Get Acquainted Party Honors School Heads

On Wednesday night the executive committee of the Clarkston P.T.A. and the members of the school board with their wives and husbands met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woolfenden on North Main Street and honored the new school superintendent, Carl Brabec, and Mrs. Brabec and the new high school principal, W. Ridgley, and Mrs. Ridgley, at a get-acquainted party.

On account of what seemed like an approaching storm the cooperative supper was served at long tables in the Woolfenden home at about seven o'clock. The group welcomed the honored couples and all enjoyed a very lovely meal, an evening of visiting and some group singing.

Our Boys and Girls In The Service

Pvt Edward H. Simerson has returned to his station in Virginia after enjoying a short furlough at his home.

Jeanette Vliet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Vliet is now in training with the Marines at Camp LeJeune, N.C. She likes her work and says she is kept busy. Her brother, Sergeant Les Vliet, is in England.

Among those who are enjoying furloughs at their homes are Warren Flynn of the U. S. Navy, Ensign Arthur E. Clark of the Navy Air Corps and Pfc Wildemere Blaszczak of the U. S. Army. A/C Eldon Rouse spent Sunday at his home here.

A/C Richard Albert Lawson has successfully completed basic flying training at Stockton Field, California, and will proceed to an Army advanced flying school to take the final steps toward the attainment of his silver pilot wings.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawson, 6025 Orion Road, Clarkston, Michigan.

The following letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Basil Bird from their son, Cpl Willis Bird, a paratrooper.

July 22-44

Hi Dad, Mom and Jack:

Here goes for that nice long letter that I promised you and I think that it is high time that it was done. How about it? You really have been writing regularly lately, and I am sorry that I couldn't write more often.

We got back to Spam land on the 11th of July and left on furlough the following day. My buddy from Ohio and I had a great time in Scotland and London, but nothing compared with the time I had on the furlough before that when I came home to good old Michigan — that's the place for me.

Those robot planes of the Fuehrer's are no joke. We found that out when we stopped off in London. I think that you would probably like to hear about what took place while we were on our large scale maneuvers in France. There are a lot of things to tell about but that would take all night so you will have to wait on most of it until we boys wander back home, sometime in the near future. "We hope".

We took off from England on the night of the 5th and boy! what a feeling: it was, in a way, a good feeling to be going and in a lot of ways not so good. The flight was nice and quiet until we got over the coast of France and then things got a little hot. The jerrys weren't at all sociable and acted like they didn't care for our visit, but we visited anyhow. Our boys soon showed them that they meant business after we got on the ground. We had some tough fights folks but we won and now we are back in Starvation City, but it looked awful good. My division was awarded the Presidential Citation for doing such a good job and now I am proud to be in the organization.

I didn't tell you about being wounded, did I? Well it didn't amount to much and I didn't have to turn in with it. The first thing I did was to blunder into a machinegun nest, the night of the jump. The kraut heads got a hand grenade a little close and my foot caught a piece of it. Damn those big feet of mine. Those guys must be pretty poor shots not to be able to hit them better than that. You have probably heard enough now so I will ring off from the war for a while.

Boy would I like to get my dukes into those raspberries and peaches and would I even take a little whipped cream on them. Pop, you had better slow down a little on your working or you will be an old man before you know it. I would even trade this job to give you a lift with yours if I could. You both need a good vacation up north and by George, we boys and you folks are going to have a good long one when this is over.

Say, Mom, I liked your pictures. You are just as beautiful as ever. Don't tell dad I said that.

Well better let some of the others know that I am still kicking.

Love to all

Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Bird, 5794 Maybec Road, have five sons in the service.

Pvt. Rollin Bird, 20, an ambulance driver in the army air forces, is stationed in India. He has been in service for over a year. His wife lives in Drayton Plains. Cpl. Willis Bird, who wrote the above letter, made his home with his grandparents in Holly before enlisting in November, 1942. Basil Bird Jr. is a machinist's mate third class in the SeaBees. He enlisted in October, 1943. His wife and two sons reside in Holly. Eugene Hockey is a seaman first class in the U. S. Navy. He is somewhere in the south Pacific. His wife resides in Pontiac.

Davies-Anthony Rites Read Last Saturday

Last Saturday at 12:30 noon a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sibley, 129 N. Main Street, when Mrs. Minnie J. Davies and Mrs. Sibley's father, Mr. Carl P. Anthony, pledged their marriage vows. The ceremony took place in the living-room before the fireplace which was banked with white gladioli, blue delphinium and palms. The Reverend H. H. Savage, of the First Baptist Church of Pontiac, officiated.

Mrs. Davies chose for her wedding a beige afternoon dress trimmed with amber buttons. She wore a corsage of orchids. Her only attendant was her daughter, Mrs. William B. Hungerford of Chicago, who wore dusty pink and a corsage of pink roses and delphinium.

Mr. Anthony was assisted by his son, Kenneth Anthony, of Pontiac.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served to thirty guests. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding-cake flanked with lighted ivory candles in silver candelabra.

The guests were from Saginaw, Chicago, Pontiac, Commerce, Williams Lake and Clarkston.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony left on a short trip to the northern part of the State and on their return they will make their home in Pontiac.

89th Birthday Celebrated Tuesday

W. C. Ainsley celebrated his 89th birthday on Tuesday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kerton, on South Main Street, when his family honored him at a cooperative dinner and an evening of visiting. There were fourteen present. Mr. Ainsley received many gifts and best wishes.

Although Mr. Ainsley's health was not very good last winter, he is enjoying comparatively good health now and is able to do a little gardening.

Rags and Waste Paper Collected Each Month

The last collection of rags and waste paper in Clarkston community swelled the school library fund by $34.20. This fund is steadily growing and by the time the library is installed it will be large enough to furnish a library in the school that the town folk will be proud of.

Each time you destroy rags or waste paper just think how much your little contribution might add to this much needed fund. The P.T.A. is figuring on having a collection each month and they solicit your cooperation.

9 Grass Fires During Last Week

Clarkston like other towns in this community is suffering a hot, dry period and lawns are exceptionally dry. All of this makes a very dangerous fire hazard. And we are having fires—nine grass fires in the last week. Watch your fire, if you have to start one, and make sure that it is out. Outside of the damage the fire might do, it adds to your taxes every time the fire department is called out to extinguish the blaze.

Edward Hockey, seaman second class, enlisted in the Navy in November, 1943.

Italy, Tuesday, Aug. 1, '44

Dear Mr. Stamp:

A few lines to say "hello" and thank you for the Clarkston News. As you probably know by this time I am in Italy and in general there is little to complain of. These are busy days here and there is much to do. Countryside here is very pretty, with many small towns nestled in the rolling hills. The weather is extremely warm in the daytime, but evenings are cool and pleasant. The main crops here are wheat, grapes and olives. Also everywhere there are orchards, so we soldiers get plenty of fresh fruits and also vegetables. I have had occasion to visit many places famous in the old Roman Empire; one, Rome which is a very pretty city and many of the buildings thousands of years old still stand. People here are very friendly to Yankee soldiers. We have been issued booklets by the government which contain phrases to help us understand and make conversation with them. They are very helpful as their language is very different. Most of the work is done by women. One can see them working in the fields all day. They also carry a tremendous load on their heads, walking for miles barefoot. Well see I must be closing. Best to everyone in Clarkston.

Sincerely
T/Sgt. A. G. Davies.

4H Exposition Now Going On

Did you attend the 4H Exposition yesterday at the 4H Farm on M24 just south of Walton Boulevard? If you did you certainly will not miss today's program. If you did not then you are invited to attend today especially this afternoon's program.

This morning at 10 o'clock the demonstrations will be continued and there will be a softball or track meet. At 12 noon picnic lunches will be enjoyed. Take your lunch and have a good time with the crowd and be on time for the program starting at 2 o'clock. Howard Lahring, President of 4H Service Club, is the chairman.

The following is taken from the 4H program — "With a deep sense of gratitude to those members of the 4H Clubs from this Country who are serving with the Armed Forces of our Country; it is our privilege to dedicate a service flag bearing stars for our members so serving and to accompany it with a scroll bearing the names. At the same time we shall raise the Stars and Stripes and the 4H Club Flag to fly at the 4H Farm on a new flag pole situated where all who look from miles around may see it."

This ceremony will be one everyone in the community will want to attend. L. A. Klaasse will lead the singing.

During the afternoon program Garden and Canning awards will be given there will be a livestock parade and the special showmanship awards will be presented.

Miss Phyllis Beardsley and Miss Harriett Beckman have returned from a trip to New York City where they visited Mrs. Phillip Steele, formerly Miss Evelyn Houle who was at one time a teacher in the Clarkston school.

Red Cross News

Service men on furloughs in Oakland County will find the Oakland County Chapter American Red Cross ready at all times to facilitate requests for emergency extensions of leave time according to Mrs. E. P. Turner, Home Service chairman.

When an emergency arises while a serviceman is on furlough which necessitates a request for a time extension, he should immediately contact his commanding officer and the Red Cross Chapter. If an emergency is established the Red Cross will forward facts to the Red Cross at the station for delivery to the commanding officer. In this way much time can be saved. It is requested that the serviceman should not wait until the last minute to request an extension as he might be disappointed and find himself A.W.O.L.

The home service chairman emphasized that the mere request for a furlough extension does not give a serviceman freedom to remain overtime. Until actual confirmation of the extension is received the man must report back at the original time specified in the furlough. The Red Cross has no authority to grant or refuse extensions but merely acts as a fact finding agency for the military by transmitting information which makes possible decisions on such matters.

The Home Service office is located at 410 Peoples State Bldg., Pontiac, Tel. 4-4577. Office hours 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. An emergency number has been established for nights and holiday calls which are emergencies only. Tel. Pontiac 4-1862.

The War and Navy Departments are the only sources of notification on casualties and men reported "missing in action". Mrs. E. P. Turner, home service chairman of the Oakland County Chapter American Red Cross, announces in response to numerous inquiries from individuals in Oakland County.

"When a man is seriously wounded or critically ill, his family is notified immediately by the Army or Navy. This is likewise true of further information regarding his condition. Only if no additional report is received from military authorities within four weeks after the first official notification can the Red Cross attempt to secure additional information."

Should a man write that he is in a hospital and no official notification has been received by the family, the Red Cross will try to secure regular reports on his condition.

Again all information regarding men reported missing in action must come through official sources. Mrs. Turner stated. Available details are sent immediately to the families of these men but frequently it is a long time before a report is available. Prisoners of War are reported through the International Red Cross in Geneva to the War and Navy Departments which in turn wire the families at once. No inquiries can be instituted through the Red Cross about men missing in action as they might jeopardize their safety if they are in enemy territory attempting to escape.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Mind" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 20.

The Golden Text (II Corinthians 3:5) is "Not that we are sufficient of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 11:33,34): "O the depth of riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?"

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (143): "If Mind was first chronologically, is first potentially, and must be first eternally, then give to Mind the glory, honor, dominion, and power everlastingly due its holy name."

The Home Town

When we receive letters from the men in service who long for their home town we realize that there must be something here that attracts; something that makes Clarkston the real home spot. The good citizens of Clarkston have made it a home town by being loyal and conscientious. The following could be the creed of every citizen here:

IT IS MY HOME TOWN AND I AM PART OF IT

"My town is the place where my home is founded; where my business is situated and where my vote is cast; where my children are educated; where my neighbors dwell, and where my life is chiefly lived. It is the home spot for me.

"My town has the right to my civic loyalty. It supports me and I should support it. My town wants my citizenship, not my partisanship; my friendliness, not my dissension; my sympathy, not my antagonism; my intelligence, not my indifference. My town supplies me with protection, trade, friends, education, churches, and the right to free, moral citizenship.

"It has some things that are better than others; the best things I should seek to make better, the worst things I should help to suppress. Take it all-in-all, it is my town, and it is entitled to the best there is in me."

Doctor-Wife Takes Husband's Job

A former Vassar, Mich., woman, widely known in Detroit, is poised today for a mercy mission into the remote regions of Hudson Bay to take up duties among the Eskimos that her husband can no longer conduct.

She is Dr. Jean Jacobus Austin, 26, resident surgeon of Cook County Hospital, Chicago, and daughter of the late Rev. J. Wallace Jacobus, former Vassar minister, who died several years ago after a long illness at Ford Hospital.

Dr. Austin's husband, Lt. Oliver Austin, also a former resident surgeon at the Chicago institution, vanished more than a month ago while on a mercy flight from Churchill, Ont., to Eskimo Point.

His mission was to forestall the spread of an epidemic among the Eskimos, which might have reached an army airbase near Churchill. On July 9, searching parties found his plane, wrecked on a submerged reef in Hudson Bay.

The pilot's body was found but not that of Lt. Austin.

The lieutenant had been post surgeon at the base and had served in a dual role in ministering to the needs of the natives.

His station was far out in the wilds, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg, and to that point will go the young wife.

The lives of the two young physicians have been strangely parallel throughout their careers. Both attended Wheaton College, Ill., after the former Miss Jacobus graduated from Vassar High School in 1934. Later, they attended Northwestern School of Medicine and were married in June, 1940.

When the army called Lt. Austin, his wife succeeded him at the Chicago hospital.

Dr. Austin was born in Waterford and lived here until about three years of age when she went with her parents to Vassar, Mich. Rev. Jacobus was pastor of the Baptist churches in Waterford and Clarkston for several years.

Yesterday's Baby

He was only a baby a few months ago,

And little or nothing expected to know.

No one ever thought of him seriously twice,

If they were out looking for expert advice.

He wasn't allowed to stray off very far,

Or was entrusted the use of the car. His mother had kept him so tucked 'neath her wing

That he scarce had a chance of learning a thing.

So sheltered and babied and kept on the shelf

He hadn't a chance of expressing himself.

The army then found with wars to be won

It needed to train the strong and the young.

It took the young boys who were physically fit

And taught them to fly and maneuver a ship.

Entrusted with now the fate of our nation,

At battle in lands scattered over creation;

Stood on their judgment to fight in the sky.

Unflinchingly looking grim death in the eye.

Trusted great value and lives to their skill,

And felt self assured of the spot they would fill.

All that he needed was a job to be done,

To snap him away from a child's world of fun,

And make him a man that we herald today

As the symbol of courage and strength away.

Get Wheat Seed And Fertilizer Early

Oakland county farmers planning to sow wheat in September should make arrangements for seed and fertilizer well in advance of seeding time, suggest members of the crops and soil science departments at M. S. college.

Especially is this true of commercial fertilizer because of shortage of labor in manufacture and delay in distribution to dealers, says Dr. C. E. Millar, head of the soil science department.

With consideration to market requirements, farmers may choose any one of three different wheat varieties with good results. Where the local shipper prefers a red wheat, the Redrock variety is suggested. However, if the market prefers a white wheat, either Yorkwin or American Banner should be grown. Yorkwin, a comparatively new wheat in Michigan, has out-yielded other varieties 4 to 6 bushels per acre, in trials conducted by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, Professor Decker states.

Choice and quantity of a commercial fertilizer for wheat are dependent on the soil type, previous soil treatment, and whether a legume is to be seeded in the wheat in spring.

On heavy loams, silt loams, and clay loams, a 2-16-8 or a 2-12-6 fertilizer is desirable unless the soil is quite rich in humus or has been recently manured; in which case 18-20% superphosphate or 0-11-7 fertilizer will be satisfactory. From 200 to 300 pounds of fertilizer to the acre is a reasonable application unless clover or alfalfa is to be seeded in the wheat. If a legume is to be seeded, one must remember that fertilizer is being applied for two crops, both the legume and the wheat, Dr. Millar explains. 300-400 pounds may profitably be applied because of the beneficial effect on the seeding. The improved stand and increased yield of hay will pay handsomely for the additional fertilizer.

On the lighter loams and sandy loams, a 3-12-12 fertilizer should be used unless manure has been recently applied. On manured land, the 2-16-8 or 2-12-6 will suffice, and 300 pounds of fertilizer to the acre should give profitable returns on land which is adapted to growing wheat. On these lighter soils, however, legume seedlings do not usually succeed when made in wheat, Dr. Millar states.

The Hessian fly-free date for Oakland county will be announced next week. To avoid possible destruction or damage to the stand, wheat should not be sown previous to this date, which varies throughout Michigan.

Are There Any In This Area?

Plans to honor couples married for 75 years or more are being prepared by the committee in charge of celebrating the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the flour mill company founded by the Pillsbury family in Minneapolis in 1869.

The initial plan is to send a 75th anniversary cake to each of these couples who were married in the year the company was started or before. According to population figures, analyzed by statisticians, there may be 250 or more couples in the United States who are observing their diamond anniversaries.

The committee is, however, interested in the life story of these people and has asked The Holly Advertiser to assist in locating these couples.

The married life of the people will have spanned a period of remarkable development in this country. Their early romance would have occurred in the closing year of the war between the states and the reconstruction period that followed. Among them might be a wife who was a girl of 15 in 1869. She would be 90 this year. Her husband might have been a returned boy soldier, or a youth still in his teens who was inspired by the spirit of the pioneers of that day and struck out at an early age to establish his own home.

The call of the frontier was strong at that time. Charles A. Pillsbury, raised in New Hampshire, heard it and joined an uncle, John S. Pillsbury, in Minneapolis. The latter became governor of Minnesota and the father of the state university. Charles entered the flour milling business. The firm he established grew into a nation-wide organization now headed by Phillip W. Pillsbury, a grandson.

Earlier this summer the company presented the state of Minnesota with two millstones that were in the pioneer Pillsbury mills. They are to be placed in the State Historical Society Building at St. Paul.

MAN-MADE WEATHER . . . Scientists haven't yet learned how to control the weather, but our Research Department has developed a machine that produces all four seasons of the year in just 24 hours. April showers alternated with sunshine, heavy rainstorms, freezing and thawing—all take place in cycles that are repeated daily. So when we want a paint that will stand up in all kinds of weather, or a plastic that won't warp out of shape if used outdoors, a sample is put in the "Weather-ometer." In 30 days' time it receives a buffeting equal to many years' service exposed to the elements.

TO TEMPT SUMMER PALATES . . . Our Home Service Department recommends this tasteful dessert:

- Grapefruit Pie — Temp. 450 degrees, Time 15 min.
- 1/2 lemon (juice)
- 1-1/3 cups grapefruit juice
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 3/4 cup sifted flour
- 1 cup boiling water
- 3 eggs, separated (whites for meringue)
- 1 tbsp. butter

Combine all the ingredients with the exception of the egg whites. Cook on "low" heat until thickened. Pour into baked shell and top with meringue made of egg whites. For the pastry use a standard pastry recipe, substituting sweetened grapefruit juice for water. Bake pie shell.

A MILLION DOLLARS AN HOUR . . . Combat munitions—tanks, airplanes, guns, engines, gas masks, airplane flight instruments, gliders, jeeps, trucks and ammunition (to name only a few)—are produced at the rate of $1,000,000 an hour in the Detroit area. Electricity is the lifeblood of this tremendous production, and there has been no shortage of power for the operation of these plants. Accomplishments of manufacturers in producing the weapons of war are outstanding. One of our customers makes the Bofors 40-mm. anti-aircraft cannon, and in one year increased his output of these guns more than 30 times—3,000 per cent. Using automotive production methods, he cut the assembly time for one of these guns from 450 man-hours—the best record abroad—to 14 man-hours.

HOME CANNING AIDS . . . "Which canning method should I use for fruits? Is the Cold-Pack method better than the Hot-Pack? Is it possible to can without sugar? What is the difference between the various kinds of jars and jar caps?" . . . Answers to these and many other questions may be had from our Home Service Advisor. Consult any Detroit Edison office.

Electric Fences May Be Dangerous

Expert Installation Required To Make Them Safe

Take no chances with homemade electric fence equipment, warns D. E. Wiant, associate professor of agricultural engineering, M. S. C.

An electric fence energized or "kept hot" by means of a device that supplies a continuous current is highly dangerous to human and animal life, he explains.

Wiant cites three instances this summer in Michigan where persons met death through coming in contact with electric fences that were connected to a 110-volt lighting circuit. The farmers who were using these fences thought that the fences were safe because they had arranged to have the current flow through a light bulb of low wattage. Such fences are potentially deadly and should never be used, he warns. The effect of the continuous current is not to impart a warning sting but rather to give a paralyzing shock that may prevent a person or animal from pulling away from the wire.

Safe, commercially made electric fence energizers provide an interrupted current that gives a sharp sting to the person or animal touching the wire. Their reflexes immediately cause them to pull away involuntarily from the wire, unharmed, Wiant explains.

Electric fences of a safe type and properly installed have demonstrated their worth in efficient farm operation. To prevent needless tragedies or loss of valuable livestock that in time might cause laws curbing the use of electric fences to be enacted, it is imperative that farmers install only equipment that is known to be safe, Wiant urges.

Michigan Gypsum Supply Growing

Once the leading state in production of gypsum, Michigan may supply greatly increased quantities of the building material for postwar construction.

Detailed studies of gypsum reserves in the Grand Rapids-Grandville area and in Arenac and Isoc counties where the state's production now centers will be carried on by state geologists during October and November. Other known beds of considerable thickness are found in the Thumb counties and in Ionia and Saginaw counties.

The basic component of wallboard, plaster board, fireproofing materials and plasters and other construction uses, the department is also making studies of newest processing and marketing methods.

the Michigan State Grange and Capt. Fred S. Randall of the State Office of Veterans' Affairs. He will discuss activities of veteran affairs, the Serviceman's Readjustment Act of 1944 as well as opportunities offered in agriculture to the veteran.

Following the morning program, lunch will be served at the Presbyterian church for all visitors. In the afternoon a field trip will be made to inspect conservation practices in the Fenton Soil Conservation District.

The District Directors' Association is incorporated for the purpose of encouraging the work of Soil Conservation Districts in Michigan and is comprised of District Directors from each of the twenty-one Soil Conservation Districts scattered over Michigan.

The districts, covering approximately three million acres of Michigan farmland, are organized to promote proper land use, reforestation, better woodland management, improvement of crop rotation and pasture, prevention of soil erosion and water runoff on sloping land, development on cropland and wildlife development.

Since the meeting is open to anyone interested in conservation, both Fenton and Southeast Livingston Soil Conservation District Directors are inviting the District Cooperators and their friends to attend.

A long drouth coupled with unusually excessively warm weather is doing incalculable damage to gardens and crops in Michigan and this section is faring worse perhaps than any other. Two light showers Monday night and Tuesday evening were not enough to do any good to vegetation and scarcely alleviated the heat. Unless a prolonged downpour occurs very soon there is bound to be a shortage of home grown food.
