Edwin N. Maytag Dies Suddenly

On Monday afternoon of last week Edwin Newton Maytag, 54, was taken ill at his work and was rushed to Pontiac General hospital where he died shortly after admission.

Mr. Maytag was born in Laurel, Ia., October 17, 1893. In 1916 he married Mabel Gove in Des Moines, Ia. Eighteen years ago they came to Pontiac and lived there until a few years ago when they moved to 99 N. Main St., Clarkston.

Mr. Maytag was a member of the official board of the Central Methodist Church in Pontiac. He was superintendent of production engineering at the GMC Truck and Coach Division and a member of the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wilhelmina Glennie of Clarkston and Mrs. Theodora M. Wick of Redondo Beach, Calif.; two sisters, Blanche Maytag of Newton, Ia., and Mrs. Effie Irwin of Boone, Ia., and three grandchildren.

Santa Claus Visits Clarkston Children

On Christmas Eve at seven o'clock a group of a few hundred happy children gathered in front of the Christmas tree on Clarkston's Main Street and there awaited the arrival of good old St. Nick. Mr. T. S. Boyns led the young people in carol singing and every few minutes an announcement was made as to just how far Santa was away. Finally word came that he was on his way from Ortonville and the little folks were bubbling over with joy. Soon a large wagon drawn by two horses came down Main Street, absence of snow made sleighing impossible, and the ringing of sleigh bells made known to the crowd that Santa had arrived.

Santa extended greetings to the assembly, especially to the little folks, and then had them line up and receive sacks of candy. The line-up of children was greater than in any previous year, but every child received a treat.

After the candy had been distributed Santa said goodbye and started on his rounds to visit homes where the little ones were unable to go to the Christmas tree. As he approached the door he rang his sleigh bells and in this way announced that Santa was about to knock. He was welcomed at every home he visited and the children were overjoyed to think that they really saw Santa in their own homes.

The Clarkston Rotarians are thankful that they are able to sponsor such a party and are grateful to all who cooperated.

Colored Sound Film Tells Vivid Story

Rev. Douglas Hine, formerly assistant to Dr. John Zoller of Detroit, director of the Christian Service camps at Fort Custer, and the superintendent of the City Mission in Cleveland, Ohio, will show the film "In brilliant Technicolor" of "The Missing Christian" in the First Baptist Church, Clarkston, on Wednesday, January 7, at 7:45 P. M.

Thousands of people acclaim this as the most outstanding Christian sound film of our Day. It tells the story of what you may expect "In the twinkling of an eye," according to the Bible, when the Church is taken up out of the World. The picture presents music, dialogue and etc., in full sound.

Here is a full hour of vivid story. It is a presentation of a group of talented artists from the coast. It is photographed in brilliant natural color. It is a professional authorship, photography and direction.

"The Missing Christian" is set in the home of a devoted Christian mother. The two youngest daughters are enthusiastic about a revival tent meeting in the community. When the oldest daughter, Norma, arrives home one night she ridicules the thought of revivals. She is tired, lies down, and quickly falls asleep. Her dream constitutes a large part of the picture. Norma's mother and two sisters are clothed in white when they rise to meet the Lord with others as the Rapture occurs. Her dream continues as she and Mrs. Store, a wealthy society lady, confer with Dr. Wise, pastor of a modernist church, relative to missing ones. In the church office Norma denounces Dr. Wise for his deceptive preaching. Awakening from her dream, Norma recognizes her lost condition, confesses her sins, prays and accepts Christ. The climax is thrilling as she realizes she is saved and praises God for her new found joy. The glory and light of salvation surround her when she and her mother embrace as a choir sings: "Softly and Tenderly".

Waste Paper Drive Next Saturday

There will be a paper drive on Saturday, Jan. 3rd. It is sponsored by the Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Church. The proceeds will be used to help defray some of the expenses of the summer camp. The young people feel that they would rather earn their own money for camp than call on their folks to bear the expense.

This is a very worthy cause and the cooperation of all in the district is solicited. Have your bundles at the curb for easy pickup. Out-of-town bundles will be picked up if you will call T. S. Boyns or Reverend Saxman.

FARMHOUSES NEED SPECIAL FEATURES

Farmhouses need all the comforts and conveniences of any house but they also need a few additional features. A front or main entrance which is easy to approach from the driveway is necessary on a farm.

Hlevia Meyer, extension home management specialist at Michigan State college, says that many farmhouses have horse and buggy farm arrangements with a walk down to the road where the hitching post used to be. Since most places have driveways at the side of the house it is important to have a walk from the drive to the main entrance. To have the entrance on the driveway side of the house is better yet.

Another important feature for farmhouses is a back door that provides direct entrance to the basement. Put the door at grade level with two, three or four steps inside leading up to the workroom or kitchen and save extra steps when going up and down to the basement. Snow and ice can't collect on the steps when they're inside.

Laundry rooms at first floor or ground level are important, too, since most farm families do their own laundry and usually have large washings. It takes less energy to carry wet clothes down a few steps to the drying yard out-of-doors than up several steps from the basement. If you have a grade entrance to the basement because your house is on a slope, a basement laundry is advisable.

Farmhouses have a special need for a closet near the back door where workers can store work clothes, boots and over shoes. A place for workers to wash up near the back door is another desirable feature.

By the Way . . .

A new Year approaches and with it comes two questions—what did you accomplish in 1947 and what will you do in 1948? In nine cases out of ten the answer will be "about as usual". Being a Sanka drinker I do not have tea leaves to tell the future so, believing in mind-reading my own "business" will not outline any new resolutions for you for the new year. My only wish for you is that you can manage to grab a little more happiness than usual. . . .

William Radoye is a strong booster for the new and safe skating rink sponsored by the Clarkston Fire Fighters. We think he has something to talk about. Two weeks ago we visited friends who had lost their ten year old son. He went skating on a small pond and drowned. So, if we can join Bill in boosting the new rink, we will consider these few lines worth while. . . .

1948 will be a political election year. Pardon us for mentioning such a subject, you will hear too much more about it during the year. But we were just thinking about the present office holders. They have not had the office a year and are worrying about whether they will be elected next year. . . . And 1948 will be Leap Year, a year long Sadie Hawkins party. . . . For our money the song "I don't want her, you can have her" is a step ahead of "Feudin', Fussin' and Fightin'". Wonder what the novelty song of 1948 will be. . . . Two dances New Year's Eve, one at the Clarkston School and one opening the new Waterford Activities building. . . . There will be the usual watch services and the usual "parties". . . .

Friends look ahead to greater things to come. See in the future your objectives won. For greater blessings let us visualize. The magnitude and beauty in God's skies. Let us ignore the flaws of earth today. And see a brighter tomorrow on the way. Have faith for what the future holds in store. Accept the coming year with open door. Pull up the shade and let the sun shine in. Know, only those with courage ever win. Believe in virtues you yourself possess. And let the wand of peace, your soul carress. If you do this the years that lie ahead. Will bring new life to hopes thought dead; Will lift you to new heights, in life each hour. And bring contentment and internal power. Let's humbly thank our God for man's estate, Thinking only of the good for forty-eight.

The annual Goodfellow paper sale under the auspices of the Drayton Men's Club, Inc., was a great success. It was held on Saturday, Dec. 20. Their goal was $200.00 and Forest Gibson reports that they realized $353.72. Those assisting chairman C. H. Schoenhals in the sale during the day were Mr. Gibson, Harry Fowler, Charles Spicer, Leonard Nelson, A. B. Warner, Robert Morgan, Fred Barrett, Earl Card, James DenHerder, Robert Becker, and Miss Nancy Weller. The proceeds went into a welfare fund for the needy and emergencies in the community during the year.

On Sunday evening a very lovely vesper service was held at the United Presbyterian Church beginning at 5 p. m. After the devotional part of the service by elder Roy Dancey, "The Christmas Cantata," "Song of the Holy Night" was presented by the adult and children's choirs, under the direction of Mrs. L. G. Rowley with Mrs. Kirby Millour at the organ. Soloists were Dr. L. G. Rowley, Matilda Neilson, Barbara Krem, Barbara Boadway, Mrs. Milton Reddeman, Mrs. Floyd Wilson and James Vandersall.

Mrs. May Hall of 6450 Maybee Road entertained Mrs. Wallace Watt of Escanaba, Mrs. Harold Walter and Miss Charlotte Hall of Pontiac at a birthday dinner at one o'clock Saturday honoring Mrs. Nettie Hall of near Lake Orion. The lovely dinner was served at a table laid with a lace cloth and centered with pink tapers.

Did you ever hear of anyone using the same Christmas tree for six years? Well six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Culver of 3220 Warren Drive purchased a potted Christmas tree and after using it for an ornament during the holidays they planted it in the front yard. Last fall they decided to plant it in the back yard and they conceived the idea of cutting the top out of it and using it for their Christmas tree which is about six feet high. The bottom of the tree is planted in the back yard and will most likely furnish them with more Christmas trees.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brazel of Louella St., are the parents of twins, a boy, Arthur Steven, and a girl, Deborah Jane, born Friday, Dec. 19 at the St. Joseph Mercy hospital.

One hundred and fifty children were happy and wide-eyed at the unusual gifts that Santa had for them and the fine program presented on Tuesday evening in the Drayton Plains school auditorium under the auspices of the Drayton Men's Club. General chairman of the party was Bernard Gould and working with him were Lewis Ruelle, Forest Gibson, Noble Heit-meyer, Elmer Johnson, Lester Hudson, Donald Adams, Earl Card and E. H. Meldrum. The program opened with motion and sound picture cartoons shown by William Goulet, Jr., after which Christmas carol singing was led by Kirby Millour with Mrs. Millour at the piano. The guests were then entertained by magician, Ellis Till-man of Pontiac, and then Santa Claus, Walter Aderholdt, presented the children with color books and a stocking filled with candy.

Community Activities

Books may be obtained at the home of Mrs. O. L. Siegman any time during the week. Donations of good books to the library will be greatly appreciated.

A New Year's Eve party will be held in the new building. The men have worked diligently to get everything in readiness. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and continue until 11 p. m. There will be favors and refreshments.

Now that the work on the building is coming along so well folks will be looking forward to using the other rooms in the building. On Jan. 9th at 8 o'clock the Community Activities will sponsor another party in the room just completed.

M.S.C. PLANS SERVICE FOR URBAN AREAS

To provide programs and information services in gardening and other types of agriculture to people in cities and surrounding areas a "Rurban" committee has been organized at Michigan State college.

Dr. C. P. Loomis, sociologist at Michigan State college, reports that there are more no-farm residents than there are farmers in Michigan rural areas. Approximately 800,000 farmers and 900,000 non-farming residents live outside urban areas in the state. In addition, there are vast numbers of city people who garden, raise vegetables, grow flowers, and are concerned with problems of home ground and community improvement.

Fringe areas around metropolitan centers have become important parts of many agricultural communities. They bring problems of schools, sanitation, fire protection, and other public services. They are also a source of much farm labor in some sections. The Rurban committee expects to prepare leaflets, radio scripts, and newspaper articles containing information useful to the backyard gardener and the fringe-area resident. The cooperation of local groups and other agencies will be asked in getting information to the people. MSC staff members who make up the committee include: Jack Rose, horticulture, chairman; C. P. Loomis, sociology; B. D. Kuhn, extension supervisor; J. M. Moore, poultry department; Arthur Bell, agricultural engineering; Carl Gerlach, landscape architecture; James

CONSUMERS POWER CO. PLANS EXPANSION

A 1948 construction and system expansion program amounting to $40,881,600 has been approved by the board of directors of Consumers Power Company, D. E. Karn, vice president and general manager announced today. It is the largest one-year construction program in the company's history.

"Use of electricity and gas in the territory served by the company has been increasing rapidly," Mr. Karn said. "Expansion of our electric and gas systems has been restrained from keeping pace. For several years, wartime restrictions prevented expansion. Since then, construction work has been slowed by material shortages and other conditions. That means that our construction program during 1948 and each of the next few years must be much larger. It is planned as a part of this 1948 program to invest a total of $17,829,200 in the construction, enlargement and improvement of power plants. Much of this money will go into the new B. C. Cobb Plant, now under construction in Muskegon. The Cobb plant is scheduled to go into service in September. At first it will have two 60,000-kilowatt generating units. Construction work will continue at the plant, and late in 1949 another 60,000-kilowatt unit is scheduled to go into operation.

Also in the program is major construction work at the John C. Weadock Plant at Essexville, near Bay City. A new 60,000-kilowatt unit at this plant will go into service in March, and construction work will continue, looking forward to the installation of two more 60,000-kilowatt units, the first of which is scheduled to go into service late in 1949, and the second early in 1950.

Expansion of the Bryce E. Morrow Plant at Kalamazoo will begin early in 1948, and a new 60,000-kilowatt unit will go into service, according to present plans, in July 1949.

"These seven new generating units -- three at Cobb, three at Weadock and one at Morrow -- will increase our electric generating capacity more than 60 per cent," Mr. Karn said.

The program includes 1948 power supply projects amounting to $6,744,000. These projects involve construction of high voltage transmission lines and many substations. They are needed, Mr. Karn said, to facilitate the interchange of power between major population centers, to establish new power distribution centers and to serve large industrial customers. To serve electric customers it is planned to extend and improve electric distribution lines throughout the 11-county area served by the company. The cost of these line extensions is estimated at $10,650,000. They will take electric service to about 20,000 additional customers living in cities and villages and to 6,370 additional customers in rural areas. It is expected that about 5,000 other rural customers, now living along existing distribution lines, will be connected in 1948.

Consumers already serves more than 90,000 farm customers -- a larger number than any other company in America -- and the 1948 program will bring the total to more than 100,000. The company operates 20,000 miles of rural distribution lines and will add 1,800 more in 1948.

Gas department projects, including many distribution system improvements and extensions in various areas, are estimated at $2,227,800. These do not include the storage field and transmission line projects of the Michigan Gas Storage Company, a subsidiary of Consumers, which is developing storage field projects in Clare, Oseola and Missaukee counties.

"This overall program," Mr. Karn said, "is a challenge both in providing the necessary funds and in completing it on time so as to take care of our customers' requirements."

FARM RECORD BOOK BENEFICIAL

Five minutes a day keeping farm records is time profitably spent, says county agricultural agent Karl D. Bailey.

More and more Michigan farmers are keeping farm account books every year, a well-kept farm record book is a great aid in analyzing the year's business. Income tax reporting will also be much less complicated and more accurate if a farmer has an annual farm record.

The start of the new year is an excellent time for farmers to begin keeping records. Many farmers have found their wives so interested in the farm account plan that they keep the records. Keeping the books handy to the dining room table, makes it possible to record the day's transactions each day after the evening meal. The Michigan Farm Account Books are available from county agricultural agent Bailey's office or from the farm management department at Michigan State college. They are made available to farmers at the cost of printing. There are two types of books. The tan book is especially adapted for those who have found it difficult to keep records in the past. The blue book, while not difficult, is especially helpful for the farmer who desires to make a farm business analysis.

DETROIT EDISON SAYS "NO POWER SHORTAGE"

An all-time high in Detroit Edison's load was reached last week and served without difficulty, and there is no need for concern about a power shortage in this area, according to James W. Parker, president.

With the holidays here and a gradual increase in daylight, the year's peak is in all likelihood behind us.

On December 18 the load was higher by 98,000 kilowatts, or 8.1 per cent than a year ago, the increase coming from a general growth in use from stores, homes and factories. During the year some 30,000 new customers were added to the lines, and by New Years practically all old requests for new electric service will have been filled, said Mr. Parker.

Construction expenditures for extensions to plants and lines in the years 1947 and 1948 will require an investment of about $55,000,000. This will include buildings in preparation for new turbo-generator units and several substations; and the completion of the company's farm electrification program.

Conservation News

In 90 miles of driving through the Thumb this week, R. A. MacMullan, conservation department pheasant investigator, and Harold Tubbs, district game manager, counted 475 pheasants in 35 flocks. The game men reported the snow cover was thin and feeding conditions were excellent. The birds were eating waste grain and weed seed, but were paying no attention to such emergency fare as the seeds of burdock. Two birds killed by highway traffic were found to be very fat.

One concentration of pheasants observed in Tuscola county contained nearly 100 birds.

ACCOUNT BOOK HELPS ON FARM

A well-kept farm account book should be in every Michigan farm home. The beginning of a new year is the best time to start keeping farm account records. All that is required is one inventory a year, a record of where the money comes from, and where it goes. County agricultural agents or the MSC farm management department can supply them.

MICHIGAN Motoring

Michigan's accident - prevention spotlight is being trained on teenage drivers as the result of accident reports indicating they are the worst drivers on the streets and highways today.

Faced with a survey's finding that the average 16-year-old driver, on a mileage basis, is involved in nine times as many fatal accidents as the average 45-year-old driver, both Michigan police and courts are adopting a tougher attitude toward youthful drivers.

Well aware of the problem of juvenile drivers, the Michigan State Legislature last spring raised the minimum-driving age from 14 to 16. Some members of the Legislature believe boys and girls should not be permitted behind the wheel until their 17th or 18th birthday.

Violations of traffic laws cause nine out of ten of all the traffic accidents in Michigan. For this reason, state enforcement officers plan to crack down on high school drivers who violate traffic laws. This policy will take bad drivers off the road before they jeopardize their own lives and the lives of others.
