Growers in the Grand Rapids area found that a tractor mounted brush rake will not only gather, transport and pack orchard brush for burning, but will do so in one-third the usual time.

Members of the Emergency Farm Labor program of the Michigan State college extension service report that successful brush rakes can be of three types: Front mounted non-lifting, or front or rear mounted with mechanical lifting device. Because of rough ground, the teeth need to be much stronger and shorter than in the usual sweep rake. Eight-foot cedar posts of the usual three or four-inch size make cheap, replaceable teeth and allow the recommended six foot extension of tooth beyond the cross member. WOLVES VS FRASER

The Clarkston Wolves traveled to Fraser last Friday to open their 1947 baseball season. Jumping to an early lead, the Clarkston boys had no trouble beating Fraser 14-2. The Wolves started the first inning by getting three runs on two hits in their half of the inning. Fraser got their first and only hit off Davison in their half of the first inning. The second for Clarkston was a field day for them. Fifteen men at bat produced 6 hits and 10 runs putting Clarkston way out front. Fraser got the first run in the second when Davison walked 3 men in a row, then threw a wild pitch letting a man score from third. After that it was fairly even, Clarkston getting their last run in the third and Fraser theirs in the fifth, where the game was called because of had playing con-

VEGETABLÉ GROWING IS STATE'S BIG BUSINESS

The Michigan vegetable crop is big-time business. The 1946 farm value of commercially produced vegetables is estimated at 34 million dollars. In terms of retail value, this means something within the range of 100 million dollars,

Of all vegetables in Michigan, celery is at the top of the list with an annual crop value fluctuating between 5 and 18 million dollars, Second in value is the

Some of the other crops valued at more than a million dollars each year are: sweet corn--2 million; snap beans--11/2 million; rhubarb a n d cauliflower--1 million each. In addition to the crops mentioned, about thirty other vegetables are grown in the state. Michigan produces nearly one-half of all of the pickles in the United

Why is it that Michigan ranks so highly as a producer of vegetables? S. H. Wittwer, vegeteable specialist at Michigan State college, says that the answer is found in 3 words: climate--soil-

The climate, made up of cool nights, warm, sunny days, and low humidity in late summer, permits production of a wide variety of crops. Conditions are ideal for growing vegetables for the fresh market, as well as for canning and freezing.

The soil types-muck and light sands--lend themselves to many special crops. There are plenty of heavier loams for market garden vegetables, too. Large cities and citizens with big appetites for fresh vegetables make it easy to dispose of the vegetable crops.

DRAYTON PLAINS

THE ICEMAN COMETH... IN 47 B.C.

In the grandeur that was Rome, the wives of emperors and of a few senators kept their food fresh and wholesome with snow rushed down from the mountaintops by fast chariot.

There probably was a lot of oh-ing and ah-ing among the Roman gourmets when Caesar's wife, Calpurnia, served chilled Carthaginian canapes on a sultry summer evening....

But how Calpurnia would have envied you your electric refrigerator.

"By Jupiter," she'd have exclaimed, "you have dependable, inexpensive electricity to keep your food fresh and appetizing. Electricity so inexpensive, in fact, that your refrigerator runs five full days for less than a quinarius*."

Today in your home, refrigeration is just one of the dozens of ways in which electricity does jobs for you...better...and for less money than any other way.

*About a dime today.

Popular Fruit

Strawberries are grown by more home gardeners in Michigan than any other small fruits, says J. R. Moulton, specialist in horticulture at Michigan State college.

New varieties, introduced each year, are grown and compared at the Michigan Experiment station. On the basis of these trials and reports from commercial growers, suggestions are made to help the home gardener select the strawberry he wants for his garden.

recommended for the home garden. The Midland, a new early variety, is large, fine in flavor, and excellent for freezing. Fairfax is medium early, sweet and has fine quality and flavor.

A mid-season variety that has gained in prominence is the Robinson. It is very productive, large, high in vitamin C and has good quality. Another mid-season variety is Sparkle. Fairpeake is recommended as a new highflavored late variety. Everbearing varieties such as Gem, Wayzata, Green Mountain, and Mastodon succeed well in the home garden—especially if given water Moulton suggests that plants be set out as early in the spring as the ground can be prepared. The plants may be placed 24 in.
