Death Claims Lewis C. Galligan

On Monday morning Lewis C. Galligan of 8150 Holcomb Road, Clarkston, passed away at St. Joseph Mercy hospital after being in poor health for several months. Mr. Galligan was born in Pontiac on March 10, 1874, the son of Edward and Mary E. Cross Galligan. He married Alpha Stafford in Springfield Township. He lived all his life on a farm and was active in the Farm Bureau and local Grange. For twenty-five years he was a member of the Springfield Township School Board. Years ago before the township was responsible for the condition of the roads Mr. Galligan acted as pathmaster in his district. In December, 1945, he started carrying the mail back and forth from the Clarkston Post Office. In October, 1947, he was knocked down by a mail bag which had been tossed from a moving mail train. He thought he was recovering from his injuries but from then on his health seemed to fail. He is survived by three sons, Clifford of Pontiac, Jerome and Roger of Clarkston, three daughters, Mrs. Norma Dawson of Spring Arbor, Mrs. Louise Stupphen of Clarkston and ten grandchildren. The funeral service was held at the Sharpe Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Reverend William S. Ross, pastor of the Clarkston Baptist Church officiating. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery.

Special Attention

Just an hour to think, on these warm, sunny days. Sets all of my thought force in motion. For each little reed, that falls under my gaze. Commands for its maker, devotion. The intricate fibers that weave in and out. Form a line as straight as an arrow. And makes for a body, that's limber, yet stout. To wave in the breeze, lithe and narrow. I view the great skill in the pattern here made. My mind is overflowing with wonder. At the simplest of plants, whose colors don't fade. Whose chemist does not make a blunder. It seems such a great task for only one soul. To bring this creation together. To build each tiny reed to fulfill its roll. Then furnish the right kind of weather. Each blade in the field and each small grain of sand. Seem part of the Master's great planning. It takes my thinking to quite understand. How He governs these things I am scanning. No matter the method He uses to grow. These marvels of nature's invention. There's great satisfaction to feel that I know. That we all have His special attention.

About forty enjoyed the planned picnic dinner and no one left the table hungry. The children had a good time at the playground while the adults visited. Some of the men pitched horseshoes while others played cribbage.

Educators Praise Harmony Valley

"I am amazed at the progress made by Harmony Valley in such a short time." This was the comment made by Helen Nichols, Supervisor from the Department of Education in the Province of Nova Scotia, when she arrived at the Folk Art Center last Saturday. Classes in oil painting in the front yard, ceramics and leather in the back yard, music, toymaking and rhythm band in the big play room in the barn and in home crafts, with the looms going full blast and all in an atmosphere of laughter and fun was the kind of adult education technique these leaders from the University of Michigan Community Organization group were seeking.

Miss Nichols whose investigation continued over into Sunday stated she intended to recommend to the Education Department at Halifax that institutions similar to Harmony Valley Folk Art Center be set up in connection with the school system in the Province of Nova Scotia.

Dr. Howard Y. McClusky, whose life work is devoted to popularizing education for all of the people and from the cradle to the grave, generously consented to give his advice and counsel to the Harmony Valley Folk Art Center in solving its problems of future. The whole family approach to creative recreation was the particular feature which attracted his favorable attention.

E. A. Kelford, from Eaton Rapids who has raised his job from that of a student to that of a youth counselor, stated that whole family participation in play is an obvious dominant factor in the prevention of juvenile delinquency. Mr. Kelford generously loaned to the Center his excellent collection of specimens of mineral rocks.

The major contribution from the informal conference with local leadership was that the facilities of Harmony Valley be used by local organizations. One member commented that fun mixed with work would make a business meeting a pleasure rather than a task.

Harmony Valley extends invitations to farm groups, service clubs, Sunday schools, parent-teacher organizations, recreation groups and the like to use the facilities of the Center, and in addition offers the services of its staff to the extent consistent and possible.

Classes are open for registration and visitors are welcome. Saturday evening classes in merrymaking are doing a yeoman service in teaching old and young to play. Those who know how to play lend a hand in the teaching and laugh with, not at the beginners. It is but a short time until the dance rolls on uninterrupted only by Hal Marshall and his Magic and Monkey Business and other novelty features which make the evening a square dance plus. You are welcome in Harmony Valley.

Clarkston Loses To Rochester

The Clarkston Merchants were knocked out of first place in the central Oakland County League last Sunday. Riding on a five game winning streak the team had climbed into the leading position the Sunday before only to fall to Rochester 10 to 3. The local boys got off to a poor start, letting Rochester punch out five hits good for four runs in the first frame. This was enough to win, for the Merchants couldn't hit when they counted and left 11 men stranded on the bases. Howard Altman pitched for Clarkston and was touched for ten hits while the best the Merchants could do was five of Swarthout's offerings. ## By the Way . . .

'Tis the last week in July and about all one hears is that some one is going on a vacation. Some times I wish people in the newspaper business could take a vacation. . . . May we call attention to the Clarkston School Report and Financial Statement on page 4; the zoning notice on page 4; all about the new inspectors; and finally the notice about the new barber shop hours, to be found on page 3. . . . Clarkston's "Flying Political Convention Attenders" were the guest speakers at Lake Orion Rotary Club on Monday evening. . . . We have heard that inspection of the Clarkston Post Office resulted in a very fine report but Mrs. Elizabeth H. Runk, postmaster, when confronted with the report doubted if that could be called news. . . . About once a season, at least, the writer attends a picnic--and for three days afterwards regrets that he fell off his diet and ate just too, too much. . . . Am in receipt of several newspapers from England. They were sent by relatives to the Joseph Helmans in Waterford. One of them is a ten column paper, the front page is an adv. section and the whole paper is printed in small legal size type. These papers are very interesting. . . . Thought that the poem used in the Methodist Church bulletin last Sunday might be an inspiration to many adults who sometimes refuse to do a job because they cannot see the ultimate result.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

An old man going a lone highway
Came in the evening cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.

The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fears for him,
But he stopped when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here;
Your journey will end with the ending day,
You never again will pass this way."

"You've crossed the chasm deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at evening tide?"
The builder lifted his old gray head,

"Good friend, in the path I have come," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way
This chasm which has been a naught for me
To that fair-haired youth might a pitfall be,
He too, must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

Figures Don't Lie!

No, figures don't lie! The statistics prepared by our own Michigan State Police tell a tragic story of carelessness—or speed in driving and negligence on our Michigan highways.

For instance: In one recent month alone NINETY-FOUR persons were killed and TWO THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND ONE injured in reported traffic accidents. Compared to the same month a year ago, the death toll was up 9 and injuries were increased 11.6%.

During this month, there were many "multiple death" accidents—which means that several persons were killed or injured in one crash. Most of the accidents occurred on rural highways, with "head-on" collisions between two automobiles. Each one resulted in a tragedy for several families.

These figures should frighten you! They should make you aware of the danger of one second of careless driving. They should form a resolution in your mind to drive carefully; to preach caution to every one in your family who drives — to refuse the car keys to any one who has been drinking — or intends to drink during the day or evening. The driver with high alcohol concentration is FIFTY-FIVE times more liable to have an accident!

Don't let your name or the name of any member of your family be added to the traffic role of infamy for 1948. Drive carefully and save lives!

DISEASES FOUND IN OATS, WHEAT

Diseases in wheat and oat fields in Michigan have been found this summer by plant disease inspectors, according to Ed Andrews, extension specialist in plant pathology at Michigan State college.

Severe infection of Victoria blight were found in fields of Victorian oats in southern Michigan. Andrews said losses may be heavy from this fungus which rots the stems so they crinkle and finally collapse. There is no control of the disease but the planting of varieties like Clinton and Eaton that are resistant is recommended. Take-All, which causes the stunting and bleaching of the entire wheat plant, has also been reported in Michigan. The disease is often found in a field in which wheat followed wheat. This emphasizes the value of crop rotation, Andrews pointed out.

Conservation News

"Wet water" that comes in packages as a dry powder is becoming popular with conservation department forest fire fighters, while its use still is in the experimental stage.

Actually it is only the wetting agent that is put up in powder form, in one size package to add to the water in five-gallon backpacks, a second size for 100-gallon portable pumps, a third for the larger tanks. The wetting agent so affects the surface tension of ordinary water that it soaks more quickly into anything it is sprayed on.

Men on the fire lines say it makes one squirt do the work of two. Its only inconvenience, aside from cost, is the necessity for rinsing the tanks after use to prevent corrosion.

PRESERVE PEAS FOR WINTER USE NOW

Whether you plan to can or freeze peas this year, it's a cinch that you are going to preserve some of the popular green vegetable for your winter meals soon.

Directions for successful processing for either canning or freezing peas are suggested by Roberta Hershey, extension foods specialist at Michigan State College.

If you plan to can some, after you have shelled and washed them, cover with boiling water and bring to a boil. If you use glass jars, pack the hot peas to 1 inch of the top and cover with boiling water, leaving 1 inch of space at the top of the jar. Add one-half teaspoon of salt to pints and 1 teaspoon to quarts. Adjust the jar lids and process in the pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure—240 degrees F. Process pints jars 40 minutes and quart jars 40 minutes. As soon as you remove jars from the canner, complete the seals if they are not the self-sealing type. If you use a pressure sauce pan, process the pint jars for 60 minutes.

For tin cans, pack the hot peas to 3/4 inch of the top. Fill to the top with boiling water. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to No. 2 cans and 1 teaspoon to No. 2 1/2 cans. Exhaust and seal cans. Process at 10 lbs. pressure—240 degrees F. Process for 30 minutes for either size can.

Horticulture specialists at Michigan State College recommend for freezing either the Thomas Laxton, World Record or Alderman varieties. Avoid over-ripe pods. Handle quickly from time of harvest to freezing. After shelling, sort out small immature and large hard peas, split peas and foreign material.

Blanch peas for freezing 1 1/2 minutes in boiling water or 2 1/2 minutes in steam. Cool quickly drain, and pack.

FLOWER ARRANGING IS FUN

When you bring in those armfuls of flowers from your yard and garden this summer do you make them look "at home"?

What you put them in is a large part of a successful flower arrangement, comments Miss Josephine Hoke, County Home Demonstration Agent.

If you don't have many vases, don't be discouraged. It's fun to search for new ones—jugs, bowls, dishes, there are all kinds of possibilities. Choose one that is in scale with your flowers—but tip the scale slightly toward the flowers. They should be the attention-getter—not the vase.

Place round bouquets in round containers. Heavy flowers don't go with delicate vases. Coarse bold zinnias and marigolds go with coarse pottery. Roses look best in silver or glass containers.

When you're selecting containers choose ones with good-sized openings, and choose styles that go with your home. You'll find good ones in many unlikely places. See how many different flower containers you can collect. Few other household articles will give you as much beauty and usefulness.

Consider, too, the background for your flower arrangements. It will lose a lot of spirit in front of a window with the light shining through it. Figured screens or wallpapers in back of flowers are distracting. Place them in front of a plain colored tray, fabric or wall of a color that goes well with the flowers.

BETTER FURNITURE TOPS NEWS IN HOME FURNISHINGS

More careful finishing and better construction in new lines of furniture coming on the market can be expected in the near future.

You will find more low cost units, too, believes Jessie Marion, extension home furnishings specialist at Michigan State college, whose study of market reviews gives us this hopeful news.

New developments and fashions in home furnishings come so rapidly it seems impossible to keep up with them. It pays Mrs. Housewife to keep informed by reading, as much as she can, advises Miss Marion.

Some new features in home furnishings will prove to be very helpful to Mrs. Housewife. Paper draperies have been greatly improved. New designs and colors add to their appearance and a fire retardant treatment makes them softer. By adding chemicals to the paper some companies have draperies that are free from fire hazards and because they are softer will drape better.

New colors and color combinations are very much in the news for furniture, carpets, curtains, drapes, linoleums and kitchen appliances. Orchid is turning up again in bathroom accessories such as shower curtains and towels.

Wood finishes in furniture are darker with a trend away from the blond. Brightly painted tops combined with wood finishes are being featured in case goods. Bottle green and darker colors are becoming prevalent in the new carpets. Bright yellow and gold are appearing more in floral patterns and plain yellow has been introduced in a new linoleum line. Chinese red, cocoa and hunter green are used in casement curtains and eliminate a need for draperies.

WATCH DAIRY COWS FOR LOSS OF WEIGHT IN SUMMER

Watch your dairy cows for a loss of body weight during summer months was a warning given dairymen today by Karl D. Bailey, county agricultural agent for Oakland County.

There are several factors which may cause dairy animals to lose weight, but the main one is lack of feed. Too often pastures become inadequate to carry the number of animals being grazed, the agent warns.

Other factors causing the loss of body weight in dairy cows include high temperatures, high humidity, lack of water supply, flies and irregular milking due to press of farm work.

Cows should be milked as near to 12 hours apart as possible. But County Agent Bailey believes the span from morning to night often runs near 14 hours and from night to morning 10 hours during heavy farming months.

Cows that lose body weight in summer often drop in milk production. They will go into the winter months in poor condition and then it will take lots of silage hay and expensive feed to bring them back to top shape, the agent reminds.

Conservation News

More conservation department forest fire fighting equipment that became out-of-date in the war years when no replacements were available is scheduled for retirement this summer. In the afternoon Ashley Berridge, superintendent of the branch of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station at Lake City will conduct tours of the farm. All Michigan potato growers are invited to attend the event.

CONSERVATION NEWS

Records of the conservation department's Kingsley forest fire lookout tower south of Traverse City noted one fatality this week, but the death is not charged to forest fire. Fire fighters making the run to the fire found a man smoking bees from a bee tree had died of a heart attack, and the half-acre grass fire was the result rather than the cause of his death.

A fisherman who pulled up his stringer of perch from the waters of Fletcher pond near Alpena so Conservation Officer Bill Cronk of Hillman could check the catch had one more fish than he expected to show the officer. Gorged on the last perch on the stringer was a big pike.

When the Ounce of Prevention Fails

★ Warning against accidents in the home and on the highways is old stuff to most of us. Many industries have made real progress in accident prevention, but our homes continue to produce minor and major injuries on an ever-increasing scale.

In spite of every precaution, accidents will occur. When the "ounce of prevention" fails, it is wise to have "the pound of cure" ready at hand. See that your medicine cabinet is amply stocked with standard first-aid materials. Keep a first-aid kit in the pocket of your car. We shall be pleased to help you select the essential items from our complete stock.

PLAN SUMMER SEEDINGS

Spring seeding of alfalfa this year resulted in the best stands in many years because of favorable weather conditions. But Dr. S. T. Dexter, Michigan State college research crops authority, says farmers should now be making ready for late summer seeding of alfalfa.

Having weeds under control, preparation of a good, well-worked seed bed, application of lime, if needed and use of adequate fertilizer are important in summer seedings, he remarked.

HOW TO CONTROL THE CORN BORER

More good meals of roasting ears are consumed by the European corn borer than should be, according to Karl D. Bailey, county agricultural agent. He believes the gardeners who raise the sweet corn should get more of it for their own tables, freezing or canning, and offers advice on how to control the corn borer.

The Oakland county agent believes rotenone dust is one of the most simple methods for use on small acreages. Use one per cent rotenone dust and apply to the axis of the leaves, silk, husk and base of the ear where it attaches to the corn stalk. The treatment should be repeated five days apart for five treatments.

DDT may be used in a spray. Fifty percent wettable DDT at the rate of 1 and one fourth pounds per acre with about a quarter pound of a good wetting agent gives good control in a water spray.

Growers may learn to recognize the egg masses which are laid on the underside of the leaves. Treatment should begin when the egg masses have started to hatch. If you're not sure about the eggs and your corn is more than ten inches high as it stands in the field, it is well to start control measures.

TELEPHONE COMPANY FORESEES NEW RADIOS

Radios without vacuum tubes and which play instantly when turned on are now a possibility with the invention of an entirely new electronic device by the Bell Telephone Laboratories at New York.

In announcing the device known as a "transistor," F. L. Spooner, manager here for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, said it works on a new principle of physics discovered by the laboratories in the course of fundamental research into the electrical properties of solids.

"It is an amazingly simple apparatus hardly larger than a shoe-lace tip," Spooner said, "yet it efficiently performs nearly all the functions of an ordinary vacuum tube plus some that the old-type tube cannot."

"The laboratories have used several transistors to activate a radio receiving set, and also to amplify electrical speech waves traveling between two telephone jobs now handled by vacuum tubes."

Spooner said the transistor is a tiny, hollow cylinder housing two hairpin wires touching a pinhead of germanium, a semi-conductive metal.

The device has no vacuum, glass covering, grid, plate, cathode, or any parts which move or wear out. It is energized by dry-cell batteries and consumes less than a tenth of the power used by an ordinary flash-light bulb, according to Spooner.

"Electrical current is amplified when it moves from one wire through the germanium to the other wire," stated Spooner. "The wires themselves are only two-thousandths of an inch apart. Tests have shown that the transistor will amplify at least 100 times."

Never leave a campfire until it is completely out. Michigan State college foresters advise putting the fire out by stirring the coals while soaking them with water. Then wet the ground around the fire. If you can't get water, stir in moist earth and tread it down until it is packed tight over and around the fire.

Sudan Grass pastures make good growth during hot, dry summer months. They help to save grain and are good for livestock.

Methadon was administered by mouth in capsules, tablets, and liquid form; and also by hypodermic and intravenous injection.

When injected into the veins it took effect in two minutes; other methods took 15 to 30 minutes. The effects of the drug lasted on the average from 3 to 4 hours, but many patients obtained relief for as long as eight to twelve hours.

While the new drug has some of the characteristics and effects of morphine, it does not seem to build up any habit forming tendencies. When methadon was abruptly discontinued in 20 patients who had been receiving it for 2 or 3 months, they had no unpleasant symptoms. Three patients were given the drug for one year and were able to stop treatment suddenly with no ill effects.

Among the more difficult types of pain which were relieved by methadon, were muscular spasms and pain in patients with infantile paralysis, and headaches due to brain tumor, head injury, and brain abscess. Such successful results plus its lack of unpleasant habit forming symptoms caused the doctors of medicine reporting on its use to give methadon a most encouraging rating.

COTTAGERS MAY GET A MAP OF THEIR LAKE

For 25 cents to $2.50, cottagers along hundreds of Michigan's inland lakes may get a map of their lake, in plain blueprint style if they wish to take it along in the boat to mark the good fishing spots, and in several colors if they want to frame it on a cabin wall.

The new index of inland lake maps just compiled by the conservation department's institute for fisheries research lists maps for lakes in 69 counties, from a few in one county to more than 100 in others. The maps show shorelines and some land features, shoal areas, soundings, bottom contours and weed beds. The character of the bottom material, whether rock, gravel, sand, clay, peat or marl, is shown on the larger, more expensive hand-colored maps. The index lists maps prepared both by the institute and by the U. S. forest service.

Lists of the lake maps in stock are available from the conservation department's fish division in Lansing, a separate sheet for each county. Orders for the maps, however, must be sent either to the fisheries institute in Ann Arbor or the forest service in Milwaukee. The list of maps available is expanded annually, as both surveying and map making are continuing operations.
