How To Wash Rayon Material

To wash or not to wash is a question that housewives often have to decide about rayon materials.

Mary J. E. Woodward, county home demonstration agent, says that some rayons are washable and some are not. Washability depends upon the construction, dyeing and finish of the fabric as much as the kind of fiber from which it is made.

Always read any label or tags on the garment for instructions about washing. Smooth, flat fabrics such as rayon sharkskin are likely to wash satisfactorily. Those of the pebbly, crepe type are much more likely to give trouble. They are made of highly twisted yarns which tend to kink and shrink excessively. When ironed they tend to stretch and give the garment a distorted look.

Dyes used may also determine whether a garment may be washed. There is no fool-proof test for color fastness. When in doubt, nip a small piece of fabric from a seam or try washing the end of the belt. Tepid water, mild soap and quick washing are recommended for materials which may fade or run.

Rayon is very hard to wash clean if it is allowed to become too soiled. Wash rayon garments often and mend even the tiniest hole before washing. Rayon should not be soaked. Give it at least two quick sudings and follow with three rinsings. If the fabric is fragile, handle it gently when wringing. You should use care in drying rayon, too. Don't dry rayon near intense heat and don't let it blow about outside. Dresses, slips and nightgowns can be dried on wooden hangers to prevent wrinkling and makes easier ironing.

Dairy Herd Is Outstanding

Green Fenley, Jr., Clarkston, has recently had his herd inspected and classified for type. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces today. The inspection was conducted by Clair I. Miller, Medina, Ohio, one of the nine officials appointed by the Association to do this work in the United States.

Among the animals classified in this herd, 1 was designated "very good" — the second highest score an animal can receive; and ten scored "good plus".

The type classification, combined with a production testing program, is used as a means of proving sires and locating outstanding blood cow families in an owner's herd.

Dairy Meeting Tuesday, March 25

A Dairy Herd Health Meeting will be held at the Davisburg Town

Hall, Tuesday, March 25, at 2:00 p. m.

The meeting sponsored by the Oakland County Extension Service Dairy Planning Committee will be chaired by William Edgar of Clarkston.

The program designed to give farmers information about the control and prevention of Bangs and Mastitis diseases will feature local veterinarians and members of the Extension Service in discussion about the diseases. Part of the program will be exhibits and displays of pictures and a Mastitis infected udder. Of interest to farmers will be a question box which will be used for discussion. All interested farmers are invited to come and bring a neighbor.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF WAR

How you can help YOUR ARMY DO ITS PART FOR PEACE

WITH the President's proposal for the discontinuance of Selective Service on March 31, America will rely on voluntary enlistments for the maintenance of the Regular Army at authorized strength.

In view of world conditions today, this is a step of the gravest importance to every American citizen. Never before in history has any nation raised and maintained a million-man army by the volunteer system alone. Our ideals, our belief in individual freedom, our safety and our duty to promote world peace — all are bound up in this decision.

This is your Army, and voluntary enlistment is your choice. It must not fail. With your help it will not fail. The Army must continue to provide adequate occupation forces overseas, to supply these forces, and to help in keeping America strong and secure.

Your help and understanding can do much to encourage a steady flow of 3-year voluntary enlistments, necessary to sound training and the efficient performance of the Army's task.

When you discuss this subject with your sons, brothers, husbands or friends who may be considering an Army career, bear in mind the advantages offered by a 3-year enlistment. Among them are the choice of branch of service and of overseas theater where openings exist, and the opportunity for thorough training in valuable skills.

A job in the new Regular Army compares favorably with the average in industry, and has more opportunities for promotion than most.

You can help by giving your respect and support to the man who enlists voluntarily — to do his part in carrying out your country's world-wide obligations to build a peace that will endure.

Longer Handle Speeds Pruning

Members of the Emergency Farm Labor program of the Michigan State college extension service say that this method of pruning in the orchard will save time, labor, and spray materials and will avoid the danger of falling from ladders.

A pruning saw handle eighteen inches or longer in length, instead of the regular size, will allow pruning of seventy-five percent of the water sprouts and much thin wood from a standing position on the ground. The longer handle will not only save climbing trees and ladders, but will do an effective pruning job so that suckers won't be robbing the soil of moisture and fertility, shading the fruit, lowering quality and preventing spray materials from reaching all parts of the tree.

The saws are obtainable at most local dealers, and bulletins are available at the county agent's office on using this type of saw when following the "thin wood" method of pruning.

DARLING & COMPANY

The Original Company to Pay for Dead Stock

Boxes increased in Michigan as land was cleared and placed under cultivation, decreased with the development of intensive agriculture, and, as agricultural practices shifted, increased again in recent years.

Alfalfa Seed Scarce This Year

The shortage of adapted alfalfa seed for Michigan farms means efficient practices are needed in alfalfa production this year. C. M. Harrison, farm crops specialist at Michigan State college, urges farmers to follow certain practices to help solve the alfalfa forage production problem. The seed used should have been produced in Michigan or in a state with weather conditions almost like Michigan. Certified seed is the best.

The land should be well supplied with lime, it tests show it is needed, and 400 lbs. of high analysis fertilizer should be worked into each acre. Alfalfa grows best in a firm, fine seed bed and seed should be sown at or near the surface in an even distribution.

Since some of the alfalfa seed used this year may not be too well adapted to Michigan conditions, it is advisable to sow bromegrass with all seedings of alfalfa this year. If it is impossible to secure sufficient adapted alfalfa seed for the entire acreage of new seeding, add June, Mammoth or Alsike clover to the seeding mixture to insure next year's hay and pasture crop.

Use Onions In Tempting Recipes

Onions are one of the most adaptable and most plentiful foods on the market right now. So let's make use of the flavor, good quality and low cost of this record crop by serving them often.

Evelyn Craig, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State college, says that her favorite recipe for onion soup makes a perfect opening for dinner or luncheon.

To make this soup, cook 2 cups of finely chopped onions in 2 tablespoons of fat until lightly brown. Sprinkle with 3 tablespoons flour and stir. Add 1 1/2-2 quarts hot meat broth, made by cooking a soup bone and stir until smooth. Season with salt and pepper and simmer until the onions are tender and the flavor well blended. Serve in bowls with toast and grate a little dry cheese over it.

If you decide to serve boiled onions, cook them from 30 to 40 minutes. They will remain snowy white if you add a few drops of vinegar or lemon to the cooking water. Cook in plenty of water with no lid on the cooking pan if you like a mild flavor. Serve with melted butter, drippings or a white sauce to which cheese has been added.

Onions make a very attractive combination served with carrots—either raw in salads or cooked. They combine well with tomatoes, too. And for seasonings they are indispensable in meats, soups, salads—just about everything but dessert.

In baked stuffed form, onions are an excellent way to use up leftover meat. Remove the centers from large boiled onions. Stuff with a mixture of bread crumbs, seasonings, the chopped onion centers and diced meat. Top with bread crumbs and minced parsley before browning in the oven.

New Equipment For Emergencies

Total weight of the unit is 90 pounds, with chest shields provided in three different sizes. It will accommodate patients ranging from a tiny infant to a 300 pound man. The lung allows the patient to eat, walk, take exercise or be bathed without its being removed. The equipment is valued at $1,200. One of the main features of the lung is that it can be operated either by an ordinary house electric current or by the battery of an automobile. In case neither is available, a hand-pump is attached for manual operation. Instruction in the use of the equipment by deputies was started under the direction of Sheriff Hubbell. Should Oakland county be subjected to an epidemic of respiratory cases, the W. J. Mullikin company has contracted with the Table Toppers to ship five additional iron lungs to this community for emergency use, a company spokesman said. Directors of the Oakland County Table Toppers, an association of tavern operators, include N. P. Hammelef, Leroy Kruger, Peter Sloane, Michail Samivlow, M. S. Bachelor, Paul Borgman, Clarence Humphries, Thomas Serbinoff, John J. Kelly, Clifton O'Clair, L. D. It seems like yesterday

It seems like yesterday that Nancy was playing with dolls. Now she's pushing her own baby carriage. Yes, there's been a lot of changes in the last 20 years—most of them so gradual we hardly notice them at all.

Nancy didn't grow up all at once. A tooth at a time—a curl at a time—an inch at a time—and suddenly a little kid sister was Mrs. Joe Jones, mother of Joe, Jr.

Like Nancy, the use of electricity has grown a lot in the last 20 years. But the price of electricity has been going down steadily. You may not have noticed it because your bill probably stays about the same—but how many appliances have you added to your home since '27? Now, you are getting nearly twice as much electricity for your money as you did then.

Michigan Bell Reports on 1946

During 1946, Michigan Bell installed more telephones, served more telephones and handled more calls per telephone than ever before. Total revenue was larger, too. But so were expenses. Earnings on investment were more than in 1945. But in the second six months, due to rising costs, earnings were on a downward trend.

ABOUT CALLS—On the average business day there were 7,301,000 local calls, and 197,000 long distance calls . . . increases of 22% and 23% respectively over 1945. Although at times some calls were delayed by insufficient facilities, telephone people gave more good service than ever before in history.

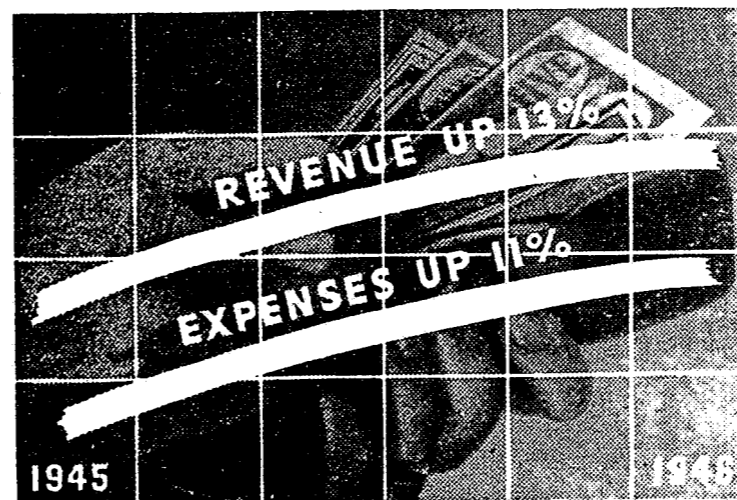

ABOUT TELEPHONES—Michigan Bell installed 34,000 telephones a month, double 1945. A net gain of 204,000 telephones brought the total in service to a record high of 1,473,000. However, it was necessary to give priority service to many thousands who would have preferred individual lines. And 65,000 others were waiting for telephones at year's end.

ABOUT CONSTRUCTION—$36,000,000 worth of buildings and equipment were added. This investment, all-time high for one year, would have been much greater but for continuing shortages of materials. Increasing demands for service and higher labor and material costs have raised the estimate for our 5-year post-war construction program to $220,000,000.

ABOUT JOBS—Michigan Bell's force rose 6,000 to more than 22,000 people, about one-third of whom had a year's experience. Nearly half of all Michigan Bell men were returned veterans of World War II. Wage adjustments, made early in 1946, amount to $8,461,000 a year. Payrolls totaled $54,445,000, up 50% over 1945.

ABOUT REVENUE AND EXPENSES—We took in more money than ever before—$91,000,000, or 13% more than 1945. But expenses also increased. Operating payrolls were up 39% for the year. Total expenses, excluding taxes, were 25% over 1945. Total cost of giving service, including taxes, was $79,000,000—an increase of 11% over 1945. Revenues in 1946 include $3,500,000 subject to refund to customers if the pending rate reduction order of the Michigan Public Service Commission is upheld by the court.

ABOUT EARNINGS—Earnings for the year were $12,000,000, or 7.2 cents on each dollar invested in the business. If the Public Service Commission's rate reduction order is upheld, 1946 earnings will drop to 5.9 cents, insufficient, we believe, to attract the new capital needed for expansion and improvement. As it was, during the last half of the year, rising costs sent the earnings rate on a downward trend, which pointed to the possibility that higher rates might become necessary to assure financial stability of the business.

THE PROSPECTS—Our objectives in 1947 are to provide as quickly as possible: 1. Enough telephone plant to take care of all unfilled orders for service and to care for future demands; 2. Facilities to furnish promptly the type of service the customer desires; 3. Improvements in local and long distance service; and 4. Extension and improvement of rural service.

Present indications are that shortages of needed materials will continue to handicap us in 1947. But, we expect by year's end to have filled most requests for service and to have made progress in further improving the quality of service.

Telephone men and women turned in a record-breaking performance in 1946, and we have confidence that in 1947 they again will surpass all previous accomplishments and give to Michigan continuing telephone service of the very highest order.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women? And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship... and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

MAY PLANT MORE BARLEY IN STATE

Growers of barley last year were encouraged by the best yields in several years and indications show that the Michigan barley acreage may increase this year. This is the belief of Roy E. Decker, head of the department of farm crops at Michigan State College.

Barley has long been recognized as an excellent companion crop for seedings of alfalfa and clover. In feeding value a 40-bushel yield of barley is equal to that of approximately a 68 bushel per acre crop of oats.

This year, a better malting barley contest is being conducted in the 10 leading barley counties in Michigan.

State FFA Meeting At Michigan State College, March 20-21

Approximately 750 high school vocational agriculture students will attend the nineteenth annual convention of the Michigan association of Future Farmers of America on the Michigan State college campus March 20 and 21.

The annual meeting is sponsored by the state board of control for vocational education in cooperation with the college. It will bring together, for competition and business sessions, representatives from most counties of Michigan. Gordon Briggs, Romeo high school student, is the state president. Harry E. Nesman and Luke H. Kelly of Lansing are advisers and executive secretary respectively for the organization.

Finals of state contests for public speaking, parliamentary procedure and agricultural demonstration teams will bring into competition the winners of regional contests in eight regions.

Awarding of state farming degrees and selection of the star farmers will highlight the first day's program. Philip Shoiber, national student secretary for FFA from McCutchenville, Ohio, will speak at the Friday afternoon sessions.

Summer Drought Effect Chased by Winter Moisture

Soil moisture tests show that evidence of last summer's drought, which covered many Michigan counties have largely disappeared. R. G. White in charge of the hydrologic research project at Michigan State college, reports soil moisture back near normal.

During the 117 day period from June 21st to October 17th, only 2.89 inches of rainfall was recorded by research workers at the college farm. This is contrasted to normal precipitation approximately of 10.71 inches for that period.

By late August, under bromel-alfalfa sod, there was practically no moisture available for plant growth to a depth of 60 inches. In mid-September, there was a slight increase of moisture in the surface layers. This was quickly used up, however, and soil moisture was not increased until October 17. Since then, the increase of moisture under alfalfa-bromel sod has been slow but steady.

By January 1, 1946, there was a fairly adequate moisture supply to a depth of 30 inches, and by February 1, the moisture supply had penetrated to 48 inches. At the present time, the last evidences of the dry zone at the 60-inch depth are disappearing.

this, Mister
is an Easter seal

It's only a small piece of crinkly edged paper with a back that's mighty sticky when it gets wet. . . . Maybe it doesn't look like much, but I know a lot of kids who see plenty in the little Easter seal. . . . They see wheel chairs and crutches to help them get out and do things. . . . They see a school, and others see a ride to school. . . . Lots of them see camp. . . . camp in the summer, good hot sunbathing, real trees, acres of sweet-smelling green grass, and swimming, playing. . . . like other kids. . . .

But don't get me wrong, mister—they don't really see all this. These kids just dream it, because that's what they can have with the dollars you spend for Easter seals. . . . Gosh, mister, it's wonderful of you to give us a chance to be like other kids!

One-Man Orchard Sprayer
On the W. G. Mawby fruit farm, Grand Rapids, Forrest Graham operates a one-man spray gun which enables him to do work formerly requiring two operators. In operation, direction of the spray gun is changed merely by a forward, rearward, or rotational pressure on an auto steering wheel within easy reach of the tractor controls. A foot valve controls the spray mixture from the pressure spray tank drawn by the tractor. Since this device will spray from either side, advantage can be taken of wind direction. Farm labor specialists of the Michigan State college of wind direction. In older orchards, lower parts of a tree can be sprayed in this manner with a man on the tank tower to spray the tops.

May Be Good Year For Maple Syrup

This may be a good year for the farmers who are in the maple syrup business, according to P. W. Robbins, Michigan State college forester. He has kept records on the cost of producing in the past 13 years. The records show that the number of buckets of sap collected has a definite effect on the cost per gallon of syrup.

In 1941 when 1034 buckets were hung, the cost of producing syrup was $1.72 per gallon. In 1946, there were 980 pails on the trees and the syrup cost $3.37 per gallon to produce. All labor was paid the prevailing wages at the college. With a good syrup season this year, producers should earn 80 cents to $1.00 an hour for their labor and a profit of $1.00 to $1.50 per gallon.
