By the Way . . .

What is news? Certainly the shooting affair in Waterford on Monday excited much interest. However, the publicity attending the case in the East where a man went berserk and killed thirteen or fourteen was mentioned as bad because it might give others bad ideas. It was even mentioned that it might have inspired Monday's incident. But, my dear readersdid you see the land office business that two newsboys were doing at the stop light in Waterford with an extra giving all of the details available. Like everybody else in business newspapers print what their customers want. . . . As usual Rotary will sponsor and assist with the Hallowe'en party. A good time is planned. Plan to attend. . One or two cold days, but October has been a fine month. . Thanksgiving must be just aound the corner, Anyway my first turkey dinner of the season was a real dandy. . . . Construction work on the new Hawke factory building is going ahead. . . . There was a real heavy frost Wednesday morning. . . . In spite of all the news in other papers, the News story last week that the school Board had not decided to use the church was correct. In fact they have now decided not to use the church edifice. The Clarkston News does try to be correct.

Just Dreaming

When autumn arrives and there's chill in the air, What more could man want than an old easy chair, And a fire that glows in an old fireplace hrowing warmth and good chee right out in his face; All comfy and warm and drowsy inside.

Just relaxin' each muscle an inch of his hide. He hears the faint patter of rain from the eaves;

And rustle of wind through the dead maple leaves. All tired from romping, his dog falls asleep, And groans in his dreams as he lies at his feet.

The clock on the mantel ticks minutes away-"The only thing working at close of the day"...

But man so relaxed and body reclined, Sets loose in the ether, his subconscious mind.

His uppermost thoughts are those of thanksgivin' To those who contribute to his mode of livin'.

He sends out a thought for a permanent peace, Determined cold wars with hot arguments cease.

His dreams of the future in detail are planned. His castle, like children's , constructed in sand.

Is perfect and modern right up to the minute, With all that is wanted by man builded in it. What a shame these things his thoughts have been formin'. He'll not carry out when he wakes in the mornin'. -ROBERT C. BEATTIE

BELL TELEPHONE PRESIDENT MAKES STATEMENT

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company cannot determine whether it will appeal Judge Salmon's decision until it has studied the opinion. Michigan Bell, however, is seriously disturbed by the unfavorable ruling.

Because of the long delays experienced in obtaining rate relief Commission, the decision will mean that the company will have earned over the period of two years and nine months of the best return on its intrastate investment averaging appreciably less than 4 per cent, and in 1947 and 1948, return below 3 per cent. This is completely inadequate.

In effect, the ability of the company to obtain adequate earnings times, and there can be no guarantee to uphold earnings in bad times. Such a return obviously falls short of that necessary to attract new capital so vitally needed for the improvement of the service to existing customers and to extend service to others on the waiting list, thereby increasing the value of the service to present

Have you ever parked your auto near a high school at the time when school is "out" for the day? It so, you've watched the hundreds of youngsters pouring out the doors, dashing across the streets and "cramming" themselves into cars. They always seem to have a lot of fun together ... and the more in the auto the better they like it!

The fall football season always brings an epidemic of "stuffed cars" some carrying players them selves ... and others, all the "gang" who want to go out to the field to watch. And it's obvious to any of you who have watched the youngsters that they are completely unaware of the dangers that these over-loaded automobiles may bring. And that's why it's doubly important for all of you parents, teachers and friends to keep reminding our stu-dents of the need for safety.

Sit down with your children and discuss the problem of over-loaded autos with them, Remind them that the driver who carries three other passengers in the front seat may not have room to slam on the brakes in a hurry — or to make that sharp turn. Ask them how many times someone in the cars tells the driver to "speed it up"—or asks a question that may take the driver's mind off the street. These things are in portant! Your youngsters will realize these dangers if you take the time to discuss them with them.

Remember, a little of your time may save your son's or daughter's life. Caution them to drive safely — caution their friends against over-loaded cars and driving care-

CHILDREN'S WOOLENS CAN BE WASHED

Crisp fall days will soon be chilly wintry ones and your children will be wearing their woolen skirts, suits and snow suits again. If you're going to keep them clean the economical answer is washing, advises Mrs. Leona Macleod, home ure. economist at Michigan State

When washing woolens she advises that you remember to use lukewarm water, mild soap and careful handling. Dyes in such garments are not likely to be entirely fast—be sure to test the colors of plaids and two-tone materials Washing quickly, rolling in a towel to remove excess moisture, and then drying flat on a towel with another towel between the back and front will prevent one - color from running into another. Fast color garments can be hung on clothes hangers and pickets, pleats and tucks smoothed out to make ironing easier. These special features should be considered for they frequently become complicated ironing problems.

Children's playsuits, especially the lined ones, are a little more difficult to launder. Try to wash

A business built on service to the sick cannot be restricted to usual "business hours." The need for medicine and sickroom supplies is usually immediate and urgent. In times of widespread illness the twenty-four-hour day seems all too short. We are ready, day or night, to serve the pharmaceutical needs of the community.
