Notice of Interest

To Landlords

Landlords should not send their registration statements to Washington, as many are doing, Area Director Patrick McNamara stated today.

"Registration statements," Mr. McNamara announced, "must be returned to the area rent office in the Detroit defense rental area, not the Office of Price Administration in Washington. Instructions on the forms clearly state that they are to be returned to the local area rent office. The Detroit office is located in the Penobscot Building.

"Statements sent to Washington only have to be sent back here, causing needless delay for landlords and tenants alike."

Fire Destroys Large Building In Waterford

On Tuesday night about 11:30 the Clarkston Fire Department was summoned to Waterford where they found the building of the Waterford Lumber Company in flames. The Waterford Township Fire department also responded. However the fire seemed to have such a start that efforts to save the building and equipment were futile.

It appeared that the interior of the building had been burning for some time before the flames reached the outside to be noticed by neighbors. When the sirens blew many in the vicinity at once thought of an air raid and prepared for a blackout. After waiting some time for the "all clear" signal they investigated and discovered that the bright light could be seen for quite a distance.

The building and contents were entirely destroyed. The material lost included two trucks, office equipment, a quantity of lumber and a new supply of building material recently received.

Nearby buildings were endangered and would perhaps have caught fire but for the work of the firemen.

People Responding To Call for Records

The people of Clarkston are responding in a grand manner to the call for phonograph records for the boys in the armed forces. About two-thirds of the district had been contacted on Thursday morning and 1200 records had been donated.

If you have records to donate and no one has called at your home the Legion Post members would appreciate your leaving the records at the Township Hall.

Women Answer Call To Make Surgical Dressings

Good response has been made to the call for women to work on the surgical dressing program of the Oakland county chapter, American Red Cross, it was stated today by Mrs. William A. McHattie, chairman of this service.

To meet the large quota assigned the local chapter by the U. S. Army special workrooms have been established in twelve nearby communities and women are urgently needed to assist in this work. Contact should be made at the workrooms. Volunteers also are needed to work in the chapter warehouse, 12 Seneca st., Pontiac, to handle the surgical dressings for shipment to the armed forces.

Workrooms where surgical dressings are being prepared are located at the following places: Stevens Hall, Pontiac; Holly Masonic temple; Troy township hall in Big Beaver; Royal Oak Women's club; Ferndale Methodist church; Birmingham Community house; Waterford Township hall; Lake Orion Methodist church; Christ Church Cranbrook; Farmington Township hall and the Masonic parlors at South Lyon. Another workroom is located at Mrs. Foulkrod's residence at Walnut lake, where volunteers have remodeled a barn to be used primarily for all Red Cross work.

Local OCD Director Issues Directions

Instructions to the spray and sand method of extinguishing incendiary bombs were recently superseded by an order to use a solid stream of water.

Commenting on this, Glenn C. Richards, Director of the OCD for this area, says:

"There undoubtedly is a place for both methods, but our instructions to air raid wardens deal mainly with handling incendiary bombs which may come through the roof and land on the attic floor or some inaccessible corner of the upper floors. Usually, the amount of water available in such spots is limited.

"If a stirrup pump is used, a jet of water may exhaust the water supply before the bomb is out. By using sand which can be kept stored in buckets in the attic, and a fine spray of water on the bomb itself, we feel a better control of the bomb can be had. Of course, the jet of water should be used to put out any fire which starts in draperies or other inflammable materials."

Richards said that he had observed many tests in England, as well as Detroit, and that he had talked with men who had gone through the blitz fires in London.

"Everything I saw and heard in England from men who actually had extinguished fires caused by incendiary bombs, was that the sand and spray method was the best," he said.

Richards said his office would get all of the information available both from Washington and England, and would study the new suggestions.

"If we find the jet method is better, after we conduct our own experiments, we will issue new instructions to that effect. Meanwhile, we will continue to teach the use of the sand and spray method."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Jeremiah 31:3): "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p.275). "The starting-point of divine Science is that God, Spirit, is All-in-all, and that there is no other might or Mind, — that God is Love, and therefore He is divine Principle."

Use Telephone Now With Limitations

Keep Wires Free for Important War Messages

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has launched an unprecedented advertising campaign urging greater efficiency in the civilian use of the telephone as an aid to victory.
 Pointing out that wires are so congested as to jeopardize the speedy handling of military and war-production calls, George M. Welch, president of the company, has suggested a voluntary program of wartime restraint in telephone usage, highlighted by the suggestion that only the most necessary long distance calls be made during the business day and that brevity be used in both long distance and local telephone conversations.
 Other points in the program are:
 Long distance service—1. Plan calls in advance to assure brevity.
 2. Furnish the operator with the number of the distant telephone to be called.
 3. Avoid all but necessary calls to Washington, to which point the lines are overloaded with war messages.
 Local service—1. Look up numbers in the telephone directory before calling.
 2. Plan calls in advance.
 3. Teach children how they can help the war effort by keeping their calls brief.
 Never before has the company made such an effort to guide the telephone habits of its subscribers. In the words of President Welch, "In the past, easy, unhampered telephone service has been taken for granted, and properly so."
 "Now there is a war to win, and each of us has a patriotic duty to see that our use of the telephone does not interfere with war calls. Though your own line may never be used for war messages, every call you make must pass through a central office switchboard. Many switchboards are crowded with military or industrial calls.
 "In the kind of war we are fighting now, telephone communication is a vital necessity. War calls must go through. Every time a military or war production call gets stalled in a traffic jam, the speed of our drive to victory is slowed down.
 "The reserve capacity of our lines and equipment, built up for emergencies, is now fully used. And further substantial enlargement of the telephone system to take care of this wartime congestion is impossible because materials are even more urgently needed for tanks, planes and guns. There is only one solution remaining—more careful and more efficient use of present telephone facilities by all of us."
 Welch said the company is handling a record average of 5,390,000 calls a day, with long distance calls up 51 per cent over 1939. Long haul long distance calls are averaging 2,000 more daily than just six months ago.

 keep your lamps and fixtures clean!

If someone were robbing your coalpile or raiding your cupboard or stealing valuables, you'd take prompt measures to stop the thief. But there's a culprit who may be stealing electricity right in your own home—and perhaps you aren't even aware of it! Dust on your lamps and fixtures can prevent you from getting all the light you pay for. It can cut down the amount of light in your rooms, 10, 20, 30 per cent—equivalent to wasting that much electricity. And it's easy to overlook because the bulbs are usually hidden under lamp shades or in semi-enclosed lighting fixtures.

Lamp bulbs and reflector bowls should be cleaned frequently with a damp cloth, lamp shades dusted inside and out. Dark-colored shades soak up light and should be replaced with light shades or shades with white linings. This may give you as much as 50 per cent more light. Use the RIGHT SIZE BULBS in your lamps and fixtures—not too large, not too small. Too large a lamp may cause glare, too small a lamp gives inadequate light. Move your lamps closer to the point of use, so that they shed their light more directly on your work. And finally, use adapter shades and linings to modernize your present equipment. They will help you get more light for the same amount of electricity, they cost little, and they are easily installed. They bring good lighting results while conserving materials—important in today's war economy. The Detroit Edison Company.

KEEP THE TELEPHONE HIGHWAYS CLEAR FOR VICTORY!

TELEPHONE lines today are crowded as never before. And Long Distance lines between all Michigan points and war production centers are carrying some of the heaviest traffic in the country.

War calls must go through promptly. In normal times we'd enlarge the telephone system to handle the increased load. We can't today, because the materials required for sufficient telephone expansion are even more urgently needed on the fighting fronts.

What we must do is make the most efficient use of the facilities we now have—with your help. Here are three simple ways in which you can help keep the words of war moving:

1. Make only the most essential Long Distance calls.
2. Keep your conversations as brief as you can.
3. When possible, give the number of the distant telephone you are calling.

The same kind of cooperation will improve local service, too. Try to keep your calls short. Look up numbers in the directory, but if necessary to call information for a number, write it down for future use. Everybody can help by saving wires for war!

Now Is the Time To Plant Pansies

Then With Proper Care They Will Show Best Results

Early August is a fine time to plant pansies to bloom during tulip time next spring. A cold frame or a small corner of the garden is the best place to start them, provided they have a fine, loamy soil with plenty of humus, and are shaded during the hottest days. They are easy to grow when a proper bed is prepared for them.

When sowing, spread the seed thinly. Mixing in a small quantity of sand will help to prevent overcrowding. If the seed is overcrowded, the plants will be difficult to disentangle, and space for individual growth is important.

As soon as the seedlings break ground, they should be given full light and fresh air, but care should be taken to prevent them from drying out. This is especially the case in flats where the quantity of soil is small and consequent rate of evaporation is rapid. During midday, protect them from the sun with a piece of cheesecloth or a canopy of newspaper.

When the first rough leaves appear transfer the plants into another flat or another row in the cold frame. They should be set about two inches apart if another transplanting is planned. In any case, the plants finally should be four to six inches apart, and left to grow in the cold frame until freezing weather arrives. Then fill up the frame with dry leaves and cover it with the sash or with boards. In severe weather, the sash may be covered with straw mats or a similar covering, but this is not usually needed.

When the frost begins to leave the ground in the spring, the leaves should be taken off the pansy plants and the sash put on the frame. The plants should then be treated the same as any other spring planting.

Canning Peaches Are Now on Market

In Putting Them Up Use Only Approved Methods

Peaches for canning are appearing on the market and even with less sugar available they make a tasty addition to any meal whether canned or fresh.

The home economics extension department at Michigan State College suggest using tested methods in all canning, both for safety and best flavor. Peaches should be ripe but not discolored. Peel and cut in halves or slices. Follow either of the following methods:

1. Simmer in light syrup for 4 to 8 minutes. Do not cook until soft. Pack in jars by placing halves with pit side down in overlapping layers. Fill jar with hot syrup, adjust tops and process in hot water bath for 15 minutes, or in a heat controlled oven at 275 degrees F. for 25 minutes.

2. Pack raw peaches in jars, cover with hot syrup, adjust tops, process in hot water bath for 25 minutes, if fruit is soft, 35 minutes if firm. If processing in a heat controlled oven at 275 degrees F. allow 35 minutes if fruit is soft, 50 minutes if firm.

The hot pack or number one method has an advantage in preventing the brown discoloration sometimes found in canned peaches. It is particularly advised if the processing is done in the oven.

Be sure the hot water bath is at a jumping boil while time is counted. Syrup for canning 1942 will be less sweet than in former years but has the advantage of preserving the fresh taste of the fruit.

Home Canning, Extension Bulletin No. 132, may be obtained from the Bulletin Room at Michigan State College at East Lansing. Full directions for canning of fruits and vegetables are contained, with time tables for processing.

Tips On Garden Foods

Vegetables never taste quite as good, nor are as good for you, as when freshly gathered. Vitamins are lost from vegetables by standing. For instance, cabbage loses more than half its vitamin C content in two to four days after picking. Similarly, the sugar content of peas and corn drops within a few hours after picking.

Prepare vegetables and salad just before using. Don't pare and slice potatoes, turnips and the like in advance. Don't shell peas or green limas nor husk sweet corn until time to cook. Don't shred or chop cabbage, carrots, lettuce, etc., for salad or for cooking until you are ready to use them. Cook vegetables in their skins when practical. Save as much of the vegetables Vitamin C content as possible.

An average house contains 700 ft. of electric wiring; a four-motored bomber needs 13,000 feet, or about 2½ miles, and a battleship requires 845,000 feet, or more than 160 miles, of copper wire.
