There isn't always room for one more

THERE isn't room for one more in this bridge foursome—even for a kibitzer... all he does is cause trouble for the players. And one appliance too many on an electrical circuit may be the cause of that troublesome blown fuse. Many people are accustomed to inadequate wiring. But overloaded circuits are not only handicap to home happiness if you have inadequate wiring. It may mean improper distribution of outlets—not having the electric roaster where you want it, because there's no outlet convenient—or maybe Dad can't plug in his new electric shaver where he wants it. For tomorrow's electrical living, an adequately wired home should accommodate a new frozen-food cabinet, electric range, automatic laundry, electric dishwasher and many other electrical appliances that will make living more pleasant and easier. And, of course, if your plans for tomorrow include a brand-new home, it's doubly important that your plans and specifications be checked for adequate wiring.

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared in cooperation with the electrical contractors in your area in the interest of insuring adequate wiring for every home. When you build or remodel, be sure your home is properly wired. For wiring recommendations, call your local Detroit Edison office.

GREENFIELD'S FAMOUS FOODS

AS we write this message to the legion of Greenfield patrons in Michigan, a New Year is on the threshold. It is fitting, therefore, that we offer heartiest greetings... and a sincere wish that 1946 brings you a heaping portion of health, happiness and prosperity.

Greenfield's volume of patronage in 1945 exceeded all previous records, despite critical labor and material shortages. Over FOUR AND A HALF MILLION meals were served. Likewise, in the purchase of Michigan grown foodstuffs, new highs were set by many thousands of dollars. Our greatest pride, however, is in the many complimentary expressions from guests and their recommendation of Greenfield's to friends.

Please accept this as a special invitation to visit Greenfield's on your next visit to Detroit. We're sure you'll enjoy the wide variety of famous foods, prepared by expert culinary staffs and skilled dietitians. Satisfying portions and popular prices are other features that will make your visit a happy event.

The dining room was trimmed in the Christmas colors and the table was spread with a lovely white cloth covered with a Christmas crepe paper table cloth and napkins to match. The favors were small red candles set in little round blocks of wood and cedar boughs. Large red candles were placed in the center of each end of the table. The place cards corresponded with the gifts that had been placed under a large Christmas tree in the front room. A delicious three-course dinner was served. The lights were turned out and the candles were all lighted while Mrs. Grace Barnhart gave the invocation. Individual small gifts of balls of popcorn wrapped in Christmas paper were also placed at each plate to be eaten later. After the dishes were washed the group returned to the front room where gifts were distributed. Lovely corsages were presented to three Gold Star members. The members so honored were Mrs. Alfred Hutchinson, Mrs. Frank Walters and Mrs. Earl Duemler. Presentation was made by Mrs. Earl Springer. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed with games and music.

EASIER WASHING FEATURED IN THE M. S. C. CARAVAN

One of the great labor-saving agents developed during the war by dairy research specialists is the wetting agent that takes the drudgery out of cleaning dairy utensils. How to use wetting agents on the farm will be among the scores of exhibits and demonstrations in the Michigan State College Rural Progress Caravan which is to visit Oakland County in Pontiac on February 12.

Wetting agent compounds are now being prepared commercially and are available in larger volume at dairy supply houses, according to information from the college dairy department. Their use is resulting in much cleaner milk-pails and other equipment. These utensils can be kept shiny and sanitary, completely free of milk stone, by using the wetting agents.

Other exhibits of interest to dairy farmers, all presented by the college dairy department, will include a safe bull pen, a nipple pail for weaning calves, and a demonstration of rapid milking.

The caravan starts a 3,000 mile tour of lower Michigan early in January, with stops in 50 counties.

Beware Coughs That Hang On

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs—it contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. A LESSON FROM THE MULE

He's mighty useful, the mule. Feed him right and he'll pull all day, no matter how heavy the load or how tough the going.

But the feeding is important. If he gets too little, day after day, he grows weak. So when you buy a mule, you're more interested in how much he can pull than in how little you can feed him.

Your Telephone Company pulls a heavy load, too, and for the past three war years the going has been tough. Handling more business than ever before, Michigan Bell has had its largest gross income. But wages, taxes, and other costs have gone up even faster, so its earnings are far below the pre-war rate—far below the earnings of other industries.

It's like underfeeding the mule. If earnings are not sufficient, the Company's ability to pull the load becomes weakened.

Michigan Bell customers want good service. The telephone bill is so small an item in their regular expenditures that customers want really good service even though it might cost a trifle more than they would need to pay for inferior service.

To give you the kind of service you want in the future, when and where you want it, Michigan Bell is undertaking a 5-year $120,000,000 post-war program of expansion and improvement. Money to finance that program must come from the savings of people who want to make a sound investment. But if prospects for future Telephone Company earnings are unattractive compared with those of other companies, they won't supply the money we will need. They'll place their savings elsewhere.

Too long a continuation of a rate of earnings substantially below that of other industries would weaken our ability to raise the money required to meet expected telephone needs. So the future quality of your telephone service depends on telephone rates sufficient to produce earnings attractive to investors.

GREENFIELD RESTAURANTS SEND NEW YEAR GREETINGS

Through their president, Fred A. Simonsen, and the medium of attractive advertisements in Michigan daily and weekly newspapers, Greenfield's Restaurants of Detroit are extending New Year's greetings to their many patrons in the state.

Number of patrons served in the Greenfield restaurants will reach the amazing total of over 4,500,000 during 1945, or about four times the population of Detroit. These millions of hungry patrons consumed quantities sufficient for the army they actually are. For example, this past year they consumed 219,000 dozens of eggs, 95,700 pounds of butter, 1,648,000 pounds of potatoes, 1,584,340 pounds of vegetables and 323,335 pounds of fruit. Much of this vast quantity of produce came from the farms and dairies of the Wolverine state.

The success story of Mr. Simonsen is in the finest tradition of American ingenuity and honest work. He was born on a farm in Spencer Township, Kent County, near Trufont, Michigan, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peter Simonsen, Danish Lutherans who were well-known in their community as farm operators and food producers. He attended school in the Dixon district. Planning to become a dentist, he started to work at an early age; working in restaurants part time to supply needed funds with which to further his education.

He developed a deep instinct and high regard for the business of feeding people and so decided to make it his career. After finishing his schooling, he went to Grand Rapids and became associated with the restaurants operated by the late Mr. W. E. Lawrence.

In 1910 he went to Rochester, New York, as an executive in a chain of popular eating places. He came to Detroit in 1916 and in 1924 became the sole owner and operator of the Greenfield Res-

Conservation News

Only half as many "mainlanders" hunted deer on Bois Blanc Island in upper Lake Huron last month as were present a year ago, getting four bucks. Twelve "natives" accounted for another four, the total kill being five less than the 13 taken in 1944. One Bois Blanc hunter reported wounding a lynx, the island being the most southerly point in Michigan where the almost-extinct "cat" has been seen in recent years.

Michigan lumber production is now only one-tenth what it was 60 years ago.

The life of a tree is comparable to that of a human, passing through the stages of infancy, youth, maturity, old age and decadence.

Beginning January 1, inland lakes north of Highway M-46 will be open to year around fishing for perch, catco bass, bullheads and any other non-game fish.

Highway M-46 extends from Muskegon on Lake Michigan thru Newaygo, Howard City, Edmore, St. Louis and Saginaw to Port Sanilac on Lake Huron. Only inland lakes in the northern part of the state to which liberalized regulations do not apply are those designated as "trout lakes." There are about 125 lakes that are so designated, which are open to fishing only during the trout fishing season extending from the last Saturday in April to Labor Day, inclusive.

There is no change in the season during which largemouth and smallmouth bass may be taken—June 25 to December 31, inclusive—or in the season for taking bluegills and sunfish—June 25 to February 28, inclusive—according to the Conservation department.

Northern pike, walleyed pike and muskellunge may be taken from inland lakes north of M-46, except "trout lakes" from May 15 to March 15. These species may be taken at any time from lakes directly connected with Lake Michigan and from rivers and streams that are not designated as "trout waters."

What can be done to help the pheasants while trying to farm with profit on soil that is not too good is the $84 question whose answer is sought by the conservation department.

Some of the department's technically trained game men, home from the wars, have been given the job of finding the answer on second and third-class farm land near Lansing.

The 1,710 acre Rose Lake wild-life experiment station tract will be used for some of their investigations. A Pittman-Robertson project, financed largely with a sum of money collected through a federal tax on sporting arms and ammunition, the Rose Lake tract has been the scene of previous efforts to reconcile game management with good farming practices. A research project which got under way in 1939 was discontinued last summer when the last available trained man was called into service. Recently resumed, the project is not expected to hit its stride until next July.

Apparent return of smelt to waters of upper Lake Michigan is not regarded as an unmixed blessing by commercial fishermen.

Take of herring and whitefish has been improving and some of the fishermen believe the increase in these species can be explained by the reduction in numbers of smelt in recent years.

Shipments of smelt to the Chicago market, especially from the Green Bay waters, continue to average several hundred pounds daily, the first sizeable shipments since a mysterious epidemic attacked th species during the winter of 1942-43.

Conservation department authorities say that the effect of smelt on more valuable food fishes has not been determined.

REMEMBER--

YOUR HOME NEWSPAPER

All matters handled through the Probate Court requires a certain amount of legal publication in one of the county papers. Foreclosing a mortgage entails publication of the foreclosure notice in a county paper.

Either the probate court officers or your attorney will have your legal publication carried in The Clarkston News if you request it.

We solicit the privilege of carrying such legal publications. This form of advertising is valuable to us. When you support us in this way we are able to give you a better paper week by week.
