Clarkston Coal Co. Has New Owner

Starting the first of the year the Clarkston Coal Company is owned and operated by Herbert R. Beach, who needs no introduction to the folks in this district. Mr. Beach has lived in Clarkston for about 25 years. He attended the local schools and also attended the Pontiac Business Institute. Nine years ago he married Winifred Holcomb who is also well known in Clarkston.

Mr. Beach served his country for the past 3 years and 7 months in the Army Air Corps. He was attached to the Air Transport Command and after training at six of the U. S. Air Fields he left for duty in the China-Burma-India area. He flew "the hump" many times and had to his credit 92 hours of combat. The remainder of the 1700 hours was spent in ordinary flying. He was made a First Lieutenant and was given a unit citation. Before entering the service he was employed as a clerk at the Yellow Truck and Coach in Pontiac.

The Clarkston Coal Co. is about 27 years old. The former owner, George Marshall, purchased the business from Miller and Beardslee several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are contemplating going to Florida the end of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Beach are making their home on Wompole Drive in Clarkston. Mr. Beach is eager to serve the customers of the Clarkston Coal Company, and regrets that by mistake the new telephone number which is 3532, was omitted from the new directory.

Old Business Firm Changes Hands

A change of ownership and management of Waterford's oldest business firm was effective January first. The four sons of Mr. and Mrs. August Jacober Sr., took over the business of their parents on Tuesday and plan to make a few major changes in the very near future. Mr. and Mrs. Jacober Sr. brought the business in October, 1920 they found the building too small and purchased an empty store building which was located on the corner of the Andersonville road and the Dixie Highway, right next to the original business site, and in a few years their business growth was so rapid that they were forced to build an addition which served as a meat market. In 1927 the business was again too large for the building and in March ground was broken for the large brick building which is now being used. The store building vacated in August, 1927 was purchased by Henry Ford and can be seen at Greenfield Village.

The four sons, William, Harold, August, Jr., and John Jacober, plan to make the two large store rooms into one large, semi self-serve grocery and meat market. The hardware stock which was kept in the one section of the store has been moved into the basement and will be expanded.

Two sons, August, Jr. and John have been discharged from the Army Air Corps in the past few months after having spent nearly five years and nearly four years, respectively, in the service. They are both married and each have a small son. All four sons live in Waterford township.

Mr. Jacober also served as postmaster for nearly twenty years. The post office has been in his place of business during this time. Since his retirement as postmaster in May, his daughter, Mrs. Leona McCaffrey, has been serving as acting postmaster with the post office remaining in the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacober, Sr., have made their home in an upstairs apartment and plan to continue to use it as their home. They will be spending a good deal of the time during the nice weather at their lovely cabin located at Comins, Michigan.

any corner should emphasize the structural lines of the room. For instance, bookcases, tables, pianos and desks should be placed parallel to the walls of the room and not diagonally across the corner. A diagonal placement actually wastes space and unbalances the room arrangement. A jog in the living room wall can be made interesting by accenting it, if the room is fairly large, with bookshelves built to follow the contours of the wall. If corner space does not permit the shelves deep enough for books, try shallow shelves for other decorative accessories such as colorful plates or small potted plants. Another way of handling a wall corner or a jog in a fairly large living room is to place a table or small settee in the corner and at right angles to the room itself. It has the effect of a division of the room, and is very useful if dining room and living room are combined and a separation between the two is desired. News Ads bring results.

Of "Leaping Lena" ain't what she used to be. One more bobby-soxer and Lena would give up with a well-earned wheeze and a sigh. Likewise, homes wired for yesterday's electrical needs are inadequate for today's electrical living. Yet many home owners have become accustomed to inadequate wiring—to frequent blown fuses because of an overloaded circuit. Making sure that your home wiring is up to date is your assurance of being able to use the electrical appliances you want in your home when you want to use them—where you want to use them. It means having your home furnishings arranged to suit your taste, with outlets always convenient. It also means that it should accommodate a new frozen-food cabinet, electric range, automatic laundry, electric dishwasher and many other electrical appliances. And, of course, if your plans for tomorrow include a brand-new home, adequate wiring is an "A-1" item to check in plans and specifications.

This is one of a series of advertisements prepared in cooperation with the electrical contractors in your area in the interest of insuring adequate wiring for every home. When you build or remodel, be sure your home is properly wired. For wiring recommendations, call your local Detroit-Edison office.

Better Rural Service for More Rural People

You'll see two specific results come out of Michigan Bell's 5-year $13,500,000 rural expansion and improvement program:

First, it will make telephone service available to more rural folks. Second, there'll be a general improvement in rural service.

Thanks to new scientific devices and new construction methods, we are going to be able to reach into rural areas which have been too remote to serve in the past. Also, our liberal free line-construction allowance, and small monthly payments where construction costs are involved, will make it possible for more people to have telephones.

On the improvement side of the picture, we plan to build more rural lines, and thus reduce the number of parties per line. Wherever practical, we are going to install dial service to increase the speed and convenience of telephoning. And we also are studying other ways of making rural service more valuable than it has ever been before.

We're glad our rural program is under way again. We had started it long before the war, but civilian telephone expansion had to be curtailed during the war. Now that we have begun to get the materials and manpower we need, we are going to push the job just as fast as possible.

January 31 THE LAST DAY FOR MEN NOW IN THE ARMY TO RETAIN THEIR PRESENT GRADES BY REENLISTING...

Men now in the Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in their present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in the grade they held at the time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

There's a long list of attractive reenlistment privileges in the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945. The ability to keep your present grade is only one of them, but this privilege expires on January 31.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. If you'll read them carefully, you'll know why a job in the new peacetime Regular Army is being regarded today as "The Best Job in the World."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

STEVE: "How was the hospital dinner, Judge? Sorry I couldn't get there."
OLD JUDGE: "Very interesting, Steve. One of the doctors on the staff read a paper on the research work that is going on at one of the big universities where they are studying chronic alcoholism."
STEVE: "I'd like to have heard that, Judge."
OLD JUDGE: "He pointed out that approximately 95% of the people who drink do so sensibly. Only 5% abuse the privilege occasionally and included in that 5% is the very small number known as alcoholics. Then he quoted a doctor from a famous university who said 'Alcoholics are sick persons and, if treated as such, may be cured.' Alcoholism, he said, is not caused by alcohol but by deep-rooted emotional derailments which can be prevented by education and often cured through modern psychology!"
STEVE: "That's the most sensible approach to the problem I've heard."

Vegetables Add Zest To Liver

If you're a little tired of liver fixed in the routine way, try dressing it up and disguising it by cooking with vegetables, suggests the local home demonstration agent.

Sear slices of beef, pork, lamb or veal liver in a heavy frying pan or kettle with a little fat. Add salt and pepper and slice vegetables on top of the liver. Use onions, carrots, celery, green peppers or any desired combination of vegetables. Left-over canned vegetables also may be added. Tomatoes are especially good for they give zest to the flavor and also help tenderize tough liver. Add enough water to prevent burning, cover tightly and simmer until tender. Serve it while hot.

Use long, slow cooking to produce tender but well cooked liver dish. Liver is a protein food and becomes tough and rubbery when too much heat is applied.

For the health of your family, serve liver at least once a week because of its high iron, vitamin and protein content.
