Rotary Club Holds Farmers' Night

The annual meeting of the Clarkston Rotary, at which neighboring farmers are guests, was held at the First Methodist Church on Monday of this week.

Reverend Walter C. B. Saxman introduced Reverend I. W. Parrish who gave the invocation. Reverend Parrish is a retired Presbyterian pastor now living on a farm on Allen Road.

Following a fine dinner group singing, led by Don Stackable and accompanied by Charles Robinson at the piano, was enjoyed.

Roy Alger, village president gave the address of welcome which was responded to by Alex Solley, who gave some true stories of his trials and tribulations as a farmer, which were interesting and amusing.

Fred Beckman, chairman of the occasion then introduced Reverend H. B. Johnson of Oxford who gave the address of the evening.

Reverend Johnson has recently announced his resignation as pastor of the Congregational Church at Oxford after serving for 19 years. He intends to enter organizational work for the Knights of Pythias where he believes he will have a greater opportunity to serve.

The address differentiated between a free enterprise system and a free American philosophy for Americans.

The fine dinner was prepared by the following committee: Mrs. Agnes Beardsley, chairman, Mrs. Ronald Walter, Mrs. R. Vliet, Mrs. Lloyd Sibley, Mrs. Earl Hoyt, Mrs. F. Jewell, Miss Phyllis Beardsley, Mrs. Margaret Harris and Mrs. W. H. Stamp.

Only One Ticket In Field

Independence Township, as things now stand, will have only one group of candidates for township offices. No Democratic ticket was named.

At the Republican Caucus, which was attended by over 180 citizens Floyd Andrews defeated Herbert Baynes for the nomination as supervisor. This was about the only contest as Harold J. Doebler for Clerk and Carrie Walter as treasurer were unanimously nominated.

By the Way . . .

Back in 1933 when the writer came to Clarkston to make his home, the economy of these United States was in a rather poor state of condition. Being at the bottom there was no place to go but to improve so fellow Americans improved perhaps the highest dollar or physical volume we have ever known. Right now we seem to be tiring a bit from our endeavors and some people are becoming alarmed. Perhaps now is a good time to rest a bit, count our blessings and cheer up — refreshen for greater things . . .

Alex Solley is authority for the following story: He owned a horse which if free would always go to the other side of the barn. Finally this aroused his ire to the extent that he shouted to the horse were he wished he would go. The horse must have understood because from the time the horse disappeared around the barn to this day Alex has never seen the horse . . . The last issue of The News (Clarkston of course) carried the largest amount of automobile advertising ever carried in one issue — four thousand one hundred and forty-four lines . . . We doubt if, of all the Rotary Club "Farmers' Nights" any has ever been more congenial than the one held on Monday. These United States have no titles but we believe it is correct usage to refer to a public official as Honorable. All of which means that the farewell address of the President of Clarkston, Honorable Roy Alger, was the address of welcome to the guests at this dinner. . . . It is becoming increasingly hard to avoid buying a television set. No, dear reader, the salesman are not pestering us, but the satisfied users keep inviting us to their home so that we may become aware of how much of the better entertainment we are missing. . . . The Republican caucus held Saturday was the best attended caucus we have attended in Clarkston in sixteen years — may be in the history of such caucuses. . . . In a period of indecision a former vice-president of advocated as a need of the country — "A good five cent cigar." Perhaps what the country needs most today is more and better mouth-traps.

This past week several folks called the News office to report that they had seen robins in their yards. Many in the community say that the spring flowers are two or more inches above the ground. Spring weather cannot be too far away.

You are invited to join with the youth of the community at the Springfield Youth Center on Saturday night, March 19th, at 7:30 for a St. Patrick's Day box social and dance. The ladies will provide the box lunches.

You are missing many good times if you do not attend the affairs at this youth center. Plan to have a good time tomorrow night.

Again this year to you I write, To say that things are getting tight, That profits somehow slipped away, And out the tax we have to pay. Now I am sorry, Uncle dear, That things fell off a bit last year, That hidden costs have taken toll, And plumb deflated our bank roll.

It seems for years our lives were blessed, Your nephews rode a golden crest, That let you think there was no end, To tax returns, that we would send.

When things were good, we didn't sob, We sent our dough to do a job. We took a lot of patriot's pride In helping stuff our uncle's hide.

But now there's less of currency, And it is very plain to see That you and I to plan success Must learn to live on less and less.

Don't Take Your Greatest Asset for Granted

★ Most of us throw every safeguard possible around our property. Homes, automobiles, and valuable personal property are carefully insured against losses by fire, theft, and storm. We insure our lives to protect the economic well-being of our dependents.
Yet health, on which depends our ability to earn these material comforts, is often completely neglected. Good health is too frequently taken for granted until it is lost. It is wise to protect this priceless asset. Include a health examination for every member of the family in your yearly budget. When medicine is prescribed, bring the prescription to us for prompt, economical service.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Never Too Late To Learn
Cappy Miller's young son, Squint, is forever coming up with new ideas. Now they're not all world beaters, but Cappy is usually willing to give them a try.
Seems Squint found a new way to clear brush. They take two tractors, about thirty feet apart, and connect them with a heavy chain weighted down on the ground with old iron. First they both go parallel in one direction, then they go back over the same swath in the opposite direction and up comes the brush—roots and all. Worked fine and saved time.
That's why things go so well at the Miller farm. Cappy is open-minded, tolerant of new ideas and new ways of doing. He doesn't think his way is the only way.
From where I sit, a little tolerance will make things go better for all of us. You respect my views and I'll respect yours—whether it's on farming, politics, or choosing between an ice cream soda or a temperate glass of beer.

The Hilltopper
5TH GRADE
Billy Brian and Nathan Riffle are back to school after a two weeks illness.
We all enjoyed the carnival very much.
On Friday afternoon the fifth and sixth grade had a spell down. Mickey Tersigni, a sixth grader, won with Judy Walker, a fifth grader, runner up. We all congratulate Mickey.
We are still busy painting western scenes on our blackboards. One blackboard depicts the westward movement, three covered wagons drawn by oxen winding their way through the foothills. Another board shows several animals they encountered in the west and the other board shows one of the small ranches where one family has chosen a spot in a valley with mountains in the background. They already have their house built and a windmill up with a cowboy riding home after checking the herd.

SMELT SEASON SUGGESTS TASTY LENTEN MEALS

Whatever your plans are for Lenten menus you will delight your family if you serve them the fish of the season—smelt.
If you live in northern Michigan you may be attending a 'smelt jamboree' but you can easily treat your family to the mild little fish at home. Smelt are easily cleaned and can be served in many ways.
For a variety of recipes for cooking smelt write to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, for the attractive folder illustrated in color. Ask for Experiment Station Folder 8, "Fish Recipes—Smelt". All recipes have been tested by the foods and nutrition department working in cooperation with the zoology department.

Recipes for frying, broiling, baking and pickling smelt are included. Sauces are recommended for smelt because they are so mild in flavor. Recipes for a variety of sauces are given.
Smelt range in length from six to 14 inches and usually run from seven to nine inches. It is easier to clean the larger smelt. It is not necessary to scale them. Simply remove the head and the entrails with a knife.

Insist on fresh smelt because the oil essential to the rich flavor evaporates easily and is not found in stale fish. It is available fresh from February to late May when the sportsmen take it during the spring spawning runs.
Frozen smelt are wholesome but lack the characteristic flavor of the fresh fish now being taken from the Great Lakes.

BE WISE IN YOUR CHOICE OF LAUNDRY EQUIPMENT

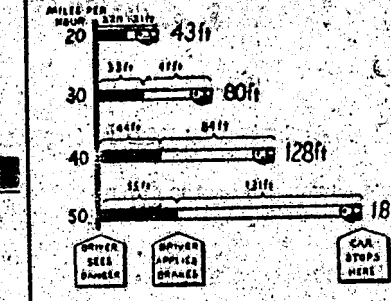

Do you feel that blue Monday would be less blue if you had the right kind of washing facilities? The right kind of facilities does not necessarily mean having an automatic washing machine, advises Miss Josephine Hoke, Home Demonstration Agent.
Automatic washers do save time and labor but you must consider also that they have more parts to get out of order and that they cost a great deal more than non-automatic washers.

Your choice should depend upon how big a part of your work the washing is and how much the saving of time and labor means to you. Saving time and labor may be a big factor, adds Ruth Whitehouse of the Home Management Department at Michigan State College.

If you decide to use a non-automatic washing machine you will have a choice of using a wringer or spinner for drying the clothes. They do equally good jobs of removing water and leaving the clothes ready to hang on the line.
Spinner types are very easy on buttons, buckles, hooks, zippers and other types of fasteners. It will leave towels, blankets and

Stopping Distances
Have you ever stopped to figure just how long it actually takes to stop your automobile? Do you know that excess speed makes it doubly hard to stop fast? Are you aware of all the factors that enter into your stopping distance?

Look at the chart above. The shaded area is your own "thinking distance"—that's how far you'll travel before you realize that you must apply brakes. The white area is your braking distance after you've put your foot on the brakes. These figures are for good brakes in good, clear weather on a dry pavement. Remember, distances are from 3 to 12 times greater on slippery surfaces.
Memorize that chart—keep these figures in mind to help you drive safely, carefully—at a safe rate of speed. Remember—twenty-five out of every 100 drivers involved in fatal accidents were violating a speed regulation. A reasonable speed prevents accidents. A driver must always be able to stop in time to avoid causing an accident.
Know your speed laws—know all your traffic laws and OBEY them. Learn, too, these common sense rules to driving safely. Protect yourself and your family by driving at a safe, reasonable rate of speed.

pillows soft and fluffy. In making a choice as to wringer or spinner, examine your needs and decide which type will give you, for the money invested, the most features you desire.

WOMEN VOTE FOR PRACTICAL COATS IN NATIONAL STUDY

What do you vote for in a winter coat? Thousands of women have cast their votes through the "Consumer Speaks" project and have told manufacturers how to design and style winter coats.

Women want coats which will keep their original color and new looking appearance. Colorfast is the word women most like to find on coat labels describing fabrics. Next, reports Marjorie Knoll, Michigan State college home economist, they want material that is firmly woven—that won't stretch, bag, sag, bulge or shrink. In fabric finishes they are most interested in crease resistance. For linings, the women voters indicated they wanted materials that are easy to slip on, firmly woven and will last the life of the coat—at least two seasons.
Fancy coats are far from the wishes of these voters. They indicate practicality when they ask for conservative simple designs, practical pockets, adequate fastenings and full length removable linings.

One group agreed that the average person does not have enough information to buy wisely unless it appears on labels. Thousands of votes were cast for informative labels.
Many Michigan women are voting in the "Consumer Speaks" program this year. These votes won't help you unless they are recorded. Please send your votes by April 15 to Marjorie Knoll, School of Home Economics, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

GET VEGETABLES ALL SUMMER LONG
The real test of the home gardener is not how beautiful his garden looks, but how much food he produces. And gardening specialist at Michigan State college go one step farther and say—it's how long he can stretch his growing season.

That secret, gardening specialists advise, is in planting and replanting. Selection of varieties that fit early, middle and late season weather enables the gardener to harvest from early season until frost.

Right now is a good time, they say, to study those seed catalogs and plan on paper the varieties of vegetables that will help achieve the goal.

GOOD BABY CHICKS PAY MOST PROFIT

Those who feel that "baby chick bargains" pay off even though more of them die when young are probably very wrong. At least figures gained by Howard C. Zindel, Michigan State college poultry specialist, shows a definite relation between baby chick mortality and laying flock mortality.

Poultry flock owners that lost less than 10 percent of their chicks up to 24 weeks of age had seven percent of their hens die off after pullets were placed in the laying house. On the other hand, flock owners with 20 percent or more mortality in baby chicks up to time hens were put into the laying house suffered a 28 percent loss after hens started laying.

"There's a direct relation to the health of baby chicks and the health of the laying flock these same chicks make-up. That's why it's so important to buy good healthy chicks and keep down the loss with good management," the poultry specialist emphasized.

He reminded, too, that early chicks mean early laying pullets and that eggs produced before November normally bring the highest prices.

The Drayton Women's Club met March 15 at 8 o'clock in the Drayton Plains school auditorium.

Need is greater for high school than for elementary schools according to Shunck, because there is a need for class rooms to take care of subjects which will enable the children to take subjects which will give them an opportunity to use their hands, to take business courses, and physical education as well as the regular academic studies.

It was also pointed out that the present building used for a high school was built from money from two years of the building and site fund and is free and clear of debt.

Marshall Smith stated that in building costs were so that the new building would not cost the estimated $1,800,000 the extra money would be used to equip the building which would leave the money in the building and site fund free to use on the present elementary schools.

Danes Kenifeck gave a very clear picture of the taxes in the township for the next sixteen years.
