Rites Read In Northville Church

The First Baptist Church in Northville was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday night at eight o'clock when Marjorie Lou Collins and Thomas Cox spoke their marriage vows to the Reverend Walter C. Ballagh before an altar banked with mixed garden flowers and palms.

Miss Helen Cox sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". The bride, given in marriage by her father, was smart in a white silk shantung suit with small white hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white roses.

Melva Sheil of Pontiac, the bride's only attendant, wore a pale pink gabardine suit with small white hat and white accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Cox was assisted by his brother, Phil Cox, as best man. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collins of Clarkston and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bain Cox of Royal Oak.

Following the ceremony a reception for about fifty guests was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents on Ferris Ave. in Royal Oak. The refreshment table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake which sat on a round mirror and was circled with orange blossoms. This arrangement was flanked by lighted white tapers in crystal holders. Baskets of pink and white flowers were used throughout the rooms.

The young couple left on a honeymoon to Washington, D. C. and Virginia. On their return they will make their home in Royal Oak.

The bride is a graduate of the Clarkston High School.

Rotary Club News

The officers for the ensuing year of the Rotary Club took over their various duties at the meeting on Monday.

In addition to the awarding of the numbers to be inserted in the Rotary lapel buttons showing how long a member had belonged, a beautiful diamond studded pin was given to past president Robert L. Jones, for the successful year he had just completed. Gerald O'Dell in presenting the pin remarked that "Bob" should wear the pin with pride because he had worked very hard during the year for the Rotary Club, as was evidenced by the receipt by the club of a citation from the district club for community service.

This is the first time the district governor has honored the club with a citation.

Williams, Burns will serve as president for the coming year and from his plans, Rotary should increase its good work as a service club.

"THINK THRICE ABOUT THE FOURTH"

"Think thrice about the Fourth" the Michigan Department of Health forewarned Michigan residents and visitors today.

"Think especially about the dangers of heavy traffic, of drowning, and of falls, but give a thought also to other hazards which can spoil your holiday."

Fourth of July weekend accidents took 49 lives in Michigan last year. Holiday over-exertion and over-excitement doubtless took the other lives.

Automobile traffic took 22 lives: drowning and boating, 14 lives; and falls, 3 lives. Burns, suffocation, firearms, electrocution, gas poisoning, farming and trains accounted for the other accidental deaths on the three-day weekend.

The fatal Fourth is with us again. Most holiday accidents are preventable; carelessness is their cause. Be a little wary to keep your weekend merry.

GRASS IS BASIC TO GOOD NUTRITION. Figures are often quoted which give the value of cash crops in dollars and cents, but George Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State college, says we sometimes overlook the value of that simple crop—grass.

Brown cites the example that 56 per cent of our land area would produce no human food without grass which is converted by livestock into meat, milk, butter, wool, cheese, leather, medicinal supplies and countless other aids to health and well being.

During the recent Grass Day programs held throughout the state, many Michigan farmers learned the importance of grass and legumes in a balanced farming program. They saw demonstrations of new hay making methods and learned of improved ways of handling and using these crops.

The Michigan State college Co-operative Extension Service, sponsor of the program, worked closely with county agricultural agents and local committees to see that no phase of grassland farming was neglected in the Grass Day programs.

The importance of grass cannot be underestimated, Brown believes. In fact, one of the great differences between a land of plenty and a land of famine is in the amount of food manufactured from roughages which cannot be utilized as human food. The continent of Asia produces within 5 per cent as much human food in the form of dry matter as does the United States, but only 2 per cent in North America.

It will be a great day for American agriculture and the American people, he believes, when the culture, propagation and fertilization of grass are given the same consideration as other less important crops.

CULTIVATION IS IMPORTANT PART OF BEAN CROP. The number of beans in each pod can make a big difference in the yield of the bean crop, reports H. R. Pettigrove, Michigan State college bean specialist.

Pettigrove says that it takes excellent management to get bean crop with pods carrying seven and eight beans per pod. Cultivation is an important practice in bean production. The careless operator may remove plants from the row with the cultivator which brings a loss in bushels per acre.

Loose roots hanging on the shovels of the cultivator are a danger sign, Pettigrove advises, since it shows that roots are being pruned. Careless cultivating can do damage even if roots are not pruned. If roots are loosened from soil and left to dry in the surface area, they wither and become useless. The plant then does not get as much moisture as it needs and the result is lessened growth loss of vigor, drop of bloom, and a poor set of pods and poor pod development.

It's the Children Who Pay With LIVES!

Do you know that almost half of the pedestrians injured in traffic accidents are children? That while only one-sixth of the country's total population is in the 5 to 14 year age group... one out of every three pedestrians injured in traffic is between 5 and 14 years of age? Look at the figures for 1946:

In nation-wide motor vehicle accidents— 1,600 deaths 55,000 injuries Children less than 5 years

2,600 deaths 145,000 injuries Children between 5 and 14

What is the reason for these appalling figures? What can be done to stop these tragedies? 1. Teach every child the rules of safety—talk safety, and teach by good example. 2. Practice safety every minute—every second of your driving time!

Statistics prove that two-thirds of the above figures are a result of children being struck while part of a pedestrian stream of traffic. That is proof of the carelessness of drivers on our highways today! Are you one of those careless drivers? Study the rules of driving safety—follow these rules and your own good common sense. Traffic accident slaughter of children can be reduced—it must be reduced. It's up to you, you and every driver on the streets and highways of Michigan!

How Would You Like to Live in the "Good Old Days"?

Back in grandfather's time, during the final quarter of the last century, things were quite different. There were no movies, no airplanes, no automobiles, few bathrooms, practically no efficient electrical appliances. If you contracted diabetes or pernicious anemia, your days were numbered. Your blood just "changed to sugar" in the former, "to water" in the latter.

There was little protection against virulent epidemics. Smallpox vaccine was the only biological on the market. When diphtheria or typhoid ravaged a community, there was nothing to do but wait it out in hope and dread.

Yes, a return to the "good old days" would mean, among other things, the sacrifice of the major portion of the contribution of medicine and pharmacy to your health and well-being.

INCREASE IN TELEPHONES IN RURAL AREAS

Installation of the 50,000th rural telephone in its territory since VJ-Day was announced today by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

F. L. Spooner, manager for the company, said the gain since 1945 has brought the total number of telephones in Michigan Bell's rural area to the 130,000 mark.

Pointing out that the 50,000 gain since VJ-Day equaled the company's entire rural "telephone population" before the war, Spooner said the relative demand for service in farm areas today is ahead of that in urban areas.

"The extent of that demand is shown by the fact that we started the year 1947 with 12,000 on the waiting list in our rural territory and ended the year with 13,000 - despite an increase of 16,000 in the number of rural telephones in service during the year," Spooner said.

The heavy rural demand was attributed by Theodore H. Dawson, head of Michigan Bell's farm line development program, to the company's liberal construction plan under which farm lines are being built and to improved rural service, together with the known increase in farm income.

Under a plan established in 1940 and further liberalized two years ago, no charge is made for construction up to one-half mile of farm line. Thus, telephone service is available to 85 percent of the rural families in the company's territory without any construction charge.

Dawson also cited the extension of dial service in rural areas and a reduction in overloaded farm lines. The company's twin objective, he said, is to achieve 100 percent dial operation and to reduce the number of parties on rural lines to a maximum of eight. Today, only 14 per cent of Michigan Bell rural lines have more than that number.

Introduction of new construction methods the last few years that have brought about greater economies have aided the rural program, Dawson continued. He cited such developments as long-span wire and the use of buried wire in certain areas. Still in the experimental stage as to economy of operation is the use of carrier equipment on telephone and power lines.

In addition to its own lines Michigan Bell provides switching service for some 480 user-owned companies with 6,450 telephones in rural areas. Their facilities are gradually being improved in a co-operative program in which Michigan Bell provides technical counsel.

Dawson visualizes even greater strides in the future with the introduction of extended-area service, recently authorized by the Michigan Public Service Commission. That service will eliminate artificial toll barriers on calls to nearby communities where rural residents have shopping trading and social interests.

PLAN NOW TO TAKE BEST ADVANTAGE OF FROZEN FOODS

We all want to take advantage of using frozen foods in planning our family food supplies for the next year. With fruits and vegetables coming on the market, now is a good time to make some definite plans for the quantities we will need and how we will store them.

Whether to buy a frozen food unit for the home or use the facilities of the local locker is a question we all have to decide. Some very practical help in making this decision is available at no cost to Michigan families from Michigan State college.

Their recent publication "Planning for Frozen Foods", contains 38 pages of illustrated down-to-earth facts - that everyone needs to know before buying or renting lockers. One glance at the carefully prepared charts in the bulletin will tell you the amounts of various foods that it is practical to freeze according to the size of your family.

Varieties best for freezing and basic information for their preparation is included.

What you can expect from each of the types of home units and from the commercial locker plants is discussed in detail. Costs are compared and the question of location of lockers either in your home or community is discussed. Michigan State college home economists say you will find help in this bulletin about the amount of frozen food space you need for your family. That would determine the size of unit you would want if buying a home unit seemed practical for your family situation.

To obtain a copy of "Planning for Frozen Foods", write to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, or get one from your county extension office. Ask for Michigan State College Circular Bulletin 198.

NOW IS THE TIME TO REPAIR GRAIN BIN FOR STORAGE

Grain harvest is not too far in the future. County agricultural agent Karl D. Bailey, advises that spare time can be profitably used in preparing bins for storage of grain.

For safe storage, the first requirement is a bin which has been thoroughly cleaned. All old wheat or grain should be removed and the bin swept clean. The second step is to make the bin tight so insects and rodents cannot enter. After those two chores are done, spraying for the control of weevils and other insects should be begun.

For grains stored for feed or cereal products, a spray containing five percent or less of DDT in refined, deodorized kerosene or in water suspensions or emulsions should be used. It should be applied to the walls and woodwork at a rate of not more than one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet. The spray should be thoroughly dry before grain is put in the bin.

If the grain is to be stored for seed purposes, a different treatment should be used. Dust 3-percent DDT in pyrophyllite, thoroughly mixed with the seed, applied at the rate of one-half ounce of dust to one bushel of seed, is the proper treatment. Three percent DDT in magnesium oxide, applied in the same manner, is also effective. These methods are not recommended for stored grains or cereal products to be used for food.

Under normal conditions, these precautions will take care of insects. If abnormal infestations arise and fumigation becomes necessary, agent Bailey's office should be consulted.

DO NOT DELAY STORAGE OF WINTER CLOTHES

It's not too late to take care of your winter clothing if you haven't already done so but there's not a minute to lose. If you hope to wear it again next year, careful inspection now will pay big dividends.

Everything should be thoroughly cleaned. If you have to pack garments away in boxes or crowded closets you don't need to have them pressed. You can have that done this fall suggests Miss Josephine Hoke, Home Demonstration Agent.

Fur coats and fur trimmer coats deserve special attention. Fur never should be put through a dry cleaning solution such as is used for fabrics. It will dissolve all of the natural oils from fur skins and they will rattle like paper and tear easily.

If you really value your fur coat, it should be cleaned and glazed and stored with a reliable furrier each summer. Storage vaults are not only a protection against moths but they provide the required moisture which prevents skins from drying out during hot July and August days.

According to any advance information available at this time, woolens and furs are not to be any less expensive next fall. I may be wise to take that added precaution, and store your winter garments where you know they will be safe from moths, mildew and any other damage.

SWINE MEET TO BE HELD AT CHARLOTTE

A big day is planned for the Swine Type and Production Conference at the Charlotte Fair Grounds on Wednesday, July 21, says W. N. McMillen, swine specialist at Michigan State college.

The program will begin with a judging contest at 10 a. m., with J. S. Coffey of Ohio State University as judge. Type classes will be discussed at 1 o'clock and Harry Moxley, MSC livestock specialist, will present the leading production registry sows of several breeds with their litters.

A basket lunch is planned for noon. Several breed associations are planning meetings during the conference, McMillen reports.

SPRAY TIME CALLS FOR EXTRA CAUTION

Spray safely -- that's the advice given by Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college, for this time of year when many sprays and dusts are being used on farms.

These materials can be dangerous if handled incorrectly, he warns. Spraying and dusting materials should be stored in closed metal containers away from kitchen food stocks. A respirator should be used when spraying or dusting if material blows back in the operator's face. Fumes can sometimes be dangerous and the body should be kept well covered -- do not spray with arms or legs bare. Empty bags should be burned, taking care to avoid exposure to fumes.

The many new specialized materials require some additional safety rules, Roth advises. He urges users to read the label on each package carefully, noting its warnings and instructions and to follow them closely.

DETROIT EDISON SEEKS MORE REVENUE
A request for permission to amend its petition seeking additional revenues so that the total annual increase would be approximately $11,300,000 was filed with the Public Service Commission today by The Detroit Edison Company. The company also asked that the commission enter an order making $5,000,000 of the $11,300,000 total available beginning July 1 in an advance of a final determination of the case.

The company pointed out that when the original petition was filed in March asking for $6,200,000 a year it was thought unlikely that there would be any substantial wage increases, advances in the prices of coal and other supplies. As a result of the wage increases since granted throughout the country, it is believed probable that the company's additional wage costs will go up to a figure approximating $1,500,000 and that the cost of supplies and materials also will substantially advance.

The original petition sought to raise $6,200,000 a year by reducing the discount for prompt payment of bills to three per cent. At present the discount to industrial customers is five per cent, that to all others 10 per cent. The company, in its amended petition, proposes to raise another $5,114,000 a year by basing charges to all customers in part on the price of coal, a major expense in company business. Such a "coal clause" has long been a part of the contract with industrial customers. The proposal is to increase charges to residential, farm and commercial customers by one-tenth mill per kilowatt hour for each ten cents of the cost to fuel above $6 a ton. The cost of coal now is $8 a ton.

Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the board, pointed out that the increased cost to the individual customer will be comparatively small. At present the average residential customer uses 127 kilowatt hours a month for which the charge is $3.70. With the requested coal clause in effect the bill would be $3.95.

Brown also explained that while the gross revenues produced by the reduction in discount and the charges for inflated fuel cost would amount to an estimated $11,314,000 a year, the net left for the company from this increase, after the payment of federal taxes, would be $6,859,000.

"Since the filing of the original petition, in which we made every effort to confine our request to a minimum increase to meet only actual, and foreseeable needs there has been a substantial and general increase in construction and operating costs," Brown said. "The current general rise in wage levels is certain to be reflected immediately in further increases in such costs."

"In addition to the immediate seeks to improve its financial condition to the end that it may advantageously raise the money necessary to carry on its $100,000,000 expansion program. That requires early additional financing to the extent of about $65,000,000."

THAWING FROZEN FRUITS
There is a trick to thawing frozen fruits so that they will have a fine flavor and color when you serve them.
Frozen fruit loses its good eating quality very quickly after it is thawed and will become too soft and lose flavor and color, reminds Josephine Hoke, county home demonstration agent.
First of all, thaw only enough for one meal at a time. If your family is small, cut a large package of fruit in two before thawing. Rewrap the unused part and keep it frozen.
Always leave the fruit in the sealed container during the thawing period for best flavor and color. Turn the package several times during thawing to keep the fruit coated with syrup and prevent darkening. If you thaw it in the refrigerator, allow 6 to 8 hours for a pound package. At room temperature, the time is shortened to 2 to 3 hours.
When you wish to thaw the fruit quickly, place the package—keep it sealed—in cold running water for a half to one hour.
Never re-freeze fruits after they have been thawed. To keep them, cook them first and then store in the refrigerator.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Pampered Farmers

If the folks in our town were less tolerant, they'd be really burned up over that nationally circulated article on "pampered farmers," describing them as living off the fat of the land.

From where I sit the farmer is anything but "pampered." If he's better off today than twenty years ago it's because he's worked hard to improve the quality and quantity of his production.

Take Bert Childers, for example. Bert is up at four in the morning, to get the milking finished—and ploughing or harvesting, depending on the season, until sundown. In the evening he finally relaxes with the missus over a moderate glass of beer.

And the farmer today's not only temperate in his habits, like Bert's evening glass of beer... but tolerant in his opinions. So he'll probably say of that article, "somebody got the facts wrong," and just let it go at that.

GRAVES-NORTON The first wedding to be held in the Mt. Hope Bible church on Sunnyside Drive, Sashabaw Plains, was solemnized at a candlelight service, Saturday evening, June 19th at 8 o'clock when Shirley Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Graves of 4076 Oakhurst St., Lake Oakland, became the bride of Charles Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Norton of Maybee Road.

A double ring ceremony was read before 125 guests by the Rev. Elden Mudge, pastor of the church, around an altar banked with palms and baskets of peonies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a gown of white satin, fashioned with a round net yoke with off the shoulder neckline, and a fitted bodice attached to a full skirt ending in a long train. On her head she wore a pearl crown from which fell a fingertip veil of illusion edged with deep lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white rose-buds and white daisies. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Onlee Pincumbe of Oxford, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of orchid taffeta with matching mitts and tiara. She carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses and daisies. Mrs. Harold Kennedy of Waterford was bridesmaid and wore a gown of blue net over blue satin with matching mitts and tiara. Eleanor Reed of Pontiac, also a bridesmaid wore a gown of pink net over pink satin with matching mitts and tiara. Their shower bouquets were of pink roses and white daisies.

Connie Norton of Clarkston, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a gown of yellow dotted swiss.

The best man was Clyde Norton, Jr. of Clarkston, uncle of the groom.

David Graves, brother of the bride and Harold Kennedy of Waterford seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Graves wore a light blue crepe dress with white accessories and Mrs. Norton wore a print dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore a shoulder corsage of white rosebuds.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors. Emma Jean Carter and Janette Norton presided at the refreshment table.

The young couple left on a short honeymoon. For traveling the bride wore a black and white suit dress with white accessories. They are residing at 62 S. Shirley St., Pontiac.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Clarkston High school and Charles has spent 18 months in the U. S. Army with one year in Germany.

ROCKWELL-KELLEY On Friday evening, June 11th, at 7:30, the First Baptist church of Pontiac was the scene of a very lovely wedding uniting Kathryn Louise Rockwell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Rockwell of Tubbs Road and Frank Melvin Kelley, son of Mrs. Lillian Kelley and the late Fred Kelley of Rosshire Court, Pontiac.

A double ring candlelight ceremony was read before 250 guests by Rev. H. H. Savage, pastor of the church, before an altar banked with palms, lighted candelabra and one huge basket of white lilies, gladioli and stocks.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of candlelight satin fashioned with an illusion yoke trimmed with seed pearls from yoke to hemline. Pleated frills cascaded from the top of the boufant skirt to the hemline. A finger-tip veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias, ivy and white snapdragons.

The maid of honor was Ellen Rockwell, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of blue net over taffeta with matching coronet. She carried a bouquet of yellow flowers. Patricia Ransom and Lee Lanaway, bridesmaids, wore dresses of yellow net over taffeta with matching headdress. Their flower girls were of shades of yellow and blue.

Gene Kelley, brother of the groom, was best man and Ted Rockwell and Leonard Tipot seated the guests.

Mrs. Wayne Courtney, an aunt of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" and "O God, All Creating".

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Tubbs Road immediately following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Kelley was wearing a two piece white suit with brown accessories when the couple left on their two weeks' honeymoon at Lake Vermillion, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will make their home on Shimmions Road in Pontiac.

Mrs. Kelley is a graduate of the Clarkston High School. Mr. Kelley graduated from the Pontiac High School and spent three years in the marine corps.

SAVING SUGGESTIONS FOR FOOD BUDGET OFFERED HOMEMAKERS

What shall we have for dinner? This is easy to answer after you have decided on the main dish—but this is where high prices spell trouble these days.

Homemakers looking for main dish recipes which are filling and nutritional but inexpensive are offered 150 recipes and suggestions in a new booklet announced by Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition extension specialist at Michigan State College. Titled, "Money Saving Main Dishes", the bulletin is offered by the Office for Food and Feed Conservation, at no charge to help you save both money and scarce foods. The recipes were tested by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. You can get your copy of the 48-page booklet from your county extension office or from the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College

East Lansing. Secretary of Agriculture, Chas. F. Brannan, states that day-to-day use of the recipes in the booklet may save you as much as thirty percent on meat alone. Suggestions for balanced, economical meals and tips for skill in cookery are included.

Following each "main dish" recipe are suggestions for other foods to complete the meal, and also for ways to vary the "main-dish" recipe. For example, a brown beef stew can easily become lamb or veal stew or a quick stew with hamburger. With it you might serve coleslaw or green salad, and a baked peach or pear for dessert. Sweet-sour spareribs, Chinese style, can become baked spareribs with barbecue sauce.

SPANISH MAGAZINE TELLS OF MSC WORK

Latin American farmers will have the benefit of research work done at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station when a recent study by Dr. C. S. Bryan is reproduced in a Spanish dairy magazine.

The publication, El Noticiero Surco, is distributed to 40,000 dairymen in Spanish- and Portuguese-speaking countries throughout the world. Dr. Bryan, dean of the school of veterinary medicine at MSC, recently received a request for permission to reprint his study, "Practical Aspects of Milk Hygiene" in the magazine. The article, dealing with processing and distributing safe milk, originally appeared in the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station Quarterly Bulletin.

NEW LAW IN EFFECT FOR PASTEURIZATION

July first is the date that Michigan's new milk pasteurization law took effect, reports A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college. Beginning then all milk entering commercial channels must be pasteurized.

Michigan is the first state in the nation to enact such a law safeguarding against certain communicable diseases. The law was passed by the legislature in 1947 to give those concerned a year to prepare for it.

Baltzer advises that under the new law, all milk to be bottled for retail trade or used in creameries and cheese factories must be pasteurized. An exception is cheese aged for more than 60 days. Farmers selling milk to their own employees at the farm where it is produced are exempt from the provision.

Local health officers can give further details of the new law.
