Help Reach Goal In Red Cross Drive

With $34,996 toward the $97,483 quota for Oakland County, the 1948 Red Cross Fund is in its third week of the campaign. This figure represents the report of March 12th, according to Milo J. Cross, chairman for Oakland County.

The first township to go over the top was White Lake with a quota of $150, and total receipts of $288. Volunteer workers report enthusiastic response this year and the business district drive in most communities is very successful.

However, Mr. Cross urges everyone to contribute as soon as possible. "We still have a long way to go in making our quota," Cross said. "As to the need for Red Cross funds, 1947 statistics from the Oakland County chapter office speak for themselves. Credit must go first to the volunteer workers in all phases of Red Cross work. In one department alone volunteers gave 41,237 hours of service last year. But even though the work of volunteers keeps many of the services going, money is necessary to maintain those services and assist the national program too."

In the drive so far Brandon has collected $150 against a quota of $350; Independence has $325.76 on a quota of $750; Springfield has $21 towards a quota of $120; and Waterford Township has $300 on their quota of $1,253.00.

Mr. Gundry lived most of his life in Oakland County and moved to Clarkston 20 years ago. He was a retired farmer.

Besides his widow he leaves three sons, Roy and William of Clarkston and John of Royal Oak; four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

The funeral service was held at the Sharpe Funeral Home in Clarkston on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 with the Reverend Walter C. B. Saxman, pastor of the Clarkston Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery.

Junior Play Draws Large Crowd

Last Friday night a large crowd enjoyed seeing members of the Junior Class of the Clarkston High School present the three act comedy "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?" From the first curtain until the very last the audience enjoyed one laugh right after another.

The play was a little out of the ordinary in that the action took place in a courtyard at a sanitarium. While there was a little mystery connected with the story the serious moments were few and far between and gave the listeners a chance to forget the serious business of living and enjoy a little fun.

The characters were so well chosen that it would be quite difficult to sing the praises of any certain one. They were all especially good and should be congratulated as should the director, Miss Mary Campbell.

Between acts Mr. William Ladd played a piano number, "Hit Parade of the Past", and Miss Constance Spooner sang "At Dawning" and "Lilac Tree" with Mrs. A. E. Buttner playing her piano accompaniment.

After the final curtain the class presented gifts to the director, Miss Mary Campbell, and the student director, Lois Baynes.

Those in charge of the stage setting and the make-up of the players are to be commended. They did a grand job.

Following the play those who took part were entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harry B. Yoh. Refreshments were served.

Extra Fine Exhibits At Hobby Show

On Wednesday evening the Clarkston P. T. A. held its regular monthly meeting. Election of officers took place with the following results: president, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson; mother vice president, Mrs. Ralph Kreger; father vice president, Rev. Walter C. B. Saxman; secretary, Mrs. James Glennie; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Donald Harris; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Thayer.

An announcement was made on the dance to be given the night of April 23rd.

Following the meeting the folks were happy to attend the hobby show in the gym which created more interest this year than ever before. The exhibits were many and varied, ranging from postage stamps and bottles to beautiful silverware and crystal. There were about 75 exhibits, 18 by adults and the rest by students. Prizes were awarded in the youth division: In the group of primary girls Janet Miller won first with her display of drawings and Stuelien O'Dell won honorable mention on dolls; primary boys: Lee Yoder; first with saddles and stones and honorable mention went to LeRoy Volberding with his airplane models; Junior girls: first went to Phyllis Saxman for her display of iron and table napkins and honorable mention was given to Elaine Watson for her dolls; Junior boys: Russel Hubbard first with his owl, bow and arrows and traps; honorable mention to George Mann for his 4-H ribbons; High School girls: first went to Mary Lee Volberding for her drawings; High School boys: first to Dorman Clancy for airplane models and honorable mention to Albert Beni for leather goods.

Mrs. William Vliet's display of silverware drew much attention as she had silverware from five generations. A flower arrangement display by Mrs. Milan Vliet also received much comment. Besides these there were lovely displays of silver spoons from all over the world, guns, bottles, stamps, jugs, salts and peppers, little birds and animals (china, porcelain, etc.), goblets, hooked rugs, weaving, costume jewelry and others.

Those who attended claim that it was as good a hobby show as could be seen anywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson and family are in Boynton Beach for a short vacation. They expect their daughter, Kay, and their mother, Mrs. George D. King will return with them.

Notice

There will be no cancer pad meeting at the Methodist Church this afternoon. The date for the next meeting will be announced later.

Telephone Service Above Average

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company today revealed that the percentage of farms having telephone service in its territory is well above the national average.

Whereas 42 per cent of America's farms have telephones, 63 per cent of rural establishments in Michigan Bell territory have the service, according to Mr. F. L. Spooner, manager for the company. The national average is a new record high - compares with 32 per cent at this time 3 years ago.

Spooner said that, at the beginning of the year, there were more than 2,000,000 telephones in rural territory of the Bell System, including some 122,000 in the territory of the Michigan Bell. Since VJ-Day, the number of rural telephones served by Bell companies have increased 700,000, including a gain of 42,750 in rural areas served by Michigan Bell.

Rapid progress since VJ-Day, Spooner said, is attributable in part to fast and economic construction methods perfected by telephone engineers in recent years. Use of stronger wire has reduced the number of required poles which are now set farther apart. Portable-driven augers dig pole holes where rock does not interfere. Plows dig trenches, bury wire, and cover it in one operation where soil conditions permit.

In addition to bringing telephone service to more rural customers, Bell companies are improving the service, Spooner said. Overloaded lines are being relieved by reducing the number of parties on a line. Magneto, or crank type, service is giving way to lift-the-receiver or dial operations.

Winston-Clark Rites Read In Detroit

Last Friday night the Covenant Baptist Church in Detroit was the scene of a pretty wedding when Laura Mai Winston and Arthur Edwin Clark spoke their marriage vows. Dr. Warren R. Cole read the wedding rites.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Winston of Petoskey Ave., Detroit and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee M. Clark of Clarkston.

The bride wore a period gown of candlelight satin fashioned with a portrait neckline edged in point de Venise lace, a fitted bodice and large puffed sleeves ending in points over the hands. The skirt fell into a long cathedral train. A tiara of point de Venise lace held her cathedral-length veil of illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of calla lilies.

Mrs. John Lee was the bride's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Britton Mistelet, Mrs. Gerald Robinson, Mrs. Robert Hungerford and Gertrude Livingstone. All attendants wore heavy blue taffeta gowns styled along the same lines as the bride's dress and all wore American beauty roses. Mrs. Lee wore a halo of the same flowers in her hair and the bridesmaids' hair was caught back with large bows of American beauty velvet. They wore cameos at their throats.

Assisting Mr. Clark was the bride's brother Marvin Winston, as best man and Donald Nelson, Melvin Beemer, Bob Winston and Nelson Clark seated the guests.

Just before the service Mrs. Herbert Leslie sang "At Dawning" and "I Love Thee Dear". At the conclusion of the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Winston, the bride's mother, chose a floor-length dress of powder blue. Her corsage of purple orchids matched her flower hat. Mrs. Clark wore a floor-length gown of royal blue chiffon over taffeta. Her flower hat was white as was her orchid corsage.

Following the reception the young couple left for a honeymoon motor trip through the Smoky Mountains.

BROODER CHECK NEEDED NOW

If you've ordered your baby chicks, Michigan State college poultry specialists have a word for you. Their advice is this: don't wait until the chicks get here before you get the brooder house ready. They say the number one job is to clean the brooder house thoroughly -- and that means scrub and disinfect the house and equipment. Cracks in the walls and floors should be sealed to stop drafts. Before the chicks arrive the brooder should be checked to see if the temperature holds.

Newest MSC Frost Fighter

This new simplified model of the Michigan State College infrared frost damage prevention machine is to be commercially manufactured by a Detroit firm. It is expected that more than 50 machines will be made for field tests this spring. This smaller, more efficient and less expensive design was developed by MSC agricultural engineers as a result of discovery of new improved materials. Field tests showed that when used in groups, the oil-burning heaters protected from frost damage plants 100 feet away from the nearest machine. Air temperatures around the plants were 6 degrees below freezing. Here A. W. Farrall, head of the agricultural engineering department, and F. J. Hassler, engineer, check plans with the model.

WATCH SOIL STRUCTURE TO PREVENT DROUGHT

Spring floods and summer drought in 1947 showed Midwestern farmers the advantage of soils that have good physical structure, asserts Dr. N. J. Volk, associate director of the Purdue University agricultural experiment station at Lafayette, Indiana. Where crop rotations held high the organic matter returned to the soil, rains soaked in quickly and a minimum ran off. These soils, because of their improved structure, held water that cut down the effect of the midsummer drought.

On soil that was poor in structure and tight, the water ponded or ran off, carrying with it valuable top soil. When drought struck, these soils had little water reserves to tide over the crops growing on them.

Year in and year out, says Dr. Volk, soils that are well managed to maintain organic matter will give higher and more profitable yields than soils that are mined of their organic matter and are tight and hard to work. And in years of unfavorable weather, such as 1947, the difference is wider in favor of soils with good structure.

If farmers are to improve the structure and tilth of their soils they must grow more pasture and forage crops, especially the tap-rooted legumes, alfalfa and sweet clover, asserts Dr. Volk. These tap-rooted legumes, grown with grasses, will open the soils as deep as two feet or more efficient use of the fertilizers that are available.

The organic matter from the grasses and legumes will loosen the soil and provide space for water to soak in and through it. With its structure improved, the soil will soak up and hold more water for the crops during periods of light rainfall. Good soil structure permits plant roots to spread to much greater distances in search of plant nutrients and water. Thus crops can use more effectively the fertility and water in the soil.

Soils with good structure resulting from adding organic matter have ample air space to furnish oxygen to crop roots. Roots of most crops will die very quickly without oxygen.

Soils that have good structure from plenty of organic matter make possible more effective use of the plant nutrients they carry. Some tests show that 4 to 6 pounds of nitrogen are needed to make one bushel of corn on soils of poor structure compared to 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of organic matter and good structure.

Erosion is more easily controlled in their daily diets for good health and to fortify their bones against breakage.

Many older people believe that they don't need milk or that their body doesn't use it. This is not true reports Miss Josephine Hoke, Home Demonstration Agent. Studies made recently in Iowa show that a lack of calcium in the diet leads to broken bones in old age.

To get enough calcium, protein and phosphorus older persons need at least a pint of milk each day. It has been suggested that many a broken bone in an older person caused the person to fall rather than the fall causing the broken bone. Lack of minerals in bones causes them to become weak so that they break easily.

Legume-grass mixtures in the rotation will do their best work in improving soil structure if they have a full feed of plant nutrients especially phosphate and potash.

must be heavy enough to lie flat on the floor. You will need to make the stitches and rows close and tight so that the rug will be firm and have no open places.

Your rug will appear flatter if you use colors that blend rather than colors that are in strong contrast to each other. It is better to use medium-to-dark tones than bright ones. For best results limit the amount of colors and use ones that will repeat the colors in the room.

For detailed instructions and illustrations for making rugs contact your county extension office and ask for the new bulletin, "Handmade Rugs" extension bulletin 289, Ruth Peack and Jessie Marion, extension specialists in home furnishings at Michigan State college, prepared this bulletin on the making of rugs with toothbrush handles or with safety pins.

If you feel that you need a demonstration in addition to the bulletin, your county extension office may be able to refer you to a local extension leader who has been trained to make handmade rugs.

BROME-ALFALFA MAKES GOOD CROP

A mixture of Alfalfa and smooth bromegrass is considered as the best hay and pasture crop on most Michigan soils. According to E. R. Churchill of the Michigan State college farm crops department, two to three pounds of smooth bromegrass seed per acre is sufficient when seeding with alfalfa.

In tests at Michigan State college mixtures of bromegrass and alfalfa yielded more than where either crop was grown alone in a pure stand. It is believed that the percentage of bromegrass in an alfalfa bromegrass mixture is probably more important in Michigan than the strain of bromegrass used. In sowing bromegrass, the seed should be covered at a shallow depth. If the seed is mixed with oats or barley, as is often done, the grain should be sowed as shallow as possible. In this case the alfalfa seed is placed in the grass seed box.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
How to Keep 'Em Down On the Farm
The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed, as how he was fed up with farm and country life... and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.
Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even advanced Bud carfare for the trip... figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.
And what happened? After seven days of big-town bustle and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet glass of beer with Dad.
From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temperate glass of beer!

LEARN TO MAKE HAND MADE RUGS

Making rugs is a practical way of using old clothing and scraps of materials. It is one way of getting your floor coverings the right sizes and colors without spending much money.
Miss Josephine Hoke, Home demonstration agent, believes that a handmade rug should be worth the time and effort you put into it. For a satisfactory rug you will need to spend time to collect, sort and prepare the materials. In fact it will take you longer to prepare the materials than it will make the rug.
You will want to make a definite plan for the entire rug before you start to make it. A handmade rug

GRADE NEWS

The grades enjoyed their monthly movie this week. It was Peck's Bad Boy.

Last Thursday afternoon the grade children attended the dress rehearsal of the Junior Play and enjoyed it a great deal.

The following sixth graders have an "E" average in spelling for the past marking period: Ruth Berry, Donald Colson, Sandra Gagnon, Onalee Hillman, Inez Holcomb, Eileen Jones, Jon McIntyre, Manley Morgan, Nancy Morgan, Russell Powers, Ronald Schebos, Roger Thompson, Elaine Watson. Mary Dean had a perfect record.

THIRD GRADE

We are studying about Indians and are making an Indian village. We are also making an Indian booklet and drawing Indian pictures.

We have a new girl in our class. Her name is Gwen Harrover.

SCHOOL EVALUATION WORKSHOP PLANNED

A workshop on measurement and evaluation in secondary schools and colleges will be held at Michigan State college this summer. It will extend from June 21 to July 9.

The program is designed for teachers, administrators, and child development and guidance personnel. Each participant will be expected to bring to the workshop a specific problem in evaluation -- perhaps one faced at the school he represents -- on which he will work for the three-week period. Graduate credit will be given.

MSC NURSERY SCHOOL TO OPEN THIS SPRING

The Spartan Nursery School, designed to serve children of Michigan State college married students, is now being erected in the married housing area and will be opened this spring.

Children between the ages of two-and-a-half and five years will be accepted if a parent is registered for 12 credits of study or more.

Cooperating in the venture are the Kellogg Foundation and various service groups. Approximately 120 children are expected to be accommodated.

SLAUGHTER NOW FOR SUMMER MEAT

Now is the time to round up that steer you've been fattening all winter or to select the hog you want for your summer meat supply.

E. D. Farewell, animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State college, warns that farmers shouldn't wait until it is too warm to keep fresh meat without spoilage. With spring not far away, and the planting rush that comes with it, there is no better time to slaughter than now.

Each farm family should have about 150 pounds of meat per member per year and plans should be made to store half of that supply now. A 220-hog will yield 170 to 180 pounds of pork, a 1,000 pound steer will yield supply 550 to 600 pounds of beef, and a 100 pound lamb will yield about 50 pounds of lamb. Selection of young healthy livestock in good flesh is best, since their meat is more tender than meat from aged livestock.

SAVE ENERGY AND TIME WHEN WORKING IN YOUR KITCHENS

To make your kitchen jobs easier and quicker think about the way you arrange your working materials.

If you have to reach for articles that are too high, or in inconvenient places, you will soon become tired. Before you tackle a job in your kitchen, place all the articles you will need in easy reach, suggests Miss Josephine Hoke, Home Demonstration Agent.

Easy reach can be measured by placing your elbows on the edge of the work space and noticing the arc formed when you move your arms toward your body or away from it. Maximum reach can be measured in the same way except that you form the arc by moving your arm in both directions from the shoulder.

For example, if you're going to make a salad, put all the ingredients in the maximum arc and as many as possible in the small arc. You won't take as many extra steps if you do it this way as if you line them along the counter.

THREE RULES WILL CHECK FOOD BUDGET

If you find it very difficult to live within a reasonable food budget these days you will welcome a few suggestions to help you.

There are three rules that you can use to check yourself, reports Mary Morr, of the department of foods and nutrition at Michigan State college.

First, ask yourself whether you plan ahead carefully and buy wisely. Housewives often need to do some pencil and paper work to determine which brand, size or variety is the best buy. It may be better from both time and money standpoints to buy a prepared mix rather than to "make your own".

A little arithmetic will give you the answer. Learn the services your grocer has to offer and when bargains are available. It is important that you know the nutritional value of various foods so that you can get the most for the money you spend.

Second, make good use of the foods you purchase. Often the savings you make by careful buying are lost by poor storage and care of foods at home. Try not to prepare too much for one meal but if you do, use leftovers wisely.

Third, enlist the cooperation of all your family. You may need to help the children understand that some foods are too expensive for your family's purse. Let your family have a hand in the planning. Make a game of seeing what attractive, wholesome and tasty food can be prepared on a low budget. It isn't economical to serve food that you know your family does not like and will not eat. If your family understands the food situation you will receive more praise and less criticism at mealtime.

EARLY CHICKS HELP ADD TO PROFITS

Getting early hatched chicks will help the poultryman obtain a large number of eggs at the time egg prices are high. Charles Reed, extension poultryman at Michigan State college, points out that these early hatched chicks can often make the difference between a profit and a loss in the poultry enterprise.

Egg prices are highest from July through December, reaching a peak about the first of November. Planned brooding can help have hens near their peak of production during the fall months. Before ordering baby chicks, poultrymen should consider that it takes an average of six to seven months to bring pullets into heavy production under good care and management. February and March are the months to brood chicks in order to have them in production by July and August. Chicks hatched later than March can't possibly be in heavy production by the peak price season.

Chicks should be from breeding that insures early maturity and ability to produce more large eggs. An advantage of early hatched pullets is that the small pullet sized eggs will have increased in size to larger eggs during the high-priced fall and winter season.

More often there is less trouble from coccidiosis when chicks are hatched early because they have passed the most susceptible age before conditions become more favorable for coccidia organisms to become active.

If straight run chicks are bought rather than sexed pullets, early brooding is necessary to have the cockerels ready to sell before the large number of later hatched cockerels reach the market and force the price down.

USE YOUR HOME CANNED FRUIT NOW

Now is the time to check your storehouse of home canned fruits and use them to perk up your menus. They'll taste good right now but they'll lose a lot of their goodness if stored too long.

Besides serving the fruit plain and simply in its own juice, Lois Jackson of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State college, suggests that you use them in a variety of ways.

Fruit salads are always a tempting treat. It's so easy to use a crisp lettuce leaf, a slice of your favorite fruit, and a dot of cream cheese for a salad. Lime pear salad is especially attractive. Put some of your home canned pear halves in a square pan and pour a prepared solution of lime flavored gelatin over them. Chill and cut into squares and serve it on lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise that has been thinned with some of the fruit juice.

You will find several uses for the juices of your canned fruits if you save them in the refrigerator. You can thin your dressings with them, or you can use them to add flavor and juice to a fruit cup. Bring your fruit jars out of the storehouse and use them as often as possible in as many ways as you can find.

Enough soil is washed or blown from fields in the U. S. every year to fill a train of freight cars long enough to go around the earth 19 times at the equator.

SCIENCE TAKES OUT WRINKLES IN COTTON

Now under way is a new "wrinkle-resistant" finish for cotton goods. This finish called Resloom C will create many new uses for cotton in both men's and women's clothing.

Florence Rain, clothing specialist at Michigan State college, states that the cotton industry has been attempting to produce an all-purpose fabric for some time. Manufacturers have been able to produce material that is shrink-proof and color fast. Now that they can make it wrinkle resistant, they can give cotton a worsted effect. Men's and women's suitings, uniforms, and sports shirtings are a few of the new items that you may expect to see on the market.

Interior Modes... by Reno

It takes ingenuity to create a room like this. Decorator Jill Riccardi designed this game room to take rough treatment and hard wear, and still keep the crisp, efficient atmosphere. The walls have been painted a bright red for the gay touch; the floor is mottled black, inlaid linoleum, and the draw curtains are made from white sheeting. The bold plaid of the valance, chair covers, and wall seat, is red, white and turquoise blue. The window shades have been lowered to the sill the plaid so exactly that when the shades are lowered to the sill the full wall has the effect of being painted plaid. And a bright red card table cover adds the final dash of high color.

ALLOW ROOM FOR CHICKS

Crowding can mean a lot of trouble in raising baby chicks, warns Howard Zindel, extension poultryman at Michigan State college. Overcrowding and too little feeder space may result in uneven growth, cannibalism, barebacks, and high mortality.

Allow one square foot of floor space in the brooder house for each two and one-half chicks. Thus, a 10 x 12 foot colony house hold not more than 300 chicks to

A generation ago, nearly 30c of every dollar spent on food was used to cover the grocer's cost of doing business, including wages, rent, transportation and so forth, plus a small profit. EVERGREEN SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE THROUGH M. S. C.
Tree seedlings for forest planting, windbreaks, erosion control, wildlife cover and food, and Christmas trees, are now available from the Michigan State college forestry department. Ira Bull, MSC forester, advises that tree planting is an excellent conservation measure. Farmers should note particularly the soil, its moisture content, and the grass or brush cover. Planting a mixture of species is preferable to pure plantings. The MSC forestry department or county agricultural agents can give information on what and how to plant.

The following evergreen species are available at the present time: European Larch, Jack Pine, Ponderosa Pine, White Pine, and White Spruce. The supply of Red Pine is exhausted from the MSC stock but can be secured from the State conservation department, Lansing. Scotch pine, a popular Christmas tree species, is also exhausted.

Among the deciduous trees available are Green Ash, White Ash, American Elm, Black Cherry, Black Locust, and Red Oak.

Order blanks can be secured from county agents or the MSC forestry department, East Lansing.

COMMUNITY'S STAKE IN RADIO IS THEME OF M. S. C. CONFERENCE

Radio station executives, school administrators, teachers and civic leaders from all parts of Michigan are expected at a conference at Michigan State College March 5 on "The Community Utilization of Its Radio Resources".

Also on hand to participate will be Robert Saudek, vice-president and director of public affairs for the American Broadcasting corporation and Prof. Kenneth Bartlett, chairman of the Department of Radio at Syracuse university.

The conference will attempt to find answers to the problem of how local communities can put its radio resources to the best use in terms of service to the community.

There will be general sessions in the morning, and in the afternoon there will be special section meetings for radio executives, representatives of educational institutions and organizations, community groups, and one section devoted to problems of starting and operating FM (frequency modulation) stations.

Conducted through the Institute of Short Courses, Michigan State College, the conference is jointly sponsored by the Department of Speech, Dramatics and Radio, the Department of Journalism, the Division of Education, the State Department of Public Instruction and radio stations WKAR, of MSC, and WJIM and WJLS, Lansing.

Conference director will be Joseph Callaway, associate professor of speech at Michigan State.

RAT POPULATION ON FARMS RUNS HIGH

Rat killing campaigns in many Michigan counties will get under way between March 10 and April 1, 1948. Michigan State college extension specialists say that every farmer has a part in the fight.

The following formula shows the stake that farmers have in ridding their farms of rats: If you never see rats, but see signs of rats and their damage, there are one to 100 rats on your farm.

If you see rats every night and a few occasionally in the daytime, you are boarding from 500 to 1,000.

If you see lots of rats at night and several every day, you probably have from 1,000 to 5,000 rats.

STILL GOING STRONG. Rudolph Koeneman of Allen County, Indiana, has a cow that's hard to beat. She's a 17 year old Jersey Spot, in her 17 years, has produced more than 110,000 pounds of milk and three tons of butterfat. That's 3,300 pounds of milk per year more than the average Indiana cow, according to Purdue University. And Spot is still producing almost as in her prime.

MORE THAN 50 Years of FENCE PROGRESS

THIS FENCE LASTS . . .

Back in 1896 the foundation was laid for modern CONTINENTAL FENCE. This longer lasting, stronger fence is the result of many years of progress in steel and fence making. The wire, made of special analysis copper steel, zinc coated by a special process, is FLAME-SEALED for extra rust protection.

THIS KNOT RESISTS BUCKLING

No other fence has the PIONEER KNOT. It is semi-flexible and yet actually tightens under strain. It gives extra strength to fence and guards against buckling of stay wires. Plan your fencing for the future . . . plan for permanent pastures and rotational grazing with CONTINENTAL FENCE . . . it's made to last longer.

ANCIENT LOOM. Mrs. John Rau of Brown County, Ohio, has for many years woven gay rugs on a loom hand-hewn from logs. On one post is carved "L. D. 1835", and though it has been in the family many years all trace of the maker has been lost. The ancient weaving device is so heavy it must be set up in a corner of the barn.

Pest Control in the Home

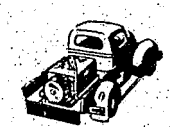

A St. Louis, Michigan, housewife uses the spraying attachment of her vacuum cleaner to apply a 5% DDT solution to closet surfaces and clothes for moth control. This solution may be sprayed lightly on clothes without injuring any fabric that can be dry cleaned. If too much is applied, it can be removed by brushing or dry cleaning.

A large hand duster is effective in applying DDT to insect hiding places. Here Mrs. Henry Jarrett forces a 10% DDT dust behind a baseboard that might harbor cockroaches, brown dog ticks or even bed bugs.

warps FLEX-O-GLASS BROUGHT 50% MORE MEAT ON 43% LESS FEED IN ACTUAL FARM TEST

SAME HATCH - SAME FEED - SAME CARE

As a 8 weeks test at Warp Brother's experimental Farm proved conclusively that chicks under Flex-O-Glass averaged only 2.94 lbs. of feed for each pound of meat produced. And that chicks under common glass consumed 4.22 lbs. of feed per pound of meat. Flex-O-Glass chicks at the end of 8 weeks weighed 1 1/2 lbs. as against 1 lb. for chicks under common glass — a 30% gain in meat on 43% less feed. The reason for these sensational gains is because Flex-O-Glass supplies that mysterious Spectronic Supplement D — straight from the Sunshine — which science tells us helps turn simple home-grown grain into meat and eggs quicker. Flex-O-Glass is inexpensive and easy to handle. Just cut with a shears and tack on. But be sure to insist on the name Warp's printed on the edge of every yard — it's your guarantee of Spectronic Supplement D, from the Sunshine.

Planning and Planting the 1948 Corn Crop

Success with the corn crop has never been more important than it will be this year. In 1947 corn took it on the chin from the weather with resulting yields nearly a billion bushels under the 1946 crop. The short yield cut sharply into livestock production . . . sent prices soaring on meat, milk and other livestock products . . . and deprived thousands of Europe's starving sufficient food for life. This year the corn crop must not fail! Though virtually powerless to control the weather, the farmer can do many things now to help assure a bumper corn yield. Some hints for growing a successful corn crop are pictured below:

ROLLED HAY....

THE BALE OF THE FUTURE

A weather-resistant rolled bale with leaves locked inside! That is rolled hay... a bale that for the first time sheds rain like a thatched roof. Once your hay is in the rolled bale, you breathe easy. It's safe from sudden showers. The bale unrolls in a wide, soft, leafy mat without shaking; can also be fed whole in the feedrack without waste.

The rolled bale represents a turning-point in haymaking for every farm. Now you can package your most important crop with the efficiency it deserves — using a low-cost, one-man field baler.

The ROTO-BALER

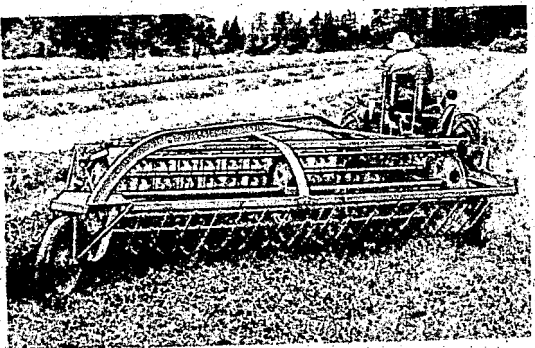

... Turning Point in Hay History

When blossoms say "ready" and the weather is right, that's when a one-man Roto-Baler pays off. Hay or straw is automatically wrapped with ordinary binder twine costing less than wire or heavy bale twine.

The Roto-Baler packages hay more compactly... in sturdy rolled bales that will not buckle... bales that store in less space and are convenient to handle and feed. Thousands of farmers from coast to coast are already making hay this better way... and like it.

TRACTOR RAKE

The ideal companion implement for the Roto-Baler. Power take-off driven... two forward reel speeds and one reverse (for tedding)... ball and roller bearings exclusively... controlled steering for straighter windrows. Farmers are saying "... just the rake I've been waiting for."

SCRAP IRON BADLY NEEDED!

BUSY BUSINESSWOMAN proves she's a good housewife too. Mrs. E. J. Swarhout, of Niles, Michigan—beauty shop owner and professional photographer . . . takes time out to make popcorn balls with KARO* Syrup. "They're easy to make and everyone likes them," says Mrs. Swarhout.

"PANCAKES WITH KARO WAFFLE SYRUP is my family's Sunday breakfast," says fashion model Mrs. Philip Molica, shown here doing her weekly shopping. "And of course, use regular KARO in cooking," Mrs. Molica says.

*KARO is a registered trademark of Corn Products Refining Company, New York, N. Y.

TIME FOR Cherry DEEP DISH PIE

1 quart pitted sour cherries, drained	1 tsp. grated lemon rind
3 1/2 tbsp. corn starch	1 tbsp. butter, melted
1/4 tsp. salt	1 cup KARO Syrup, Red or Blue Label
1/2 tsp. almond extract	(1/2 recipe pastry)
1 tsp. lemon juice

Place cherries in 9-inch deep-pie dish. Combine cherry juice (1/2 cup) with other ingredients as listed; stir until well blended. Pour over cherries. Cut 9-inch circle from pastry rolled 1/8 inch thick; cut slits; or cherry design, to let steam escape. Bake in hot oven (450° F.), 10 minutes; reduce to moderate (350° F.), bake 35 minutes longer. Serve warm. For 6 individual deep-dish pies, use same filling but one recipe pastry.

The New Look in Foods

Canned meat takes on a "New Look" with mashed potato topping.

Right about now, most of us are mighty tired of cooking the same old foods in the same old ways. Cooking's a bit like our clothes—give us a new dress or a new hat and suddenly we discover new lease on life. Likewise a new recipe or a novel idea will give our dishes a new lilt.

Suppose you go down to the fruit cellar and bring up a can or two of fruit and vegetables and a jar of meat . . . or dig a frozen chicken or package of frozen fruit and vegetables from the freezer and let's go to work. We'll try out some ideas as we would a new feather or ribbon on a hat . . . and behold THE NEW LOOK in FOODS!

Cream puffs filled with sweetened berries or peaches and custard sauce are a real treat.

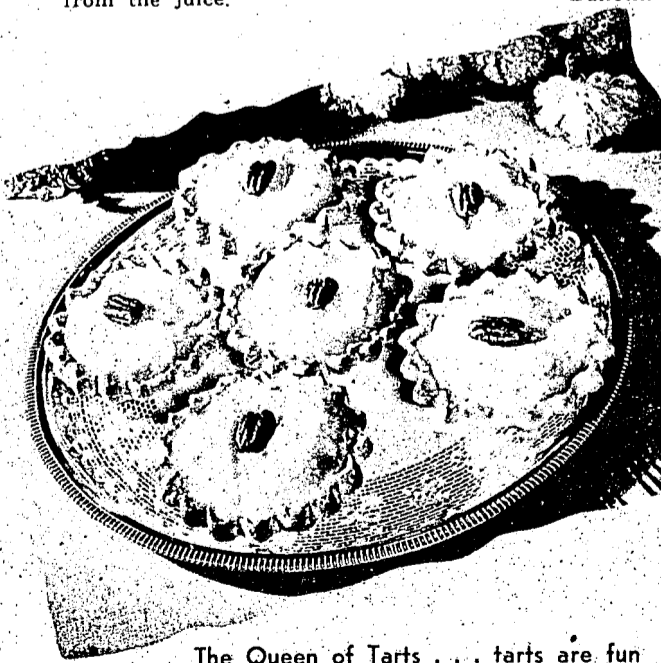

Add a cup of blueberries to cottage pudding and serve with blueberry sauce made from the juice.

Then there's omelette souffe . . . grease a flat baking dish, dot with large whole preserved strawberries, then pile the batter of your best souffle mixture on top in dome shape. Bake in very slow oven (250° F.) for 15 minutes. Serve at once on warm plate.

For an unusual salad, roll canned pear halves in sugar wafer crumbs. Fill center of pear with balls made from cream cheese and ground nuts.

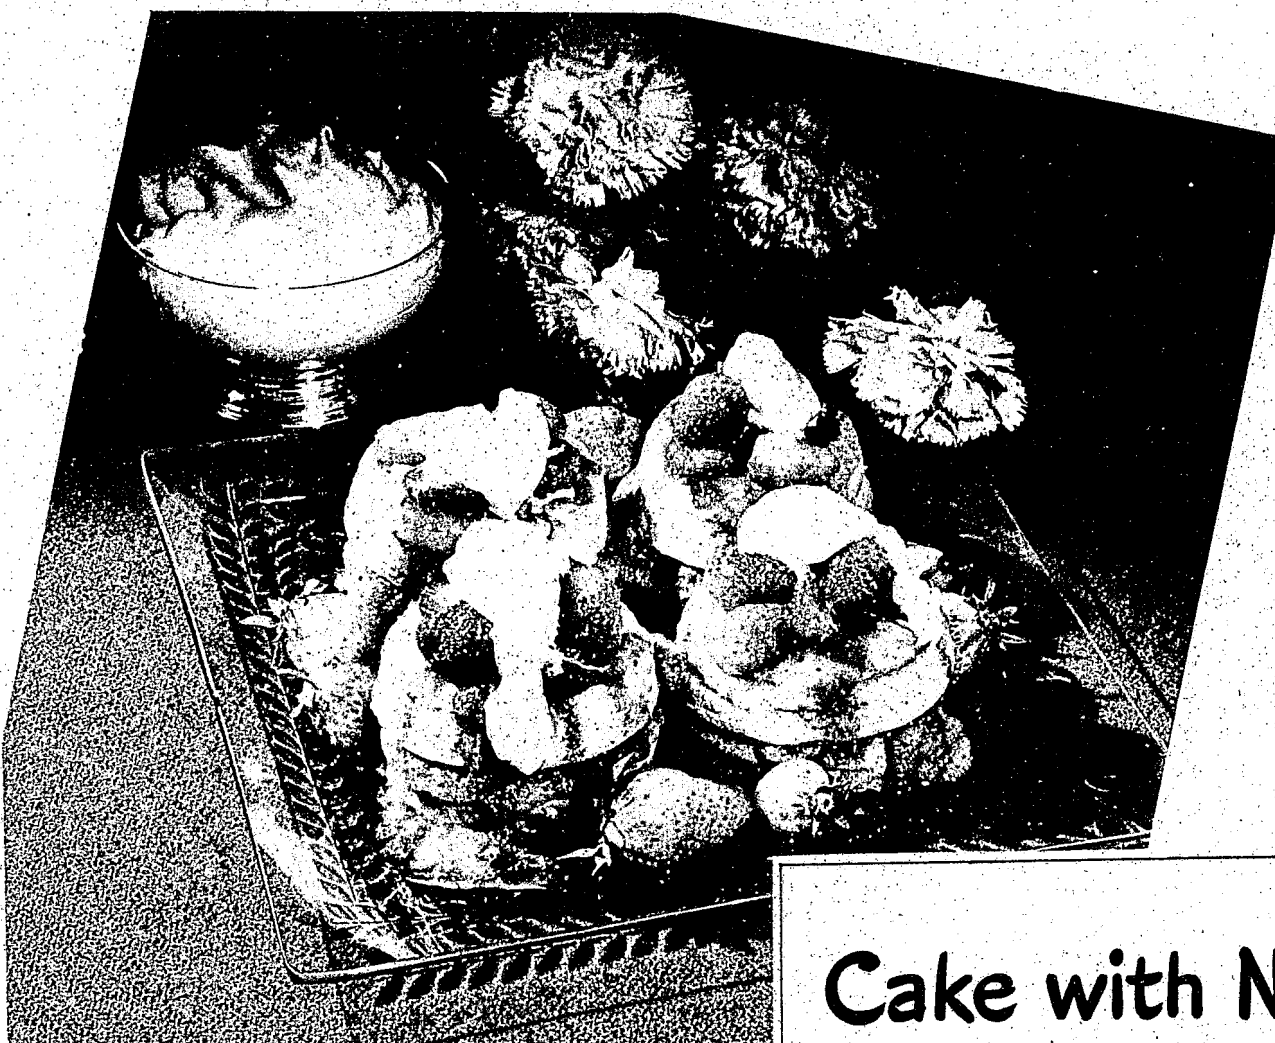

Rice ring with creamed meat . . . make white sauce and add contents of pint can of meat (diced) to a can of peas. Place two cups cooked rice in ring on chop plate, fill with creamed meat. Top with parsley.

Or perhaps you'd like to serve Mexican cubed steak; Chicken and asparagus Parisienne or Creole pork casserole. If so see the Bulletin Board.

The Queen of Tarts . . . tarts are fun because there are dozens of ways to make them exciting. You can add fruit in a custard . . . or whip fruit into cream. You can make a glaze and pour over fruit.

Featuring frozen berries in Strawberry Shortcake as refreshing as a breath of summer sunshine. Here's a good recipe:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|----------------------|
| 2 cups flour | 1 tablespoon sugar |
| 2 tsp. double acting baking powder | 2 tablespoons butter |
| 1 1/4 teaspoon salt | 3/4 cup rich milk |

Sift flour once before measuring. Resift with baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until finely divided and mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add milk and stir about 1/2 minute until soft dough is formed. Turn out dough on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Pat or roll 1/2 inch thick and cut with floured 2 inch biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Separate halves of hot biscuits, spread bottom halves with soft butter and crushed or whole berries. Place other halves on top, crust side down. Spread with butter and remaining fruit. Garnish with ice cream or whipped cream and additional berries.

A can of peaches comes into its own in a Peach Chiffon Pie. (For recipe see the Bulletin Board.)
