Mother'll Understand

if you don't call her on Long Distance this Sunday

Mothers are understanding and patriotic. They know that under the steadily increasing burden of war-created calls, long distance telephone equipment is seriously overloaded.

Of course, they like to be remembered on Mother's Day, but they'd rather be sure the lines are kept clear for vital war messages.

This year, send your love in a letter. And if you'd like to give your mother a present, she will truly appreciate a U. S. War Bond—a gift of fighting dollars to back our boys overseas.

Don't make any long distance call this Mother's Day unless it is extremely urgent.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

ONLY 1 1/2% FOR ELECTRICITY

COST OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLE

in the total average cost of WAR PRODUCTION

If you tore off one small corner of a dollar bill, that would give you some idea of the cost of the electricity used in manufacturing war products. Only 1 1/2 per cent of the total cost of war production, on the average, goes for electricity: 98 1/2 per cent goes for materials, labor, plant and equipment, etc.

Yet electricity plays a most important part in turning out tanks and planes and guns and ships, and the thousand-and-one other weapons of war. Without electric power, scarcely a wheel would turn in any factory or arsenal or shipyard in America. Not a piece of armament would be produced, not a bullet cast, not a shell turned.

Electricity makes possible the machine tools used to build other machines. It powers the huge rollers in steel mills. It runs high-speed precision lathes, and giant presses, and drills, and milling and grinding machines, and motors for countless factory jobs. It melts alloy steels in the electric furnace—steels used for armor plate and tanks and guns. With induction heating, it point-hardens armor-piercing shells, and makes tough, wear-resistant parts for motors and airplane engines.

Electric power is doing a vital war job at low cost. And it is helping make possible new production records in thousands of plants all over the country—to shorten the war and speed victory. The Detroit Edison Company.

Mr. Dave Williams, outdoor sportsman from Sault Ste. Marie, presented his pictures on "Beavers" at the regular meeting of the Men's Club last Monday night, May 3rd, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Mr. Williams has spent many years taking pictures of the outdoor life and was greatly enjoyed by the club nearly a year ago with his pictures of moose on Isle Royale. His running comment on the pictures he has taken is very interesting and educational. The pictures of the beaver have been voted as the most outstanding by the Sportsmen's Convention held at Blaney Park. In addition to the pictures he displayed and commented on the several cameras he uses. For sportsmen and camera fans this was the most outstanding program for the year. Following the program the annual election of officers was held.

The Citizen's Service Corps of Sector 2, Waterford Township, Drayton Plains, will sponsor a special Mother's Day program in honor of the boys in the armed services. The program starts at 7:15 p. m. at the school grounds with the Blue Star Mothers dedicating the Honor Roll board which has been placed there. They want the names of all the boys on the board at that time and ask your cooperation if your boy's name is not on it please call the president, Mrs. John T. Scott. There will be a Flag Retreat conducted by the Boy Scouts; a procession to the Community United Presbyterian Church with the Girl Scouts as escorts to the Blue Star Mothers, Boy Scouts acting as a Guard of Honor. All O. C. D. members are urged to participate. Music will be played by the Drayton Plains local band. At the church a special address will be given by Rev. C. J. Sutton. The public is asked to attend this program to do honor to our boys in the service.

Hog Pastures Save Protein

War puts increased emphasis on pasture for pigs, since protein feeds have become scarce. Pasture can supply about half of the needs of pigs for protein supplement feed with corn or wheat and even more than half the supplement needed with barley or oats. The pasture also furnishes vitamins and some minerals besides keeping the pigs out under more healthful growing conditions, especially for growing out breeding stock.

About the best pasture for pigs is alfalfa. It continues to grow during the dry season, is relished by the pigs, and will produce more pounds of pork per acre than any other pasture in an average year, says V. A. Freeman, Michigan State College animal husbandry professor. If rainfall is well distributed, red clover is almost as good. Mixed pastures, including any legume, are somewhat superior to the grasses although the grasses and even wheat or rye pasture are very satisfactory during the period when there is rapid growth of the leaves. Any single pasture or combination of crops that will furnish a continuous fresh growth, relished by the pigs, will be especially valuable this year.

The principal disadvantage of alfalfa or clover is that they must be seeded one year or more previous to the time they are to be pastured. Some of the crops that still may be seeded to pasture this year would be a mixture of oats, rape and sweet clover, seeded as soon as the ground is ready to work; Dwarf Essex rape, sown at the rate of 5 pounds per acre, about corn-planting time; Sudan grass, sown about the same time; or soy beans. The combination of oats, rape and sweet clover will give perhaps the longest pasture season, starting somewhat earlier than rape will thrive alone. The Dwarf Essex rape will produce almost as much pork per acre as the clover or alfalfa but has the disadvantage that it makes white pigs susceptible to sunburn. Sudan grass has a large carrying capacity for a few months during the dry season of the summer and is especially good for supplementing blue-grass or timothy pastures. Soy beans produce the largest amount of pork per acre if allowed to mature to the point where there are some beans in the pods when the pigs are turned in. This makes them a late summer and fall pasture.

If one plans to hog down corn, it is worthwhile to seed some soy beans with the corn or along the side of the field, or else sow some rape seed in the corn at the last cultivation. A clover or alfalfa field adjoining the corn will serve the same purpose, but heavy market hogs will not travel far for their pasture.

You love America—Buy Bonds.

“What else can I do to help?”

Of course, you are helping now! Buying War Bonds, working for the Red Cross, giving time to Civilian Defense. But there are other ways you can help—right in your daily homemaking routine. We suggest three that are vitally important:

SAVE FOOD

... it's as important as bullets.

Plant a victory garden and preserve your surplus.

Put up as many fruits and berries as possible. Your Gas range makes canning easy.

Cook only the amount of vegetables needed. Serve left-overs creamed, in casserole dishes, or cold—in salads.

Cook vegetables and fruits in their skins whenever possible—and over a low Gas flame.

Roast meats at low temperature in your Gas oven to reduce shrinkage. Use left-overs in stews, hash, meat pies.

SAVE VITAMINS

... you need 'em to be strong.

Cook vegetables in as small an amount of boiling water as possible. The flexible Gas flame will give you the exact degree of heat you need.

Cover vegetables and bring to boil quickly over full Gas flame then turn flame low, cook gently.

Do not use soda in cooking; green vegetables. It destroys vitamins. Cook vegetables shortest possible time.

Store fresh vegetables in hydrator of your Gas refrigerator to help preserve perishable vitamins.

SAVE GAS

... it's needed to make tanks and guns.

Plan complete oven and broiler meals to economize on the use of Gas.

Do not light your Gas oven or broiler too far in advance. Remember—Gas is fast.

Avoid using small pans on large or giant burners.

Do not turn the Gas flame any higher than necessary.

Keep the burners clean. With just a little care your Gas range will give good, dependable service for many years—there are no fragile parts to wear out.
