copy of the News and I sincerely hope it will keep coming.

Sincerely yours,
Corporal, U. S. M. C.
William Rexford

Metals, Rags, Rubber Urgently Needed

There is a way in which everyone in the nation can help with the war effort and that is by saving scrap. Metal, rags and rubber are being stressed at the present time.

During the last month Independence Township has collected 7 1/2 tons of paper and 2 tons of metal. It is not so necessary to save paper as there is a surplus at present. However you are asked to be cooperative in collecting other materials. The rubber campaign has been extended to July 10th (today). Make sure that all of your scrap rubber has been sent or taken to a nearby gas station.

If you can find two pounds more of scrap rubber around the house, turn it in, for that'll be enough to make a gas mask, which may save the life of an American soldier.

As soon as the scrap rubber drive is over on July 10—and that doesn't mean to stop saving old rubber—a new campaign will be launched for scrap iron, copper, aluminum, fats and greases.

It's not going to be an easy war. We'll need every bit of materials that can be salvaged. Your saving and salvaging must be continuous.

Our huge ship-building program is limited only by the available steel plate, says Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman.

Clarkston Locals

Don Smith, Stanwood Radoye and Dick Shaughnessy spent several days last week in Chicago. They had a grand time. They went on many sight seeing tours and at nights they heard several of the popular dance bands. They went by train on Tuesday and returned on the bus on Sunday morning.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Sacrament" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, July 12. The Golden Text (I Cor. 11:28) is: "Let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 16:24,25): Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p.87): "Martyrs are the human links which connect one state with another in the history of religion. They are earth's luminaries, which serve to cleanse and rarefy the atmosphere of material sense and to permeate humanity with purer ideals."

Local Youth At Institute

For the second year the Dean of the Institute is the local Methodist Minister, The Rev. W. Harold Pailthorp.

The location of the camp is at Lake Louise, the deepest lake in the State, 152 feet. Michigan Methodism owns thirty-five hundred acres of land and lakes, of which Lake Louise is the largest, being seven miles around. Last year the Kresge Foundation gave the Methodist Church funds to build a modern lodge 84 feet long with two beautiful fireplaces.

Nine courses are offered for the Institute Youth, as follows:

Interest Shown in First Aid Classes

Regardless of increased summer activities, the public still is vitally interested in Red Cross first aid classes, it was revealed by Dr. E. B. Cudney, chairman of this program. To meet the continued demand new classes are being organized regularly, the majority of which are for persons active in civilian defense work. A number of other classes will be announced soon for the general public.

Chapter records show that twenty-two Red Cross first aid classes have been completed since January by civilian defense groups and another twenty-two classes still are in progress in Pontiac alone. Many also are meeting in the county.

Persons interested in organizing first aid classes should contact the chapter office at 12 Seneca street, Pontiac or the first aid committee which includes Dr. Cudney, Mrs. C. T. VanDusen of Birmingham, Mrs. Harold Euler and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer of Pontiac, Mrs. E. M. Gladden of Royal Oak and Mrs. E. E. Rothman of Bloomfield Hills.

New Summer Maps Now Available

The News has received from the State Highway Department several copies of the 1942 summer edition of the official Michigan highway map. These are available free at this office as long as the supply lasts.

This is the first map to be published by the State Highway Department since the declaration of war December 8, 1941. Certain detailed information common to previous maps that might be useful to our enemies has been deleted.

With these exceptions, the map is complete in every respect and fully meets all requirements of the Office of Censorship and the United States War Department.

For Homemakers
Arguments about whether it's fashionable to can Michigan's Victory Garden products by cold pack or hot pack methods brings the answer that the hot pack method appears to be the logical method for preserving vegetables and meats.
The reasons include getting more in jars, being more certain the food will keep and saving extra vitamins, explains Miss Roberta Hershey, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State College.
Green or wax beans, for instance, need five minutes of simmering before they are packed into jars. Peas and greens take the same time before packing and processing.
For a scientific timetable for canning, housewives throughout the state are obtaining copies of a college canning card that gives the information. Copies can be obtained in offices of county agricultural agents or from the Bulletin Room, Michigan State College, East Lansing.
Examples of the timing include processing in a pressure cooker. For pint jars of green beans, the timing is thirty minutes at 10 pounds pressure and thirty-five minutes for qts. Greens take longer. They require an hour at 15 pounds pressure for pints and sixty-five minutes for quarts. Peas, best packed in pints, are processed 45 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Clarkston Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Larion and family of Monroe spent the past weekend in Clarkston with his mother, Mrs. Mabel Larion. They expect to vacation with friends and relatives here for the next two weeks.

A letter received this last week from Lieut. Mary Gassick, a nurse in an army hospital in Texas, says she is fine and enjoys her work. She is looking forward to a short furlough at home some time later this year.

This week several more of the Clarkston boys leave to enter the service of their country. Dan Addis left on Thursday and King McIntyre will leave on Saturday. Neither of them know just where they will be stationed.

The leather in an average size woman's pocketbook would make a pair of army aviator's gloves.

An armored division may use up as much as 600 tons of ammunition in a single day of fighting—an amount which, loaded into freight cars, would require a train of 17 cars.

With most of the husky young college boys who served as life guards at state park beaches in other summers now in the armed forces or war industry, the state park system began the swimming season with many vacancies in its staff of beach guards. Until more are engaged, extra caution by swimmers is advised. Above, a state park life guard demonstrates the "fireman's carry".

Why Barns Are Often Blown Down

Survey Brings Out Some Valuable Points for Farmers

Damage or destruction of 300 barns in central Michigan recently gave Michigan State College agricultural engineers a wholesale laboratory for practical proof of why buildings fail to stand up in storms.

More than a hundred of the structures were examined by C. H. Peffer-son, who contends the wind damage offers six vital lessons in good construction.

Some of the barns blew down because of poor foundations. He advises footings and foundations should extend at least two feet below grade. The next step, proved by the storm, is that buildings need to be securely anchored to the foundations.

Point three in his survey is that the roof should be tied to the walls by diagonal braces. Another lesson is the need for storm braces for extra strength.

Weakness in timber framing was evident in many of the damaged barns. In mortise and tenon joints, especially, the amount of timber actually holding the buildings together often becomes only a small portion of the remainder of the timbers.
