Home Front Committee Organized Wednesday

On Wednesday night representatives from the various clubs and organizations in Independence Township met at the Township Hall in Clarkston and organized the Independence Township Home Front Committee, a working group for the duration of the war.

Lloyd Megee opened the meeting and explained the purpose of the committee. Election of officers took place with the following results: Chairman, A. E. Butters; vice chairman, Mrs. Mallory Stickney; executive secretary, Ralph Habermas; corresponding secretary, Patricia Herke; treasurer, Mrs. Earl Terry; publicity, Mrs. W. H. Stamp; sponsoring committee, Floyd Andrews, Howard Huttenlocher and Lloyd Megee.

The representatives then registered with the executive secretary who is dividing the Township into sections and will assign a section to each organization and they will be responsible for that section for the duration of the war regardless of what drive or campaign is carried on.

This Home Front committee is now ready to help with all local enterprises. Right now they are urging everyone to search in attic, basement, garage or barn for scrap metals, rags, rubber, burlap bags, anything that would help make equipment for our armed forces. The lot to the south of the Beattie Motor Sales has been donated to be the depot for the scrap.

Over 15,000 Enlist in Navy Since Pearl Harbor

Over 15,000 men have enlisted in the United States Navy through Michigan recruiting stations since Pearl Harbor, it was announced today by Lieut. Byron E. Plechtner, Officer in Charge of Navy recruiting for this area.

He reported that Michigan Navy enlistments during August promise to exceed those of any other month since America entered the war. The present record was set during July, when Navy enlistments in Michigan topped those of the previous record month, January.

Quotas for enlistment of men from 17 to 50 years old, inclusive, in the Navy remain unlimited and there still are vast opportunities for experienced men to qualify for high-paying petty officer ratings, immediately upon enlistment. These ratings pay as high as $126 per month, plus 20 per cent extra for foreign duty and allowances for dependents which may bring a Navy enlistee's total monthly income to over $185.

There are 49 different trades and vocations in which unskilled Navy recruits may receive training.

Lieutenant Plechtner noted that men who have been placed in Class 1-A or received notice to report for induction still may enlist in the Navy. He advised men who receive their induction orders to apply for enlistment in the Navy, immediately upon receipt of those orders.

Drifting and Dreaming

The water rippled in the bay, It was a perfect fishing day. The sun shone bright above my head, Unclouded was this sphere of red. A gentle, soothing, summer breeze, Whispered music thru the trees. The boat was solid, long and sleek, Without a single trace of leak. Everything was planned just right, For the biggest fish to bite. We thrilled so much at just the ride, We motored to the lake's far side; And cast our tackle in the lake, And let the sun our tummies bake. Thought not of fishing anymore, But marveled at the wooded shore. Our minds adrift, as was the boat, In nature's bosom set afloat. Every splash and every bubble, Lifted us from worlds of trouble. Sprawled ourselves upon the seat, And in the water dragged our feet. Dozed and dreamed with super powers,

On like this, we went for hours. No, we never had a bite, But things for fishing were just right. Robert C. Beattie.

Gun Permits Now Made Permanent

"Hang onto your gun permit—it's permanent!" conservation officers and agencies selling the new fall hunting licenses are reminding their customers.

Discarding the old-style annual permits with hunting licenses is a habit of many years' standing. Since early this year, however, the conservation department has issued only permanent gun permits, good while the holder also has a current hunting license. These continue in force until revoked or suspended for a period of years by the court, after conviction for some game law offense.

Approximately 30,000 Michigan hunters now hold the permanent permits to carry guns in game territory in the off-season.

Drying Sweet Corn Is Advised Now

Food Expert Tells How Grandma Used to Do It

War brings back some of the kitchen maneuvers that grandmother practiced and one of the tricks is the drying of sweet corn.

That suggestion comes from Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State College. There are other means of preserving sweet corn and other vegetables for winter use, but the oldtime way is called quick practical.

Victory Gardeners who have an excess of sweet corn should put some away for winter use. The winter supply will taste good and will relieve some of the coming problems of war transportation, sponsors point out.

In grandmother's time, sweet corn was dried in the kitchen range. Modern stoves with regulators make the process simpler. Oven doors are left open to promote circulation. Some housewives aim an electric fan at the oven door to hasten drying at fairly low temperatures.

Miss Hershey's recipe for dried corn, in brief, suggests taking any good table corn, husking and removing any blemishes or darkened kernels. The corn is precooked, in the cob, in boiling water for 8 to 12 minutes. Steaming is even better than cooking in water, and this process requires about 10 minutes.

Then the corn is drained and cooled and cut off the cobs. The cut corn should be spread from a half to three quarters of an inch deep on a tray. Temperatures for drying should range between 125 and 160 degrees. Too rapid drying hardens the outside of the kernels while the centers remain too moist. Oven drying may require five to six hours or longer. Even after that the corn should be dried further in the open, covered with cheesecloth to keep out insects.

Storing for winter use can be in glass jars, coffee cans or stone crocks. A strip of muslin dipped in hot paraffin helps seal the tops of cans or crocks.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 30.

The Golden Text (John 1:17) is: "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (John 1:29): "The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 332): "The Christ is incorporeal, spiritual, yea, the divine image and likeness, dispelling the illusions of the senses; the Way, the Truth and the Life, healing the sick and casting out evils, destroying sin, disease, and death."

Then and Now

4-H Exhibition Draws Large Crowd

Wednesday afternoon was too short a time to see all of the exhibition put on by the 4-H boys and girls at their farm, four miles north of Pontiac; consequently, the chicken, garden, sewing and canning projects were missed.

Judging stock and awarding ribbons were the main features of Wednesday afternoon's program. There was a fine display of sheep, pigs and cattle showing the careful feeding and grooming given them by their owners. Clarkston 4-H members winning ribbons were Eugene and Robert Hubbard, Mary Ella Carr, Wilbur and John Adams, Mary Edgall and Kenneth Beard. The Cheviots, owned by the Adams Brothers were real beauties with their long, pointed ears and small faces. The wool, natural to this breed, is extra fine and long. The boys displayed clippings which were from four to five inches long. The sheep displayed by Mary Edgall, Mary Ella Carr, and the Hubbard boys were excellent specimens of the Oxford and Shropshire breeds.

Dick Fuller's Duroc pigs attracted much attention. Dick, with a broken right arm gave them careful grooming with his left hand. Anyone who has had a similar handicap can understand the effort he made to have his pigs in first class shape for display.

The winners from Clarkston in the cattle show were Jack Foster who displayed a fine Holstein heifer. Mary Edgall's frisky Holstein calf won a blue ribbon and Laverne Halstead, twelve years old, won the Holstein calf from the State Hospital herd. The registered Red Poll cattle, class B, owned by Kenneth Beard deserve particular mention. They were fat and with their shining red coats did their owner much credit.

Thursday morning Robert Hubbard and Wilbur Adams gave a demonstration of judging, fitting, sewing and blocking projects. In the afternoon, a flag demonstration was given by Eugene Hubbard and Kenneth Beard which was very interesting and impressive.

While the display of projects was of great interest to the visitors, the chief attraction lay in the boys and girls who are members of the 4-H clubs. Their bright faces showed that they had an aim in life, some plan they were aiming to work out. No doubt, many of these club members are looking forward to a college education and making their projects earn the money for that purpose. And always there is the joy which comes in knowing they have accomplished something worth while.

Fifty years ago 4-H clubs and Future Farmer organizations were unknown. There were no incentives for the young folks in many of the farming communities. They had to work from early dawn until dusk without any share of the crops or stock. With the girls it was always dishwashing or sewing carpet rags for a diversion. Church socials were the only places for amusement.

Parents thought in those days that in order to maintain their parental dignity and authority they must baste with their children. "Do as I say" or "because I tell you so" were the tactics used to compel servile obedience. With many men, their most vivid recollections of any intimacy with their fathers were visits together to the woodshed where a rawhide was applied to their backs for some slight misdemeanor, perhaps committed in ignorance.

Now this is all changed. Parents regard their children as individuals and treat them accordingly. Fathers and mothers confer with the young folks, and talk over their mutual problems. The need of a college education is stressed and the children are given projects whereby they can earn their own way.

What has been the result of this new order? Our farmer boys and girls are the finest in America. They are self-reliant, have greater courage to meet the battles of life, have high ideals and will make the kind of citizens our country sorely needs today. Hats off to the 4-H clubs.

Be Ready to Donate Blood to Red Cross

From coast to coast people are donating blood to the Red Cross for the use of the armed forces here and at the battlefront. It is a huge undertaking and it takes time to get every community scheduled. Doctors and nurses in Oakland County are doing a grand job and very soon they will be able to set a date for their visit to Clarkston and vicinity. Be sure your name is on the list of donors. No one will want to be left out. A few pints of blood will go far in saving the lives of those who are willing to shed blood for you.

Mrs. David Newlands is chairman of the work here.

Avoid Fires By Using Care

Fire Chief Don Beach today urged greater precautions by owners and operators of private cars to protect them from fire.

"The tire shortage, the difficulty of replacing existing cars, and, in some sections, new transportation problems arising out of the necessary use of cars by workers going to and from defense plants, make it imperative to conserve the cars we have against destruction or damage by fire," he declared. In normal times, more than 11 percent of all legitimate fire alarms in this country are for car fires. With fewer cars on the road, perhaps this figure will be reduced. But that will not make the problem less serious for the individual car owner.

"We know by experience that the older cars are more frequently involved in fires. But with a few simple precautions, any car can be made safe."

Chief Don Beach made the following suggestions for car owners to follow:

Keep your car in good mechanical condition. Have the ignition and lighting wiring and connections checked by your garage man.

Make sure that fuel lines and connections are tight and that there is no leak in the gasoline tank.

Keep the motor clean. If you smoke while driving, put out cigarette and cigar stubs in the ash receiver, not on the floor of the car. Do not throw lighted stubs out of the window.

Carry a fire extinguisher in your car and know how to use it. Most commercial vehicles are required by law to have such equipment. The small vaporizing liquid extinguisher is suitable because it can be used on burning gasoline or oil, as well as on fires involving the ignition or wiring, and it can be exposed to freezing temperatures.

How to Use Stream of Water on Incendiary Bomb Told by OCD

New instructions in the proper method of fighting incendiary bombs, through the use of the jet method, have just been received from Washington by the Detroit Office of Civilian Defense.

The new Washington instructions emphasize that the fire itself is the real enemy, and that speed is necessary in attacking the incendiary with a jet of water. Washington's new instructions follow:

1. Bring your fire-fighting equipment to the scene as soon as the bomb strikes.
2. Shoot a jet or stream of water on the bomb at once. Take cover behind a door, chair, or other furniture, if you can, before you do this. The jet knocks the bomb out quickly. There will be a burst of white flame and a scattering of molten metal, most of which will be driven away from you by the force of the jet.

3. Then use the jet quickly to quench fragments and the remains of the bomb and any fires it might have started.

4. Be absolutely sure all the fire is out before you leave the scene.
5. Use a coarse spray where scattering of metal must be avoided—for example, where there are concentrations of inflammable materials.

6. Use sand if a bomb falls where it is not likely to start a fire or if water is not available. "From the tests we have made, we feel that all three methods, the jet, sand and the spray method are valuable and should be used," Glenn C. Richards, director, explained. "We will teach our wardens the proper conditions under which each method is more advantageous."

Hugh R. Liddicoat Is Candidate

Hugh R. Liddicoat, candidate for Republican nomination for sheriff of Oakland County, is seeking his first term for this office. His experience dates back seven years as warrant officer and constable of the city of Ferndale.

HUGH R. LIDDICOAT

He was born in Calumet, Michigan 51 years ago. On August 24, 1920 he married Ernestine Lau of Detroit. They have one daughter, Mary Jane, aged 17, and have lived in Ferndale for the past fifteen years.

He is a member of the Ferndale Methodist church and the following organizations: Paul W. Hornaday Post No. 1407, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ferndale Post No. 330, American Legion; The Elks, Eagles, Masons and Holly Grange.

Mr. Liddicoat was in the United States army from 1917 to 1919. After attending the officers training school he served over seas.

He was graduated from the Calumet Grade School and High School. In 1910 he came to Detroit and attended the Detroit Business Institute and Pace School of Accounting where he majored in Business Administration and Corporation Law.

He is a former member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

For five years he was a field executive and national traveler in the Systems Division of Dodge Brothers. He has held other positions of trust as Secretary and Treasurer of the Williams National Outdoor Advertising Co. and Wholesale Manager for the Reo Motor Car Co., both of Detroit.

He was also in the Research Division of the Oakland County Relief Administration. In Ferndale, among other activities, he acted as Councilor for the Youth, Inc. movement and was one of the original organizers of the present City Recreation Organization of Ferndale and has served actively with the Goodfellows and Community Fund Drives.

He believes that the sheriff's office should not be hampered by party politics and that all people regardless of their political beliefs should be given equal consideration; that any candidate aspiring to this office should have a thorough knowledge of human psychology as well as keen executive and organization ability.

For the purpose of investigating county wide conditions he proposes to form a sheriff's council. Its members would be chosen from the various communities of the county.

The question of juvenile delinquency presents a very serious problem. Our police and juvenile records show that the great majority of crimes committed will fall in this bracket. Mr. Liddicoat states, if elected, he will work in close co-operation with our public schools in following a program of crime prevention. It is his intention to see that the sheriff's division is brought up to a high standard of efficiency as economically as possible and to work in full co-operation with all law-enforcement agencies, national and local.

Have been notified of my endorsement by the Labor Non-Partisan League of Oakland County.

VALUABLE TIPS
on the care of your vacuum cleaner

FOLLOWING THESE SIMPLE RULES will help to maintain your vacuum cleaner in good condition and may avert possible trouble:

- (1) Empty the dust bag frequently. (It's a good idea to do this every time you use the cleaner.) Once a month, turn the bag inside out and brush it thoroughly. Do not wash the bag.
- (2) Keep brushes free from hair and threads.
- (3) Before cleaning your rugs, pick up by hand all hairpins, nails, tacks and other metal objects that might damage the cleaner. These can cause bag-punctures, belt-cuts, or even get tangled up in the fan.
- (4) See that the nozzle and brush are properly adjusted. (Improper adjustment may break the rubber belt, and new rubber belts are becoming increasingly hard to get.)
- (5) Repair or replace brushes if tufts become worn. The Detroit Edison Company.

Tomatoes to Be Victory Food Special

Fresh tomatoes will play a return engagement on the Victory Food Special program during the period August 24 through September 5, the Department of Agriculture announced today. This time, however, they will be featured only in states east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers.

Special emphasis will be placed on home canning of tomatoes where such use is practical and where facilities and equipment for processing are available. The Victory Food Special program is designed to assist in management of the nation's wartime food supplies. Its purposes are to keep perishables from going to waste, to take the emphasis off other foods needed for direct war use and to stimulate continued high production during the war period.

This year's planting of tomatoes for summer and fall harvest is at an all-time record level. Sharpest increase is in production of tomatoes for canning to meet wartime requirements. Acreage of tomatoes for marketing in fresh form and plantings in Victory Gardens also have been greatly expanded. With continued favorable growing conditions, good yields are expected.

Designation of fresh tomatoes as a Victory Food Special was made by Roy F. Hendrickson, administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Administration. Tomatoes were featured as a "Victory Food Special" nationally during the period June 29 to July 4, when particularly heavy supplies were coming in from Texas, Mississippi and other southern producing areas. Now large supplies are expected from farms in the northern area where they will be featured during the August 24-September 5 period.

Department of Agriculture officials point out that the best time for canning tomatoes varies with each state.

HUNTERS MUST WATCH TIME

Waterfowl hunters will have more than twice as many occasions to consult a time-table on the lakes and marshes this fall, since sunset as well as sunrise shooting in the 10-day longer season will be governed by the conservation department's official schedule when weather conditions are such that the sun's rising or setting is not clearly evident. The schedules are now available by mail.

For the eastern edge of Michigan the sunrise hour changes from 7:23 a. m. September 26 to 8:48 a. m. December 4, while the sunset time shifts from 7:24 p. m. on opening day to 5:56 p. m. on the last date.

In the extreme western part of the state the "shooting day" runs from 7:51 a. m. to 7:52 p. m. on opening day, but shrinks until it is 9:26 a. m. to 6:13 p. m. on December 4—nearly three hours and a quarter less.

All times quoted are Eastern War Time.

"Two houses hit... send an ambulance!"

You may be an Air Raid Warden yourself. If not, you have friends who have volunteered for that unselfish service. Their responsibility is great. It's not an easy job to get a neighborhood fully prepared.

But the real test occurs if raids come. Then the Air Raid Warden uses the telephone to call the Control Center about damage—so that it may summon fire, police, demolition, rescue or other emergency squads. Without fast telephone communication, the whole system of Citizens' Defense would be hampered. So, it's vitally necessary that the telephone system be kept clear for emergency use.

For your own family's safety please make sure that none except most urgent calls are made during air raids and for some time after the "All Clear" sounds.
