Big Parade In Clarkston Next Monday

Line Will Form at 9:15 a. m. at Miller Road and Main Street

Excitement is high as the day draws near for the big costume, pet and horribles parade in Clarkston. Monday, Sept. 3rd, 1945, will be remembered as the outstanding parade day in the history of this vicinity. Children and adults are getting their costumes ready. This will be the first, real celebration that the town has had since our first young man left for military service back in 1941.

The participants will meet at 9:15 in the morning at the corner of Miller Road and Main Street and the line of march will be from there to the center of town. There will be prizes and refreshments for the children. Traffic on Main St. will be rerouted and the police will be on hand to guard against accidents.

The Clarkston Rotary Club is sponsoring the parade and every member will have a part. The program has been well organized and the club is looking forward to providing a good time for everyone.

The advisory committee for the children is Rev. Walter Saxman, Earl Terry, Gerald O'Dell and Ray C. Ainsley. Robert C. Beattie will assist the adults. A. E. Butters is general chairman of the parade and he has been very careful to see that every detail has received attention. The Clarkston school band under the direction of Harold Lamb will be on hand to furnish music.

In case of rain the parade will be cancelled.

USS MISSOURI TO BE SCENE OF HISTORIC SURRENDER

The United States Navy's mighty 45,000-ton battleship, the USS MISSOURI, will end her World War II career in a blaze of glory, Aug. 31, 1945, in Tokyo Bay, when she serves as the scene of the historic unconditional surrender of Japan to the United Nations. Proudly bearing the name of the home state of President Harry S. Truman, the fighting USS MISSOURI was named by General of the Army, Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Allied Commander, as the locale of the formal ending of the war in the Pacific. Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Commander-in-Chief of the United States Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean Areas, will sign for the United States, General of the Army MacArthur, for the Allied forces which fought in the Pacific. The USS MISSOURI was launched Jan. 29, 1944. Construction was ordered June 12, 1940. Her keel was laid on Jan. 6, 1941, at the New York Navy Yard.

Ft. Knox, Ky.
Aug. 26-15

Dear Mr. Stamp:

I am writing this letter to you now before I get started training. If I wait I do not think I will get time. I received the Clarkston News last week and it sure was a pleasant feeling to know that I had something that I could read about the people from Clarkston.

While I have been here at Ft. Knox I have run across three fellows from Michigan. Two of them are from Pontiac. I do not know them personally but it is nice to know someone from near home. Here at Ft. Knox no one knows what is going to happen about the training. They tell us that we are going right on with the tank training. So I suppose that they will probably make a tanker out of me yet.

It is time to turn in now so in closing I wish to thank you very much for your thoughtfulness in sending me the paper.

Sincerely yours

Eugene Hubbard

Private First Class Oliver D. Johnson, United States Marine Corps Reserve, was cited "for meritorious service in connection with operations against the enemy while serving with a Marine regiment at Bougainville, British Solomon Islands, from November 11, 1943, to January 9, 1944; at Guam, Marianas Islands, from July 21 to August 15, 1944, and at Iwo Jima, Volcano Islands, from February 21, 1945 to March 24, 1945. In the first of these three campaigns and at Iwo Jima, Private First Class Johnson served as a wireman trouble shooter. Throughout these periods of repeated action against the enemy Private First Class Johnson distinguished himself by his initiative, his unflinching zeal in the face of extreme hardship and danger, his courage and his outstanding devotion to duty. An inspiration to all who served with him, he made a material contribution to the success of these operations. His exemplary conduct was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Salvage Committees To Stay On Job

Declaring there was immediate and grave danger of the collapse of the nation-wide salvage program before its magnificent job was fully completed, J. A. Krug, Chairman of the War Production Board, emphasized today that the 21,000 volunteer salvage committees throughout the land should "stay on the job lest the Reconversion Program be impaired."

Paper salvage must continue, Mr. Krug declared. Fats and oils likewise must be conserved as much as before. The same applies to tin cans. All of these materials are short and will continue to be short for some time. The salvaging of all of them is of importance to orderly reconversion. Otherwise, Mr. Krug warned, the country may experience "a serious problem as the aftermath of the war."

Mr. Krug pointed out that although the shooting phase of the war is over, a war of supplies is being waged and so long as there are bottlenecks to reconversion owing to shortages of such raw materials as paper, fats and oils, and tin, not only the volunteer salvage committees but every man, woman, and child in the country must continue to cooperate.

Obviously, Mr. Krug declared, "the war is not over for a soldier until he comes home and has a job. We must make the jobs by supplying the raw materials."

The War Production Board Chairman paid tribute to the amazing performance of the salvage committees throughout the country and to those who provided trucks for the collection of materials. "It would be a shame," he asserted, "if this magnificent organization were to collapse now when it is needed to avert the shortages that might hinder reconversion."

"We hope the need for volunteer activities in salvaging these materials will terminate in the near future," Mr. Krug added, "and as soon as it is felt that industry can reorganize and resume its regular collection channels disrupted by the war, the committee members will be advised. Meanwhile, we strongly urge everyone connected with the salvage programs to stay on the job."

ston, Michigan, has been awarded the prized Bronze Star for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy near Gomas, on the island of Mindanao in the Philippines.

Teddy, a member of the famous 63rd Field Artillery, accompanied a forward observer party as they made their way up a steep mountain and along a ridge to set up their post less than 250 yards from an enemy stronghold.

The Japs watched them set up and then opened fire on them with everything from rifle fire to anti-aircraft cannon. A direct hit from a mortar shell demolished the radio and also wounded one of the forward observer party. Private Teddy and another man made their way down the tortuous trail to the rear and obtained another radio. Returning to the observation post, Teddy reestablished radio communication with the artillery batteries and directed fire on the enemy until the Nip's weapons were silenced. This enabled the doughboys to advance and take their objective.

"Private Teddy's courage and determination are a credit to himself and the military service," the citation said.

Program Planned For Next Year

The 1946 AAA program should go further than any past program in meeting the most serious needs for soil-building and water-conserving measures on Oakland County farms, according to County AAA Chairman Walter R. Cook.

A new plan of operation adopted for next year's program will give county and township AAA committeemen more to say in deciding what practices should be pushed in the county.

Chairman Walter R. Cook praises the new plan as being very helpful at this particular time. The big increase in production on Oakland County farms during the war has increased the need for restoring and maintaining soil-fertility and for other conservation measures.

Because funds available for AAA assistance are not sufficient to cover all the soil-building or water-conserving needs of either the Nation or the county, the new plan aims to use them on the farms and for the practices where they will do the most good. The farmer-elected township committeemen have the experience and the knowledge to get AAA assistance where it is most needed, Mr. Cook believes.

Under the new plan the State AAA Committee will allocate a definite sum of money as a county budget for AAA assistance to farmers next year.

The county committee, in consultation with the farmer-elected township committeemen, will then choose from an approved State list the conservation practices most needed on farms in this county.

The township committeemen will call upon individual farmers next winter and spring and help them work out a plan of AAA assistance on their farms. It will be the responsibility of the county committee to see that the total of all assistance approved for the county does not run more than the soil-building budget allowed by the State committee.

Mr. Cook points out that the AAA program is important to people living in towns and cities as well as to farmers. The conservation practices encouraged by AAA help farmers to grow more and better quality feed, thereby protecting both the pocketbooks and the health of the folks who buy it. A program of public assistance such as AAA is particularly needed at this time when farmers have gone all-out to produce for war with resulting loss of soil productivity.

Service Mothers Have Luncheon

On Thursday of last week the Service Mothers held a meeting at the home of Mrs. George Perry on Dixie Highway. A pot-luck luncheon was served at noon to 16 members and one guest. The newly elected officers were installed and a rising vote of thanks was given the retiring officers for their splendid work during the past year.

At the business meeting the sending of Christmas packages to the boys overseas was discussed and it was decided to wait until the next meeting in September before making any final decisions because many addresses will be changed and many of the boys may be returning to the States. Many suggestions were made for a memorial for the service men and the club hopes that later something will materialize.

By The Way

The Clarkston News' year closes with this issue and although there are 52 weeks in the year there have been 53 Fridays for this newspaper. This is really a bonus issue. . . . During the past few weeks many of our boys in far away lands have been doing some moving about. Mrs. Robert (Bob) Everett had a phone call from her husband who has arrived in Boston. Edwin Beattie is home for a short time. Charles Chamberlin, Gerald Davies and William (Bill) Cobb are on their way home. . . . Now that speed restrictions are lifted traffic accidents will increase unless motorists use caution. Bicyclists and drivers of cars must be careful. Schools will open next week and many children will have to cross the main highways. Let us protect our citizens of tomorrow by driving slowly through towns and school zones. . . . Richard "Dick" Morgan is now working full time at the Morgan Gas Station with his dad. . . . The Clarkston Rotary Club seems well pleased with the dinners prepared and served by the women of the Methodist church. Some of the members say the dinners "are getting better all the time". . . . The Raymond Bakers are moving to Auburn Heights this week. They have sold their home on Wompole Drive to the Harold Westons. . . . The folks in Clarkston are fortunate in that most of their needs can be satisfied right here at home. Now, Ira Jones will be glad to take your order for a monument or a marker for your cemetery lot. See his adv., on another page. Soon you will be able to do all of your shopping in town. Most businesses are represented here. . . . Clarkston women will have their beauty needs well taken care of now that they have 2 well equipped shops with capable operators in town.

Monday, September 3rd, is Labor Day. On that date the Nation pauses to honor men and women workers who have toiled so hard and so faithfully to produce War materials for our fighting forces.

This Bank is happy to join in saluting those who work on Labor Day—particularly the men and women, boys and girls, who are toiling from early morning until sundown on our farms to meet important 1945 food production quotas.

Homemaker Clubs To Plant Trees To Honor Servicemen

Eighteen thousand members of Michigan Home Economics Clubs will be asked to plant at least one tree apiece during the next 12 months in honor of men in the armed services. Clubs are located in virtually all counties in the state.

The tree planting will be part of a new project to beautify farm homesteads in Michigan. Plans were drawn up by the Home Economics council, composed of state officers and directors of the home economics clubs, organizations sponsored by the Extension Service of Michigan College.

Announcement of the project plans was made today by Miss Margaret Harris, assistant state home economics extension leader at Michigan College.

Another phase of the farm beautification project will be the repairing and painting of rural mail boxes. A safety project for farm homes is also being planned.

The college scholarship project, started in 1931, is to be expanded. A fund of $1,000 or more is to be raised to provide a scholarship award to the rural junior home economics girl who each year has the highest scholastic standing at Michigan College.

When a water softener is used, it should be thoroughly dissolved in the water before the soap is added. This reduces the quantity of soap used and at the same time produces the desired suds. In other words, give the softener an opportunity to soften the water before adding the soap. A good rule is to add the softener to the water 3 to 5 minutes before adding the soap.

Save both soap and water softener by measuring the quantities to be used. First, do a little experimenting to learn how much is needed. After this is done, keep the measuring advice in or near the packages of softener and soap. Measure, don't guess.

When bar soap is used for the laundering, make it into a soap jelly or soap solution. It will suds more quickly in these forms and do a better job of cleaning.

RADAR

Spotted Targets Through Darkness, Smoke or Fog

The Bell System — the largest source of Radar for our fighting forces

This is not surprising for Radar development and production stems from the same roots that produced and continue to nourish this country's telephone system.

Radar, the instrument which enabled our land, sea and air forces to spot enemy targets through darkness, smoke or fog, was one of the outstanding new fighting instruments of the war.

Two years before Pearl Harbor the Government asked Bell Telephone Laboratories to put its wide experience and knowledge of electronics to work to help perfect Radar as a military instrument.

From then on, the Laboratories cooperated closely in the Radar program with the National Defense Research Committee, with Army and Navy specialists, and with scientists of Great Britain.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, became the Nation's largest supplier of Radar systems. One type it made was universally used by B-29's in the Pacific for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing. Another played an important part in aiming the guns on our warships.

If you're waiting for a home telephone, it helps a little to know that Radar is one of the reasons. For years telephone manufacturing plants were devoted to war needs.

Garden Hints

To determine whether or not muskmelons are ripe, examine the stem. If you find a crack in the stem where it joins the fruit, you know it is ripe.

For the best development, potatoes should not be dug until the stems and leaves have started to die down. They are safer in the ground than in a damp warm storage basement—at least until the danger of freezing weather is here.

Sow rye in any open spots in your garden and between the rows of beans and other crops that you plan to leave until frost. This green cover crop will help to supply organic matter to your soil.

Home-dried Foods For Winter Variety

Michigan housewives may wish to add variety to winter meals and bring back memories of the old days by preparing some dried products this summer from the victory garden and orchard, says Mrs. Vivan McFawn, Michigan State College extension nutritionist.

Products that may be successfully dried are corn, lima beans, peas, string beans, greens, apples and peaches. Each 15 pounds of vegetables will yield about 2 to 3 pounds of the dried product, and 25 pounds of apples or peaches will yield from 3 to 4 pounds.

For home drying in small quantities, baking pans may be placed in a slightly heated oven with the door open, or old window screens covered with cheesecloth may be used for trays. An electric fan will hasten the drying process of increasing air circulation. Food to be dried should not be placed too thickly on the tray and should be stirred frequently.

Only the freshest, tenderest products should be dried and all vegetables must be steamed or pre-cooked for a short time. Steaming retains more vitamins and minerals and results in a better product; do not count time until container is full of steam.

Any good table corn may be gathered in the milk stage, husked and steamed or dipped in hot water 15 or 20 minutes to "set" the milk (young corn takes longer than old corn). Drain, cool and cut kernels from the ear. Spread on trays 1/2 to 3/4 inch deep and dry at 130 to 140 degrees F. Stir occasionally. When sufficiently dried, the grains will be hard and will break with a clean glass like fracture.

Any good table peach of uniform color and firmness will dry successfully but should be handled carefully to prevent bruising. The fruit should be washed but may or not be peeled. Keep in salt water if unpeeled—3 to 5 teaspoons salt per gallon of water. Place stoned fruit in layers on tray, pit side up. Start drying at 130 degrees F. and increase to 160 degrees F. The process is complete when a handful of slices has an elastic stringy feel and separates when pressure is removed.

"We're all in hot water —and happy about it!"

Dad Mother Grandma Bobby

"The whole family's in hot water day in and day out—and it's a delightful experience. From Dad's early-morning shave to the last bath in the evening, hot water is making our life easier, cleaner and pleasanter. Before we had it always on tap, we didn't realize what a difference having it would make. Now we know—after having it for daily scrubbing and cleaning, unending washing of hands and faces, dishwashing, baths and showers, and so on. We're really in love with our electric water heater. It's completely clean—and dependable and free of trouble. It costs us only a few cents a day to operate, for Detroit Edison has a special low electric rate for water heaters. I'd advise you to get an electric water heater just as soon as your dealer can let you have one."

Water heaters are not generally available for sale now. A few are being manufactured and distributed. It will be to your advantage to have your name on your electrical dealer's list, so that you will be able to get one at the earliest possible time.

Only a generation ago household tasks were drudgery—particularly for the woman in the home. Today they are a pleasure. Why? Because of the comfort and convenience that electric appliances have brought to the American household. Electricity has made the old-fashioned way the wasteful way. Make your home today and your home tomorrow better. Turn on the electric life.

1,500 To Exhibit At 30th Annual State 4-H Show

More than 1,500 Michigan 4-H club members, selected representatives of the 83 counties in the state, will compete for honors at the 30th annual State 4-H Club Show to be at Michigan State college, East Lansing, for three days, September 3 to 5.

Preliminary entries indicate at least 1,800 head of livestock will be on exhibit, together with hundreds of entries in baking, clothing, canning, poultry, handicraft, foods, crops and other divisions.

Each boy and girl will be competing for a share of the $14,000 in premiums and the special awards to be made by livestock associations and commercial organizations.

A new feature at this year's show will be the leadership awards to be presented to 311 local leaders of Michigan 4-H clubs who have served from 10 to more than 20 years. Seventeen diamond clover pins will be given to those who have served 20 or more years; 69 pearl clover pins to persons who have given 15 years of service; and 225 gold clover awards for those who have led clubs for 10 years. The presentation will be a part of the citizenship ceremony scheduled for the night assembly, Tuesday, September 4, in the college stadium.

The evening program will also feature the selection of Michigan's dress review winner, the showmanship contest, presentation of achievement honors by Charles Figy, commissioner of agriculture and the awarding of colts to the members exhibiting the three best saddle horse champions. E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture at the college, will officiate, and President J. A. Hannah will welcome members and leaders.

Climax of the show will be at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when the annual market stock sale will be held. At that time 125 steers, 120 hogs, and 50 lambs, all raised and exhibited by 4-H club boys and girls, will go under the auc-ioneer's hammer. Highlight will be the auctioning of the grand champion and reserve champion animals.

Of interest to adult farmers will be Farmers' Day to be Tuesday, September 4, in conjunction with the 4-H Show. Special demonstrations and a tour of the college experimental farms are being arranged.

New Bang's Disease Law

A new law listed as Public Act No. 290, of the Regular Session of 1945, will be of much importance to farmers and especially livestock dealers who buy and sell cattle, states Charles Figy, Commissioner of Agriculture.

The Act provides that all cattle over twelve months of age that are sold or moved to associate with cattle of another herd must be accompanied with a certificate of record which shall be issued by the Commissioner of Agriculture, showing the animal to be negative to a Bang's disease test within thirty days or that the cattle originated from a herd which was tested and the entire herd negative within ninety days prior to such sale or movement.

The Act provides that it shall not apply to steers or cattle being moved for immediate slaughter.

Vaccinated cattle over twelve months of age must have the same certificate unless they were vaccinated under Federal-State supervision between the ages of four and eight months and were negative to test prior to vaccination and properly recorded with the Department of Agriculture.
