GETTING MORE GMC "DUCKS" FROM PONTIAC TO THE PACIFIC IS OUR JOB AND YOURS

The Oakland County men and women who help build the GMC "Duck," either directly or indirectly, are making a great contribution to final Victory over the Japs! During the long, bitter battle in the Pacific, the "Duck" has supported and supplied American amphibious forces all the way from Guadalcanal and New Guinea to Iwo Jima and Okinawa. Developed and produced exclusively by GMC Truck & Coach, this unique land and water transport truck has been in the first waves of amphibious assaults...rolling across coral reefs and beaches...moving inland despite swamps and streams, mud and mountains, Japs and jungles. With many more American landings to come on the China coast and the enemy's home islands, the GMC "Duck" is destined to play an even more important role in future fighting. So it's up to every GMC worker to stick to his or her job until the "job" is finished in the Pacific!

GMC's Employment Office at 661 South Boulevard, Pontiac, is open from 8:15 A.M. to 5:30 P. M. Monday through Saturday

FRED: "Is it true, Judge, that a war can't be won without the use of war-alcohol... the kind the beverage distillers have been producing for the government for over two years?"
OLD JUDGE: "That's right, Fred. It is a basic ingredient in the smokeless powder used in virtually every firearm from a pistol to a 16-inch gun. And, in addition, it plays a more human role. The medical supplies which our military doctors use to alleviate pain, combat infection, save lives are prepared with war-alcohol."
FRED: "No wonder, then, more and more people are recognizing the great contribution our beverage distillers have made to the winning of the war with their double-duty product."

Black Market Is Not In Locker Plants

The Shortage of meat in this country is not caused by the few pounds of illegal meat that may be stored in some urban locker plants and over which the locker operator, who runs a purely SERVICE business, has no control. The absurdity of attempting to make locker plants the scapegoats for the meat dearth is quickly evident when it is recognized that only 3 per cent of the nation's meat supply is in lockers. If all this supply were illegal (and of course it is not—possibly not more than 2 per cent of locker meat has been willfully stored with intent to evade the law) it would still be just a drop in the bucket.

rural service, a service for the farmer who produces his own meat and who owns and slaughters it. By the early part of last year, almost all available lockers were rented and the possibilities of large deposits in them by non-producers (or those who do not qualify as producers) is very remote.

A meat authority, not affiliated with the locker industry, has called this present campaign a "smoke screen", designed to blind the public to the inefficiency of government bureaus in handling the meat crisis and in curbing the big black markets. By drawing the public's attention to the new and novel locker plant industry, the real culprits are passed over. The OPA would do far better were it to find out why certain restaurants have plenty of meat while the retail butcher store has none. Nor do the recently issued slaughtering regulations improve the situation. During May and June the OPA set reduced percentage quotas for the amount of livestock that may be slaughtered by Class 2 slaughterers who produce meat not subject to federal inspection. How is the local housewife going to get more meat if the local slaughterer is forced to kill less livestock? According to this OPA regulation, the less meat you slaughter, the more you get.

Automatic pressure saucepans are not designed for canning, and should not be used for that purpose, declares Mary J. E. Woodward, home extension agent. Some women have tried pressure saucepans for this purpose, but have had little success.

For one thing, it is not possible to know the exact pressure, so timing is inaccurate. Another objection is the size which permits only a small amount to be canned at one time.

Some women have attempted to make pressure canners out of very tightly covered water bath canners. The pressure thus obtained cannot be gauged correctly. It is never higher than a few pounds at the most and will only succeed in bursting the vessel or popping off the cover. Such an experiment is hazardous.

Even in the water bath, the water pressure must be kept even or liquid will be drawn out of the jars. If the jars are always covered with at least two inches of water the pressure will be even. It is sometimes necessary to devise a lower rack or use pint jars or the shortest quart jars. A thin rack for a round water bath canner can be made from an old pie or cake tin hammered flat and pierced with a spike.

Mary J. E. Woodward Home Extension Agent

Proof that no sugar is needed to keep fruit that is canned is offered by a number of Oakland County women who did sugarless canning last fall, reports Mary Woodward, county home demonstration agent. Sugar mainly serves to add flavor to the fruit.

It is pointed out that some sugarless canning may be necessary during the coming canning season, particularly during heavy fruit marketing seasons when peaches or other fruits threaten to go to waste.

If anyone would like assistance with food preservation canning or freezing; the home agent will be glad to give such assistance. You may call the extension office in Pontiac, 4-3911 or by writing to 15 1/2 West Huron Street, Pontiac.

DON'T BREAK

STREET LIGHTS!

➔ Street lights protect the movement of worker troops, and war supplies.	➔ Repairing a broken light uses up precious war materials needed at the front.
➔ The darkness under a broken light may trap a fellow American in a costly accident.	➔ REPORT BROKEN STREET LIGHTS to any Edison office or to the police.
