SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS ELECT OFFICERS

Annual Rotary Pet And Costume Parade Sept. 5

On Monday evening the school board of the newly reorganized school district met and elected the following officers: Paul Henry, President; F. LaVerne Spooner, Secretary and Keith L. Leak, Treasurer. Ronald Weber and Walton Robbins will serve as trustees.

The business meeting lasted, we are informed until 1:30 in the morning, in an attempt to iron out all details necessary to the opening of school the first week in September.

On Tuesday, next, a meeting will be held in which an inspection of the school properties in the district will be undertaken to determine the use that can be made of them for the best interest of the local educational system.

The new school board calls your attention to the fact that it will meet on the second Monday of each month and not only invites your interest and support but requests your presence at its meetings so that all interested can work for the betterment of the schools. It is pointed out that all too frequently a board is elected and the interest ceases there. To be successful it must have the constant interest of the community.

The High School Faculty this year will include: Wallace A. Ridgely, Superintendent; James Quick, Principal, Science and Math; Marguerite Bennett, Girls Gym and Math; Helen Carey, Languages; Betty Jo Etzler, Home Economics; Wanda Laird, English; Mrs. Mary Colton, Science; Leigh Bonner, Assistant Coach and Social Studies; Ralph Thayer, Coach and Commercial; Arthur Heimbürger, Commercial; William Ladd, Music; Melvyn Stabler, Junior High; Betty Murphy, Junior High; Thomas Weiss, Junior High; Frederick Smith, Junior High; Mrs. Ralph Thayer, Librarian; Mrs. Raymond Jarvis, Clerk.

Vows Spoken At Evening Service

Last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Valoise M. Conrad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Underwood of Oakland Lake, and Elton C. Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rouse of Clarkston, spoke their marriage vows at a double ring, candlelight service at the Clarkston Methodist Church. The Reverend Walter C. B. Saxman read the rites before an altar banked with palms and pink and white gladioli. The pews were marked with white ribbon bows and pink and white gladioli.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of blue patterned, imported organza over bridal satin fashioned with a yoke of illusion edged with an organza ruffle forming an off-shoulder neckline. Down the back of the fitted bodice were tiny satin covered buttons. The full skirt fell into a short train. Her three-quarter length gloves were of blue organza with a row of tiny white satin covered buttons down the back. Her headpiece was a Juliette cap of illusion with bows in the back. Her only jewelry was a diamond necklace and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis with long white satin streamers.

Barbara Anne Strommer of Royal Oak was the maid of honor. Her gown of yellow taffeta had a net yoke and an off-shoulder neckline and the skirt was tied with a bustle back. She carried a large colonial bouquet of tulle roses and bronze chrysanthemums with streamers of bronze ribbon. Her dainty headpiece was made of yellow flowers.

The bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Mrs. Roberta Hobart of Royal Oak and Mrs. Dorothy Koop, the bridegroom's sister of Drayton Plains. Their dresses were alike and were of lime green taffeta, fashioned the same as the maid of honor's gown. They wore green headpieces and carried fan shaped bouquets of yellow roses and yellow satin streamers.

The little flower girls were Beth Underwood, niece of the bride from Royal Oak, and Jean Powell, niece of the bridegroom, from Clarkston. They were dressed in floor length gowns of pink patterned organza styled with off-shoulder necklines and complemented with long sashes of pink satin. They carried white baskets filled with pink flowers.

Mr. Rouse was assisted by Jack Baughman as best man and his brother, Clark Rouse and William Radoye seated the guests.

Ivan Rouse, brother of the bridegroom, played the traditional music and also accompanied Mrs. William Mansfield who sang "Love You Truly" and "Because" preceding the ceremony and at the close of the ceremony as the bride and groom knelt at the altar she sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Underwood, the bride's mother, chose a floor length coral gown with brown accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies for the wedding. Mrs. Rouse, the bridegroom's mother, was in fuchsia with white accessories and wore a corsage of white roses.

Following the rites a reception for the two hundred guests was held in the church parlors. The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a five tiered wedding cake flanked by white tapers in crystal holders and pretty arrangements of white and pink gladioli. Mrs. Mabel Carlisle of Detroit, an only aunt of the bride, served the cake while the bride's sister, Mrs. Geraldine Broadus and three sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ben Powell, Mrs. Jess Powell and Mrs. Edward Wells presided at the punch bowls which were at each end of the table.

Mrs. Lyleth Underwood, sister of the bride, took charge of the white satin guests' register which was signed as the guests entered the reception room.

Mrs. Pearl Brissette was a real friend to the whole wedding party. She assisted them with all of the little details prior to the service.

The newlyweds left for a ten day honeymoon in northern Michigan. The bride traveled in a

Saddle Club Has Trail Ride

On Sunday a number of the Dixie Saddle Club enjoyed a trail ride planned by their president, William Sutton and his son, Ronald Sutton of Ortonville. Sixteen horses with riders met in Ortonville and then were escorted and guided on their ride by the Suttons. They rode about five miles over hill and dale. The countryside was never more beautiful and the weather was ideal.

When they reached their destination they were met by three car loads of relatives who had gone ahead with the food for the picnic. A large bon-fire was built and the group had a good time roasting wieners. There was plenty of other food to make a real picnic! They rested, sang songs and told tall tales.

The trip back was over another route just as scenic as the one already covered. They rode over state land that most of the group did not know existed in that vicinity.

Rotary Club News

Edward Buerhig, professor in International Law, Member of the State Department of These United States and a secretary attached to the United Nations, was the speaker at Rotary on Monday. He was introduced by his brother, Dr. Robert Buerhig. The talk was of international importance and delivered in an atmosphere of grimness and foreboding as to the future of the nations and especially as to the part the United States would have to play as the leader of the world.

Your club reporter cannot dismiss the subject without remarking that seldom have we enjoyed the use made of our vocabulary as was made by Professor Buerhig. Guests included Harold Hanson, Dolton, Col., Erwin Johnson, Bob Gorsline, Mayon Hoard and Henry Busb of the Milford Club and Henry Mehler and George Brinker of the Waterford-Drayton Rotary Club.

The ladies assisting Mrs. Glen Howland in the preparing and serving of a fine dinner were Mrs. Howard Sage, Mrs. Ralph Krefler, Mrs. R. T. Vliet and Mrs. Elmer Pettigill.

After reading an article by Calvin M. Craig in the New York Times one, can readily understand why Alathea Rose enjoys getting away with her bicycle and traveling into distant parts of the country with other bicycling hostellers.

The article told of experiences of hostellers in the New England States. It mentioned the regular routine that goes on around a hostel in the morning. Everybody getting washed with pump water in basins; buying 'single eggs', shredded wheat by the biscuit, sugar by the spoonful and bread by the slice from the housemother and cooking breakfast; cleaning up and trying to give away excess food instead of packing it; tuning up bicycles and loading them with fantastic quantities of gear. It is amazing too how fastidious these travelers are. When everybody clears out the bunkhouse is swept, blankets folded in a pile, the old wood-burning stove brushed-off, the park-type table spotted and there is always a stack of wood waiting for the next arrivals.

Riding a bicycle all day is an experience in this generation. In a car 400 miles a day is usual but bicycle travelers will settle for twenty a day.

Local Girl Among Bicycling Hostellers

After reading an article by Calvin M. Craig in the New York Times one, can readily understand why Alathea Rose enjoys getting away with her bicycle and traveling into distant parts of the country with other bicycling hostellers.

Riding a bicycle all day is an experience in this generation. In a car 400 miles a day is usual but bicycle travelers will settle for twenty a day.

Hostel mattresses are made of straw or cornhusks. According to custom, lights go out at 10 p. m. A day's biking or hiking makes ten o'clock look pretty late and everyone is ready for a good night's rest. A hosteller has to carry his own sheet sleeping sack, which he slips into before he rolls up in the blanket provided by the hostel, to insure sanitary conditions.

Most hostels are in corners of barns, with gang-bunks filled with straw.

A tarpaulin keeps the straw out of your sleeping sack, most of it anyway. Nobody smokes around a hostel, because so many of them are buildings or parts of barns. Nobody drinks because, in the language of the hosting code, "the simplicity of living makes it inappropriate".

Arriving at a hostel, the traveler surrenders the membership pass, which is his ticket of admission, to the houseparent. If his conduct isn't a credit to hosting, it can be revoked on the spot. Hostellers live for the moment, not for the destination. Their trips open up vistas hidden from the fast-traveling motorist, but the cost is lower than anything else they could do. Membership is $3.00 a year for people over 21, $2.00 under 21. That provides the pass that admits the holder to any hostel in the world. A charge of 50 cents is made for an adult overnight and 40 cents for a youth.

Only handbook holders know where hostels are located, but anyone may get one by joining the American Youth Hostels. No routes are specified, and a hosteller can travel along a line he draws on the map or just go vagabonding. He can go alone or with a dozen companions. He can eat in restaurants or prepare his meals at the hostels.

Lightweight bicycles are best and they are easy to get. Hostel council officers have them to rent or can direct the member to a concessionaire. The only requirements are the sheet sleeping sack and cooking and eating gear, but the necessities of hostel life also include an all-enclosing rain outfit, a complete change of clothing, handkerchiefs, pajamas, sewing kit, heavy jacket for cool mornings and evenings, bathing suit, canteen, flashlight, dish towel, toilet articles and camera.

Hostelling is one of the few respectable ways of vagabonding left in this fast-paced world, and with all the hostels located on little-used back roads, the American Youth Hostels plan gives you a chance to step right out of the gasoline age until you're ready to come back.

Alathea Rose of Dixie Highway, Clarkston, has been on at least two of these trips and she has had a wonderful time and met some wonderful people. In his article Calvin M. Craig mentions one group included a lawyer, bank cashier, four school teachers, a writer, a milk route team and a

Clarkston Locals

Vivian O'Roark and Mrs. Elsie Smith of Clarkston, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Leighton of Metamora and Ernest Rathburn of Drayton Plains called at the summer cottage of the R. C. Beatties at Torch Lake on Monday. They were on their way to the upper peninsula. They expect to be vacationing for a week.

By the Way . . .

With this issue the News completes 20 years of service to the communities of Clarkston, Waterford and Drayton Plains. For over 16 years this paper has been under the management of the present owners. They have been a very pleasant 16 years. For the past we are thankful for the continued growth. For the future we can only hope to continue in such a manner as to merit your support and to grow with this district.

Speaking of anniversaries, this is the tenth anniversary year of The Clarkston Rotary Club. . . . From time to time visitors, to our home and office have wondered at the huge stones just north of our lot. They formed a foundation of a dairy barn when this subdivision was a large dairy farm. Now some of the stones are being moved to Lakeview Cemetery for improvement there. . . . The Rotary Pet and Costume parade will be held on Labor Day this year as in the past. This parade has grown to be an outstanding date for the citizens of this community and grows bigger and better each year. We will remember the bitter tears of disappointment one year when the parade was called off by the death of one of the Rotary members. Let's all join in and make this a parade fitting for the tenth anniversary year of Rotary. . . . The first week in September is always State Fair week in Detroit and many will attend. Because this column seems to deal with anniversaries, we might say that this is the one hundredth anniversary of Michigan's State Fair. It should be a little better and well worth attending. The Fair Association will be host to the publishers and editors at a luncheon on Saturday, the first day of the Fair. . . . Then because we should consider all ages of our readers, on Wednesday the seventh of September, school opens. Everything points to a good job of organization by the new school board and everything will be in readiness for school opening under the re-organized school district.

Naugle, State Chaplain, Mrs. James Sutton gave a short talk on the work the MOMS do at the Veteran's Hospital and then everyone enjoyed a review given by Charlotte Ann Maybee of her European trip. The group realized $32 and this money will be used to buy articles for the Veteran's Hospital.

THE RISK OF SELF-MEDICATION

The weather and human ailments are favorite topics of everyday conversation. The next-door neighbor is alert to recommend her favorite remedy for any set of symptoms. Another friend holds implicit faith in something else. You are caught in a cross fire of claims and counterclaims. Artemus Ward observed that, "The trouble with people is they know too many things that ain't so." What seem to be almost identical symptoms in two patients may result from entirely different causes. Your physician has spent at least eight arduous years in the study of health and disease. He is thoroughly familiar with the techniques of diagnosis and treatment. The pharmacist's specialty is the preparation and dispensing of the drugs your doctor orders. When ill, first see your doctor. Then bring your prescription to us.

DIRECTIONS GIVEN FOR PRESERVING SWEET CORN
Corn that is at the right stage for eating is best for preserving according to foods specialists at Michigan State College. Kernels will be fully formed and the milk thin and sweet.
Corn should be of top quality and should be preserved immediately after gathering. It is best to harvest the corn early in the morning. If you plan to freeze it on the cob, scald 8 to 10 minutes, depending on the size of the cob. Cool quickly and pack.
If you plan to can the corn cream style, cut the corn from the cob at about the center of the kernel and scrape the cobs. To each quart of corn, add 1 pint of boiling water. Heat to boiling. Pack hot to 1 inch of top of pint jars. Add ½ teaspoon salt to each jar. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 85 minutes.
If you plan to can the corn as whole-kernel corn, cut it from the cob at about two-thirds the depth of kernel. To each quart of corn add 1 pint boiling water. Heat to boiling. Pack corn to 1 inch of top of jars. Cover with hot cooking liquid, leaving 1 inch space at top or fill to inch of top with mixture of corn and liquid. Use ½ teaspoon salt for pints and 1 teaspoon for quarts. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure 55 minutes for pints or 85 minutes for quarts.

ADVISES PARENTS ON COMICS, MOVIES FOR CHILDREN
Comic books and movies need careful community supervision and organizations can render valuable service with this problem.
Suggestions to parents concerning the conflicting opinions about comic books and movies come from Dorothy Ekern, Michigan State College home economist.
Parents should know what types of movies their children see and what kind of comics they read. Authorities in the field of child development have pointed out that comics have certain values. So it isn't necessary to forbid them but to see that your child gets the most desirable ones to read.
Parents can introduce good literature to children by reading aloud to them or telling them stories which are from good literature. This will be more effective than constantly telling a child not to read undesirable material.

Your child will see types of behavior on the screen and in comics which will be strange to him and which may give him wrong ideas. Parents can talk to children about different types of behavior and explain good and bad points. This will help the child develop a finer sense of values and encourage him to make his own discriminations well in years to come.
ISOLATE ANIMALS BACK FROM FAIRS
Generally the best animals on the farm go to the county fair for exhibition. For this reason, Dr. E. J. Killham, Michigan State College extension veterinarian, believes it wise to take every precaution to protect them from disease.
County fairs operate under state regulations that require clean bills of health before animals can be shown. This not only protects your own stock but that of other showmen as well. Dr. Killham advises getting necessary papers from veterinarians so that it isn't done as a last minute job.
Quarantining show animals when they are returned to the farm is an extra precaution that is wise. By isolating them for three weeks from the rest of the herd or flock, you're making doubly sure any infection picked up in the show ring isn't spread.

Rural Tele-news

BIG BUSINESS—Farmers in Michigan produce over $400,000,000 worth of crops a year. In producing this bumper crop, the farmer depends a lot on tools, such as plows, harrows, tractors. Another tool, and one of the most helpful, is the telephone. It runs errands, locates farm help, takes orders, helps meet emergencies. The number of farms with telephones in Michigan Bell territory has nearly doubled since before the war.

TOP IN TAX—Michigan Bell is the biggest single contributor by taxes to the State Primary School Fund. This year Michigan Bell will pay $5,291,826 in State property taxes. That's equal to $3.65 for each school pupil in Michigan. So part of what you pay Michigan Bell for telephone service helps educate the children around you—making them finer, more useful citizens of tomorrow.

HOW NEAR ARE YOUR NEIGHBORS?—Your friends may live one, two or more miles away, and yet they're as close to you as next-door neighbors by telephone. Without leaving home you can visit with them regularly, exchange bits of news, ask for or offer help in case of illness, plan parties or church affairs. Considering how little it costs, and how much it can do for you, one of today's greatest values is the telephone.

For more than thirty years, Mary, Garden was the operative toast of Europe and America. This colorful story tells how her portrayal of "Salome" was banned in several cities and other interesting incidents. Recently at seventy-two years of age, she planned a lecture tour of America. Read "Mary Garden — Opera's Tempestuous Queen" in The American Weekly, the great magazine of true-life stories with Sunday's Chicago Herald-American.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh. If They're Wild, They Belong To Tiki! Saw Tiki Anderson last week and was reminded of the first time I ever spoke to him. The misus had sent me out one Saturday afternoon to hunt for some blackberries. I took a long hike and couldn't find any. Finally, I came to Tiki's house along that low stretch east of the fork on River Road. "Hi there," I says, "any blackberries around here?" Tiki says, "There used to be—but I don't know much about things that grow wild." Later, I found how Tiki supports his family by picking berries. Ever since, I've been like the rest of folks in town—respectful of his right not to tell where "his" berries grow. From where I sit, respecting other folks' rights comes natural in our town... In America for that matter! Whether it's a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer or ale, or whether it's Tiki Anderson's right to keep secret where his berries are, it's all a big part of a real democracy! Joe Marsh Copyright, 1949, United States Brewers Foundation

Conservation News

Grounds for hunting dog training field trials are provided by the conservation department's parks division at the Brighton, Highland and Waterloo recreation areas.

Ruffed grouse appear to be coming back in Michigan as rapidly as in Wisconsin and Minnesota which states resorted to closed seasons for three and four years to increase stock, a survey by the Michigan conservation department's game division reveals.

Michigan cover and climatic conditions are fairly similar to those in the other two Great Lakes states, says G. A. Ammann, division grouse specialist.

All three states started to experience a ruffed grouse population decline in 1943, he says, and Minnesota closed the hunting season on this game animal in 1944-47, as did Wisconsin in 1945-47. These two states opened the season last year, and for 1948 Minnesota computed her kill at 354,000, Wisconsin at 250,000, while Michigan's computed kill was 355,000 birds.

During the period 1944-47, when the season was not closed in Michigan, Ammann says, Michigan hunters harvested 838,000 ruffed grouse. He points out, that in terms of recreation, an estimated 4,000,000 hours of hunting would have been lost if Michigan had closed to season in those years.

When Sleeper state park manager Edward Grizlak discovered there were more campers than possessed cots last weekend, he borrowed a few beds for emergency overnight use from the fire station in Caseville, Michigan, which is beside the park. He claims his action is not to be construed as establishing a precedent for other campers minus sleeping equipment.

Although tent and trailer camp capacity at Grand Haven was filled last weekend, as it has been for several weeks, 26 trailers were lined up at 5 a. m. Sunday morning. As only a few could be accommodated when others checked out, park manager Louis Haney said some-headed farther north and others pulled out with the idea of returning later.

A cricket, grasshopper and worm "club sandwich" is sometimes found to be desirable trout bait.

For every two apples the United States exported last season it imported three, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports. Imports were greater than exports in only two previous market years — 1942 and 1944. Exports were low, about a million and a quarter bushels. They went mainly to Belgium, Luxemburg, the Philippines, Cuba, Venezuela and Mexico. Most of the imports came from Canada.

Care means better results from the mowing machine, says Michigan State College agricultural engineers. Always remember in making major adjustments that the knife sections and guard places should be sharp and must be replaced if broken in order to get clean cutting.

One child may be more sensitive than another and may be frightened unduly by certain things which would not bother other children. Try to understand your child and know his interests and limitations. He may need especially careful supervision in the forms of entertainment to which he is exposed.
